Edit: Coach is experiencing technical difficulties. The coche is probably doing just fine. (Ty for catching my typo Alexis. lol)

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Echo101 17 13 11 10 8 6 5 5 4 55

Ok, thanks.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

PablitoNogales 7 3

I wish that I had seen this before my streak was unceremoniously pilfered by the coach.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MA12CO 10 5

so where did the level progress meter go?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

robinkubuffalo 17 14 13 11 197

I have sent a message to support about this but have not heard back. I have some concerns about the implementation of the coach feature. When I found the coach feature, I decided to see if I could figure out what it was all about. Well, I was on a 31-day streak and because I had set the coach feature at 50, I lost my streak and it reset to 1 even though the day I had lost the streak I had finished a lesson in each of the three languages I'm learning. Curiously, the language choice bar on my tablet still tells me I'm on a 41 days streak, even though the internet site is now on an 11 day streak.

While it may seem a little silly, I must admit I'm a little annoyed by this - seeing the long streak was certainly a motivator.

Also, I can no longer see the progress bar for the language I'm in - or how many XPs I earned on each day in that language. That was far more helpful to me than the coach feature - a feature that wasn't explained and in a way...stole my streak.

I don't know how many others have had their streaks interrupted, but it seems to me that if my tablet still knows that I have a 40+ day streak, those streaks could be restored.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

imani_karina 13

I just noticed the coaching feature moments ago, after finding out that my coaching has been set to a higher level without me noticing. I don't want to say much without proof, but since this is just a test, I wonder if there was a bug. Though it could be because of something in my phone or account, if it was hacked (highly unlikely though), etc.

I know of the Duolingo website, but all this time I've been using just my mobile device for Duolingo. And then one day my 31 day streak turned back to 1 day, just like that. I tried looking for an answer from my mobile device, sending a few messages to Duolingo. But after moments of confusion, a friend finally told me to check the website and send a message from there instead, believing it might help since my phone is a bit strange sometimes.

So I checked the website. And then I found an uncompleted daily challenge, 13 out of 20XP. I thought this was an event Duolingo held or something (also highly unlikely). But I found the new coaching setting shortly afterwards, and is surprised when it shows 20XP. Is this a new standard for all users when the coaching feature opened? No, my friend did not have a 20XP goal right off the start. And Duolingo didn't notify me about the change in daily challenge at all.

I believe there is something wrong with either my Duolingo app, my Duolingo account, or my phone. Does anyone have the same problem as I did?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JeffTheDrumGuy 17 12 7 6 4 473

I enjoy the coach, and I think that it's a great feature. However, I miss the old progress bar. As a gamer Duolingo is a good motivator for me because of the anticipation for reaching new levels. Without being able to see how much experience I have on a whole new levels are random, and therefore don't feel as though they're worth as much.

I would love to have the coach still be there, as I enjoy the ability to set my difficulty. What I don't like is how my experience bar has totally disappeared, leaving the X number of experience that I earn each day to be totally meaningless.

Why even use experience numbers when we can't see how much we have?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

virtualAlice 21 10 417

The feature is motivating and useful, but the mobile app needs a progress bar that would notify if i've reached my goal for the day or not. Please consider adding something like that.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FrostedMuffin 5 5 5 2 2
Love it!

1ReplyGive Lingot16•2 years ago

AdayinParadise 9

Once you set a goal you can't change it .I really liked it when i could see when i was almost at the next level.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dementu 25 25 25 13 6 6 4 3 2 2

This „Coach” is just stupid in my opinion, there is no point of having it at all...sorry but this is just from my point of view. Please Duolingo staff bring back the experience bar! :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Flannery65 14 11 10 8 8 5 4 2 24

I would like to remove the goal and go back to how it was before. Is this possible, as i do not like the goal, nor how it changes the timings for the day (is it set to American time?)

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

SDL_1987 21 18 18 18 16 12 6 6 3 2 1

I find it a very useful tool, because it stimulates me to practice more than usual. So I would not shoot this tool down.

Of course we all experience that there are some missing links (like how many points you need to get to level X). But hey! As they have said; they are testing this tool, which means in my ears they are still improving this feature and others (as the staff is doing all the time).

Greetings from a motivated learner :)

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

AAananchenko 25 22 22 4

Mobile and web versions show different XP daily values. At the moment I have 122 XPs for today in the web version and 102 XPs in the mobile one. Totals are the same. Again, I have started the day not with zero XPs but with twenty-something.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

pada.online 23 20 10 9 4 2 1251

It seems to be necessary to logout/login for a changed coach limit to become effective for the streak.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

rootyjr 22 5

People who like this new feature are getting downvoted for no reason.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mathso2 25 23 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 7 6 6 6 6 4 4 3 81

I have coach on mobile devices but not on the website - is there something wrong? I went into Settings and couldn't find any way to set a goal.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14

Me too! We are not part of the group of people who have been chosen to test this feature.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mathso2 25 23 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 7 6 6 6 6 4 4 3 81

So... is waiting just the best thing to do?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14

It is all we can do for now. Hopefully, they will get rid of any bugs before it is expanded to the rest of us. I don't want to lose the gold progress bar, word count and xp count for each language.

Immersion points don't always count towards your goal yet. And if you don't meet your goal you lose your streak. Does the coach work for learning the reverse courses? I learn some languages from a different base language. I wonder what that effect will be.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Mathso2 25 23 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 7 6 6 6 6 4 4 3 81

I guess it is all we can do, so have a lingot for letting me know it's not just me :)

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

wyeager84 20 10 2 1147

I just tested this out. Set my goal to 1 XP the other day. Today i decided to do Immersion translation.

I picked up 8 XP and my goal was met - however my streak was not extended. I completed a new lesson and my streak was extended. So you have to be careful with this feature.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

john_treehugger 25 25 25 24 16 14 10 2 2

I really dislike the Coach feature.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Ben-Hime 22 10 7 6

I like the Coach feature, I set it to 30 xp so every day, I do 3 lessons and it actually keeps me from overdoing it or exhausting myself from learning.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

john_treehugger 25 25 25 24 16 14 10 2 2

Dislike the coach intensely.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DivyanshuT 8

This should help keep me motivated.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

dcress 10

Hi there, I was the flash cards which are nouns would have the der,die,das included for better practice.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

john_treehugger 25 25 25 24 16 14 10 2 2

We are being treated like laboratory rats to find out what motivates us!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Duolingo is connected to a University's graduate program. But, that's never been a secret. And when you realize that this motivational research is going towards improving how well Duolingo works... we're basically helping ourselves by being part of these experiments, and helping future Duolingoers as well.

As someone who has been on Duolingo for (longer than) 388 days, I much prefer today's Duolingo to when I first started. Hundreds of experiments between then and now using my data along with millions of other users contributed to the improvements. And I've been in plenty of the failed test groups as well as a few big successes. So, hopefully you can appreciate that the aspects you most enjoy were in part the fruit of my own frustrations in the past. ^_~

1ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

Flannery65 14 11 10 8 8 5 4 2 24

I am posting once again about this issue. I have been very careful trying to re-create a new streak, but it isn't possible as the timer seems to be arbitrary, or is set to a very different time than it suggests on the circle. please do not bother using lingots for a streak freeze. They do not freeze the streak with coach and just get eaten while you lose your streak. I am disappointed that DL has not fixed this problem as it is a demotivator. I shall continue, but ignore all prospects of lingots or streaks as they are illusory.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Flannery65 14 11 10 8 8 5 4 2 24

Just adding, that I am getting the emails congratulating me for my streak extending, when the site clearly shows it has been wiped out. I did find the streak motivating. So many psychological things are silly when you think about it, but they do work on a great many people

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Zaaffraan 21

Thanks, Duo, for returning my level information. It was back today on my profile page listed under "Achievements." Even though in the real world the information is without meaning, its return made me feel a bit less like a mouse at the mercy of an owl.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wwkudu 15 12 6 2

My experience of the coach has been the opposite of "keep yourself motivated". I find myself now demotivated. The first thing that happened was that I lost my streak of how-ever-many days which had built really well. I thought it was a bug in the software, until it dawned on me that the great new coach, instead of motivating me had used the stick approach, and not just any stick approach, the nasty surprise stick approach: "Didn't quite make the goal? Ok I'm taking away your hard-earned streak, even though you're still coming back every day." Sigh, a simple warning when setting the coach, "You will lose your streak, if you miss even one day of the goal", would have been enough. I miss the levels - levelling up was, I realise, a motivator for me. Not much of what I have written is new, but I wanted to add my voice to the seeming throng. Coach is not helpful to me in the current incarnation.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jakaranter 10

wwkudu - You have pretty much voiced my sentiments as well. After losing a fairly long streak, plus my wagers, I am less inclined to want to do a lesson every day. As I pointed out to the powers-that-be at DL, and as you indicated, a simple warning on the coach page about losing your streak if you miss a day of the goal would have saved a lot of grief for many people.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DeanG6 20 12 9 2 20

Maybe I'm in the minority, but I like the new Coach Feature. Previously I often did the minimum daily requirement of 10 points (1 lesson) to maintain my streak (I did not translate, which only requires 1 xp). When the new Coach feature came out I upped my goal to 20 points and now I'm doing twice as much as a result, and often up towards 100-200 points. The bottom line is, the new Coach feature has motivated me to do more than what I was doing previously. So I like it.

Secondly, in regards to the requirements for maintaining the streak, it was clear to me on the first day when I changed my goal from 10 to 20, that after doing 1 lesson (10 xp) my streak was not continued for that day. I always, /always/, look at the streak icon to verify that my streak advances each day. On that first day it was clear that the streak had not been advanced after doing 10-13 xp, so I did another lesson to get it over 20 xp. It wasn't rocket science to figure out that I had to achieve my new goal of 20 in order to maintain my streak. I can see that some people might have missed that, but it's surprising that so many did. I'm also surprised that they hadn't bought a Streak Freeze as insurance. If they had, they would have maintained their streak and had plenty of time to figure out the new system.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JonA29 23 21 9 7 5 199

I appreciate the effort the staff at Duolingo are making to make this service better. I have to say though, I don't like this change. The coach is a feature I don't use. The UI obscures nearly 1/3 of my cellphone's screen which I find constricting. I can't remove it or minimize it. On the web-based version, the UI has replaced the progress bar which I liked with a graph which I don't really need.

I work on 4 different languages. I try to do at least one lesson in each a day. I easily meet whatever requirements the Coach feature would impose. It doesn't help me. It doesn't encourage me to do more, or direct me to specific skills to improve. For me, it just an intrusive UI that has replaced a UI I preferred.

Please allow users the option to disable the Coach function. -Jon

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

The thing that I don't like about this feature that you cannot see your progression, i.e. how many words you've learned so far and how much more exp you need to get a level-up, in non-english-speaking courses.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BenTheGeek 20

I'm in one of the tests for once! Yes, I have been in other tests, but only occasionally.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MennaLotfy 10 7 2 2

I can't find Caoch in my settings

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

It's only for Group A testers, so you are in Group B. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

joethebrit 15

I WANT A TRANSFER

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kplife 22 22 14 10 9 9 8 8 7 7 5 3 2

Go group A!!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

johncaveishere 14

Go group B! I lost my entire streak thanks to this useless contraption of a "feature".

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jfernatt 22 8

Count me in the minority that likes the coach... Doing one point on timed practice to keep a streak isn't really achieving the purpose of doing some meaningful amount of language learning per day so it keeps you honest with yourself.

I also don't really mind the loss of the progress bar. The levels really only indicate the amount of time you've spent on the site, not your level of proficiency so they're not something I spend a lot of time paying attention to.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

KalinaZ 23 20 12 11 121

Actually, it's the streak that is just "the amount of time you've spent on the site", the levels are essential IMHO.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jfernatt 22 8

Well, what I mean more specifically is that it's time spend on the number of exercises you've been through. Someone who practices and never moves past the first 3 exercises can have the same number of points as someone who's completed the tree forward and backwards.

To be clear, I'm not advocating that they take away the progress bar. I know that gamification is great to get new users hooked. I just think after a certain point you're either staying here to learn the language or to do the minimum to accumulate fake points.

I know personally I've been a victim of my own laziness and done a single point to keep my streak even though I know that's not an effective way to keep learning the language and it defeats the purpose of streak to begin with. I like the fact that I have to do a meaningful amount of practice to keep my streak. TBH I wouldn't mind if they changed the requirement to at least 10 points for everyone anyway.

Personally, I also think there's more that could (eventually) be done to make the points and levels more meaningful and improve the gamification. IE:

Diminishing returns on old lessons. Completing the lesson with problems like "The boy" and "The girl" 150 times shouldn't take someone from level 15 to level 16.

Quests or missions could be added that are tied into the spaced repetition system.

Additional requirements (like passing a proficiency test or doing X immersion sentences) could be required for reaching higher levels.

Adding things like more bonus lessons to the lingot store.

Some sort of achievement or trophy showcase on your profile.

More granular metrics like number of times you've completed a lesson, problem words, number of times you've failed a particular lesson etc.

12ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

CarlosJFort 16 7 5

I think it would be a good idea to tie levels to certain points on the tree, so that you have to earn XPs AND reach checkpoints to level up, and for example you had to reach the end of the tree to get to level 15 or 20. That is, reaching a checkpoint with enough XPs would get you to a certain level, and if you don't have enough XPs it would level you up when you get the XPs you need.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SteveBosman 20 11 6 5 2 2 2 732

I think people going slower still need to see XP going up and occasional levelling up, but I'd make it that harder lessons (i.e. higher up the tree) are worth more XP and spread out the XP requirements for levels.

This is similar to how D and D used to work (may still do, but it is 20 years since my last game). It was possible to get to level 20 by just killing kobolds, but it would be boring and very slow going. Much better to work up to slaying a dragon. XP required between levels roughly doubles.

Translated to duolingo terms that could become level | xp to achieve level

1| 0

2| 60

3| 120

4| 240

5| 520

6| 1100

7| 2200

8| 4400

9| 9000

10|18000

i.e. much more xp required between higher levels, but more xp given for doing harder lessons.

7ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Flannery65 14 11 10 8 8 5 4 2 24

No, I cannot agree with you. Some people need to reinforce more (me!) and can only progress through the tree slowly, but we still like to see something reflecting our effort. Only you know what your "level" means anyway!

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Lrtward 25 25 8 169

Agreed. I'm one of those "needs to reinforce more" people. I make Duo a very high priority in my life, visit every day, and strive to earn 50-100 XP. I'm barely halfway through my French tree despite all that time and effort. My "low" status on the tree doesn't mean I didn't work hard or that I'm undeserving of a higher level.

Duo used to let us see other peoples' trees in addition to their XP level. That way you knew if someone was pretty knowledgeable about a language (finished tree, or close to it) and maybe just came here to refresh. Or if they were more like me, slow and steady and thorough. I think bringing the tree back might be a good option.

But mostly: I think requiring XP plus a level in the tree would only encourage folks to rush through the tree without taking time to review and actually learn the material. That's counter to the goal of learning a language.

6Give Lingot•2 years ago

CarlosJFort 16 7 5

Lrtward, if you need to reach a point in the tree AND a certain amount of XPs, I think it would encourage people to review past lessons while they are advancing through the tree. I've set myself goals that are reaching a certain level when I finish a certain unit, and if I reach the end of the unit before getting to the level, then I strengthen lessons until I get the level, and then I go on.

Right now I am about to reach the end of unit "Present perfect", and my goal is to reach level 13 when I finish it, I'm very likely to finish it much before reaching the level, so I will keep strengthening past lessons.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

umm...can't see the Coach feature under Settings on my side

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lindaljc 25 13 4 58

You are in the fortunate B group of this experiment! Count your blessings!

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KalinaZ 23 20 12 11 121

ok, is there really no normal way to see one's level points?! (i mean without scripts and magic software tricks) - numerous people have been complaining about that.....

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Level bar

I just took this. I went to Timed Practice and earned one point. There might be other ways to see the bar as well.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

KalinaZ 23 20 12 11 121

Tried it, on mine it only shows the daily couch thing :/

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Argy, really? Crud It's probably because I have the Coach but haven't activated any of it's settings yet. :( Thanks for getting back to me!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

PablitoNogales 7 3

You can put the bar back with the Greasemonkey extension for Firefox and Tampermonkey for Chrome.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jfernatt 22 8

There's a post above by josephfloredda that breaks down how many points are required for each level. You can see your own points by clicking "your profile." That will give you an idea of how close you are to levelling up.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KalinaZ 23 20 12 11 121

where exactly are the points? I don't see any points in "your profile", just the streak, the level, and translation tiers..

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jfernatt 22 8

Hmm I don't know if this is part of the testing or not but when I click the dropdown button next to my name and click my profile, my points are listed in the upper right hand corner where it says "Languages"

For example mine says "German (Level 18) 12485 xp"

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

That is also an A/B test at the moment. It's been two weeks since the roll-out (maybe three today).

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KalinaZ 23 20 12 11 121

damn it, i wish i was a part of this part of the test, too :)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Flannery65 14 11 10 8 8 5 4 2 24

Seems longer.... (I cannot stand the coach, lost my streak and can't manage my daily goals for the separate languages...)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

bkamolnick 22

Has anyone had trouble where they successfully completed a session but the progress bar on that topic didn't move?? NOTHING ABOUT THE STREAK, just that the bars on the actual topic don't move even when you pass the test without dying.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

8HambyJ 18

Yeah, I've noticed that. It's weird sometimes. I'll do a strengthen skills thing and nothing will get strengthened, even though I didn't miss anything. Just redo it. It will probably work then.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14

How many questions did you get right out of twenty? There might be more to learn in that lesson. Did you pass with all your hearts? It has happened to me, but I just redid strengthen skills if I have done all the lessons in that section icon.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

killerpiggy 5
cool

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

traywarrendeonte 3

Well is this on another website? I cant find coach anywhere!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

The Coach is an A/B test feature, which means only a portion of the website users have it. If you don't see it, you are probably not a beta tester for it. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

candiedpeaches 7 6 5 2 2

Is there a way to figure out /when/ your coach resets? I know mine is ~somewhere around 11:00pm but I have no idea /when/ exactly. I ended up using one of my streak freezes because I was in the middle of doing my daily lesson when it rolled over (I assume).

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wazzie 25 11

There seem to be a lot of glitches with the coach. The "hours left to go" should accurately line up with your coach reset (website only). Just make sure you are earning your goal points each day, or your streak will not count.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

candiedpeaches 7 6 5 2 2

Yeah I just was wondering if there was a way to tell like the minute it reset. It was easier with 12:00am exactly being the cut off and while I like the ability to "customize" when your reset time is, it doesn't really work in practice.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wazzie 25 11

It always (and still does) expire at midnight based on the timezone you were in when you first made your account.

It is not customizable.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

candiedpeaches 7 6 5 2 2

Is it supposed to do that even with the coach feature because mine definitely rolls over around 11:00pm which is when I set the coach. (It literally just reset and it's 11:05pm) Maybe it's an error with my account idk.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

wazzie 25 11

Could your clock on your computer be wrong? It just turned 1106, and you posted this 3 minutes ago. :)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Flannery65 14 11 10 8 8 5 4 2 24

But the coaching points have a time frame all of their own

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

candiedpeaches 7 6 5 2 2

I mean, if my computer is off by a few minutes, that's not too much of an issue, but it's clearly resetting about an hour early which it didn't do prior to having the coach so I have reason to believe it's something to do with the feature. I appreciate the help though!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bchan 17 9 8 6 5 4 4 2

Your account is set to America/New York, -0400. Under your streak it says how long you have left until your account time midnight. Yours reads 23 hours, because it is currently 12:16 EST.

1ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

candiedpeaches 7 6 5 2 2

Is there a way to change this? I live in the central time zone (and I have ever since I started Duo), so I don't know why it's saying I live in the eastern time zone.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14

I am curious. They set this from where you first started your account and not from where you live. Did you happen to try the Duolingo app on your phone when in Eastern time? Have you never traveled to somewhere in the Eastern time zone? I am wondering how the Coach feature could have possibly changed your location of first opening your account.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

HermineSaka 5

cool and it may be easier to learn a new language

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

naillik2000

who is this sticky you speak of?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

I still don't have coach feature

0ReplyGive Lingot19•2 years ago

CestunmoiMario1 10 6

me neither

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I received two email reminders at 12:57am this morning that "You're on fire! Continue your 381 day streak." I usually only receive 1.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

spidermonkey754 7 4

This is a great new feature

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

megaevoCHARlie 5 2 2

This is a big improvement. Thank you.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DrMelodySmith84 12 10

I don't have this feature in my settings. I have looked everywhere, but can't find it!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gus.ash 7

i like it

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Artilex 25 6 2

I don't see it

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

blackbarnkitten 11

I love this program, but the prompt for voice for me to hear is totally unsuitable,,,it needs to be redone to be much clearer,,,,most of the voice requests for the sentence I give up on as I can't understand part of the sentence...

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Hi blackbarnkitten,

There should be a little button that looks like a turtle under the button for replaying the voice. The turtle button will slow the audio down significantly. As a level two person, the voice can still be a challenge to understand because you are still building your listening comprehension in addition to the voice quality being computerized. But, it will become more understandable as you go (but only if you don't skip those questions.) Meanwhile, there is another option. I strongly recommend against it for hearing people with a very low level because it will hurt their overall ability to converse in their new language. But, there is an option to turn the speakers off. To get to your settings, hover over your username where it appears in the blue bar at the top of the screen. A drop down menu will appear with the setting and you can turn off speakers. Don't forget to hit "save". If you do this, I strongly, strongly, strongly recommend finding a replacement source for listening comprehension and using it every day. Keep your goal in mind. If it is learning a language, don't cut corners. ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ConfusedGirlBoy 7

i love all the new improvements

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

17YearOldGorilla 13 8

I am happy the Coach has gone from handheld device to laptop/PC, but I have one question: There is a one XP per day coaching set. The minimum you can do in one day is 10 XP, and I remember that not long ago you could practice a word or two for 2 or 3 XP. Does Duo have a plan to bring that back?

Thank you very much,

Praetor Tertius Cliathairi

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

la.femme.rouge 3

i think i learned more than i used to learned at my french private courses, found out yesterday about duolingo, great think, recommended to everybody

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

thanks the tip!!! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bradleyzakiya 5

well i need help i thought that a spanish class at school wil help me but im wrong so i started duolingo i need help

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

missy42983 3

I really love the app, my kids love it too. It is simple and user friendly plus uses a great technique for teaching. THANK YOU

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MarcScholt 10 6 6

Great!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

henhuanghenbaoli 22 14 8 2

What is the Coach? I do not see in my settings.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

henhuanghenbaoli 22 14 8 2

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4959884>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

shizhengze 7

I'm learning French.It seems that French is much more difficult than English.I wish I could do well in it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

llamalovers000 9

I cannot quite follow your discussion because I can still see the progress bar and I know how many Spanish words are in my vocabulary. I cannot seem to find the place where I 'write in my goal'.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14
Not everyone has this feature which is being tested on some of the people. on duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

rootyjr 22 5
Is there anyway I can get coach?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lusnagreine 7
I am able to open any icons below "Animals" in Irish. All the icons are gray. No idea why this happened.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14
Is "Animals" icon golden? If it is not you may not have finished all the lessons in that group? My icons are gray below "Plurals" which I am still working on, a.harris5 8

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

i like how they make improvements. but i do not understand how or why they put were you have to strengthen your skills. i do not like it at all

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

NolanHasting
I haven't been on very much lately, so this will be nice to keep me activated! Thanks DuoLingo

Nolan-photos4u

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Incubatorfunk 17 8 2
hate it! turn my coach off!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

11miles11 7 6 5
I don't have coach on my settings! so how do I get it?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RainbowBeast13 3
im new this this duolingo stuff and its actually going kind of good

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jonathan.Matthew 11

It's pretty hard to get to the standard goal, I have been on six hours total and have not ever reached my goal.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sparklygirl50 10 2

I like the goal because it helps me to do duolingo every day and It keeps me on my streak thank you duolingo for your site and all the special features.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AdayinParadise 9

I'm thankful for how much effort the staff put into making duolingo a safe and free place to learn with lots of languages and new up coming languages. I wish that I could see when I was almost at the next level, but I'm still thankful for duolingo.;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

<h1>New test group reintroduces an improved way to see your points between levels in all courses! See screenshot in a reply to a screenshot in the comments here:

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ful0004 11 2

I think that XP goals are much better than goals based on how much time you spend, because if you have a 5 minute daily goal, sometimes it's hard to even complete one lesson in 5 minutes, and if you do half a lesson it doesn't count, so XP goals are very helpful.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Soenix 16

Hi every one :) I'm facing a problem with the Coach feature which is that : I can't find it !! neither on the home page nor in the Settings .

I'm sorry if I've missed something, but I haven't been using this site for about a year and came back a week ago.

and thanks for help :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1355

It's a feature that is in testing at the moment on the website, so it is only available to some people. If you really want it the iphone or similar app version has it.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DarkoTomic2 12
Das ist gut

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Austinrules 12 3
thanks so much i didnt know thanks again for clarification.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlbertTam1 7 6 5 2
You should probably remove the 1 XP option. I have always earned more than one with an actual complete lesson.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wazzie 25 11
You can extend your streak by getting 1 answer correct in Timed Practice (1XP), translating 1 word in Immersion (1XP), voting on a sentence in Immersion (1XP - Tier 2, 2XP - Tier 3, 5XP - Tier 4 and above).

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlbertTam1 7 6 5 2
Overlooked that.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

generalteo 13
Having both the old and the new features would be the best! there is enough space to add them anyway...

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

red70 10 7 6 2 2
Just as soolrak said, I cannot see the level bar

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

cmgrzesik 10
I really like the feature. I need to learn extremely quickly before i move and it really helps to keep me motivated

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

magica 16
I've just lost my streak of 280+ because of coach feature. :( So unfair! I didn't know that it does not count a day when I don't get enough points daily. It would be nice to have a feature of streakfreeze also after - not just in advance for the cases when instead of 290 day streak appears there horrible number 0. I would pay double amount of linglots for that.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cgrace617 3

hi im 10 and i really need some lingots

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

davidalso 21 19 16 13 1341

Work your lessons and you'll get them.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ironsix 12

i love the coach feature but i wish that the choices went higher than fifty just to make sure that i work hard and get a lot done

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Soccer_is_life16 6

Cool.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Elmo_96 2

AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAH HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHHAHA NOPE

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

StefanSilviu 25 10 6 5 11

I do not like at all this new feature. I really want my "nice and yellow bar " back. (thank you "Soolrak") Please! Or makes it like an option. Thank you!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

thing.one12 18 3 2

I really think that you should be able to set your own goal (not what is given to you). For example, maybe someone wants to set it at 34 XP. OK, that's kind of an odd number, but I'm just saying that for example. For me, 10 is too easy, but 20 is a little over the top. There is no 15, so I'm stuck with the hard or the easy. Maybe the Coach is to push you, and I should be doing 20 right now, but I think it'd really be helpful to have a set-it-yourself goal.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

@thing.one12 (cool username, btw :D) You can set your goal for 10, and then just earn 5 extra points if you want. You don't have to stop once you reach your goal. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Marido_de_Maru 13 2

Can I get my regular experience tracker back please? I hate the coach, and there is no option to turn it off. I cannot do the hack that was touted around here as I am on a macbook pro. Please, please, please, give me my tracker back. I strongly dislike this coach thing...

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Marido_de_Maru 13 2

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6428964> this is a thread that has a cool pop up link that shows everything about your progress and experience!!! Thanks to Usagiboy7 for letting me know!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Marido_de_Maru 13 2

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6428964> this is a thread that has a cool pop up link that shows everything about your progress and experience!!! Thanks to Usagiboy7 for letting me know!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

Can you just tell me what's an xp cause i am new here :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Karen00015 2

All that matters is that we learn a new language

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GalvanTivadar 25 25 25 22 6 980

Thank you so much indeed for this radiant idea. I had a good time until I was finally able to exterminate it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bartosso 18 15 10 6 2

I see comments over 9 months old from people asking for a way to deactivate coach and/or be able to see their level progress. Along with vocabulary list, it is yet another unresolved major problem. I love duolingo but it seems the site is dying.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mathso2 25 23 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 7 6 6 6 4 4 3 81

Dying?! Duolingo is making new languages at a faster rate than ever. Don't use this comment section as a gauge of how active Duolingo is because every comment thread goes defunct at some point or another. The comments section in general is not a good measure, in fact. More and more people are using Duolingo on their iOS, Android and Windows phones and it's hard to read comment sections on my android and my iPod touch doesn't even have the option to go to the comments. Some evidence that Duolingo is growing is that it's Alexa rank is going up. It's currently at 1,596, the best it has been in the last 12 months - <http://www.alexa.com/siteinfo/duolingo.com>. Either way, rest assured that Duolingo is not dying :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bartosso 18 15 10 6 2

Please read my comment first as you clearly didn't. I'm talking about very serious problems that have been lying unresolved for the last 10 months. I consider an option THAT CANNOT BE TURNED OFF after being turned on as a major problem, along with vocabulary list feature that has been deleted just like that. Again, duolingo is amazing, but the people behind the app itself are clearly procrastinating and/or focusing on marketing over QA.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mathso2 25 23 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 7 6 6 6 6 4 4 3 81

That's not new, for example so many people have been wanting a course for the asian languages such as chinese and japanese for years. I'm sure there are people willing and ready to contribute because there are so many people who speak these languages.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

wazzie 25 11

I consider an option THAT CANNOT BE TURNED OFF after being turned on as a major problem,

It's not so much that it can't be turned off, but more so that it is a new permanent feature (a feature that you don't like is still a feature). Even people who choose not to turn it on in the beginning had the feature forced upon them several months ago.

along with vocabulary list feature that has been deleted just like that.

The vocabulary list is still available for me. It isn't always available for newer languages though.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bartosso 18 15 10 6 2

well, you must be the lucky one as I have no vocab list for any of the languages I'm learning. Also, I've just turned on the coach feature yesterday just to check it out but it turned out it deletes the level progress bar that I've found to be highly motivating. I can't get it back. It pisses me off that they force upon me a feature that should be optional as advertised. Listen, I understand that the site is free and all, but it doesn't mean its UI and features can become worse and worse without anyone daring to protest.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

wazzie 25 11

People did protest, myself included, but more people liked the feature than disliked it and it is easier for them to maintain a site where everyone isn't using different formats.

Have you checked your profile page for language progress. I think they recently gave everyone the ability to see it again. I know I wasn't in the original test group, but I have it now.

Click on the little arrow next to your user name in the blue bar and select "your profile".

1Give Lingot2•1 year ago

bartosso 18 15 10 6 2

I see comments over 9 months old from people asking for a way to deactivate coach and/or be able to see their level progress. Along with vocabulary list, it is yet another unresolved major problem. I love duolingo but it seems the site is dying.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Stormskies 6

I positively hate the coach feature... I cannot see the level I am at, and instead of the good old bar, I have some odd circle. Please add a 'turn off' button for coach!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Killer_Meme_Star 3 3

i am really loving these improvements

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

awesome-dud 12

how do you turn off the coach after you have already activated it?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mathso2 25 23 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 7 6 6 6 6 4 4 3 81

As much as I would like to get the level progress bar back, I'm pretty sure you can't.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

awesome-dud 12

It doesn't matter if I get the progress bar back, I just want to turn off my coach

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Mathso2 25 23 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 7 6 6 6 6 4 4 3 81

You can't. It's here to stay by the look of things...

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

GalvanTivadar 25 25 25 22 6 980

It is not so hopeless. As for me, I got rid of it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

awesome-dud 12

How did you get rid of it?

0Give Lingot•10 months ago

GalvanTivadar 25 25 25 22 6 980

There are several workarounds to solve that, they are mostly browser-dependent. Just google around a bit.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

habeebkhan 10 2
wow cool

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

_kingcx 2
to cool for school

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Moshi0806 2
I need more lingots and XP. XD I'm a noob!!!!

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

dauidalso 21 19 16 13 1341
Do at least one lesson every day. Stick with it. Before long you'll have more xp and lingots than you know what to do with. As a bonus, you might improve your Spanish.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

773 prendiamo

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/prendiamo-prendere-verb-present+indicative+tense-first+person-plural/b9d90f562b1c0b7f90d25709e844e533>

ENGLISH

(we) take, (we) get, (we) take on
Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|        |                         |                        |
|--------|-------------------------|------------------------|
| prendi | Prendi il tuo maglione. | You take your sweater. |
|--------|-------------------------|------------------------|

|        |                       |                      |
|--------|-----------------------|----------------------|
| prende | Lei prende un panino. | She gets a sandwich. |
|--------|-----------------------|----------------------|

|           |                        |                     |
|-----------|------------------------|---------------------|
| prendiamo | Prendiamo un giornale. | We get a newspaper. |
|-----------|------------------------|---------------------|

|          |                     |                       |
|----------|---------------------|-----------------------|
| prendono | Prendono un panino. | They take a sandwich. |
|----------|---------------------|-----------------------|

|        |                                         |                                   |
|--------|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| prenda | Lui vuole che io prenda una fotografia. | He wants me to take a photograph. |
|--------|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

|        |                                         |                                         |
|--------|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| prenda | È necessario che tu prenda la sua mano. | It is necessary that you take his hand. |
|--------|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|

|        |                                          |                                          |
|--------|------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| prenda | Non sono certo che lei prenda l'autobus. | I am not certain that she takes the bus. |
|--------|------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

|           |                                         |                                            |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| prendessi | Non volevano che io prendessi l'ultimo. | They did not want me to take the last one. |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|

|       |                                    |                                     |
|-------|------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| prese | Lui prese una foto della famiglia. | He took a photograph of the family. |
|-------|------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|

|          |                                           |                                                 |
|----------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| prendeva | Prima il meccanico prendeva molto di più. | Before, the mechanic used to charge a lot more. |
|----------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|

|           |                                                                 |                                                                   |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|
| prendesse | Sì, ma pensavo che la gente come lei non prendesse queste cose. | Yes, but I thought that people like her didn't take these things. |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                           |                                         |
|-------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| preso | Penso che lui abbia preso la sua valigia. | I think that he has taken his suitcase. |
|-------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|

|       |                                  |                                      |
|-------|----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| presa | Non penso che lui l'abbia presa. | I do not think that he has taken it. |
|-------|----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|

|          |                       |                           |
|----------|-----------------------|---------------------------|
| prenderò | Prenderò la medicina. | I will take the medicine. |
|----------|-----------------------|---------------------------|

|        |                                  |                                              |
|--------|----------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| prendi | Prendi pure i biscotti che vuoi! | Go ahead and take the cookies that you want! |
|--------|----------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|

|           |                      |                            |
|-----------|----------------------|----------------------------|
| prenderai | Che treno prenderai? | Which train will you take? |
|-----------|----------------------|----------------------------|

|          |                                      |                                      |
|----------|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| prenderà | Il mio fidanzato prenderà il pranzo. | My boyfriend will pick up the lunch. |
|----------|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|

|             |                                |                                    |
|-------------|--------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| prenderebbe | Prenderebbe parte al progetto? | Would he take part in the project? |
|-------------|--------------------------------|------------------------------------|

|          |                                           |                                   |
|----------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| prendere | Mia madre mi viene a prendere alle dieci. | My mother comes to get me at ten. |
|----------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

prendendo I giovani stanno prendendo una strada diversa. The youth is taking a different road.
 prendereste Prendereste parte al progetto? Would you take part in the project?
 prenderebbero Mi prenderebbero prima di entrare in aeroporto. They would get me before entering the airport.
 prendere conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON  | PRESENT   | REMOTE PAST | FUTURE      |
|---------|-----------|-------------|-------------|
| io      | prendo    | presi       | prenderò    |
| tu      | prendi    | prendesti   | prenderai   |
| lui/lei | prende    | prese       | prenderà    |
| noi     | prendiamo | prendemmo   | prenderemo  |
| voi     | prendete  | prendeste   | prenderete  |
| loro    | prendono  | presero     | prenderanno |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "prendiamo":

18 commentsPrendiamo un giornale.

66 commentsMi hanno presa.

57 commentsChi avrà preso il mio dentifricio?

49 commentsLui prende i miei pantaloni.

45 commentsLei prende un panino.

774 "Nosotras tocamos, ustedes tocan, ellas tocan."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/20227128>

Translation: We touch, you touch, they touch.

02 months ago

Leave a new comment

15 Comments

Camryn_221 5 2

i thought is said that ustedes was pluril you (they)

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

CaseyPelay 8 2

touch what

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

MatousAc 10 6 5 4 4 4 2 2 2 2 42

For some reason, I hate autocorrect when using Duolingo...

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

-SnowyOwl- 9

I thought the verb 'tocar' was 'to play'.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SaraGalesa 19 15 14 13 12 6 6 203

Yes, it means play when referring to musical instruments.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

-SnowyOwl- 9

So when it refers to musical instruments, then it's 'to play'? But when it isn't referring to them, it's 'to touch'?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SaraGalesa 19 15 14 13 12 6 6 203

Yes (although I think it's better to think of it as the correct idiomatic translation, rather than a different meaning).

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

-SnowyOwl- 9

Okay! Thank you!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

lena_leen 9 9 8 6 2 32

i don't understand why it doesn't accept the translation "you all" Ustedes is the plural of you....hence you all...and it is formal vs vosotros. is this not ture...or am I forgetting something.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Emma_Naquin 6 3 2

in english 'you all' is not the actual plural of 'you.' the plural of 'you' in english is just 'you,' so 'you all' is not correct english, let alone spanish

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

mjyelrom 5

Why Nostras instead of nosotros?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

TheObjector 5

Because she is referring to women as a collective. Both still translate to We in English. But if you are a male, you would never use Nosotras in spanish. However, Nosotros can be used by both male and female because it refers to a group of either men or a group of mixed genders.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

P.Jon 16 4

I used "all" because the other two words were plural.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

dbudly05 5 4
that's a lot of touching

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 days ago

ScienceKatMaddy 6 2
poke

0ReplyGive Lingot•yesterday

775 I think Duolingo is awesome and want to work there! How do I submit my resume?
<https://support.duolingo.com/hc/en-us/articles/204887884-I-think-Duolingo-is-awesome-and-want-to-work-there-How-do-I-submit-my-resume->

If you are passionate about Duolingo and would like to join our team, we'd love to hear from you! Check out our jobs page, you will find the current listings for the positions we have available.

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages

776 – 803 of 911

[accessed March 22 and 28, 2017]

776 "Jag kommer inte ihåg."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6621409>

Translation: I do not remember.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

18 Comments

Antonio_Sou 15 11 4

It still hasn't been mentioned that håg means 'mind'. Knowing that, the phrase makes perfect sense.

86ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TimothyAspeslagh 22 6

Thank you! Have a lingot

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Antonio_Sou 15 11 4

Sweet, thanks :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bearzerker 23 44

So would "it dosent come to mind" be an acceptable answer?

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RikSha 18 17 13 13 13 13 12 11 11 11 10 9

What's the difference between 'komma ihåg' and 'minnas'? And how would you say 'to reminisce' eg. 'She likes to reminisce about her youth'?

19ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

stephenbal4 19 19 14 12 11 9 7 7 6 5 5 4 2

I had to do some translating with Google Translate, but I found this link på svenska:

http://www.paengelska.com/komma\_ihag\_pa\_engelska.htm

It seems to state that minnas is used for "recalling" a point in time. komma ihåg is the more general term, and must be used instead of minnas for something like "remembering to bring something with you".

13ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

israellai 19 15 12 11 11 8 7 6 5 5

Or tänk på att for that one?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stephenbal4 19 19 14 12 11 9 7 7 6 5 5 4 2

Are you asking what tänk på att is for?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

helmad 21 19 17 17 15 15 14 13 11 10 2

Is ihåg at all related to 'high'? A way to say something similar in Dutch is 'er niet op komen -- not come onto it .. Well, it will work as a mnemonic for me regardless, but I'm curious:-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AlecHirsch1 17 6

How would you say "I won't remember?" Jag kommer inte att komma ihåg?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

HelenCarlsson 22 18 18 18 15 15 12 869

Yes :), or "Jag kommer inte att minnas".

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

saucecode 18

I would've gone with: Jag ska inte ihåg. But that's just a guess, I don't actually know.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SthhitPragya 20

what is the significance of putt kommer here...Cant we directly say...Jag ihag inte

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

saucecode 18

ihåg is an adverb, not a verb. So then Jag ihåg inte isn't a proper sentence since it doesn't have a verb. (According to the wiktionary page)

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

healthyhappyfree 17 2

Is "I don't remember" acceptable? It was marked wrong.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

[deactivated user]

Would 'jag ihåg inte' work here?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HelenCarlsson 22 18 18 18 15 15 12 869

No, remember = komma ihåg.

I will remember = Jag kommer att komma ihåg (or Jag ska komma ihåg).

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

777 الانجليزية بالغة قصيرة قصص

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/13129323>

zohoor22 8

<http://www.learn-english-kids.net/>

Give Lingot2

51 year ago

Leave a new comment

15 Comments

AhmedI13 2

thanks.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

thanks.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ghaidaaob 14 8

thanks , i will read it =)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnaloooh 10

good

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hmada993 18 12 11 5 116

Thank you for the link.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

maha511 9

oh thanks :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

many many thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

baher2015 13

very good

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

qassim34 7
thanks for small story english

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FazTOIOIUYM 2
thank you

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EDnR4 5 2
thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hashemadnan 7
thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

haiderameer 4
thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ranyamayzan0 9
the givingg tree the greatest treasure

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mariamrfat 12
??????

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

778 "Der Bär "
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/411419>

Yes

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

talkingMagpie 6
das, der, die...i noticed its different depending on the animal. Why?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HallieGray 24 21 9 8 8 3

Every noun in German is either masculine, feminine, or neuter. The gender of the noun will affect the articles (the, a, this) in German. This is a major aspect of beginner's German. In this case, Der is masc, die is fem, and das is neut

13ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

talkingMagpie 6

How do you determine which animal is which?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HallieGray 24 21 9 8 8 3

You just have to learn the gender of the word when you learn the word. There is no other way to determine it except to check a dictionary. For most words the gender basically appears to be arbitrary. So instead of learning that Bär means bear, in German you learn that Der Bär means The bear and therefore you know Bär is masculine

15ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

rackpc93 10

Thanks a lot

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

harm.bacon.12 6

Danke! That helps a lot!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rackpc93 10

Thank you

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

appli94 9

How to pronounce "Bär"? Beer?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cap02 6 4

The letter ä is pronounced like an e

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

X-The-X 21 14 13 12 12 10 8 7 7 7 6 6 6 5 4 4 3 2 2 153

Almost like "bear"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

Marmalade_B 9

When is "Tragen" used and when is "Bär" used?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nxexa89 11

'Tragen' is to carry, or 'bear weight'. 'Bär' refers to the animal bear.

14ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

harm.bacon.12 6

Oh, Danke!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Vansh4 8 2

Can anyone please tell me the gender of the word 'bear'. Is it masculine or neuter ??

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HallieGray 24 21 9 8 8 3

It is masculine. "Der" is a masculine article. Das is neuter, and Die is feminine

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

hassansen 13 9 8 7 6 5 5 2

what about "Den" ?

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HallieGray 24 21 9 8 8 3

"Den" is not a nominative-case article. "Der" changes to "den" in masculine accusative, and "die" changes to "den" in plural dative. There's a discussion of gender and case and a chart showing the different articles on this page <http://marathonsprachen.com/the-der-die-das/> There is also more tips there. At this early stage, I believe duolingo is focusing on nominative, but accusative will be coming soon, and dative and genitive soon after.

6ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

hassansen 13 9 8 7 6 5 5 2

Danke, the page is very helpful. but it's still difficult because we have to remember the gender of every single word.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HallieGray 24 21 9 8 8 3

Yes. That is difficult. If you are visually oriented, you might try creating a chart where masculine words are written in the left column, feminine words in the middle column, and neuter in the right column. This way by looking at the chart you might be able to remember which column the word is in and thus remember its gender, or else also associate a word with other words on the chart that are feminine, which might help you remember that's it's feminine. Or you could imagine a picture where words of the same gender are together. Say, der Bär and der Vater(father) and der Sohn (son) drinking Kaffee (coffee) at the Bahnhof (train station) by the Fluß (river) on the son's Geburtstag (birthday). Put a Vogel (bird) flying in the sky. (But not a Sonne (sun) because that's feminine!)

Also, here's a site with some hints on how to quickly identify the gender of a lot of kinds of German words. <http://www.dummies.com/how-to/content/identifying-a-german-words-gender.html>

7Give Lingot3•2 years ago

animal_loverNZ 9

I put in "The Bears" and it was marked as wrong. why is this?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mrman2 14 2 2

If it was bears, then the modifiers of Bär would be feminine, therefore, "der" would actually be "die". If a normally masculine or neuter word has a masculine article, then it's individual. If it has a feminine article, then it's plural.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

animal_loverNZ 9

Ahh i understand now thanks! :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

mrman2 14 2 2

No problem!

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

SG_1980 8 7

Pronunciation clearly off. "Bär" should sound like the English "bear", just with the German uvular "r" on the end.

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

lamosca.24 15 11 11 7 5

is it just me, or in this case the article "Der" sound like it was "De" without the "r"? is it sort of a phonetic rule or just a lack of the softwase?

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Lenja956809 6 6

Omg ihr alle schreibt echt komisches zeug

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Lenja956809 6 6

Ihr seid echt cool und ihr habt immer tolle ideen manche sitzen zuhause und zogen und anderewiederrum sind in der schule und lernen fleißig bald sind ferien und ich ganz besonders freue mich schon.

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

KentCosme 8 3 1
Hier steppt der Bär!

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

sirbonneville 10 8 5
Can someone help me? 99% of the questions I get wrong is because of "die, "der" and "das". Das is masculine, die is feminine, and der is neuter, right? Because I had a sentence saying "Die Vogel". Shouldn't it be "der" instead? What makes the bird feminine?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DianaBarsaly 17 15 7 5
das for neuter while der for masculine

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sirbonneville 10 8 5
oh. is die for feminine?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DianaBarsaly 17 15 7 5
yes it is

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sirbonneville 10 8 5
but die is also for plural i thought

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Gottesanbeterin 20 22
It is you will just have to listen for plurals and feminine

2Give Lingot•2 years ago

Munuel1st 13 11 9 9 258
Maybe it was "die Vögel" (plural). Otherwise, it's "der Vogel", when it's only one of them.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

niche21stGmail 13 4 2
Why 'die Katze' but 'der Bär' ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

X-The-X 21 14 13 12 12 10 8 7 7 7 6 6 6 5 4 4 3 2 2 153

German has three different genders, masculine, feminine, and neuter. "bar" is masculine, and "Katze" is feminine. You have to learn the genders by heart :(

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

Marblerun60 9 8 3

wouldn't it be easier to just say der bar instead of der bär

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

ESU1 8 3

Später vs Bär, do these two words pronounce the ä differently? Why, and how to identify? Danke.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

SamanthaMa202670 10 5 2

Why is it 'Der Bär' and then 'Ein Bär'? I thought Ein was for neuter nouns? Bär is masculine, right?

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

X-The-X 21 14 13 12 12 10 8 7 7 7 6 6 6 5 4 4 3 2 2 153

No actually, ein is used for both masculine and neuter, while eine is feminine

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

SamanthaMa202670 10 5 2

But, then when is Einen used? In my vocabulary it says Einen is used with masculine nouns.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

X-The-X 21 14 13 12 12 10 8 7 7 7 6 6 6 5 4 4 3 2 2 153

Masculine accusative. read the tips and notes of Acc.Case

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

SamanthaMa202670 10 5 2

Gotcha, thank you. Articles are always difficult for me in other languages because of the feminine/masculine/neutral nouns...English does not prepare you for that.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

hechap 14 3 185

I would very much like Duo to say: "Ich gebe dem Bär das Bier." :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

JadenHOPE 6

.

is what i accidently pressed i mean . they should know that was a mistake

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

benno1612 5

This is a wrong sentence beacuse my name is not in it

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

779 visti

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/visti-vedere-verb-past+participle+tense-masculine-plural/c63c1bec6d77130e27dcc66cc0a6f732>

ENGLISH

saw, seen, (you) stamp

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|      |                                                          |                                          |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| vedo | Non si può avere la bottiglia piena e la moglie ubriaca. | You can't have your cake and eat it too. |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

|      |                           |                         |
|------|---------------------------|-------------------------|
| vede | Il cavallo vede il gatto. | The horse sees the cat. |
|------|---------------------------|-------------------------|

|         |                  |               |
|---------|------------------|---------------|
| vediamo | Vediamo uccelli. | We see birds. |
|---------|------------------|---------------|

|      |                                    |                               |
|------|------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| veda | Hai bisogno che ti veda un medico. | You need a doctor to see you. |
|------|------------------------------------|-------------------------------|

|      |                                   |                                 |
|------|-----------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| veda | Penso che lui veda la differenza. | I think he sees the difference. |
|------|-----------------------------------|---------------------------------|

|      |                         |                      |
|------|-------------------------|----------------------|
| vidi | Lo vidi solo una volta. | I saw him only once. |
|------|-------------------------|----------------------|

|        |                                                    |                                                      |
|--------|----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| vedevo | Quando ero in quel paese, vedevo molte automobili. | When I was in that country, I used to see many cars. |
|--------|----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|

|         |                                 |                                         |
|---------|---------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| vedessi | Capiresti se mi vedessi adesso. | You would understand if you saw me now. |
|---------|---------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|

|      |                                      |                                   |
|------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| vide | Lei vide questo film solo una volta. | She saw this movie only one time. |
|------|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

|        |                                       |                                            |
|--------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| vedeva | Il paese era vicino ma non si vedeva. | The town was near but it couldn't be seen. |
|--------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|

|         |                                                |                                            |
|---------|------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| vedesse | La madre non voleva che suo figlio lo vedesse. | The mother did not want her son to see it. |
|---------|------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|

|          |                          |                                    |
|----------|--------------------------|------------------------------------|
| vedevamo | Lo vedevamo ogni sabato. | We used to see him every Saturday. |
|----------|--------------------------|------------------------------------|

|        |                                          |                                   |
|--------|------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| videro | I giocatori videro la bella allenatrice. | The players saw the pretty coach. |
|--------|------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

|           |                                        |                                         |
|-----------|----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| vedessero | Non volevo che mi vedessero lì dentro. | I did not want them to see me in there. |
|-----------|----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|

|       |                                                  |                                                |
|-------|--------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| visto | È impossibile che lei mi abbia visto alla festa. | It is impossible that she saw me at the party. |
|-------|--------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                        |                                             |
|-------|----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| vista | Mia zia non si è vista nello specchio. | My aunt has not seen herself in the mirror. |
|-------|----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|

|       |                                      |                                              |
|-------|--------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| visti | Noi non ci siamo visti da mercoledì. | We have not seen each other since Wednesday. |
|-------|--------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|

|       |                                           |                                                     |
|-------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| viste | Te l'avrei detto appena ci saremmo viste. | I would have told you as soon as we saw each other. |
|-------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                 |                                     |
|-------|---------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| vedrò | Non ti vedrò fino a quel tempo. | I will not see you until that time. |
|-------|---------------------------------|-------------------------------------|

|        |                 |                        |
|--------|-----------------|------------------------|
| vedrei | Dove lo vedrei? | Where would I see him? |
|--------|-----------------|------------------------|

|          |                        |                            |
|----------|------------------------|----------------------------|
| vedresti | Vedresti tanti colori. | You would see many colors. |
|----------|------------------------|----------------------------|

|        |                                  |                                               |
|--------|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|
| vedrai | Venerdì vedrai mio zio in pista. | On Friday you will see my uncle on the track. |
|--------|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|

|       |                                                   |                                          |
|-------|---------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| vedrà | Il mio amico non mi vedrà mangiare il suo pranzo. | My friend will not see me eat his lunch. |
|-------|---------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

|          |                                           |                                                        |
|----------|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|
| vedrebbe | Non lì, il poliziotto ci vedrebbe subito. | Not there, the police officer would see us right away. |
|----------|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|

|        |                                              |                                                      |
|--------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| vedere | La signora ha detto che non ti vuole vedere. | The lady has said that she does not want to see you. |
|--------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|

|         |                                                  |                                                  |
|---------|--------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|
| vedremo | Io e mio marito vedremo i nostri amici domenica. | My husband and I will see our friends on Sunday. |
|---------|--------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|

|         |                                              |                                              |
|---------|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| vedrete | Tu ed i miei fratelli mi vedrete bere molto. | My brothers and you will see me drink a lot. |
|---------|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|

vedere conjugation

| Indicative                         |         |                  |             |        |
|------------------------------------|---------|------------------|-------------|--------|
| Subjunctive                        |         |                  |             |        |
| Others                             |         |                  |             |        |
| PERSON                             |         | PRESENT          | REMOTE PAST | FUTURE |
| io                                 | vedo    | vedetti vederò   |             |        |
| tu                                 | vedi    | vedesti vederai  |             |        |
| lui/lei                            | vede    | vedette vederà   |             |        |
| noi                                | vediamo | vedemmo          | vederemo    |        |
| voi                                | vedete  | vedeste vederete |             |        |
| loro                               | vedono  | vedettero        | vederanno   |        |
| Show more tenses →                 |         |                  |             |        |
| Discussions with the word "visti": |         |                  |             |        |

18 commentsNoi non ci siamo visti da mercoledì.

56 commentsNon ti avrò visto senza occhiali.

43 commentsNon vedo l'ora!

29 commentsVedo un leone.

28 commentsLo vedevamo ogni sabato.

780 Parental controls and online maturity

<https://support.duolingo.com/hc/en-us/articles/206574263-Parental-controls-and-online-maturity>

Although the main Duolingo website does not have parental controls, we do offer it for teachers and parents via Duolingo for Schools (also free and you don't even need a new account — just use your Duolingo account). From there, a teacher or parent can disable certain vocabulary words for their student, as well as social interactions on the website. If you are interested in doing this, please go to How do I disable social features and mature vocabulary?

It should be noted that Duolingo aims to be a positive and safe environment for learning, and with the help of awesome moderators and a community that is helpful and share a love of learning, be aware that your student may be missing out if prevented from interacting and learning from native speakers who explain tricky concepts in forums and sentence discussions.

If someone in particular is bothering you, please read "How do I block someone?"

If you see forum abuse and extreme misbehavior, please read "How do I report abuse?"

781 "Durchaus "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11346913>

Translation: Absolutely.

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

28 Comments

KiMiralles 24

Notice that this could be a false friend meaning "throughout". Don't be deceived! :)

130ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

az_p 23 9 4

Whoops, if only I could read comments before answering for the first time ;)

I looked it up and it's definitely an adverb, so it doesn't fit where "throughout" would. But apparently "thoroughly" is an acceptable translation (in dictionaries at least - haven't tried on Duo yet).

18ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rohanshankar 22 9 7 4 3 2 2

This isn't a cognate of throughout, but it could possibly substitute for it in some places.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PeaceJoyPancakes 19 13 6 29

It is a cognate, certainly, but not an exact equivalent.

4ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

rohanshankar 22 9 7 4 3 2 2

Indeed, as I later found out (the same day of my typing of the comment, I think!) that throughout and durchaus had similar meanings and throughout sort-of changed over time.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•7 months ago

markbooth 18 14 5

Too late. :(

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

NeilMorgan2 13 10 7

The pronunciation is a bit disjointed. It sounds more like "du ich aus".

18ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SterneDog 15 11 9 9 4 3 3 2

That's exactly what I thought.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

graceb8 13 10 3

Exactly what happened to me!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

rnlddmrrs 20

Thoroughly is not accepted and it definitely should be.

12ReplyGive Lingot1•11 months ago

JeanEFord 19 18 2

My dictionary says 'completely'. Why is this not acceptable here?

8ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

peter146 19 13

my dictionary also. I was hoping to find why not acceptable also but no replies yet.

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

PAVVAP 25 12 372

Terrible pronunciation for me. I undersatnd everything except the DURCHAUS

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

az_p 23 9 4

It sounds fine to me. Compare with the pronunciations here if you want:

<http://www.dict.cc/?s=durchaus>

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Daniel701507 17 11 6

It sounds very different to what can be heard in Duden.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

az_p 23 9 4

That's also a computer-generated voice (although you'd expect they hold it to a high standard). Also try Forvo, which uses recorded pronunciations.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Daniel701507 17 11 6

I didn't know that Duden's pronunciations are computer-generated. Thanks for pointing that out.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

yipivan 21 19 17 16 14 10 9 6 2 449

Any hints to remember the word :( ? A horrible false friend.

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

jblinguaphile 16 16 13 335

If you can link "durch + aus" to "through + out" to "thoroughly" (as in, "through and through"), maybe that could get you to "absolutely", "completely".

11ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

JeanEFord 19 18 2

perhaps after all this discussion it will stay in our minds.

6ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

akalalee 13 5

How is it different from genau? Anyone?

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

zengator 25 60

Genau is more "precisely", whereas durchaus is more "entirely". I think you they come closest if you are using durchaus alone as a shortened form of "absolutely correct", meaning "without exception", in the sense of "exactly".

2ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

Bekir978479 25 191

Does it never mean "completely"?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

AlexBerardo 15 2

durchaus vs. Tatsächlich?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

zengator 25 60

Do you mean "tatsächlich"?

If so, tatsächlich means "actually" (in truth, really, positively), which is not the same as "absolutely" (unconditionally, wholly, completely).

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

ScottThoma7 23 39

"certainly" should be accepted

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Sushinese 12 9 8 6 5 5 5 4 3 2 4

I'm sure Durchaus means "It doesn't need to be argued".

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

782 levanta

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/levanta-levantar-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-singular/cb324e05712d7e57e3b58a8720234cfe>

ENGLISH

up, raise, (he/she/it) gets up

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |             |                |
|---------|-------------|----------------|
| levanto | Lo levanto. | I lift him up. |
|---------|-------------|----------------|

|         |                          |                             |
|---------|--------------------------|-----------------------------|
| levanta | La niña levanta al bebé. | The girl lifts up the baby. |
|---------|--------------------------|-----------------------------|

|          |                     |                   |
|----------|---------------------|-------------------|
| levantan | Se levantan pronto. | They get up soon. |
|----------|---------------------|-------------------|

|          |             |  |
|----------|-------------|--|
| levantar | conjugation |  |
|----------|-------------|--|

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT    | PAST         | FUTURE       |
|-------------------|------------|--------------|--------------|
| yo                | levanto    | levanté      | levantaré    |
| tú                | levantas   | levantaste   | levantarás   |
| él/ella/usted     | levanta    | levantó      | levantará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | levantamos | levantamos   | levantaremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | levantáis  | levantasteis | levantaréis  |
| ustedes           | levantan   | levantaron   | levantarán   |
| ellos/ellas       | levantan   | levantaron   | levantarán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "levanta":

75 comments¿Por qué no lo levanta?

50 commentsLevanta el plato.

42 commentsLa niña levanta al bebé.

41 commentsElla se levanta a las siete.

37 commentsÉl se levanta a las siete.

783 "Das ist ja wohl nicht dein Ernst,"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/18106086>

Adler2302 20 296

Can someone explain the stuff between 'ist' and 'nicht'?

I've read yourdailygerman about 'wohl' and one of it is 'jawohl'. Though I think that 'jawohl' and 'ja wohl' are different .

Give Lingot

45 months ago

Leave a new comment

1 Comment

Jokish 15 14

jawohl means simply yes, and the ja wohl you can literally translate with a "of course" or "probably"
So your Title translates to You are probably not serious!? or You are of course not serious

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

784 200 Duolingo Spanish verbs Conjugation chart

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/19783325>

Tavadyan 23 8 236

I've created chart of around 200 verbs found in Duolingo, listing their Gerund and Participle forms, as well as Present and Preterite Conjugations. Irregular Conjugations are highlighted. I've created it for myself, but I want to give something back and share it with the community.

It's created in MS Excel using Text and Logical formulas. If you have any remarks or want to change something please contact me.

link to download .pdf file:

<https://www.dropbox.com/s/lkn0dunohg2qxid/200%20verbos%20espa%C3%B1oles.pdf?dl=0>

Edit: Muchas gracias por los comentarios) I've added headings for each column and tidied up the table. Also, I've added the verb apresurar (to hurry, to rush)

Give Lingot5
203 months ago

Leave a new comment
13 Comments

aishadesilva 21 11 5 1
This must have taken ages, muchas gracias mi amigo!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Kirk114949 25 247
Outstanding! Thank You....

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Tavadyan 23 8 236
De nada. It took me just a couple of hours of dedication))

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

otechris 14 7 1
Wow! This is great! Muchas gracias!

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Joseph20102011 11 6
Gracias por esto!

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Jish104344 13 2
Gracias !

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Cloudster 25 25 11 8 7 6 6 5 4 3 879
¡Muchísimas gracias!

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

SpanishVincent 6
OMG mi amigo muchas gracias!!! wow thank you this will help me out so much in school since i am currently taking Spanish there1 :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Woody689984 14 20

This is amazing! Thank you for your efforts! one question is there meant to be headings for each column for novices like me??

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Tavadyan 23 8 236

De nada) I've added the headers for columns

1ReplyGive Lingot1•3 months ago

Woody689984 14 20

Muchas gracias mi amigo!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

MarloTaylo 11 62

This is great; appreciate you sharing

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Laura118687 8

thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot50•3 weeks ago

785 einen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/einen-ein-determiner-indefinite-masculine-singular-accusative/9fd5e36e3610cccd451acba4d29990ca>

ENGLISH

a, an, one

Example sentences

| WORD  | NUMBER   | GENDER    | CASE       | EXAMPLE                                  | TRANSLATION                                       |
|-------|----------|-----------|------------|------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|
| ein   | singular | masculine | nominative | Eine Frau, ein Mann                      | A woman, a man                                    |
| eine  | singular | feminine  | nominative | Eine Frau, ein Mann                      | A woman, a man                                    |
| einen | singular | masculine | accusative | Sie isst einen Apfel und sie essen Brot. | She is eating an apple and they are eating bread. |
| ein   | singular | neuter    | accusative | Die Kinder lesen ein Buch.               | The children are reading a book.                  |
| eine  | singular | feminine  | accusative | Das Mädchen liest eine Zeitung.          | The girl is reading a newspaper.                  |
| einem | singular | masculine | dative     | Die Frau gibt einem Freund eine Orange.  | The woman is giving an orange to a friend.        |
| einem | singular | neuter    | dative     | Wir zeigen einem Kind die Katze.         | We are showing the cat to a child.                |
| einer | singular | feminine  | dative     | Die Katze gibt einer Frau einen Rock.    | The cat is giving a skirt to a woman.             |

Discussions with the word "einen":

387 commentsSie essen einen Apfel.

195 commentsIch esse einen Apfel.

118 commentsDie Frau isst einen Apfel.
 78 commentsDer Junge isst einen Apfel.
 70 commentsDas Mädchen isst einen Apfel.

786 questa

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/questa-questo-determiner-demonstrative-feminine-singular/1f863d03c110903631832b75760af47e>

ENGLISH

this, this (one), this these

Example sentences

| WORD   | NUMBER   | EXAMPLE                                                 | TRANSLATION                                       |
|--------|----------|---------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|
| questo | singular | Quanto tempo abbiamo per finire questo?                 | How much time do we have to finish this?          |
| questa | singular | Questa è la stessa borsa che ho perso una settimana fa. | This is the same bag that I lost a week ago.      |
| questi | plural   | Questi si comprano al centro commerciale.               | These are bought at the shopping mall.            |
| queste | plural   | Una di queste due risposte è giusta.                    | One of these two answers is correct.              |
| questo | singular | Faccio questo lavoro da tredici anni.                   | I do this work since thirteen years.              |
| questa | singular | Gli piace questa camicia perché è azzurra.              | He likes this shirt because it is blue.           |
| questi | plural   | Fra questi libri ho la ricetta per la torta.            | Among these books I have the recipe for the cake. |
| queste | plural   | Queste scarpe sono troppo piccole.                      | These shoes are too small.                        |
| quest' | singular | Quest'orologio da tasca ha più di settant'anni.         | This pocket watch is more than seventy years old. |

Discussions with the word "questa":

18 commentsQuesta libreria ha due bagni.
 9 commentsHo ospiti a casa questa settimana.
 8 commentsQuesta torta è molto dolce.
 7 commentsNon è corta questa strada.
 6 commentsLavora in questa città?

787 Join my club

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/19932732>

MCPEREMIX 9 7 6 5 4 3 2 2

Code = PBE8AR

Give Lingot

22 months ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

Aria487 22 14 10 8 6 195

Edit: Never mind, the app doesn't recognize me as an English learner, so I can't join. Thanks for your collaboration to my understanding.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

AbdoAzzam 23 16 15 12 9 9 7 4 3 3 3 3 3 685 which language is this? english for arabic speakers?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

hafssa2004 5 2

??????

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

788 avaient

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/avaient-avoir-verb%3A+to+have-imperfect+indicative+tense-third+person-plural/7cf9f6d7267c441997f5f2d80e47aa5e>

ENGLISH

had, (they) had, (they) did have

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|    |                                  |                                 |
|----|----------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| ai | Il a un canard, j'ai une tortue. | He has a duck, I have a turtle. |
|----|----------------------------------|---------------------------------|

|    |                                       |                                       |
|----|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| as | Il a un poisson et tu as du chocolat. | He has a fish and you have chocolate. |
|----|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

|   |                      |                       |
|---|----------------------|-----------------------|
| a | La fille a une robe. | The girl has a dress. |
|---|----------------------|-----------------------|

|       |                       |                   |
|-------|-----------------------|-------------------|
| avons | Nous avons une pomme. | We have an apple. |
|-------|-----------------------|-------------------|

|      |                      |                    |
|------|----------------------|--------------------|
| avez | Vous avez une pomme. | You have an apple. |
|------|----------------------|--------------------|

|     |                                      |                                      |
|-----|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| ont | L'homme et la femme ont des enfants. | The man and the woman have children. |
|-----|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|

|     |                                          |                                         |
|-----|------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| ait | Je ne veux pas qu'il ait une télévision. | I do not want him to have a television. |
|-----|------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|

|       |                                             |                                                 |
|-------|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| avais | J'avais un petit robot quand j'étais petit. | I used to have a small robot when I was little. |
|-------|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                |                                 |
|-------|--------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| avais | Tu avais des choses à me dire. | You had some things to tell me. |
|-------|--------------------------------|---------------------------------|

|       |                                        |                                     |
|-------|----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| avait | Il y avait une orange dans la cuisine. | There was an orange in the kitchen. |
|-------|----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|

|       |                          |                    |
|-------|--------------------------|--------------------|
| avons | Nous avions trois chats. | We had three cats. |
|-------|--------------------------|--------------------|

|       |                              |                              |
|-------|------------------------------|------------------------------|
| aviez | Aviez-vous un livre à lire ? | Did you have a book to read? |
|-------|------------------------------|------------------------------|

|         |                                       |                                     |
|---------|---------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| avaient | Ils avaient pas mal de choses à dire. | They had quite a few things to say. |
|---------|---------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|

|    |                      |                     |
|----|----------------------|---------------------|
| eu | J'avais eu ce stylo. | I had had this pen. |
|----|----------------------|---------------------|

|     |                                           |                                                  |
|-----|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|
| eue | C'est la plus belle robe qu'elle ait eue. | It is the most beautiful dress that she has had. |
|-----|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|

|     |                                               |                                        |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| eus | Les manteaux qu'ils ont eus sont trop petits. | The coats that they had are too small. |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|

|      |                                               |                                             |
|------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| eues | Les jupes que vous aviez eues étaient belles. | The skirts that you had had were beautiful. |
|------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|

|        |                                                                |                                                       |
|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| aurais | Si j'étais riche, j'aurais beaucoup de voitures et de maisons. | If I was rich, I would have a lot of cars and houses. |
|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                                                |                                                      |
|-------|----------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| aurai | Quand j'aurai terminé mon arbre, je pense apprendre l'italien. | When I finish my tree, I think I will learn Italian. |
|-------|----------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                  |                                |
|-------|----------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| auras | Tu auras dix ans dans deux mois. | You will be ten in two months. |
|-------|----------------------------------|--------------------------------|

|        |                                        |                                        |
|--------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| aurait | Il y aurait beaucoup de choses à dire. | There would be a lot of things to say. |
|--------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|

|      |                                                         |                                                     |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| aura | Elle aura besoin de tout son courage pour le retrouver. | She will need all of her courage to find him again. |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                                    |                                                       |
|-------|----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| ayant | On ne peut pas être heureux en ayant peur de tout. | One cannot be happy while being afraid of everything. |
|-------|----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                    |                                 |
|-------|------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| avoir | Ma fille souhaite avoir un cheval. | My daughter wishes for a horse. |
|-------|------------------------------------|---------------------------------|

|        |                                     |                                       |
|--------|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| aurons | Nous aurons peu de neige cet hiver. | We will have little snow this winter. |
|--------|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

|         |                 |                   |
|---------|-----------------|-------------------|
| aurions | Nous l'aurions. | We would have it. |
|---------|-----------------|-------------------|

|        |                                                |                                                     |
|--------|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| auriez | Auriez-vous une amie à présenter à mon frère ? | Would you have a friend to introduce to my brother? |
|--------|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                        |                                       |
|-------|----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| aurez | Comme ça, vous aurez le temps de lire. | That way, you will have time to read. |
|-------|----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

|          |                                              |                                          |
|----------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| auraient | Ils auraient besoin de changer de vêtements. | They would need to change their clothes. |
|----------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

ai J'ai lu les journaux importants. I have read the important newspapers.

as Quand as-tu mangé avec Stéphanie à ce restaurant ? When did you eat with Stephanie at that restaurant?

a L'enfant a été adopté par mon oncle et ma tante. The child has been adopted by my uncle and my aunt.

avons Nous les avons lus hier, ces journaux. We read them yesterday, these newspapers.

avez Quand avez-vous mangé avec Stéphanie à ce restaurant ? When did you eat with Stephanie at that restaurant?

ont Mes parents les ont aimés plus que nous. My parents have loved them more than us.

aie Il fallait que j'aie acheté mon billet avant le départ. It was necessary that I had bought my ticket before departure.

aies Je n'étais pas sûre que tu aies entendu ce bruit. I was not sure that you had heard that noise.

ait Il faudra qu'on ait ouvert la porte avant. It will be necessary that the door has been opened before.

ayons Nous allons rendre ces livres, bien que nous ne les ayons pas finis. We are going to return these books even though we have not finished them.

ayez Ce n'était pas une surprise que vous ayez su quoi dire. It was no surprise that you had known what to say.

aient Il est même possible qu'ils aient été au pouvoir après cela. It is even possible that they were in power after that.

avais Je l'avais proposé, il l'avait accepté. I had proposed it, he had accepted it.

avais Ce sont les documents que tu avais obtenus. These are the documents that you had obtained.

avait Quels sont les résultats qu'elle avait obtenus ? What are the results that she had obtained?

avons Nous l'avions accepté. We had accepted it.

aviez Mais vous aviez accepté mes plans. But you had accepted my plans.

avaient Quels sont les résultats qu'ils avaient obtenus ? What are the results that they had obtained?

eu Il a eu une voiture pour ses dix-huit ans. He got a car for his eighteenth birthday.

aurais Moi j'aurais été vraiment triste à sa place. Me, I would have been really sad in his place.

aurais Tu aurais été encore mieux avec une robe. You would have been even better with a dress.

aurait Elle aurait reconnu ta voiture. She would have recognized your car.

avoir Il pense l'avoir aimée avec passion. He thinks he has loved her with passion.

aurions Heureusement car sinon nous aurions été en retard. Fortunately because otherwise we would have been late.

auriez Je suis sûre que vous auriez été un très bon médecin. I am sure that you would have been a very good physician.

auraient Même les élèves auraient été meilleurs que moi ! Even the students would have been better than me!

avoir conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON     |    | PRESENT | FUTURE | PAST IMPERFECT |
|------------|----|---------|--------|----------------|
| je         | ai | aurai   | aurais |                |
| tu         | as | auras   | aurais |                |
| il/elle/on | a  | aura    | aurait |                |

nous avons aurons avions vous avez aurez aviez
ils/elles ont auront avaient
Discussions with the word "avaient":

32 commentsIls avaient ajouté son nom.
24 commentsLes jeux qu'ils avaient utilisés.
17 commentsCe sont les fruits qu'elles avaient utilisés.
17 commentsCe sont les citrons qu'ils avaient utilisés.
15 commentsIls avaient connu mes parents.

789 "Mucho gusto."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5399102>

Translation: Nice to meet you.

12 years ago

152 CommentsThis discussion is locked.

BrentCarro 6

I thought Mucho gusto en conocerlo/a was Nice to meet you and Mucho gusto just meant pleasure, or like very much? I'm confused.

11Give Lingot1•2 years ago

alex_teran 11 2

Hi, I'm a native Spanish speaker. "Mucho gusto" must be understood in the sense of "I'm pleased" so

"mucho gusto" == "nice to meet you" == "glad to meet you"

A slighter polite version is "mucho gusto en conocerlo/conocerla" <== don't use that unless you are meeting an old-fashioned person.

16Give Lingot3•1 year ago

timmyshanti 13 12 10 6 6 4 3 2 2 3
like yourself? :P

-1Give Lingot•7 months ago

LissaG1 12 3 4

That was my understanding too.

4Give Lingot•2 years ago

mcoto101 17 8

Yes you are right. "mucho gusto en conocerlo/a" means nice to meet you.

2Give Lingot•2 years ago

DaaiBear 9 5

If you want to express pleasure in spanish its "Es un placer conocerte" which means to "nice to meet you" but with pleasure in spanish.

2Give Lingot•1 year ago

PokingFun4Life 9
Thanks you to duo! ;D

2Give Lingot•2 months ago

anthonyzang 5
They mean the same thing with the same words

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

jeff.chern 12 9 3
Isn't mucho gusto -> much like?

3Give Lingot•2 years ago

AurelleR 14
I believe gusto is technically a verb (conjugated in the 1st person singular -o ending) meaning 'I am pleased by...', so mucho gusto would directly translate, "I am very pleased...(to meet you)". Perhaps the last bit is implied.

1Give Lingot1•4 months ago

nesha125 11 9
thats what i said too..

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

LissaG1 12 3 4
What is the literal translation of "mucho gusto"? Is it "nice to meet you"?

2Give Lingot•2 years ago

mcoto101 17 8
The literal meaning is "much taste"

7Give Lingot•2 years ago
[+] 2 hidden comments

jacksondowning 10 3 2 2
Much pleasure, to my observation

1Give Lingot•11 months ago
[+] 1 hidden comment

PietPoldermans 9 8 7

If you say: 'Mucho gusto en conocerlo/a'. I assume 'o' belongs to the masculine form and 'a' to the feminine, or isn't? Just to be sure.

2Give Lingot•1 year ago

xaver234 9 2

Yes, I'm pretty sure that's correct.

0Give Lingot1•1 year ago

cheryl.ri.2626 5

Why quibble over one letter. Tge sentence was right.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

Elpisrael 21 14 9 1

How long would it have taken to correct it?

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

lucas_englais 12 10 3 2

like what you did with 'tge' - one letter is not worth quibbling over. ¿possible el chiste?

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

Darrel.Owen 3

I think that might have been sarcasm.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

hstorm 9 5 4

Typing "ot" instead of "to" should be counted as a typo

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

M3gablast 9 4

"Well met" should also be considered an accurate translation.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

mcoto101 17 8

No it shouldn't. That is not at all what it means. Plus, "well met" doesn't make sense and I don't think anyone says that

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

M3gablast 9 4

... I say well met... single tear But in all seriousness, how are "well met" and "mucho gusto" non-synonymous? Both carry the exact same meaning of the purportedly correct phrase "It's nice to meet you."

2Give Lingot•2 years ago

mcoto101 17 8

"mucho gusto" can't be translated into "well met". Trust Spanish was my first language so I know

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

ninjabarbie94 8

Thank you very much I thought. I'll get it the second time around

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

RuthMeyer0 4

Me too

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

SmileyCat1085 2

I always thought Mucho Gusto meant, Very good, not nice to meet you? My whole life is a lie.

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

ArnielC 6

When people speak spanish to me: Mucho Gusto = Pleasure to meet you! When people text spanish to me: Mucho Gusto = I like it a lot!

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

treebaumdebaum 4

I thought Mucho gousto ment like alot and mucho means alot or much

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

jcreye66 4

BrentCarro i didn't understand it too

1Give Lingot•11 months ago

JedediahByers99 2

what about "great to meet you"?

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Red_tree20 9

My says Very nice to see you

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

speedracerjones 3

Is this true?

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

irmacelia 21

why is it wrong to say: I am glad to meet you.

0Give Lingot2•2 years ago

jesusalfon9 13 2

en español eso seria algo como me alegro de conocerte y lo que ocupas es mucho gusto(creo realmente no se mucho)

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

nmuniz16 2

I thought it meant something diffrent

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

jazmia.l.w 5

Im just learning so i didn't know

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Sally_ya55 3

I put my pleasure and it was accepted confused because it says also nice to meet you.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

AntonioCob6 2

Or "much pleasure"

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Juliannalerns 2

Very welcome i put?

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

LPSderper 4

I get this confused with me gusta. Like the meme.

0Give Lingot11•2 years ago

angrenwenn 9 7

I tried "I like very much", But it's almost an idiom...

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

venturegirl3000 8

I really wish they had a button for when you make a typo....

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Roel89 3

This is bad. I had to say it, and i litterally said 'muho huho' and it was good...

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

JonKeeling1 10 9 5

My friend who speaks Spanish says that this phrase means 'very good' which my initial guest.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Hoater 7 6

With pleasure ?

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Greglhnen 22 10 3

I think so

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

cy.how.33 6

I thought this ment "I like it a lot"

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

regsito9 6

i thought it meant your welcome?

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

EmmyDugi 2

i thought that mucho gusto was very much?

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

Jackherbach12 21 16 14 8 6

It's literally "much pleasure/taste" used for introductions like "a pleasure" in English. I think it may be used in other various ways depending on the country, but it's not only meaning "Pleasure to meet you"

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

NWRhuff.eric 8

i misspelled it and put meat instead of meet

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

K_Scott_Campbell 12 38

Should "you're welcome" be an acceptable solution? That is the only context I have heard this phrase used in. Maybe that is specific to Costa Rica, where many of my coworkers are from. They use this often as a reply to thank you, as well as "con mucho gusto"

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

Narikun 9
Does encantado/a work too?

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

Mltlanglv 8 2
What is mucho and gusto ?

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

simkempner 5
how is this nice to meet you its definitely like very much

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

simkempner 5
how is this nice to meet you its definitely like very much

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

AaronTheHedgehog 8
Nice to meet you wow pretty easy

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

DennyEko 15
I thought gusto = like.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

Daniel_Rad 5 3
i said "nice to meat you" by accident...

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

SGuthrie0 25 25 223
What do you all think of "with great pleasure" as a translation"?

Que piensan de "with great pleasure" como una traduccion? Gracias.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

steve.nulk 6 6
i put very much but it said i was wrong. i guess its in context of the lesson

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

LynnandCarmen 7

is there a feminen way mucho? like muchas?

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

Ryah15 2

Ok this is like broken English right here.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

senorcampbell22

i put pleasure meeting you.....how is that wrong

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

davidlust0 8

nice to meet you

0Give Lingot1•12 months ago

SalmanDiCa 3

koi sharam hoti hain koi haya hoti hain kuch lihaaz hota mmmemmemme kamal krty ho pandey
jee

0Give Lingot•11 months ago

Meowkies 7

What I learned in Spanish class is this is "like a lot"

0Give Lingot•10 months ago

AbrilCende

I DID IT,but it was hard

0Give Lingot•10 months ago

marioalmontemor 11 2 2

In Spain we use more frequently "encantado de conocerte". I think that "mucho gusto" is more used by american spanish speakers.

0Give Lingot•10 months ago

Alextung2 2

Mucho gusto

0Give Lingot•9 months ago

MalekChoucair 11 6

I thought it was "very nice"

0Give Lingot•9 months ago

acfern 14 11 10 7 7 31

What's wrong with "Please to meet you"?

0Give Lingot•8 months ago

joyulyse 8 8

How is "Mucho Gusto" "Nice to meet you" Please explain.

0Give Lingot•7 months ago

CarolePowe 9

Microphone doesn't pick up

0Give Lingot•7 months ago

BabakNader1 5

nice to meet you, too.

0Give Lingot•7 months ago

camille.mae 5 2

i just said nice to meet yo, but it marked me wrong XD

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

1007853378 2

i thought mucho gusto meant nice to meet you

0Give Lingot•5 months ago

spanish_hero 4

I have not been practicing and I forgot what this meant

0Give Lingot•5 months ago

Faith44176 2

You can do a better job at explain why we get questions wrong

0Give Lingot•5 months ago

MaNyahKirby1 4

i said nice to meet you

0Give Lingot•4 months ago

spanish_hero 4

than you should have got it correct

0Give Lingot•4 months ago

HarryCarso1 3

I was confused as it seemed the question referred only to the highlighted word , 'gusto'.

0Give Lingot•4 months ago

judiw1

you are really mistakeing me because i know what im doing

0Give Lingot•4 months ago

KaylaRayford1

Nice to meet you

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

RachidBifk1 9 7

Why "good" and not "nice"

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

Higmail.co 2

The english person says:ahahahha,the spanish person says:jajajajaja ....Italian person:WTF?BOOM XD

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

Aleksey595784

I said i dont know and it said it was right

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

JakeMalik 10 6 4 2

Im not too sure "mucho gusto" means "nice to meet you" when mucho means "very or very much" and gusto means "like."

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

teresatl 7

i put "pleasure to meet you"? is that wrong?

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

loanacristina 6

I think that translation would be correct as "with pleasure". You can use it for a meal not only for meeting someone, correct?

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

andreiona11

Hi what does Mucho gusto mean

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

HawkesDad 4

i thought it meant "your welcome"

0Give Lingot•1 month ago

ChrisOwemz 3

Love this app. follow me, need friends

0Give Lingot•1 month ago

Agate996964 7

There was not a "nice" as a choice.

0Give Lingot•1 month ago

theirfan 3

jajaja (>~<)

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

Axelwin 13 7 6 6 2

I wrote "Very tasty" ))

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

princessaj10 2

On there it even says if u press on the bold yellow word it says nice to meet you on there for both and I got it right even thogh I didn't knkw what the heck Michigan means

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

danny_liz9601 5

Pleasure

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

jaicritt

I wrote "very much." :(

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

AjayPyarak 7

Thank you very much

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

robertshep3 2

To kill you

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

IssoufDial 3

I did not learn it before

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

Israellvan1 4

That's bad. To kill me

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

HrijitSaha 3

omg.... i typed wrong n one hrt vanished.... :-(

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

Jadelaj12 5

Omg! Got that wrong

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

phone.com 6

hi

-1Give Lingot•2 years ago

bissinwekre143

I like to fart!

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

ariannast

hi i am arianna

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

Red_tree20 9

hi arianna

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

phyllmbuddha 3

I like very much.....

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

VibeWithCeeee

i couldnt hear it..

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

uriram1 5
Hiiiiiiiiiiiiiiii!!!!!!!!!!!!!!?!!???

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

JanelleCooper2
That was easy again

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

AhmadKoke 5 4
Idiots :-p

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

hannah695985 5
I pressed the right thing

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

Ghalib96647 11
My try was i like so much

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

patsystone2 15 4
Struggling to say mucho gusto help me please

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

Elijahhamilton33
i thoght wrong i gueses????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

caverjoe 2
I thought gusto was like

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

doomboy69 6 3
Mucho gusto = A lot I like?

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

kyastaylovely 3
i said nice to meet u but it said is was wrong im very confused with this stuff

-1Give Lingot•11 months ago

Silva628465 10 10
El gusto es mio.

-1Give Lingot•11 months ago

spencermil16 8
this website is gay lo

-1Give Lingot•11 months ago

TAHenken 5
this is hard

-1Give Lingot•11 months ago

Swaggyj489
i said it

-1Give Lingot•10 months ago

7AUx 4
Diffcult

-1Give Lingot•10 months ago

7AUx 4
=_=

-1Give Lingot•10 months ago

VvkKol 8 3
I wrote i like it

-1Give Lingot•9 months ago

VvkKol 8 3
I wrote i like it

-1Give Lingot•9 months ago

george455805 17 2
How in anyway.... i spanish good

-1Give Lingot•9 months ago

MJBstars12 6
Steups I'm human

-1Give Lingot•9 months ago

lunacool44 6

Dosent it mean much liked??????

-1Give Lingot•8 months ago

chiquitraquis234 4

nice to meet you good ningth

-1Give Lingot•7 months ago

chiquitraquis234 4

nice to meet you

-1Give Lingot•7 months ago

chiquitraquis234 4

nice to kill you

-1Give Lingot•7 months ago

Lara264427 2

È giusto quello che ho detto , Mucho gusto in inglese è VERY TASTY. Poi magari ci sono altri modi ma tra quelli c'è VERY TASTY

-1Give Lingot•7 months ago

daijah421034 2

-1Give Lingot•6 months ago

Allen466755680 5

I said it but it didn't show it

-1Give Lingot•5 months ago

whoelsebuttrov 6

Lol I said "I Like"

-1Give Lingot•5 months ago

AmirPm1

((:براسلام))

-1Give Lingot•5 months ago

elhombre1212 2

this is gay

-1Give Lingot•5 months ago

nevaeh413062 2
Omg

-1Give Lingot•5 months ago

Dman3502 8
herro

-1Give Lingot•4 months ago

ATIBA131 5
I wrote nice meet.

-1Give Lingot•3 months ago

ToastNCookies 8 2
I am having trouble
-2Give Lingot•11 months ago

SterneyMx_
heyyyyyyyy

-2Give Lingot•11 months ago

790 estar
<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/estar-verb-infinitive/5d906ab1b60ab0c4dd462fcedbf6478c>

ENGLISH
be, (to) be, is
Example sentences

| WORD       | EXAMPLE                                                              | TRANSLATION                                                     |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| estoy      | No estoy en Italia, estoy en Argentina.                              | I am not in Italy, I am in Argentina.                           |
| estás      | Estoy bien, gracias. ¿Cómo estás tú?                                 | I am fine, thank you. How are you?                              |
| está       | Mi marido está actualmente sin trabajo.                              | My husband is currently without a job.                          |
| estamos    | Nosotros estamos solos con los niños.                                | We are alone with the children.                                 |
| están      | Los domingos no están en el calendario.                              | Sundays are not on the calendar.                                |
| estuve     | Estuve en su casa el domingo por la mañana.                          | I was at his house on Sunday morning.                           |
| estaba     | Cuando hablamos ayer por teléfono, yo estaba en la casa de mi tía.   | Yesterday when we spoke on the phone, I was at my aunt's house. |
| estuviste  | Ayer tú estuviste en la playa.                                       | You were at the beach yesterday.                                |
| estabas    | Tú estabas dejando al perro comer.                                   | You were letting the dog eat.                                   |
| estuvo     | Mi amigo no estuvo en mi casa ayer.                                  | My friend was not at my house yesterday.                        |
| estaba     | Su primo estaba tocando al gato.                                     | His cousin was touching the cat.                                |
| estábamos  | Cuando éramos niños, siempre estábamos en la casa de mi tío.         | When we were children, we were always at my uncle's house.      |
| estuvimos  | Él y yo estuvimos en esta casa.                                      | He and I were in this house.                                    |
| estuvieron | Los niños estuvieron en la casa de mi hermana el jueves en la noche. | The boys were at my sister's house Thursday night.              |

estaban Mi tío y mi tía estaban caminando en esa calle cuando vieron tu coche. My uncle and my aunt were walking on that street when they saw your car.

estado Nunca he estado en un barco, pero he estado en un avión. I have never been on a boat, but I have been on a plane.

estaría Yo no estaría hablando. I would not be talking.

estaré Yo estaré en la casa de los padres de mi novio. I will be at the house of my boyfriend's parents.

estarías ¿Cuándo estarías aquí? When would you be here?

estarás Hoy por la noche tú estarás comiendo una buena comida. Tonight you will be eating a good meal.

estará Mañana en la mañana ella estará hablando con su padre. Tomorrow morning she will be speaking with her father.

estar No vas a estar en tu casa hasta el viernes. You are not going to be at your house until Friday.

estaremos No estaremos en tu casa el viernes. We will not be at your house on Friday.

estarían ¿Estarían ellas en mi casa ese día? Would they be at my house that day?

estarán Los niños estarán comiendo pasta con pollo en mi casa. The boys will be eating pasta with chicken at my house.

estar conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            |            | PRESENT     | PAST      | FUTURE |
|-------------------|------------|-------------|-----------|--------|
| yo                | estoy      | estuve      | estaré    |        |
| tú                | estás      | estuviste   | estarás   |        |
| él/ella/usted     | está       | estuvo      | estará    |        |
| nosotros/nosotras | estamos    | estuvimos   | estaremos |        |
| vosotros/vosotras | estáis     | estuvisteis | estaréis  |        |
| ustedes están     | estuvieron | estarán     |           |        |
| ellos/ellas       | están      | estuvieron  | estarán   |        |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "estar":

47 comments ¿Vas a estar en tu casa mañana?

46 comments Mañana no voy a estar en mi casa.

37 comments El perro va a estar en el jardín.

35 comments Voy a estar aquí más tarde.

32 comments Estoy seguro de que vas a estar bien.

791 How to become fluent in German fast?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9360814>

eminem1219 17 10 7 6 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 1

Hallo everyone, so I was wondering if i could become fluent in German in a year. Next year, I will most likely be living in Germany for 3 months (Summer). I have good experience with language as I have studied Latin for 3 years, and Ancient Greek for 2 years. I already have basics of German down, any tips or advice would be helpful! Danke!

Give Lingot

181 year ago

Leave a new comment

26 Comments

SimoneBa 15 13 9 107

You can learn a lot in a year. And considering your language learning history, you're not going to have a crisis over grammatical genders or the case system. That's a definite advantage.

One important thing to remember is that a living language is a very different animal from a dead one. You will not achieve fluency by poring over grammar books and internalising long lists of vocab. You will need to do tons of listening to native speakers, and also make an effort, at some point, to communicate actively with them. The more you learn now, the more you will pick up when you get to Germany. It's kind of like a snowball effect.

Luckily, there's tons of free material to support your learning.

You could start with these teaching vids, for example:

<https://www.youtube.com/user/DeutschFuerEuch>

13ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

eminem1219 17 10 7 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 1

Thank you, I will check those out!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pont 25 23 18 16 10 5 112

You'll find a lot of practical tips on <http://www.fluentin3months.com/> . Personally I'd say that basic fluency is achievable in a year, if you have enough time to devote to the project. Start talking to native speakers as soon as possible -- via language exchange sites if you don't have any local German speakers.

dqxxmvvyvoedn

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

eminem1219 17 10 7 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 1

Alright thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

grassator97 15 7 7 7

Well, I would say to do your best to finish the Duolingo tree. While doing this, build up vocab. When you feel comfortable, start reading and doing comprehension exercises. If you happen to know somebody that speaks German, ask him/her to be your language buddy and help you practice. If not, watch German films and TV. No matter what, expose yourself to the language. Hope I helped, and Viel Erfolg with your trip!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

eminem1219 17 10 7 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 1

Thank you! What do you mean by comprehension exercises? Could you give me an example? Also any English movies with German subtitles or vice versa would help also! thanks once again (:

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

grassator97 15 7 7 7

Sorry, I meant like listening comprehension exercises. You could find some online (I know German Made Easy has some beginner ones on their Youtube channel), or maybe get a FluentU account. FluentU is a website that has videos in several languages (including German). There is vocabulary help if you scroll over the words, and while you have to pay to get the most use, you could just watch the free videos and write down vocab that you don't know. I suggest putting it then into Anki or Quizlet (flashcard/repitition services), both of which are free, to help remember the words.

As for German movies, if you go here, there should be enough to give you a nice list:
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9265331>

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Oliwia 20 19 17 14 12 8

FluentU? Have you tried it, is it good? I need to improve my listening comprehension FAST :-)

Update: I've tried it out, thanks, it's GREAT! The free version is (so far) absolutely enough!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MissSpell 19 10 8 6 4 3

A DuoUser recommended this site: <http://lyricstraining.com/>

If you don't want to sign up for it, there are still a handful of videos that you can practice with, but it's free like duolingo. After studying Spanish for a few years, my biggest obstacle is understanding spoken Spanish. I'm hoping lyricstraining fills that gap.

WHAT TO DO: You click on your chosen video, then click on one of the four levels to play the game OR click on karaoke (below and left to the level options) to listen to the song and watch the lyrics without the gameplay. If you select a play level, note ABOVE and on the right of the videoplayer window there is the option of "write mode" or "choice mode", I suggest starting with "choice mode."
Ich drücke dir die Daumen

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

v43ng 17 12 10 2 2

For practice I would strongly recommend to try out <http://lang-8.com/>. It is a site where you can post a text and people will correct it in a crowd-managed way. You get faster corrections if you do corrections for other people.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Oliwia 20 19 17 14 12 8

Honestly, I would say it depends on your objectives: do you want to be able to communicate in German just for the duration of your trip, or do you want to learn German to a very good level?

If you're just planning on spending 3 months there, honestly, don't bother yourself with long lists of vocabulary and painful Grammar books. Do the German tree, maybe the reverse tree also, and set your priority on speaking, listening, speaking, listening, speaking... Keep it light and fun!

If you're planning on studying there, or finding a job, and need to achieve a very good level, then you'll need strong grammar, lots of vocabulary etc. (plus the speaking-listening part of course). Learning a language to a close to native level in a short period of time is very hard and requires very heavy investment: all of your free time, no other languages (high risk of confusion), surrounding yourself with the language (movies, books, setting your phone to German...)

So my advice would be: set your goal and plan your learning accordingly!

2ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

eminem1219 17 10 7 6 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 1

Thank you! Would you be interested in practicing German? Also thanks for the tips! Here is a lingot ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Abendbrot 13 12 12 8 4

There is a group of people who correct your written texts. You just have to post your text there. It will be good, if the text fits to the title but that is not a must.

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/8522845>

In case you write into an older discussion it will be good to inform a German corrector, otherwise your text got lost.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Redrose138624 5 2

You should practice pronoucation . Then build up your vocabulary using duolingo, memrise or even an online dictionary . Speak with native speakers and watch tv in German ( kids tv is best sense it is very easy to comprehend .

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lorel90 25 25 22 7 887

If you know some Latin, you will have no problem with German cases and that is a really good thing. You already got some good advise. I will add, try to get a grammar book, try to do immersion, try to memorize vocabulary you can do Memrise for this or create a deck in ANKI, try to listen to the language as much as you can and as soon as you can try to practice with natives online on in person. If it is possible for you, after you reach a certain level, hire a private tutor online.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

eminem1219 17 10 7 6 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 1

Alright thanks so much! Any suggestions for a grammar book or a good German book in general? Also what is ANKI? Thanks once again!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lorel90 25 25 22 7 887

I get the books from the library. The ones I like the most are: Living Language German, German Demystified and for words: Practice Makes Perfect German Vocabulary, but Babadum.com is good.

ANKI is a free software where you can make your own flash cards and add sound and pictures if you want, memrise.com has some good cards to remember vocabulary.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NicknameK 11 11 9 6 6 2

Hi! 1. First of all, I think you can do it, but I believe that you will gain fluency only AFTER you go to Germany. (talking from personal experience :) ) 2. Ancient Greek has almost nothing to do with German (I am Greek). That means, you have to learn every german noun with its own article. I personally find it very difficult because the nouns in greek have 90% different articles than in german. 3. You can try <http://www.interpals.net> or other similar websites, where you can find german people to talk to. 4. Watch movies (e.g. Das Leben der Anderen, one of my favorites) and listen to songs. 5. Well, I would also suggest that you focus on german and only on german, but everyone works in its own way. I mean, some people want to do a lot of things at the same time and improve slower but improve in many subjects at once, and others want to finish with one thing and then to go to another.

Good luck! :D Germany is a great country!

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

eminem1219 17 10 7 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 1

Thank you so much for the tips! Here is a lingot ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

juliecaesar 22 7 4 3 3 3 2 2

First of all I would recommend reading a lot. Choose anything that interests you about any subject you like - that will help with your motivation. You might like to check out some German/Austrian/Swiss newspaper websites.

Then try to watch movies (pretty much everything gets dubbed for the German market) - order some DVDs of German versions of English/American/... films or TV shows online (usually you will find at least the English and German version of the film and German and English subtitles on the DVDs) or find streaming sites that offer dubbed films.

I think that while you can learn a lot to prepare, you will make the biggest leap forward in your language skills during the three months you spend in Germany. If you already have a good basic knowledge, that kind of immersion is extremely helpful.

Good luck! :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

barszcz_czerwony 20 4 644

Go to Germany/Austria/any german speaking country. There is no faster way.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

xXCiaraXx 7 4 2

People from Austria and Switzerland speak in a very strong dialect. It doesn't sound like standard German. The dialect of some Austrians sounds a bit like the bavarian dialect. And in Tirol they speak in a dialect that is very hard to understand. I was there. I didn't understand all what they were saying and some locals didn't understand me properly either. And there are also a few differences in the spelling but it is mostly the pronunciation which is different. Checkout counter is Kasse in Germany and Kassa in Austria.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

juliecaesar 22 7 4 3 3 3 2 2

There are strong regional dialects in Germany as well, and Austrians and Swiss people are geneally perfectly able to speak standard high German as well as any person from Germany, so I wouldn't let that stop you from going there to learn. And if you're really serious about becoming fluent, being able to deal with different dialects is part of what you want to achieve.

People who learn English have to be able to understand Americans, English people, Australians, Canadians, Irish people, Scottish people and so on - some regional variants probably with more difficulties than the other, but I would not consider myself fluent in any language if I could undestand it only when spoken by a certain group of its speakers.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

muhaaas 23

I'm still 40% through the tree but here is my two cents on it.

I found it impossible to learn German or any language in general in conjunction with other activates. It being playing guitar/gaming/ CS GO.....and anything else. This might seem harsh but there is no other way of doing it. You must dedicate 100% of your free time for learning, excluding school/college time of course. There are so many things to learn and so little time.

It takes years until a new born is able to speak a language, let alone master it. And you want to reach that within a year. I'm not trying to demotivate you but, if you are going to go with the 1 year plan. You should work hard for it. This includes not only Duolingo, you should integrate other things like books...etc and even once you are almost done with the tree, enroll in German courses, these shouldn't be too hard to find.

I know that Because once I dedicated 100% of my time for it. I burned and progressed through it like hot knife through butter.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

792 When will Romanian be in beta?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/13955715>

Irusejka 15 10 10 9 8 6 6 4 4 2 1

The last update about Romanian course was 2 months ago, and it seems that from that time there wasn't much progress.

Give Lingot1

291 year ago

Leave a new comment

17 Comments

SebastianMolin 22 11 2 2
Hello!

We recognize that we haven't posted an update in a long time, and I want to give my sincere apology for that. There will be an update soon though :-)
We are planning to graduate sometime mid-June 2016.
This is because the course is 77% finished however there is still a lot to do which includes but is not limited to grammar notes, more sentences, words, and most importantly, flow from lesson to lesson. We also have to go through alpha testing which might take a few weeks.
Nevertheless, I encourage you to just wait a little longer because we will graduate, and when we do, it will be awesome. :-)
Kind Regards,
Sebastian.

36ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Irusejka 15 10 10 9 8 6 6 4 4 2 1
Thank you for answer! I'm looking forward to this course. :)

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Deodwyn 25 25 25 25 25 25 14 13 13 12 12 10 8 7 6 9 4 8
Mid-June! This is excellent news! Take your time, definitely do it right.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TrevKAllred 25 25 11 3 3 1
June 20th is my birthday.. just sayin' ;) No but seriously thank you for your updates and for dedication to the course. Can't wait!!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SamuelCristea 10 8 6
I'm so excited! Can't wait :D Take your time and make this course be the best duolingo course there is!!! Here is 2 lingots for you!

3ReplyGive Lingot50•1 year ago

SebastianMolin 22 11 2 2
Ahhh, no more lingots! Take some back :-), but thanks for the encouragement! With the awesome person that will be joining our team soon (hopefully), we'll be sure to have an amazing course!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dragostis 11 7
[deleted]

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

SebastianMolin 22 11 2 2

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

dragostis 11 7

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

MultiLinguAlex 25 15 12 12 10 5 2 2 2

Easy here. Publicly writing To you, it's obviously more important to defend yourself when I wasn't even attacking about a course moderator who has done a tremendous job so far is also far from being nice. It's OK to be upset, but writing this stuff here is a no-no to me.

Please remain neutral and don't use that tone! If you had applied to my course and if you had written such a post in an official forum using that tone, I would have refused your application immediately.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dragostis 11 7

That was obviously a mistake; something that someone says when he's pissed off and I take that back.

2Give Lingot1•1 year ago

SebastianMolin 22 11 2 2

[deleted]

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

Felice_01 16 15 14 13 13 13 10 10 616

Each week (Sunday), there is the "Weekly Incubator Update: Tracking Progress", which allows to know the progress.

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/13918004>

The Romanian for English is 77% currently

8ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

MultiLinguAlex 25 15 12 12 10 5 2 2 2

They progress steadily, that's the good thing. I know that it's hard for users to wait (I'm also waiting impatiently for the Yiddish course), but they are doing a good job and probably don't know either when their course will be launched.

You should also know that not all progress is shown in the progress figures so that it doesn't mean that a course team isn't working when their progress percentage stays the same.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MA390 13 12 11 10 10 7 4 3 3

I second your enthusiasm. I am so looking forward to starting Romanian.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gelfo 21 10 10 8 7 6 4 3 2 3

Eu astept cu nerabdare cursul de limba Romana. Multumesc

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mark_CharlotteNC 24 21 20 15 10 9 9 7 3

Can't wait! :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

793 "Her son is sure to succeed."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/540909>

Translation: Son fils est certain de réussir.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

26 Comments

orangesunshine 14 5

This sentence does not have a direct object, but "de réussir" is still used instead of "à réussir". What am I missing?

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

there is no alternative with "certain", preposition should be "de" (sure of)

21ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

DmytroShkr 12 8 7 7 7 6 6

So, "basic'ly", her/his son is sure of (his) success (i.e., sure that he'll be a success)? Then, the English sentence shown above should be rewritten to match the French translation (assuming it is in fact the original), because he is sure to + verb means that it is the speaker who is sure that the subject of the sentence will do sth., not the subject (son fils) himself

(9). postpositive bound inevitably (to be or do something); certain ⇒ "she is sure to be there tonight" (<http://www.collinsdictionary.com/dictionary/english/sure?showCookiePolicy=true>)

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

mrbenet 18 15 15 14 11 10 6 5 4

I don't see how it implies that it's the subject who's sure that he'll succeed, rather than the speaker. Wouldn't that be "son fils est certain de sa réussite"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

If the subject of "be sure" were the speaker, the sentence would be different: I am sure that her son will succeed.

If it were the mother: she is sure her son will succeed

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

Sorry for the misunderstanding.

he is sure to + verb = il est sûr de + infinitive

il est sûr de réussir

he is sure that + full clause = il est sûr que + full clause il est sûr que son frère va réussir il est sûr qu'il va réussir (second "il" is someone else than himself)

Note that "il est sûr qu'il réussisse" is an impersonal construction = it is sure (that) he will succeed.

6Give Lingot•2 years ago

mrbenet 18 15 15 14 11 10 6 5 4

The question isn't who the subject is - that's clearly the son. As DmytroShkr pointed out, "he is sure to" + verb means that it is the speaker who is sure that the subject of the sentence will do something, not the subject himself. So "be sure to" is not the same as "be sure that".

I think what's actually unclear here is whether "être certain de" translates to "be sure to" or "be sure that". I think it's the former, but I'm not entirely sure, and I'm a (semi-)native speaker (spoke French at home but grew up in an English-speaking country). Does "il est certain de gagner" mean "he will certainly win" or "he is certain that he will win"? Because those are two very different things.

2Give Lingot•2 years ago

mrbenet 18 15 15 14 11 10 6 5 4

Yes, that's how I thought it worked, but I couldn't formulate it so clearly. Thanks for the clarification!

I'm still none the wiser as to what DmytroShkr was on about though...

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

ittarter 12 8 6

how about assuré instead of certain?

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jytou 17 14 10 10 9 9 9 9 7 6 181

This would actually change the meaning:

Son fils est certain de réussir = His/her son is sure to succeed: he is himself sure he will succeed, we don't know necessarily why, but it is his opinion.

Son fils est assuré de réussir = His/her son is guaranteed to succeed (either because someone else said so, or because we know that some external factor makes it clear he will succeed) -> it is an external factor.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

britnbutler 20 17 8

Okay, so in English both "he is sure to succeed" and "he is guaranteed to succeed" can be a third-party opinion. But that is not the case in French. At least that is what I am getting from this.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

jytou 17 14 10 10 9 9 9 9 7 6 181

Yes, in other words, take « Il est certain de réussir » as "He is certain he will succeed".

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Cheval_Blanc 21 11 11 11 2

Why is "sûr" incorrect here? Thank you in advance.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

"sûr" and "assuré" are correct as well, with the latter a bit less usual.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

simplymeg1 25

And yet assuré is not among the accepted answers, here a year later :-{

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

airlana 17 15 12 11 9 5 42

What about 'son fils est certain de succes (accent in place, of course)? Though I suppose the point of this is to stick to verbs, so a noun wouldn't work even if the basic meaning is the same. Also, checking with google translate, it says I should have used 'au succes'.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

"un succès" has no verb nor adjective in French (vs to succeed or successful).

Therefore, you have to use verb "réussir" or a verbal formulations like "avoir du succès", "remporter un succès"

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

ibuco 24 22 13

But, but, one of the suggestions is "succéder à"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mrbenet 18 15 15 14 11 10 6 5 4

That would be the other meaning of 'succeed': to come after, or take the place of. As in "François Hollande succeeded Nicolas Sarkozy as President of the Republic," which would translate to "François Hollande a succédé à Nicolas Sarkozy comme Président de la République."

Without context, that could actually be the correct meaning here, so I guess "son fils est certain de succéder" should be accepted.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

ibuco 24 22 13

Wow, I totally forgot there was another meaning to the verb "to succeed". Have a lingot for reminding me! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

n6zs 25 872

Only without that context, there is no justification for using succéder whereas réussir provides a complete and reasonable sentence without building up a hypothesis around which "succéder" could be used. Another factor is that réussir is used intransitively whereas succéder is a transitive verb and requires a complement (succéder à qqn/qqh). Nevertheless, thanks for making us aware of an alternative possibility and your excellent example.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Martina786815 19 254

what is wrong with: "son fils va sûrement réussir"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

If you say "son fils va sûrement réussir = his son will surely succeed", it is your opinion, not his.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Martina786815 19 254

A very subtle distinction -- thanks for clarifying!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

mrbenet 18 15 15 14 11 10 6 5 4

I would interpret "her son is sure to succeed" as your opinion too. If it were his opinion, you'd say "her son is sure he will succeed".

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

britnbutler 20 17 8

I agree - I don't see a difference in either sentence. I think "Son fils va surement reussir" should be accepted. (Of course, with the accents, which I can't figure out how to put in)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

794 geschlossen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/geschlossen-schlie%C3%9Fen-verb-past+participle+tense/fdec774913e55232c5b11118430a94bc>

ENGLISH

closed, locked, close

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

schließt Er schließt die Tür von außen. He is closing the door from the outside.

schließen Wir schließen Brasilien mit ein. We are including Brazil.

schließen Schließen Sie alle Türen und Fenster! Close all the doors and windows!

schloss Sie schloss die Tür und ging nach oben. She shut the door and went upstairs.

geschlossen Dieser Bahnhof wird ab morgen geschlossen sein. This train station will be closed after tomorrow.

schließen conjugation

Indicative

Conditional

Others

PERSON PRESENT PAST

ich schließe schloss

du schließt schlossest, schlosst

er/sie/es schließt schloss

wir schließen schlossen

ihr schließt schlosset, schlosst

sie/Sie schließen schlossen

Discussions with the word "geschlossen":

51 commentsDas Restaurant wird geschlossen sein.

47 commentsDie Tür wird geschlossen sein.

25 commentsSie werden geschlossen haben.

19 commentsDieser Bahnhof wird ab morgen geschlossen sein.

17 commentsDer Bahnhof wird ab morgen geschlossen sein.

795 12 Reasons to learn ASL & Tips on ASL word order.

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12252930>

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I've personally used ASL (American Sign Language) to talk to someone on the other side of a very noisy establishment. It was great! :D

12 reasons to learn ASL

And since I had to snag this through screen print to get it big enough, Here is where I got it. :)

Sign word order tips

This one I got from Here

PS If you want to learn ASL but don't have access to a class, you can check out Lifeprint. It's where I'm learning. ^_^

Give Lingot7

491 year ago

Leave a new comment

24 Comments

MissThorson 22 3 5

Or, when you're at a meeting or such, and you don't want to be too noisy, it's best to use ASL.

Something I do with my sister. :)

11ReplyGive Lingot18•1 year ago

kimonocrazy 14 10 8 8 6 6 6 5 6

People should learn sign language from every country. As someone who is hard-of-hearing and currently studying to be an interpreter I think it's great more people want to learn ASL or whatever sign language their country has. However I feel Duolingo is not the place to learn sign language. Going to classes or learning from native speakers of the language is the best.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hunterd0721 25 17 14 12 12 8 8 7 6 5 5 509

I never realized all of these other reasons and now I think that knowing ASL would be very useful to know! Thanks for sharing this!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

David598296 14 10 9

So there are no prepositions in ASL?

...

I love it already!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

cfremg 6

Do you know any good places/websites to learn ASL? I've wanted to learn for a while, but no one to teach me.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kimonocrazy 14 10 8 8 6 6 6 5 6

Lifeprint is a good website.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Yes! I don't have access to a class because of $$, so I use Lifeprint :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Mango languages recently added it but it is still new. Also, Handspeak, aslpro, signing savvy. Though Lifeprint is my favourite.

Also, if there is a deaf school in your area you might reach out to them and see if they offer anything for the community or if they know of any ASL meetup groups.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

no.name.42 25 25 25 14 13 10 10 8 7 7 5 4 3 3 925

I agree with almost all of these, but I think it's important to note that ASL or any sign language for that matter, cannot help "end" autism.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Audism ^_~

9ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

no.name.42 25 25 25 14 13 10 10 8 7 7 5 4 3 3 925

Oh, I am sorry, that makes much more sense.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

If you misread it, I'm sure others will too. So, I'm glad you mentioned it. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kimonocrazy 14 10 8 8 6 6 6 5 6

Yeah, hearing people just need to be more educated about how to deal with Deaf and hard-of-hearing people. I've had plenty experience where my own mother called me hearing impaired which is so wrong. That term makes me feel broken which I am not.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I read a book called "People of the Eye" that wrote a good piece on why deaf people are not "impaired". I highly recommend the book to anyone who sees deafness as a disability. :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

And reason #13: As you age there is a good chance you will experience some hearing loss. Knowing ASL will make communication easier.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

thwain 23 17 9 4 4 38

Yes and no. A person with normal hearing will generally not be involved in the Deaf community where ASL is used. A person is not going to change their associations as their hearing ability degrades, especially if they are older. Knowing ASL is only useful if you have someone to use it with. That being said, a person who learns ASL will probably have connections to a community that uses the language.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Actually people do change their associations as they get older, especially when their friends start dying off or they are dumped into an old folks community.

The point of many of these reasons is to spread sign language outside the Deaf community. Which is better for everyone in general.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kunstkritik 19 17 12 12

Without wanting to sound rude but is there a point outside of satisfying my foreign language needs to learn ASL when I am in Europe. The deaf people hear probably would not understand me OR is ASL kind of the English under the sign languages and it helps for the most part globally?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SJ115 12 11 10 7 7 4 4 2

It would probably make more sense to learn the sign language for the country you live in if you wanted to put it to more practical use but there is no harm at all in learning ASL.

There is International Sign Language, a pidgin language, used at events such as the Deaflympics or at international conferences but is limited. In the UK, BSL is used and it is completely different from ASL, they only have about 30% of identical signs. Even the alphabet is different - BSL uses two hands for finger spelling whereas ASL uses one hand. I think ASL developed from French Sign Language originally. Auslan and NZSL are both related BSL, whereas Irish Sign Language is much closer to ASL and French Sign Language.

I know with BSL there are also regional dialects, I would assume that this is also the same for ASL?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MuhdRafi7 21 8 7 5 5 3 51

Thanks Usagiboy7 :) , for that website, it's very interesting. My brother used to learn a bit of sign language in my native language when he was in high school and I got the chance to see how he communicated with deaf people. Seeing he doing that touched my heart somehow I don't even know why :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jillianimal 22 22 7 2

I remember learning noun can go before or after adj =/ does it depend on the kind of sentence?

Also the 1 thing I clearly remember about word order is that if you're discussing time you have to start with that. I keep hearing different things about syntax & it seems so flexible I'm not sure what else right or not.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I am still too new at signing to comment on sign order save that the who's and where's always seem to come at the end of the sentence. It is one reason why I really mourn not being able to afford the local uni's course. I feel like classroom instruction is essential for those of us who don't absorb grammar without thorough explanation with time for questions.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jillianimal 22 22 7 2

I ran across Start ASL not too long ago & it looks like it's worth doing. They have 3 free units of classes but I only skimmed through a lesson or 2 so far.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Devokan 16 7 4 1

Wow, I didn't know there was a difference in word order. Learned something new. Thank you. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

796 "Wir müssen die Fenster bedecken."
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/19467432>

Translation: We have to cover the windows.

13 months ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

Dimalearnrussian 13 11 9 9

Wann benutzt man "have" und wann "must" ??

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

mizinamo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 669

Hier ist es nicht have sondern have to. Die Aussprache ist auch anders: have spricht sich ungefähr wie "haww" aber have to ungefähr wie "hafftu".

have to bedeutet praktisch dasselbe wie must.

Im Negativ ist es aber unterschiedlich: You don't have to eat the bananas = Du musst die Bananen nicht essen. (Es ist OK, wenn du sie nicht isst.) aber: You must not eat the bananas = Du darfst die Bananen nicht essen. (Es ist verboten, sie zu essen.)

Ich würde sagen, must klingt vielleicht etwas stärker als have to.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•3 months ago

Dimalearnrussian 13 11 9 9
Спасибо! Lingot verdient!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

797 "Los vegetarianos comen manzanas."

Translation: Vegetarians eat apples.

-11 month ago

Leave a new comment
13 Comments

Christophe111535 4
wow

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

JKFin 11 25
The Spain pronunciation on this one was tricky...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

psluk 18 14 11 11 9 8 8 6 6 5 4
I hear vegetayanos (being a native Spanish speaker).

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

punk_sheep 3
wait then why are you take spanish on doulingo?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

psluk 18 14 11 11 9 8 8 6 6 5 4
To practice my English and help Spanish learners.

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

PilarBrook1 3
doulingo needs to stop i put the right sentence but it still says i'm wrong for accidentally forgetting to put a space..... I MEAN COME ON!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

hannahn29 3 2
The vegetarian eats apples, this is what it says... this is why i'll never get spanish lol

0ReplyGive Lingot•23 hours ago

queenmeanie 11 4

How can 'manzanas' translate to 'apples' AND 'blocks'? That doesn't make sense..

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

psluk 18 14 11 11 9 8 8 6 6 5 4

manzana: info

is translated to apple.

is translated to block.

More info here.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

CharlesLeo6 5 4

"Just pretend this shoe is whatever you people eat. Maybe it is a shoe!"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

BowerC 4

i spelled a word rong

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

dcswest 5 5

i like koalas

-1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 week ago

dcswest 5 5

i like koalas

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

798 "Tu es folle ? "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/721013>

Translation: Are you crazy?

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

31 Comments

Andrealphus 6 6 5 5 5 5 5 4 4 4 4 3 3 3 2

Apparently I'm sane. I answered "yes" and it told me I was wrong.

96ReplyGive Lingot5•3 years ago

Sarah-Cheung 25 23 18 15 14 12 11 10 10 8 4 853

Sorry but I laughed out loud.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cyndiluwho 25 560
So did I!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

couchdoor 22 16 13 11 7
apparently "are you nuts?" is an unsuitable translation. nuts.

13ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

LJSulli 18 7 6 10
Probably too colloquial for Duo but I think correct. Fou seems to capture both being wild (both raging and effervescent), and being crazy or mad, being a fool, not thinking right - which is probably where nuts sits.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

ArnieRoss 11
fou vs folle?

11ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Andrealphus 6 6 5 5 5 5 5 4 4 4 4 3 3 3 2
I'm almost certain that it's a gender thing.

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Athina00 7
fou - masculine singular

folle - feminine singular

fous - masculin plural

folles - feminine plural

36ReplyGive Lingot3•3 years ago

Isravn 14 12 10
And one more: fol - masculine singular when the noun starts with H.

12ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

DianaM 22
Or a vowel.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BastouXII 20 12 12 11 9 8 2 695
Just like the French title of Stanley Kubrick's movie "Dr. Strangelove" : Dr. Folamour (fol amour).

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ddbeachgirl 25 25 14 12 7 6 6 5 5 2 602
pourquoi pas "es-tu folle?"

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14
"Est-ce que tu es folle?" and "Es-tu folle?" are less common ways to ask this.
I think "Tu es folle?" is actually an expression that is considered a common idiom.

<http://french.about.com/od/grammar/a/questions.htm>

You could try reporting it as an alternative answer, but I am not sure if it will be accepted or not.

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

YahyaZuhair 21 778

The sentence is not wrong to be reported.

"Est-ce que tu es folle ?" and "es-tu folle ?" are more formal ways to ask this question.

But I don't think someone formally asks the other if she was crazy.

N.B: I used she above cos the adjective "folle" is feminine.

For masculine form of this adjective, we use "fou".

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14

Sometimes the polite form offsets the rudeness, then this is not really meant to be rude, more jokingly, but you are right you wouldn't want to use the formal singular vous form with this, unless you want to emphasize that the way she is acting makes her seem like a stranger to you.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

YahyaZuhair 21 778

In fact, I wasn't referring to "vous" when I said formally.

generally, asking questions in french could be done in 3 forms:

Es-tu folle ? -> formal.

Est-ce que tu es folle ? -> relaxed/safe.

Tu es folle ? -> casual.

also, you could use vous, if you were asking a group of people whether they were crazy or not.

Vous êtes fous ? -> masculine plural

Vous êtes folles ? -> feminine plural

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14

Of course, you can use the plural form for a group of people. "Vous" is not just used for plural. It is also the formal singular form of you, as well as the familiar plural and formal plural . "Tu" is the familiar singular form and even when used in the formal version of the question, it is less formal than the formal singular "vous" used in the casual or relaxed question forms of questions. Please check out this site:

http://french.about.com/od/grammar/ss/subjectpronouns\_3.htm

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

MegaSpy 16 7 4 136

I get this question a lot.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TabulaRasa5 12 10 3 3

Does this have the same stigma in French as it does in English? I know some people, because of their problems with mental illness or otherwise, don't like the word "crazy" thrown at them. Is this a similar thing in French?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

iminiki 10

Isn't fou (folle) and fool synonym?

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

DianaM 22

Short answer: no. Longer answer: "Un fou" is a "fool" in the sense of a court jester, which is a pretty restricted definition. I believe "a fool" in the more general sense is translated into "une imbécile" or "un idiot".

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

malik91 11 9 2

I'm thinking the same as you.

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Msaphra 7 6

So how would one say "You are nuts?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DianaM 22

The only problem I have with your sentence is the word order. It would be an unusual context that would produce that word order, rather than, "Are you nuts?"

As for whether "nuts" is a good synonym for "crazy" - sure it is. It should be accepted here, but DL may not yet have it in its database. These slangy sentences are particularly difficult, because there are often so many synonyms - crazy, nuts, bats, off your rocker, out of your mind, insane, mad, deranged, demented, unhinged, mental, bonkers, wacko, cuckoo....I'm sure I've missed a few. Just report it, and maybe the next person to suggest "Are you nuts?" won't lose a heart.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

joyuhou 9

I'm wondering if it's the good kind of crazy or bad kind? Like if said, is it really saying that person is crazy or out of their mind?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Meg_in_Canada 12 5

I answered "You are crazy?" and it was not accepted. Perhaps not great sentence structure or unnatural English is a lot of cases, but a pretty direct and accurate translation. Reported June 23, 2015.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PJMCD 25 15 4 1

No, my mother had me tested! (The Big Bang Theory)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EllenEsq 8

Why doesn't "You are wild?" work??? It says wild is an acceptable translation.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 16 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 14

It means wild in certain expressions, not in this one.

<http://dictionnaire.reverso.net/francais-anglais/folle>

<http://www.larousse.fr/dictionnaires/francais/fou/34727?q=fou#34691>

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

799 [Song ngữ] Tại sao tiếp viên hàng không thường để tay sau lưng khi chào đón hành khách?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/17236681>

giaphi 25 3

a

Có bao giờ bạn tự hỏi tại sao khi vừa bước lên máy bay đã có ngay một nữ tiếp viên đứng chào bạn rất thân thiện nhưng cô ấy hầu như không bao giờ để tay phía trước mà luôn giấu sau lưng? Việc gì cũng có nguyên do của nó và hôm nay chúng ta sẽ cùng tìm hiểu bí mật đằng sau hành động này nhé.

If you're an experienced traveler or just an attentive person, you may have noticed that cabin crew usually keep their arms folded behind their backs when greeting passengers and when walking the aircraft cabin. When doing so, they also don't appear to check that seat belts are fastened or that passengers' phones are turned off.

Cho dù bạn là một người thường đi du lịch hay chỉ đơn giản là một người thích quan sát, hẳn sẽ có lúc bạn để ý thấy các tiếp viên hàng không thường giấu tay của họ đằng sau lưng khi chào đón hành khách và khi bước vào khoang máy bay. Đồng thời khi đó, họ cũng không kiểm tra dây an toàn hay điện thoại của hành khách đã tắt hay chưa.

It turns out there's an important reason for this, and we at Bright Side are going to tell you what it is.

Có một lý do quan trọng cho việc này, và hôm nay chúng ta sẽ được biết lý do đó là gì.

It's really quite simple: before take-off, the cabin crew need to count the number of passengers onboard. This takes place either as they enter or when the passengers have all sat down. The cabin crew use a special counter to do this:

Té ra lý do rất đơn giản: trước khi máy bay cất cánh, phi hành đoàn cần đếm số lượng hành khách đã lên máy bay. Điều này diễn ra ngay khi hành khách bước vào máy bay hoặc khi tất cả hành khách đã yên vị. Và các tiếp viên sử dụng một thiết bị đặc biệt để làm việc này:

Hình trên là một thiết bị đếm chuyên dụng (counter) dành cho tiếp viên hàng không, tuy nhiên trong thực tế họ cũng có thể dùng điện thoại hoặc các công cụ khác

The cabin crew keep their arms behind their backs when doing the counting in order to not attract too much attention to themselves.

Các tiếp viên giấu tay họ sau lưng khi đếm để tránh thu hút sự chú ý không cần thiết từ hành khách.

Tổng hợp và biên dịch bởi Gia Phi - Theo Bright Side

Give Lingot
347 months ago

Leave a new comment
22 Comments

giaphi 25 3

Thank you guys for reading and upvoting my posts. Have a nice day guys.

4ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

TrnMaiKhanh4 10 2
1 like for you, giờ mới biết

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

huyenovem 25 23 7 5 5 4 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 374
1 like cho mod

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

_Suzue_ 25 25 12 11 10 10 10 10 5 5 5 5
Mới biết ngày hôm nay qua Kênh14. =))

1 like for you.

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

-_Snack_- 10 9
woa hay quá

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

NgocHa2003 13 8 3 2
ồ thank Mod nha giờ em mới biết tại sao như vậy

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Haru...Haru 20 11 7 6 4 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 168
Thì ra là như vậy. Thanks Mod

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

LLuxngXXi 16 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2
1 like

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

_Tadashi_Hamada_ 24 10 3 2 2 2 31
cảm ơn anh

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

ViiApple 11 11
1 thanks and 1 like for mod

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

FN-5.7 18 8 3 3 10
giờ e mới biết, 1 like cho mod

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

FN-5.7 18 8 3 3 10
Imgur

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Thanhhuong137 21 12 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 8 8 8 8 7 5 2 2 2
Imgur

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

nguoila 23 8 6 2
Hum qua em mới xem bên trang web của anh ^^

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

giaphi 25 3

uh, anh thường đăng bài song song ở cả 2 duo và web riêng

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

robisprofas 25 12 11 7 6 433

Em thấy anh đăng cách làm BBQ :v

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

giaphi 25 3

oh, anh hay dịch bài từ các trang nước ngoài về đăng lại ;) bài bbq mới dịch tối qua, có thể sẽ đăng lại qua bên này

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

hienenglish1 14 6

1 like

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

phu95 18

thank you for mod. i often read on the BrightSide. this site is easy for reading, it help me learning english so much. have a nice day.d

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

giaphi 25 3

thanks, man ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

phatnguyentien35 25 21 17 9 7 7 7 6 34

like

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

DestartreK1st 15 7 5 5 4 3 3 2 2 2

Hừm, hay.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

800 "Ich sehe es mir nochmals an. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/172850>

Translation: I am looking at it again.

04 years ago

Leave a new comment

49 Comments

alisatanya 19 15 5 3 3 2

What is the function of 'mir' here?

101ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

MaximumWilli 17 14 7 3

German typically requires selfreferencing. In english 'myself/I/me' is implied, not so in german.

Ich setzen mich an den Stuhl. = I sit down on the chair

My German tutor said to imagine that you're talking to a small version of yourself as you sit it (yourself) on the chair. We found it quite funny.

59ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

MoAl2 16

Actually only some verbs needs this "reflexive" behaviour, the "sich verbs" as I like to call them, "sich sitzen" being one of them: <https://yourdailygerman.wordpress.com/2013/11/13/german-reflexive-verbs/>

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mizinamo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 669

I think you mean "sich setzen" (to sit down, become seated).

"Sitzen" (to sit, be seated) is not reflexive.

13ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

MoAl2 16

I never knew there was such a difference! wow, thanks for pointing that out ^^

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mizinamo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 669

The relatives in English are "sit" and "set": one is (at least originally) the causative of the other (to set something somewhere is to cause it to sit). Similarly with "fall/fell" (to fell a tree is to cause it to fall).

I think that stehen/stellen are also related in this way (to put something somewhere is to cause it to stand).

16Give Lingot•1 year ago

Momo.Reza 25 23 22 22 19 12 11 6 4 3 3 2

Thankssssss:-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Siebenundzwanzig 14 9 4 2 2

That's genius. I'll remember that.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mizinamo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 669

It's a benefactive, indicating for whose benefit (or to whose detriment) something happened.

So literally, it would be something like "I am looking at it again for myself".

Similarly: "Ich habe mir ein Buch gekauft" (I bought [myself] a book) or "Ich habe mir den Knöchel verstaucht" (I sprained my ankle -- here "benefactive" does not imply that the action benefited the subject, just that it affected him!).

17ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

LindaB_Duolingo 25 25 25 12 50

Excellent! I'd never heard of this. Thanks, M! :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Nabucco 22 10 9 7

Ja, ich möchte auch es verstehen.

8ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

enrico.guiraud 17 6

I did a bit of a research, and found out that "ansehen" can be reflexive (I'm not totally sure that's the correct word to use, but you'll understand what I mean reading on). The complete infinite form is "sich ansehen", having a slightly different meaning than just "ansehen" (check <http://dictionary.reverso.net/german-english/ansehen> or just google "sich ansehen").

so it goes: ich mir sehe (etwas) an --> I have a look (at something) du dir siehst (etwas) an --> You have a look (at something) etcetera

64ReplyGive Lingot6•3 years ago

professorscience 13 6 4

yes i believe this is correct..

and because the "es" is the accusative in the sentence then the self part of the reflexive "sich" takes the dative case.

therefore mich--> mir

hope that helps

24ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jacob.t.sa 9 8 3

Also, I'm pretty sure the reflexive pronoun goes after the main verb, not with the nominative pronoun: Ich sehe mir das Buch an. Ich sehe es mir an.

8ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

mizina mo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 669

Yes, but the word order is off: "Ich sehe mir (etwas) an, du siehst dir (etwas) an".

In questions: Sehe ich mir etwas an? Siehst du dir etwas an?

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

verhomage 22 15

More than 20 comments and no one explained the difference between ansehen and sich ansehen, so sad. I hope that my post will help somebody.

etwas ansehen - to look at something, it's used in the "looking in the eye" sense. Ich sehe dich an. = I look at you. Just looking, nothing more. sich etwas ansehen - includes more involvement and thoroughness. Ich sehe mir das Bild an. = I look at the picture. It's like looking at the content of the picture.

One more example to understand the difference: Ich sehe das Buch an. = I look at the book (have my gaze fixed at it). Ich sehe mir das Buch an. = I look at the book. (turn it around, open it, turn pages, perhaps read a chapter...)

That will help you understand this exercise, if you want to read more about the difference between ansehen and sich ansehen, here is the link:

<http://yourdailygerman.wordpress.com/2014/05/09/meaning-ansehen/#more-5888>

45ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mizina mo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 669

Good explanation!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Frulenz o 18 12 4 18

Thanks for this site (und erklarung auch!) :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

dmtowen5 12

The Sich structure, I am not sure, does it have like do sth by oneself. Just further your example, Ich sehe das Buch an, if it's possible it means I read the book myself, which emphasizes that I really do.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Drumknott 17 12 8 7 5 4

Actually, I think you would use "selbst" for that.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Stappers 13 6

In reflexive verbs (in this case 'sich ansehen') normally the reflexive pronoun (mich, dich, sich etc.) will be accusative but if the verb already has an accusative object (in this case 'es'), then the reflexive pronoun will be dative, in this case mir instead of mich.

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ThatBananaStand 14 8 8 5 2 2 2 2

Wann nutzen wir "nochmals" gegen "wieder"?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Karen_Hornick 11

I tried "I am looking at it myself again" and got marked wrong ... translating this to an English reflexive doesn't seem entirely wrong, or is it? Doesn't the "mir" emphasize the sense of the "I" doing something? Maybe not ...

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HappyEvilSlosh 25 23 21 20 13 11 10 9 8 7 4 2 2

If I came across the sentence "I am looking at it myself again." I think I would assume whoever wrote it was German. :P If you said it I expect people will understand it but ... it doesn't really sound right to me.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

inhoser 25 694

Can this sentence work with wieder instead of nochmals? If not, then why not?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kdn 12 6 2

sounded for me like "Ich sehe es mir noch Mal an."

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Nemesis_NaR 25 20 12

genau :-(

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

blargblargblarg 15 10 6 6 3

can it also be translated to 'i will see to it again' ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

M.Uijttewaal 14 12 2

no, but 'i will look at it again' should be ok, subtle difference;)

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

greenfire315 22 11 4 4 4

Function of mir here anyone???

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

mhbateni 13 6

What's wrong with "I [will] take a look at it again"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nurreac 22 9 3 3

I am guessing it is wrong only because you have an extra verb (take) that does not actually appear in the German sentence. Sometimes Duolingo is pretty strict about the extra words.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jaye16 25 25 25 13 6 3 2 175

Most likely the problem is that it's not future. Even though the English present continuous can denote future the it could in this case be right now. The German is not future.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

amp43 15 15 23

What's the difference between "Ich sehe es mir nochmals an" and "Ich sehe es nochmals"? Is sich ansehen = sehen?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago luizjoaquim 12 12 11 10 9 8 7

Can we say that the "es" is a mirror?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

notneb 17 8 2 2

My answer should have been accepted! I said, "I'll look again myself." Bad duolingo, you said no and a professional German interpreter told me that my translation was correct!!!! I love Duolingo though...it is absolutely a great program!!! Seriously.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jaye16 25 25 25 13 6 3 2 175

I believe that the professional interpreter might have said that both Duo's translation and yours are correct. However, Duo being computer generated has only a few versions programmed. Duo encourages us to add to the database by reporting its errors and deficiencies. So, get into the habit of reporting such items. It may take a while for your suggestion to be reviewed and if it's deemed beneficial to the community it will be added. See here for other ideas and essential Guidelines that you should bookmark for long time reference.

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4821654>

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wwangduolingo 25 453

So can I simply say 'Ich sehe es nochmals an' (omitting 'mir') for 'I am looking at it again'?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KalinaZ 23 20 12 11 121

'I am looking at it one more time' i wrote, and it corrected me to 'once more' - haha, huge difference indeed :))

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Nemesis_NaR 25 20 12

As I understand it: Both sentences "Ich sehe es mir nochmals an." and "Ich sehe es mir noch Mal an." mean the same, don't they?

Well and the problem is - they sound the same, which is what just happened to me. I suggest deleting this sentence from listening exercises (and I have reported it)

3.1.2015

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

szczepaniakm 23 10

I look at it one more time? Warum nicht?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mikelmx 21 11 11 6 3 2 2 2 11

Danke sehr zu alles für die schnelle pünktlich Aussagen

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JMBarrett52 24 3 2 9

Why is "an" required at the end of the sentence?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mizinamo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 669

Because "to look at something" is "(sich) etwas ansehen" -- the "an" is the first part of the separable verb "ansehen".

(Just "sehen" is "see" rather than "look".)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JMBarrett52 24 3 2 9

Never mind. I found the answer. Sehe and an is actually the separable verb ansehen.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tale154809 22 14

I too would like to know when to use nochmals versus wieder.

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

StevenHous1 12 2

I am seeing it again should also be accepted. Bad duolingo!

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

CaveatEmptor 22 11 8

Not quite so, because the full verb is "ansehen," which means "to look at;" and "sehen" means "to see."

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

801 paciente

https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/paciente-noun-masculine\_feminine\_singular/a438bf5993b7eb3607246984c02cfdad

ENGLISH

patient, passive

Example sentences

| WORD | NUMBER | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|--------|---------|-------------|
|------|--------|---------|-------------|

|          |          |                                                      |                                                         |
|----------|----------|------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| paciente | singular | El paciente no tiene los síntomas de esa enfermedad. | The patient does not have the symptoms of that illness. |
|----------|----------|------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|

|           |        |                                                |                                      |
|-----------|--------|------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| pacientes | plural | Estos pacientes tienen problemas para caminar. | These patients have trouble walking. |
|-----------|--------|------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|

Discussions with the word "paciente":

26 commentsEl paciente no tiene los síntomas de esa enfermedad.

21 commentsEl paciente ha salido de peligro.

13 commentsEl paciente ya está seguro.

10 commentsNo soy un paciente.

3 commentsLa paciente

802 "Jag trodde att du var hemma."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/7380585>

Translation: I thought that you were at home.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

13 Comments

bradleyturumbar 20 15 10 6 6 2

When do we use hemme, and when do we use hem?

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

devalanteriel 24 21 17 16 14 13 8 1280

Here's a long but very informative post: <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6330349>

The tl;dr version is that hem means "home", and hemma means "at home".

15ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FunSprint 14

Is att necessary in this sentence?

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

xolove24xo 19 10 8 3 2 2 2 2

Why doesn't I thought that you went home make sense?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 21 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 111

It makes sense, it just doesn't translate this sentence. 'I thought that you went home' would be Jag trodde att du gick hem.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

xolove24xo 19 10 8 3 2 2 2 2

So would gick be the only word to use in that sentence or is there another word that means went as well

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 21 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 111

Either gick or åkte, gick if you more or less went on foot, åkte if you travelled using some vehicle. If you went home to another country it would be åkte hem for instance, gick would sound funny, but if you leave a party to go home, first on foot, then taking a bus for instance, you could use either. gick would be the preferred one, åkte would emphasize that you used some vehicle.

10ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

xolove24xo 19 10 8 3 2 2 2 2

Thank you so much that makes a lot more sense!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sandeepa2 15 14 14 12 8 6 739

tack

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

epiphany6988 11 6 4 3 3

Tack så mycket!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bigswedeej 25 5 25

You could also say "I believed that..."?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 21 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 111
Yes.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

myriam365 12 11 10 9 8 8 24
Can you also say Jag tänkte att du var hemma???

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

803 desto

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/desto-co-ordinating+conjunction/6830d9da4946e71a290bf9a6caaa20f3>

ENGLISH

the

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|       |                                              |                                             |
|-------|----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| desto | Je mehr er liest, desto weniger versteht er. | The more he reads, the less he understands. |
|-------|----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|

Discussions with the word "desto":

48 commentsJe mehr, desto besser.

20 commentsJe mehr er liest, desto weniger versteht er.

17 commentsJe länger ich ihn kenne, desto mehr mag ich ihn.

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages

804 – 831 of 911

[accessed March 28 and 29, 2017]

804 Dr. Seuss' Green Eggs and Ham, in French

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12871586>

MattMallet1 6 3 3 2

I found this on YouTube.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Uktwf-q14DQ>

Give Lingot3

211 year ago

Leave a new comment

6 Comments

paulguk 14 13 7 6 71

C'est bien. Merci.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

French__Guy 5

guy I have a giveaway of lingots! go to popular posts I should be one of the most popular! I have already given out 10 to a lucky winner! the next can be you!

-2ReplyGive Lingot101•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Merci

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Odette2112 12 9 6 2 2 2 2 177

Merci!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NtateNarin 25 15 14 9 6 812

Cute video, thanks! Talks a bit fast for me sometimes, but thankfully the words repeat a lot so I can practice hearing French at a faster pace. Enjoy your shiny lingot! :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

805 "Sí, el gato come patos. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/21072826>

Translation: Yes, the cat eats ducks.

01 month ago

Leave a new comment

21 Comments

dawadawa0 7 3
Cats don't eat ducks!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

ann438320 22 7
None

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Maggie0621S 8 5 4 3 1
Wow... IT'S TRUE!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

LeviFerrel3 5
what yer cat eats ducks

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

KE_cat 4
My cat kills birds but doesn't eat them

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Glasscock2 7 1
why is mine wrong wtf

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

immanuellee 3
man they trippin finn drop my mixtape

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

SirBard 6
No el gato come patos.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

queenmeanie 11 5
My old cat killed a beaver once.... but never a duck.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

RandomPupp 10
HAHA! Screw you DUCKS!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

RiverLocke 5
yeah!!!!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

squibbery 12 6
Impressive cat.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

[deactivated user]
duck taste beautifully delicious with bacon

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

TobinKnigh 5
the cat eats clodhopper is what it says

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

mathilde912674 3
nice

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

Crisann3 6
Do cats really eat ducks?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

Crisann3 6
Do cats really eat ducks??

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

bfflnmwhtu 16 2
Really,Duo, I expected more from you 4-12-17

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 days ago

bfflnmwhtu 16 2
Really,Duo, I expected more from you. 4-12-17

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 days ago

bfflnmwhtu 16 2
Really ,Duo, I expected more from you. 4-12-17

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 days ago

Natasha342508 14

Lol

0ReplyGive Lingot•yesterday

806 bedankt

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Dutch/bedankt/24c372e3b8d1fb30ebe3401591b79469>

ENGLISH

thanks, thank you

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |                       |                        |
|---------|-----------------------|------------------------|
| bedankt | Bedankt en tot ziens. | Thank you and goodbye. |
|---------|-----------------------|------------------------|

|         |                                                |                                             |
|---------|------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| bedankt | Het hert bedankt de oude vrouw voor het brood. | The deer thanks the old lady for the bread. |
|---------|------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|

Discussions with the word "bedankt":

32 commentsBedankt, tot ziens!

30 commentsBedankt en tot ziens.

26 commentsHallo, bedankt

17 commentsBedankt, doe!

22 commentsHet hert bedankt de oude vrouw voor het brood.

807 wie

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Dutch/wie/ab68ce94fd2683cb7795bda079724cdc>

ENGLISH

who, whom

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|     |                                              |                                          |
|-----|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| wie | Hij is de man van wie de hond niet luistert. | He is the man whose dog does not listen. |
|-----|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

|     |                                     |                                       |
|-----|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| wie | Wie is de man met de grote olifant? | Who is the man with the big elephant? |
|-----|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

Discussions with the word "wie":

21 commentsWie doet dat?

9 commentsWie betaalt de dure maaltijd?

9 commentsVoor wie werkt u?

8 commentsMet wie bent u?

7 commentsMet wie spreek ik?

808 schauen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/schauen-verb-infinitive/17a6aa11077070b654378c596ddb923>

ENGLISH

look, are looking, are watching

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |                              |                                   |
|---------|------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| schauen | Wir schauen aus dem Fenster. | We are looking out of the window. |
|---------|------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

|         |                                       |                                      |
|---------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| schauen | Die Mädchen schauen in einen Spiegel. | The girls are looking into a mirror. |
|---------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|

|         |                                            |                                       |
|---------|--------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| schauen | Die Katzen werden aus dem Fenster schauen. | The cats will look out of the window. |
|---------|--------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

schauen conjugation

Indicative

Conditional

Others

| PERSON    | PRESENT         | PAST       |
|-----------|-----------------|------------|
| ich       | schaue          | schaute    |
| du        | schaust         | schaustest |
| er/sie/es | schaut          | schaute    |
| wir       | schauen, schaun | schauten   |
| ihr       | schaut          | schautet   |
| sie/Sie   | schauen, schaun | schauten   |

809 Looking for Duolingo friends

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12274926>

soungsoo 14

Hola!

Duolingo has been my joy theses days since I have found out about this App. And I always hoped if there are friends around me using this app but there is none around me :(

If there is anyone who would like to compete and learn the Spanish together, please follow my username or reply me with your user names so I can follow you.

I'm currently at Spanish level 7, and can speak Korean and English.

Give Lingot5

121 year ago

Leave a new comment

46 Comments

KrazyKaderKat 25 11 9 4

Hola! my username name is pinkreadergirl, but i go by Pink. xD I would love to help you learn Spanish, and for me to learn Spanish along with you!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

soungsoo 14

Hola! Pink, I just followed you. I should have known this community earlier. I feel welcomed here :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GamingTech 6

Hey, please add me everyone. Learning is so much easier and faster, and way more fun with friends.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Dread_Lords 6

can i follow you guys too??? Im Dread_Lords

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Akahayla. 13 9 42

I wanna follow you guys too!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MsCanelo 12 10

hola, my user name is MsCanelo, enjoying learning Spanish, lets learn together

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Emoore722 12 9 2

Hi! I'm duolingo friendless and learning Spanish as well. I'd love to be friends!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Nick-Ah 11

Hey you can be my friend too :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

soungsoo 14

Hola! I just started following you.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChristinaCorea 9

Hola! I'm also level 7 Spanish, Korean (tho I lost the language), and speak English. I'd love to be friends!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ScienceKitty 7

I'm also korean and I still have my language!! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

akruiz 7

i will my user name is akruiz

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Samira9908 6

Hi! My first day using duolingo! I'm learning Spanish!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

soungsoo 14

Welcome to Duolingo. I did not know learning a new language is this much fun!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Nick-Ah 11

My name is Nick and I would love to be your friend and learn the Spanish language alongside you :).

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GaleStorm 5 2

Hi, I'm fairly new as well! I'd like to be friends :) I'm GaleStorm

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nuevarosa 10

songsoo, thanks for starting this thread! I just started following you and others who replied to this thread :). It is indeed fun to try and learn a language as a community!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

songsoo 14

Hola! I am kinda surprised to see it was not only me wanting to have Duolingo friends for learning languages together. :) Let's learn it together!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sangudo50 14 4

Add me please

"sangudo 50"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChristinaCorea 9

So glad to see that the Duolingo crowd is so friendly! Thank you, SongSoo for this thread and all the connections I've made through this. And thank you to all my new Duolingo friends. =)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

songsoo 14

I know! Isn't this community just lovely! Feeling so welcomed here :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

o0Nikki0o 7 3

I'm looking for friends too, and I'll gladly be yours! My name is Nikki by the way :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MormonCinderella 10

hey I'd love to follow you guys too! my username is MormonCinderella

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

2004emma 2

Hi! I'm learning Spanish too! I can speak a lot more Spanish than this website says and I speak fluent English. I'm on level 2 and would love to be friends

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sangudo50 14 4

I would like to be friends too, I choose you as my first one! :)

Let's talk Spanish !

:)

Si ??

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChristinaCorea 9

Por supuesto! De donde eres? (and not too sure when to use ser/estar xD)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GamingTech 6

We should all add each other on Pal+ or something to chat and help each other. The app is great, but it had some weak points on teaching you things you have troubles with. My id on Pal+ is GamingTech, add me and I'll add you to a group

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sangudo50 14 4

Heh joseph, how do I get pal+ ???

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GamingTech 6

It is an Android app... Not sure if it is on iPhone

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

soungsoo 14

I googled and there is one for iPhone <https://itunes.apple.com/us/app/pal+/id507726019?mt=8> And for the android, <https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.liquable.nemo>

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

CharlieStr7 8

Just got Pal+ would like to add you to practice more spanish

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MormonCinderella 10

here is a tip when you use ser/estar. ser is used for date, telling time, gender, traits/characteristics, identity, origin, event, and possession. estar is used for location, feeling and moods, and mostly with help. i hope this helps!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

soungsoo 14

It really helps! Thanks again,

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MormonCinderella 10

no prob! you're welcome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChristinaCorea 9

Thank you, MormonCinderella - but I was struggling with whether the verb in "De donde xxx" applied to origin (ser) or location (estar). I do love Spanish but I have a lot to learn!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MormonCinderella 10

haha that's ok. i'm still learning too:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ScienceKitty 7

OMG!!! I can speak korean and english too!!! are you korean, 'cause I am!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

soungsoo 14

I am too! :) what is the main purpose you are learning the Spanish?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ScienceKitty 7

My sister(MathKitty) is, and it just feels right to do the same...

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Emoore722 12 9 2

is there any way to make a classroom or group so that we can ask each other questions? we all seem to be around the same level

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MormonCinderella 10

good point. we should suggest that to someone. or we could just post on each other's page? seems confusing though.....

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

soungsoo 14

That is really good idea. You could post your idea here <https://www.duolingo.com/topic/1>

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Emoore722 12 9 2

For the time being... Let's just post here.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Merimunki 11

We are the same level so please follow me and you can be my arch-nemesis :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kugar87 14

hey guys my username is kugar87, i'm also learning spanish and would like to join you guys in learning

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Brandon756 12 2 6

Brandon756 ADD me

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

810 Dienstag

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/Dienstag-dienstag-noun-masculine-singular-accusative/d0e9382619d53006f101b22fb1e0bd43>

ENGLISH

Tuesday

Example sentences

| WORD     | NUMBER   | GENDER    | CASE       | EXAMPLE                              | TRANSLATION                           |
|----------|----------|-----------|------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Dienstag | singular | masculine | nominative | Der Dienstag ist dem Montag ähnlich. | The Tuesday is similar to the Monday. |
| Dienstag | singular | masculine | accusative | Mittwoch bitte, nicht Dienstag!      | Wednesday please, not Tuesday!        |
| Dienstag | singular | masculine | dative     | Am Dienstag beginnt die Reise.       | The journey begins on Tuesday.        |

Discussions with the word "Dienstag":

2 commentsMittwoch bitte, nicht Dienstag!

41 commentsHast du am Dienstag frei?

22 commentsDer Dienstag ist dem Montag ähnlich.

18 commentsAm Dienstag beginnt die Reise.

8 commentsMontag, Dienstag und Mittwoch

811 kvankam

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Esperanto/kvankam/a6a458b7c8c143a422e691fe6a67bead>

ENGLISH

although

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |                                                                   |                                                                          |
|---------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| kvankam | Kvankam la vetero estas malbona, la infanoj ludas ekster la domo. | Although the weather is bad, the children are playing outside the house. |
|---------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|

Discussions with the word "kvankam":

31 commentsKvankam mi komprenas vian peton, mi ne povas doni al vi monon.

12 commentsKvankam mi ne volas manĝi viandon, mi manĝas ĝin.

6 commentsKvankam la vetero estas malbona, la infanoj ludas ekster la domo.

812 steigen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/steigen-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-plural/fd7942837d53de996702a138577eaaae>

ENGLISH

flowing, go up, increase

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |                            |                                 |
|---------|----------------------------|---------------------------------|
| steigt  | Er steigt auf den Berg.    | He is climbing up the mountain. |
| steigen | Wir steigen aus dem Auto.  | We are getting out of the car.  |
| steigen | Steigen Sie auf das Pferd! | Get on the horse!               |
| steigen | conjugation                |                                 |

Indicative

Conditional

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | PAST |
|--------|---------|------|
|--------|---------|------|

|     |        |       |
|-----|--------|-------|
| ich | steige | stieg |
|-----|--------|-------|

|    |         |         |
|----|---------|---------|
| du | steigst | stiegst |
|----|---------|---------|

|           |        |       |
|-----------|--------|-------|
| er/sie/es | steigt | stieg |
|-----------|--------|-------|

|     |         |         |
|-----|---------|---------|
| wir | steigen | stiegen |
|-----|---------|---------|

|     |        |        |
|-----|--------|--------|
| ihr | steigt | stiegt |
|-----|--------|--------|

|         |         |         |
|---------|---------|---------|
| sie/Sie | steigen | stiegen |
|---------|---------|---------|

Discussions with the word "steigen":

84 commentsSteigen Sie auf das Pferd!

77 commentsWir steigen aus dem Auto.

55 commentsEr steigt aus.

36 commentsSie steigt aus dem Bus aus.

26 commentsEr steigt auf den Berg.

813 genutzt

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/genutzt-nutzen-verb-past+participle+tense/e2e0f6b9b066491015e3f34cb081c87f>

ENGLISH

used, cultivated, exploited

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

nutzen Wir nutzen das Internet. We are using the Internet.

nutzen Sie nutzen den September. You make use of that September.

genutzt Heute wird es als Restaurant genutzt. It is being used as a restaurant today.

Nutzen Was ist der Nutzen? What is the use?

Nutzen Welchen Nutzen hat diese Hochzeit für die Familie? What benefit does this wedding have for the family?

nutzen conjugation

Indicative

Conditional

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | PAST |
|--------|---------|------|
|--------|---------|------|

|     |       |        |
|-----|-------|--------|
| ich | nutze | nutzte |
|-----|-------|--------|

|    |       |         |
|----|-------|---------|
| du | nutzt | nutztet |
|----|-------|---------|

|           |       |        |
|-----------|-------|--------|
| er/sie/es | nutzt | nutzte |
|-----------|-------|--------|

|     |        |         |
|-----|--------|---------|
| wir | nutzen | nutzten |
|-----|--------|---------|

|     |       |         |
|-----|-------|---------|
| ihr | nutzt | nutztet |
|-----|-------|---------|

|         |        |         |
|---------|--------|---------|
| sie/Sie | nutzen | nutzten |
|---------|--------|---------|

Discussions with the word "genutzt":

49 comments Wird diese Chance genutzt?

23 comments Heute wird es als Restaurant genutzt.

8 comments Das alte Buch wird auch heute noch genutzt.

24 comments Was ist der Nutzen?

24 comments Sie nutzen den September.

814 5/5 on my test

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10435012>

gabbydog 12 9

I know it does not mean I'm fluent by any means but... I am so proud I got a five out of five on my duo lingo progress exam! I have been reading spanish novels almost every day and I think that is really helping!

Give Lingot5

341 year ago

Leave a new comment

27 Comments

Teenage_Polyglot 25 10 8 8 6 6 3

Nice job!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Teehj 13 4

Nice. Any recommendations for Spanish novels for beginners?

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gabbydog 12 9

I would start with you favorite simple english book translated into spanish like Harry Potter!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AndyBarker2 25 24 11 11 6 6 2 2 762

Congrats, I read spanish novels a lot too. I'll list a few of what I have read in the hope it will help others. For beginners on Amazon they have a range of graded reader ebooks. I used these at first, I think I read them all. in particular the 'readit' graded readers are excellent. They have re-written classics for levels A1 and A2 which are great fun.

Intermediate - start with books you've read in your native language (I read the Harry Potter books) then progress to Young Adult fiction or less complex books. Try Carlos Ruiz Zafon. La Sombra del viento is excellent.

The idea is to get to authentic native content as soon as you possibly can.

Oh and one little tip, for every hour spent reading spend two hours listening. Again to native content. Duo will make you a decent reader but listening is another ballpark altogether!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fay306893 23 13

What do I search for on Amazon to find these books?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AndyBarker2 25 24 11 11 6 6 2 2 762

Search for 'Libros español. 'Graded readers spanish' 'Spanish novels' you'll find a lot of learning books mixed in but just ignore those.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

aejira 16 4 3

Thanks for the advice, it's always good to see another way to approach language-learning from other people +1 :3

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

vcel10 25 22 11 6 915

Congrats!

Hey GabbyDog . . . what are the top 3 or 5 novels that you recommend?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gabbydog 12 9

Start with Harry Potter in Spanish Then move on to Like water for chocolate then finally anything by Gabriel Garcia Marquez! (but be aware, it is super hard! I am struggling with it right now!)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AndyBarker2 25 24 11 11 6 6 2 2 762
And whatever you do don't start with Don Quixote lol

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

urikojhey 2
Wow that's cool !

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

A_Minecraft_Geek 13 2
Yes it should be! I know it has for me!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KoolKat09 13 9 8 7 6 5 3 2 2 2 2
good job!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MalaikaWalker0 2
cool1!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fay306893 23 13
WOW , that is great. Do not think I will ever be at that point

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gabbydog 12 9
Looks like you are well on your way :)!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JuronTownsend 14
Great job!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LukeSpains 24 21 9 2 514
Buen trabajo :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KarlBenesc 16 15 9 8
Felicitaciones!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DetErMinNavn 25 14 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 7 7 6 6
Good job!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

marybridges 22 6
That's wonderful!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Terror2s 8
That's great. Can you recommend some easier ones? Thanks.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gabbydog 12 9
Yes! Start with Harry Potter (i bet you have already read it in english so that will make it easier)!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Talca 25 13
Have they changed the scoring? I don't recall that the test scores from 0 to 5... felicidades, gabbydog.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Dharv3y 2
maricón

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CChilton_77
hi

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alfalfa2 24 22 10
Why do you have the need to insult someone you don't even know?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

815 "Sí Antonio, es un gato. "
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/20811392>
Translation: Yes Antonio, it is a cat.

01 month ago

Leave a new comment
31 Comments

Rose_975 3

I got it wrong because I wrote Anthony, the english name for Antonio

5ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

nickbii 16 14 11 160

Which is somewhat annoying because Anthony is one of the recommended translations for Antonio. Reported.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

[+] 2 hidden comments

TONYJIANG9 3 1

I put Anthony and got it wrong, but isn't Antonio translated to Anthony in english?

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 days ago

1samijim 18

'yes, antonio is a cat' close but no cigar

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

Mx4444441 5

I said anthony instead of antonio which in the description was correct but I still got it wrong

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

gvhtgh 7 3

how we will write, " yes antonio is a cat"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

Leadhead 5 14

Why is Yes, Antonio is a cat not accepted? It says should be it's a cat.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

maria896959 4 7

I got it wrong just because i put it's instead of it is

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 days ago

maria896959 4 7

i got it wrong because i put it is instead of its

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 days ago

GarrettJac1 6 7

Why in Spanish you need to be specific and consider the cat's gender before saying, but yet a boy and girl dog is both "perro?" Is there a cultural reason for this?

0ReplyGive Lingot•yesterday

GeorgeLegg 9 7 7 5 2 2

It says you need the article 'a' but there was no choice for 'a' apart from 'one' which doesn't sound right.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

susanana4 8

Tony is the english translation

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

KimH892880 7

Told me i haf the wrong answer, but it matched the "correct" one...

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Jeremiah433116 3

Yes

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

James73738 3

Lol

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

James73738 3

It post be Anthony? Jett dum

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Lisa836008 8

Uno is one , not un

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

hockey550 5

it can be both

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 days ago

Jeremiah433116 3

No

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

SirBard 6 1

"El gato" is for male cats and "la gata" is for female cats. Thus it should be "un" if the male cats are implied. There is no mistake.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

20mmessi 5 3 2

Un and uno both mean one

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

MichaelBac173266 4

There was no choice for an 'a' here.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

BraydenCor3 3

Antonio,i put Anthony

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Levi50430 8 1

why is it gato for Antonio and gata for Claudia?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

OliviaMele4 4

Because it is making it masculine/feminine

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

Levi50430 8 1

Thanks. is it saying the cat is male/female, or using the masculine/feminine version to match the person?

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

SirBard 6 1

It's the cat :))

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

Levi50430 8 1

thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

fiona-coolio 3

no its matching the person.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 days ago

816 "Du spielst Gitarre. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/17029341>

Translation: You play guitar.

07 months ago

Leave a new comment

5 Comments

DomenickSav 24 10 8 6 5 3 2

You play THE guitar.

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

QannikScha 22 77

Because 'the' is not in the original sentence, it doesn't need to go in the translated version. I have heard native English speakers say both 'you play guitar' and 'you play the guitar', so I assume one could omit 'the' and the sentence be okay.

If I am not mistaken, the phrase 'you play the guitar' would be 'Du spielst die Gitarre.'

-1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

person243 15 4

Either: "Du spielst Gitarre." or "Du spielst auf der Gitarre." or perhaps "mit der Gitarre.", but that could be misunderstood. "Du spielst die Gitarre." sounds as if the "guitar" were a role in a theater play that you have to fill.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•7 months ago

mizinamo 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 675

Or if it is talking about a particular guitar that had been mentioned previously or was obvious from context.

"Hier stehen zwei Instrumente. Wer spielt jetzt welches? - Ich nehme mir mal die Geige und du spielst die Gitarre, OK?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

person243 15 4

That still does not sound well to my ears. I would have said "auf der Gitarre" here. I mean you would understand it by context. And on a certain colloquial level that is very much okay. But if you look directly at the verb "spielen", the word cannot really handle a direct object like that. So you always have these quasi verbs: "Geige spielen", "Fußball spielen", "Monopoly spielen". To say any of these with an article is unusual. You use a direct object with "spielen" if you talk about "acting" or if it is the general act of "playing": "Ich spiele ein Spiel." For your sentence I feel like the actual verb that needs to be put there is "bespielen" although the usage of this verb is normally limited to CD's onto which you put new songs, or similar things with other electronic storage media.

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

817 "Rien n'est éternel. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1306136>

Translation: Nothing lasts forever.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

79 Comments

LeChatGrincheux 10

Ok let me get this straight. I know in French we always have to use double negation and as far as I know it is "ne... pas" so When I saw this sentence I thought it should be "Rien n'est pas éternel", but by what I'm reading in the comments below it looks like "Rien" acts as a form of negation in the sentence so "Pas" isn't needed! thats why it is "Rien n'est éternel" is that correct?

130ReplyGive Lingot4•2 years ago

Remy 15 13 11 11 10 3 323

Correct.

63ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

danielmmcmichael 9 6

Yes. Rien, jamais, pas, etc. all work as the "second half" of negation.

27ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

sheardp 9 3

"ne ... point" was also very common, back in the day. Try reading Voltaire, or just take my word for it.

9ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

veterisflammae 12 11 9 2 3

Le cœur a ses raisons que la raison ne connaît point (Pascal)

7ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

Emmett705338 8 6 6

yes, in a regular, fully grammatical phrase a negative would be 'n'est pas' = is not. n'est rien = is nothing (thing how that is a different negative, that stemmed from 'is no thing' two words). n'est jamais = is never (is not ever). n'est que = is only (this IS a type of negative, where it rejects everything except the subject). n'est personne = is no one (no person). n'est aucun = is not any. 'n'est __ ni __' = is neither nor.

these negatives come in pairs/sets, called 'circumfixes' or 'circumflexes' (type of affix). BUT because they ARE separate words, they can be arranged in different ways around the verb/sentence for different types of, hence, idiomatic inflection or emphasis.

7ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

SongbirdSandra 18

"Nothing lasts forever" is not an exact translation of the sentence, but means the same thing. It also sounds better than the translation, which is: "Nothing is not eternal". (EDIT: Incorrect- see Goran12's comment below).

The ne is for the phrase "is not" = "n'est".

37ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Goran12 22 8 2

In English, there is no double negation, but in French double negation is everywhere (there may be few exceptions in both languages). Where just one word ("no", "never", "nothing" etc.) is enough in English, French needs "ne" + something ("pas", "jamais", "rien" etc). When you translate negatives, don't forget that except for the most basic situations the English word translate to two words in French. So the literal translation is not "Nothing is not eternal", but "Nothing is eternal" (btw. the second is accepted)..

125ReplyGive Lingot7•3 years ago

Speak23 14 7

I'm still a bit confused with this one. Is it that the Rien in this sentence is more like "anything" - so the literal translation is more like "anything (positive) is NOT (negative) eternal".

In other words "Nothing (negative) IS (positive) eternal"

14ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Goran12 22 8 2

That's what I was talking about. In English you have to choose between "anything is not eternal" and "nothing is eternal" - one negative word means the sentence is negative, and two negative words wouldn't make sense, or at least would be strange. On the other hand in French, each negative sentence needs two negative words - "ne" and some other one, in this case "rien" (nothing).

You can understand "rien" as "anything", but it's not exact. Better approach to learn this is to understand "ne" as part of the negative word - French needs this second word for double negation (two negative words per negative sentence), but "ne" should be omitted while translating from French, and is must be added when you translate a sentence with any negative word. "Ne" is linked to a verb, so only case (as far as I know) where you omit it is when there's no verb.

51ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jonathan_uk 7 3 2 2

Dont you think it would be easier if this course told us what rien meant..... especially something as vague as this that is unlikely to be learnt by a beginner.....

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Goran12 22 8 2

It would be, but explaining grammar is not a priority in Duolingo format. How I would solve it with keeping the format would be never to list "rien" alone, but always "ne...rien", which means "nothing".

4Give Lingot•1 year ago

JohnnyE87 14 5

You know how you're told that sentences like "I can't get no satisfaction" are ungrammatical, but they still make perfect sense? It's only standard English that doesn't allow double negation, many kinds of colloquial English do. Well, standard French allows it too (requires it, in fact). Think of it as "Ain't nothin' eternal" and maybe it'll be easier to wrap your head around.

26ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sheardp 9 3

By the same token, the "ne" part of a negation is sometimes omitted in spoken French.

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

SoggyScroll 9 9 8 7 6

Of course it's not an exact translation. That's why it's called an idiom. Those vary from language to language.

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SongbirdSandra 18

Yes, I am aware of that. I was responding to patjm34's comment. It is an idiom, which is one of the reasons why it is not an exact translation.

(Note: I was new at the time, so the "Nothing is not eternal" portion of my comment is incorrect).

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

telemetry 25 10 6 6

It's not really an idiom - idioms are things like "kick the bucket", where the literal meaning is completely different from the intended, commonly understood figurative meaning. This is just an ordinary phrase.

Seems like there's two arguments going on here: one's about the translation, going from a common French phrase (I assume!) to a common English phrasing that's roughly equivalent. It's not idiom because if someone said 'nothing is eternal' to you in English it would be obvious what they meant from the literal meaning, it's just that the (probably) more common phrase people use is 'nothing lasts forever'. It's just fashion and familiarity, and this section is really about phrases and proverbs as well as idioms.

The other argument's about grammar - French deals with negation in a different way, it's purely a technical grammar issue. When translating to English you have to unpack that, and recast it according to the English rules. It's not correct to say the actual translation is "nothing is not eternal", even if you can translate each of the individual words that way in isolation. It would be like translating English questions that begin with "do" and trying to put some version of faire in there.

I know some of this has been covered and realised and whatever, just putting it all in one place for anyone wandering through!

13ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SongbirdSandra 18

True; it's not really an idiom. Was in a hurry when I posted.

I posted my original comment quite some time ago (too bad there are no time & date stamps on threads here).

Goran12 has given an excellent explanation of double negation in French.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Oleron3 25 25 3

Hi, SongbirdSandra. I was just thinking time and date stamps would be very helpful. Some of the comments have been OBE'd (Overtaken By Events, not Order of the British Empire). In other words (autrement dit), reports of incorrect translations, as the largest example, have been resolved since the original question was posted, which may have been quite some time back. Many of the discussions concerning particular phrases are out of date and could be misleading, EXCEPT for the tips from Our Esteemed Moderators. I know DL is probably working on a shoestring, but I believe there are some computer gurus-in-residence who could put a fix on this "date issue" tout de suite.

10Give Lingot•2 years ago

CarlaMay 14 11 11

In this case "ne rien" is used as a subject and so you have to say "rien ne". It's the same with "ne personne" and "personne ne".

11ReplyGive Lingot1•3 years ago

on.the.brink 24 9 603

Just seconding Carla May's good information, and adding to it a bit.

From the online version of French for Dummies - the section on building negative sentences:

Rien (nothing) and personne (nobody) can sometimes be the subject of the verb, like in English. In that case, start the sentence with either one of those words and proceed regularly with ne in front of the conjugated verb.

For example:

Rien n'est important (Nothing is important)

Personne ne fait la vaisselle (Nobody does the dishes).

Here's the formula:

Rien or Personne + ne + verb.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Soundspill 6

Can you give post an example of a sentence of 'ne personne' and 'personne ne'

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GrasshopperPie 25 25 10 6

Je ne vois personne ( I don't see anybody) Personne n'est la. (Nobody is there)

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Libby-lou 7 7

Thanks, you guys! I've just read through all of these comments, and found myself asking the same questions, scrolling down, and then seeing the answers. You lot are mindreaders. Now you're probably wishing that there was private post, so you didn't have to show your comment to everyone, including me, and then find idiotic (and irrelevant) comments and wrong answers, probably by me, to your perfectly good (and relevant) questions and comments.

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

telemetry 25 10 6 6

This is exactly what the comments section should be about though! People discussing and learning things. I always look in here if I get something wrong and I'm not sure why, or if I'm just curious about a bit of language and want to see if anyone's explained it - and generally they have! Believe me, it's a lot better than endless comments like 'I said this answer and got it right'

14ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

cactusxj 17 16 10 8 50

d'accord! I have learned more from comment than reading a textbook.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

patjm34 25 5 5

What's the purpose of 'ne' in this phrase?

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

cadilhac 20 9

Négation. This is somewhat similar to other constructions you may have seen: « ne pas, ne plus » but closer to « ne jamais ». « Je ne sais rien », « Je ne vais jamais là »... In everyday chitchat, it may be omitted, but not in writing.

23ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

dEhiN 8 6 6 4 3

Pourquoi pas on n'utilise pas le mot "pas", comme "rien n'est pas éternel" et juste "rien n'est éternel"? Si la phrase est positif, alors dois-je écrire "rien est éternel"? Est-ce qu'il y a une explication ou juste c'est comme ça en français?

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

AabLundin 14

Ne ... pas=Not

Ne .. rien=Nothing

Ne .. aucun=None (of them), not any

Ne ... personne=Nobody

Ne ... que=Just, only

Ne ... ni ... ni ...=Neither ... nor

19ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

cadilhac 20 9

Again, ne rien is to be used as ne pas. Using both conjunctions is a double negation. Compare: Je ne sais rien, je ne sais pas, je ne sais jamais; all three are full negations, ne pas is just one of them. HTH!

16ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Q.Talha 15 2

do we have to pronounce the "t" at the end of "est" here?

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Remy 15 13 11 11 10 3 323

Yes, you do.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

malmolhal 16 4 4 149

When i wrote "nothing is endless" it was wrong why

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sarah865321 10

Same here. It had endless and eternal as definitions of the word!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Stormtrooper55 11

is it just me, or did i have to repeat ca va, ca vient and rien n'est eternel over and over again?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

telemetry 25 10 6 6

If you do the random 'strengthen my skills' activity it has a tendency to pick a handful of phrases and make you do all the variations of them, yeah. Translate to French! Translate to English! Type what you hear! Type again with some pictures!

It might happen with some of the earlier lessons too, where you only get a few phrases or words to learn, but it happens less as you open up the tree a bit. Still happens though...

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Stormtrooper55 11

okay thanks!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sad_Cypress 25
c'est vrai, n'est-ce pas?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FergusAllan98 8
So de rien is "welcome" but rien is "nothing"?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KateSimpson0 15 11 5
de rien is more like "it's nothing" meaning "you're welcome."

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

safarimaceram 13 11 2 1
so they say nothing isn't eternal

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Colibritastic 13 12 12 11 9 8 6 6 6 4 4 4 3 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 192
Fergus: "De rien" literally means "of nothing" and is used as "you're welcome" just as one might say "no problem" or "it was nothing."

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

arghavanre 6 3
So why can't I translate it like this? Nothing is endless Éternel means endless too, doesn't it?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

AlbertZhou2 8
why is 'nothing is endless right?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Andrea_Mariano 14
why not: Rien n'est pas eternal.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AabLundin 14
Because that would translate into Nothing is not eternal. There is one negation too many, you have to choose between Ne ... rien which mean Nothing and Ne ... pas which mean Not.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

iloveowls13 8 4
Uhhh, what's going on?! I put in: Rein n'est eternal, and it said it was wrong. I'm not able to put in dashes above letters, because I have the Android version. I reported it, but does anyone know if I maybe did something wrong?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Ribitza 13 5 2

Also, if you put in Rein instead of Rien that could be why.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

telemetry 25 10 6 6

It might have been the accent, yeah. Are you sure you can't use them with the keyboard you're using? Most give you alternate symbols if you press and hold a key, so for this you'd hold 'e' and get a bunch of variations. There might be a dedicated symbol page (like how you can switch to a page with punctuation), and you can probably add other languages too with their own keyboard layouts - I have French and Spanish added on mine, so I can switch between them with one press.

If you can't do any of that on the keyboard you're using (and honestly I'd be surprised), you could always install another keyboard from the Play Store. The Google keyboard is on there, it's the one I use and it definitely does what you need. Without knowing more about your device I couldn't tell you exactly what to do, but you should have a bunch of options at least!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

iamanigerian 11 4 3 2

shouldn't it be n'est pas?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Remy 15 13 11 11 10 3 323

No, because here the negation is formed with "rien" and "n".

The negation with "pas" can be used in sentences like: "Ce n'est pas éternel." (which translates to "It is not eternal" or "It does not last forever.")

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mecassid 8

So, I got this right, but it seems to have a double negative. Are double negatives allowed in French? They're not allowed in English. (Ex. There is not nothing in my refrigerator)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KateSimpson0 15 11 5

double negation is common in french, and does not make a positive. see here for more detailed info.

http://french.about.com/od/grammar/a/negation\_double.htm

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

iLamia_S 6 3

Why is "Nothing lasts" not accepted ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bladerunner1948 19 2 850

Some things last for a while but nothing lasts for ever. The "eternel" is the forever bit

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

iLamia_S 6 3

But my translation shouldnt be counted entirely "wrong" .. Thanks for clarification anyway.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GigiDaveez 12 6

I didn't get it wrong but wouldn't it be "rien n'est éternel jamais"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KateSimpson0 15 11 5

nothing is eternal never?

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

flyingkittens86 8 4

It doesn't mark "infinite" as correct. Also, another song that this goes along with is very well is "Time", by The Alan Parsons Project.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

KateSimpson0 15 11 5

infinite is not really the same as eternal. they're slightly different concepts. eternity is temporal, and infinity refers to uncountable and immeasurable things.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

krane13 11

why "n" before est? with Rien ending with n, n' is ignored. Please someone explain.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

charliebamber 14

What is wrong with "nothing lasts for ever"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Sofia_Williams 25 11 7 4 2 1

So both "Nothing lasts forever" and "Nothing is eternal" are true, why in this negative sentence after "n'.....pas is deleted??? Is "Rien n'est pas éternel. " correct?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

KateSimpson0 15 11 5

Rien partners with ne to make "noting rather than ne partnering with pas to make "not"

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

ERGCEKMAN6 8
nothing is not eternal

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

n6zs 25 878
Please read the posts above about how negative words are used in pairs in French.

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

hugglesaim 7 6 5 4 3
Ok here is an actual question: How does not (n') and is (est) become last!? Not + is = last Some one help me!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

n6zs 25 878
It is not a word-for-word translation. It is an expression in French (rien n'est éternel) which is literally "nothing is eternal". The English equivalent of this expression is "nothing lasts forever".

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

LJarvis2 7
Stop the clutter! Please do not report mistakes here and read the comments below before posting.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

thatwhitekid66 7 2
Rien est éternel shoule be nothing is eternal ryt ? There is negation alongwith eternal .So doesnt that mean a positive sentence that everything is eternal?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

n6zs 25 878
Please read the posts above which explain how French negatives are used in pairs (ne...pas, ne...aucun, ne...personne, ne...rien, ne...jamais).

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

Englishgirl1213 10 2
Actually, heaven is eternal. Believers will be with Christ forever after death.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

James0116ER 10
What role does n play in this sentence?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KateSimpson0 15 11 5
it partners with rien to make "nothing"

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

thatwhitekid66 7 2
Join my club UTPKDM

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

n6zs 25 878
Please do not post solicitations on the forums.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

jonathan_uk 7 3 2 2
So is it literally " nothing is not eternal"???? Whats the N for is its nothing is eternal

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KateSimpson0 15 11 5
double negatives are often used in french and do not work to cancel each other out like they do in english

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

818 geschlossen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/geschlossen-schlie%C3%9Fen-verb-past+participle+tense/fdec774913e55232c5b11118430a94bc>

ENGLISH

closed, locked, close

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

schließt Er schließt die Tür von außen. He is closing the door from the outside.

schließen Wir schließen Brasilien mit ein. We are including Brazil.

schließen Schließen Sie alle Türen und Fenster! Close all the doors and windows!

schloss Sie schloss die Tür und ging nach oben. She shut the door and went upstairs.

geschlossen Dieser Bahnhof wird ab morgen geschlossen sein. This train station will be closed after tomorrow.

schließen conjugation

Indicative

Conditional

Others

| PERSON    | PRESENT   | PAST                 |
|-----------|-----------|----------------------|
| ich       | schließe  | schloss              |
| du        | schließt  | schlossest, schlosst |
| er/sie/es | schließt  | schloss              |
| wir       | schließen | schlossen            |

ihr schließt schlosset, schlosst
sie/Sie schließen schlossen
Discussions with the word "geschlossen":

51 comments Das Restaurant wird geschlossen sein.
48 comments Die Tür wird geschlossen sein.
25 comments Sie werden geschlossen haben.
19 comments Dieser Bahnhof wird ab morgen geschlossen sein.
17 comments Der Bahnhof wird ab morgen geschlossen sein.

819 "La esposa de mi tío es mi tía."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/205266>

Translation: The wife of my uncle is my aunt.

04 years ago
52 Comments This discussion is locked.

unpuntodevista 10 3
No kidding, Sherlock. -.-

43 Give Lingot • 3 years ago
[+] 3 hidden comments

boyofmetaphor 7 3
You're not my REAL aunt <slams door>

12 Give Lingot • 1 year ago

rozandgild 11 8
Belgariad reference perhaps? A Garion tantrum to Aunt Pol, or are you just being goofy?

0 Give Lingot • 5 months ago
[+] 1 hidden comment

kokotzen 9 8
not a english native so isn't it okay to translate the sentence with: "My aunt is my uncle's wife"?

11 Give Lingot • 3 years ago

static1 9 9 7 1
While that is the idea being expressed and even though it "should" be correct, it may have failed based on the actual sentence structure. If you say to an English speaker, "The wife of my uncle is my aunt", "My aunt is my uncle's wife", or "My uncle's wife is my aunt", there are two things that are going to happen.

1] The listener is going to either say or think a very big "Duh, of course." 2] The listener is going to comprehend the meaning in the same manner no matter which statement you use.

So, yes, it should have allowed that answer.

7 Give Lingot • 3 years ago

Kaitlyn72016 8 4

And wouldn't it be okay to translate the sentence to 'my uncle's wife is my aunt'?

2Give Lingot•11 months ago

mymomrox 7

proably

0Give Lingot•4 months ago

[+] 2 hidden comments

[deactivated user]

This wasn't hard, but for some reason the wording of the sentence threw me off. I had to read it a few times to put it in proper english.

3Give Lingot•1 year ago

ellefantine 10 9

Difference between de and del? Gracias.

3Give Lingot•12 months ago

ohnstadk 7

De means of or from.

Del is the contraction of 'de' and the masculine definite article 'el' (meaning the)

For example,

The word of the day - La palabra del dia. (Dia (Day) is a masculine noun)

The word of the hour - La palabra de la hora (Hora (hour) is a feminine noun)

14Give Lingot1•11 months ago

h20MiguelTanders 8

haha i wrote this and I still got it right THE WifE oF MY unCIE iS mY aUNTy

2Give Lingot•3 months ago

Soleadoo 6

The translation is not accurate! It should be my uncle's wife is my aunt It is weird to say the wife of my uncle. E.g something of something has a meaning of possessive. Uncle will not possess her wife

1Give Lingot•3 months ago

bonelly 6

Punctuation/accent should not be considered an error. Usually the app let's you slide when you don't place a period, comma, accent. I failed because i wrote "tia" not "tía"

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

preethiraj108 10

Is that same word for "from" and "of"? how to differentiate de and del?

0Give Lingot•9 months ago

MarinathJ 9

why isn't it "La esposa del mi tío es mi tía." wrong?

0Give Lingot•8 months ago

MarinathJ 9

why isn't it "La esposa del mi tío es mi tía."? I thought del must be used for masculine gender and it refers to my uncle here. What am I doing wrong?

0Give Lingot•8 months ago

J.C.Fink 12 11 10 9

"del" combines "de el" - of the. You wouldn't say "the wife of the my uncle..."

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

I.A-C 8

i am always right

0Give Lingot•7 months ago

[deactivated user]

I take it Spanish doesn't have a genitive case in the sense that there isn't an ending like 's for a words to indicate possession?

0Give Lingot•7 months ago

lonj10 10 3

immmmm....thats verry obvious

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

litetaker 13

Why does tía have an alternate meaning of "piece"? What does that mean and how would you use it in that sense?

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

BluecometZ 7 3

i thought de means from

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

Jeefyb 9 3

auntie? relly?

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

OakBeam 11 2

Why can i not use 'spouse' in the place of 'wife'

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

ThugDuck 7

you can?

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

.Joanna. 13 11 7

To me it sounds like she is pronouncing tío teemo ... am I the only one hearing that?

0Give Lingot•5 months ago

SuperszkianyAJ 8 2

blah blah blah. no kiddin.

0Give Lingot•5 months ago

DamienEli 8

doesn't that mean that this is incest?

0Give Lingot•5 months ago

Silent_Wonder 6

What's the difference between "tia" and "tio" other than a slightly different spelling?

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

Chrisgarza12 7

there is a difference between tio and tia the difference is that tio has an O that makes it masculine and tia has an A which makes it feminine

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

FlappyCheeseCake 9 3

of course she is, she wont be my grandmom

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

karateduk 9 2

Mine too

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

nosbig01 6

THIS TRIGGERS ME SO MUCH!!!!!!!!!! WHY CANT IT BE A MALE!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

static1 9 9 7 1

Because of the wording. It isn't a gay rights issue, its a simple statement. If your father's brother is married to a woman, you would say, "the wife of my uncle is my aunt". The same would hold true if Your mother's sister were married to a man.

If you mother's sister were married to a woman, then you can write that sentence in Spanish and translate it that way into English, but the sentence provided isn't making a judgement of cases, it is stating a situation of two distinct people.

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

nosbig01 6

So you wrote 2 paragraphs on a joke comment that I don care about? Why?

0Give Lingot•1 month ago

Melissalynne7 11

You dont say?

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

daherkurt 16 16 8 7 6

Why not marida instead of esposa?

-1Give Lingot•10 months ago

EuroSpanish 11 5

Why not husbandess instead of wife?

0Give Lingot•8 months ago

J.C.Fink 12 11 10 9

Yes. Tío has a corresponding tía. Esposo is husband, while esposa is wife. Does marido have a comparable "marida?"

0Give Lingot•3 months ago

MorganShar2 9

That's straight up obvious.

-1Give Lingot•7 months ago

tasteslikechiken 10 5 3 3 3 3 2 2 1

it is no way really i always thought my mom was my aunt as well I'm gonna need a detective to study this probably sherlock holmes quick whats his number again? xD

-1Give Lingot•6 months ago

nyomie13 10 2 2 3

I put the wife is my unt

-2Give Lingot•9 months ago

DrPolyglot 14 10 8 6 6 6 5 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 1

I would hope.

-2Give Lingot•8 months ago

820 encontramos

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/encontramos-encontrar-verb-present+indicative+tense-first+person-plural/822bb8247b20f640163e82ef35d2b538>

ENGLISH

find, (we) find, (we) found

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

|                       |                                                    |                                                |
|-----------------------|----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| encuentro             | Mamá, no encuentro mis zapatos.                    | Mom, I do not find my shoes.                   |
| encuentra             | Ella encuentra las cartas de su abuela.            | She finds her grandmother's letters.           |
| encontramos           | Nosotras encontramos comida.                       | We found food.                                 |
| encuentran            | No encuentran al oso.                              | They do not find the bear.                     |
| encontraba            | Yo encontraba el coche.                            | I used to find the car.                        |
| encontró              | Él encontró a mi novio.                            | He found my boyfriend.                         |
| encontraba            | Él encontraba soluciones para todos los problemas. | He used to find solutions to all the problems. |
| encontrado            | Yo había encontrado la dirección.                  | I had found the address.                       |
| encontrar             | Ella va a encontrar a su esposo.                   | She is going to find her husband.              |
| encontrar conjugation |                                                    |                                                |

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT     | PAST          | FUTURE        |
|-------------------|-------------|---------------|---------------|
| yo                | encuentro   | encontré      | encontraré    |
| tú                | encuentras  | encontraste   | encontrarás   |
| él/ella/usted     | encuentra   | encontró      | encontrará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | encontramos | encontramos   | encontraremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | encontráis  | encontrasteis | encontraréis  |
| ustedes           | encuentran  | encontraron   | encontrarán   |
| ellos/ellas       | encuentran  | encontraron   | encontrarán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "encontramos":

59 commentsNosotras encontramos comida.

102 commentsElla va a encontrar un bolígrafo.

91 commentsMamá, no encuentro mis zapatos.

90 commentsYo encontraba el coche.

90 commentsÉl encontró a mi novio.

821 "Est-ce que tu l'aides ? "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5774149>

Translation: Do you help her?

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

44 Comments

RichardFin6 13

What is wrong with translating this 'Do you help HIM'?

28ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KaraLily 15 8 6 6 4

I wrote, 'Are you helping him?' and it was correct.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PKGymno 13 7 3

I wrote "Are you helping her?" and it was wrong :c

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Thorigrim 8 5

I agree. I think it is supposed to accept both answers possibly?

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

Tndelagler 13 11

I missed a letter s at the end of the word aider in the second peson. Ok, I agree that's a fault but the explication was the following: "You used the singular "aide" here, insead of the plural "aides"."

Welle, I think here isn't any plural thing, just singular second and third person.

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Khaur 15 13 11 9 4 3

Yeah, the tip system seems to have inferred that aide(s) was a noun (for its defence, it can be sometimes).

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tndel 12 10

Here aide(s) wasn't noun but verb.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Chris1940 20

I agree... did the same

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

socrax24 13 11 6 5

Where is there any reference to a female object in the french sentence?

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

leonardoBHC 14 12 10

The "l" is a contraction for "la," the female pronoun.

-14ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

alexandrub462728 9 5 3

l'homme.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gelatojustice 11

That is not true. Two vowels in french are not placed together, so if you have "le" and "ecrit," for example, the "le" will be shortened to "l'", with the ' replacing the vowel (which is "e" in this case). This is the same rule with "la," but it is NOT exclusive to "la."

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

r.relazem12 12 10 6 2

Couldn't this also be translated as "Is it that you help him/her?"

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Khaur 15 13 11 9 4 3

Literally, "est-ce que" could translate to "Is it the case that".

In practice however, you shouldn't translate it that way, as it is just the idiomatic way we construct yes/no questions in an intermediate register of speech ("l'aides-tu?" would be formal, "tu l'aides?" would be informal).

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FrederikaE 7

I thought the answer was "can you help her?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sariwebb 11

Why is it "Do you help her" and not him? I assume it's to do with the contraction of l' but I'm not sure what it would read as if it were 'him'.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Aerogrenfell 14 2

Can someone please help me. What does l' refer to? I thought it was things and objects as in 'it.' But it says the answer is 'do you help her.'

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TndeL 12 10

I translated from English where the object was given, namely a female person.

From where does it come that the (her) object is a person? It's because in English doesn't divide the nouns into male or female things in general but noun makes person (him, her etc.) or thing (it, them).

However, you're right, when you say the object (l') in French can be male or female and you can translate it into her or him as you like it. It depends on the context or on a personal been-there (that is a figured context). Well, l' refer to the object her or him.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Bolshevision 12

the voice over lady completely omits the "l" in l'aides...is this how it should be pronounced, or is it an error? even when slowed down she says "est-ce que tu aides"

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SaraRenaud1 20 3 27

The l is audible in the full speed version. When it is slowed down on duolingo you will never hear it. Note that tu is followed by aide in your answer giving you back to back vowels which is avoided by using l'

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Khaur 15 13 11 9 4 3

The slowed down version is wrong if it does not pronounce the l. l' is the (mandatory) contraction of the object pronouns le or la when in front of a vowel. In French, l' is never used to prevent vowel clash.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Peter072 19 8

What is wrong with "Will you help her"?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

leonardoBHC 14 12 10

The tense. "Will" is future; "l'aide" is present.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nested 14 4 4 3

Why does the English translation of this sentence sound funny to me all of a sudden "Do you help her" ? When does one get to say this ?

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

SimonThompson1 11 1

Agree. Although "do you help her" may be grammatically correct, in normal every day language we would rarely say it. We could say, "Are you going to help her?" or "Did you help her?" or "Will you help her?" .... or on a slightly different tack, "Does he/she help her?"

"Do you help her" would imply an ongoing effort not just a one-time action.

eg "Do you help her in the kitchen?" "Do you help her ... with the laundry?"

or if you are a care-giver for someone disabled "Do you help her?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

ekid7 11 11 6 50

How do you hear the s? Or how do you know its plural if the s is silent?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

Aerogrenfell 14 2

Is it just naming the object female or is there something more that I'm missing?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

unOwn2m3 9 6 5 2

how about: are you going to help her?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

leonardoBHC 14 12 10

That's a future tense too. "Est-ce que tu la vas aider?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bunk2120 12 1

I thought le and la were it and il and elle were him and her

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

avastr 18 12 5 444

Le and la are direct object pronouns. Il and elle are subject pronouns. You should check the grammar notes again.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MOHIT_KHARE 9

What is the difference between 'nous' and 'on'? Are both the same?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Khaur 15 13 11 9 4 3

On is the indefinite pronoun. It is used when the subject is unknown.

It is also used as a replacement for nous in informal speech. However, third person singular conjugation still applies in that case.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rzdvi 15 7 6 4 2

This sounds too close to 'you ugly?' (:

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TylerNeylon 14 509

The audio sounds a bit off when listening to the slow version of this. In particular, the word(s) "l'aides" sound like some of the audio has been left out. The full-speed version sounds ok to me, though.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

extraordinarySK 12

No matter how many times I see this, I still don't understand why it's "her" over "him". There's no given context, so surely it should accept both answers?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Khaur 15 13 11 9 4 3

It could be either. If it doesn't accept both, you should report it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

HeyLegg1 12

What, in this phrase refers to helping "her"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

JeffT1234 16 8 3

I heard m'aide

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

bechenc 25 2 186

I don't understand why 'help' should be plural. Can someone explain that to me?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

avastr 18 12 5 444

It's not. It's a verb that ends in s because it is conjugated with tu.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bechenc 25 2 186

Bless you!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amourlegirafe 11

Sounded like it was asking "is he ugly" ... Laid... L'aide...

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

822 maglioni

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/maglioni-maglione-noun-masculine-plural/dd1b9ff8cdbac8256889a7615e334d8a>

ENGLISH

sweaters, jumpers, pullovers

Example sentences

| WORD     | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                      | TRANSLATION                 |
|----------|----------|-----------|------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| maglione | singular | masculine | La donna compra un maglione. | The woman buys a sweater.   |
| maglioni | plural   | masculine | La donna ha i maglioni.      | The woman has the sweaters. |

Discussions with the word "maglioni":

43 commentsCompriamo i suoi maglioni.

22 commentsLa donna ha i maglioni.

40 commentsLa donna compra un maglione.

29 commentsUn maglione

823 "Plötzlich sehe ich dich."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/2741303>

Translation: Suddenly I see you.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

50 Comments

firecall 13 3

I don't quite understand why "I see you suddenly" is wrong

40ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlfonsoMPF 11

I think it's right, report it.

20ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Siddhartha_90 12

It's still not accepted. reported.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AliDadban 18 17 4 413

Accepted now

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

borQhuester 25 25 290

I think DL wants to emphasize the word order in this example. Putting 'Plötzlich' first in the sentence gives it emphasis; as it would also have in the English translation. I can almost hear the heart-struck Junge saying this as he sees his beloved.... !

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sninguistics 15 11 11 10 4 2

Word order. Try and stick to the order of the question!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

XoooOverdose 18

[deleted]

-26Give Lingot•2 years ago

hejmsdz 16 10 10 6 5

No way, "you" is a direct object so you must use "dich" instead of "du". It's grammatically OK to put "plötzlich" at the end, however when you put the adverbial at the beginning, it's emphasized and "suddenly" is very likely to receive such emphasis. You know, I don't see anything and suddenly... POW, I see you. This is important enough to stay at the beginning.

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

XoooOverdose 18

[deleted]

-3Give Lingot•2 years ago

hejmsdz 16 10 10 6 5

The verb must always come as second, but you're (almost) free to mess around other parts of the sentece. I've already responded to a similar question by smaragr below.

And, because I didn't state it clearly, "Ich sehe dich plötzlich" is still correct. You can have a look at some usage examples at <http://en.bab.la/dictionary/german-english/ploetzlich>

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

hejmsdz 16 10 10 6 5

Consider a sentence "Ich habe Hunger, weil ich wenig esse" (I'm hungry because I eat little).

"Ich habe Hunger" is a main, non-dependent clause. It conveys the most important information. Here the verb must come as second and if you add extra information, for example "today", you can put it at the beginning ("Heute habe ich Hunger") as long as the verb stays on its place.

"weil ich wenig esse" is a dependent clause, because it depends on the "Ich habe Hunger" part and answers the question "Why am I hungry?" (*). But you could only say "Ich esse wenig", couldn't you? What actually makes it dependent is "weil". It means "because" and requires that in the following clause the verb is at the end. Again, you can add extra information, for example "at home" ("weil ich wenig zu Hause esse") as long as the verb stays on its place, but here "its place" is not 2nd position, but the last one.

(*) In case you wonder if we could look at it the other way round ("Ich habe Hunger" answers the question "What's the result of that I eat little?"), it doesn't work, because with "weil" the reason is always dependent clause.

I'm not sure if I made it clear... If I didn't, feel free to say so.

36Give Lingot2•2 years ago

smaragr 9

Is it possible to say "Plotzlich ich sehe dich" ?

13ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

hejmsdz 16 10 10 6 5

No, in a normal (non-dependent) clause, the main verb always comes as second.

55ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

mimikaplan 12 7 7

why is "all of a sudden" wrong?

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

12345ann 15 10 7

you should report it, it is the same

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Ives- 11 9

I have the same question. I will also report it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

joman.cini 13 11 8 7 2

Uuuuh, and I suddenly see you, uuuh, did I tell you I need you, every single day of my life

6ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

bynny2015 15 7 5 4 3 365

Well done, joman.cini! The next line is: "Got to get you into my life!, right?"

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

joman.cini 13 11 8 7 2

right mate! :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Xiley 16

"Plotz" means clap or slap. Its onomanopoeic; It sounds like the clap sound. I just imagine someone yelling "PLÖTZLICH!" as they clap their hands and a horse hoof hits the ground with a "plötz" sound.

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

popa910 11 10 10 133

So does "plötzlich" literally mean "clap-like" or "slap-like"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

duotedm 17 230

Did I tell you I need you? Every single day...

2ReplyGive Lingot1•9 months ago

akunosama 10 8 7 4 2 2

I knew it reminded me of something

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

MugreJarl 10

there you go a lingot.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

FlyBird88 12 11 9

Does this mean suddenly I see you or suddenly I look at you? It's a subtle difference, but does sehen include being aware of what you see?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Zzzzz... 25 25 25 24 23 19 16 15 13 2 920

I think 'to look at' would be an/sehen.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Nmangamer1 15 4

Plötzlich Seymour!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

EugenePankov 15 9 5

Is the word order after ploetzlich important?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ACardAttack 19 13 297

Yes, sehe comes second because verbs are the second element in sentences that aren't questions or commands

17ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

EugenePankov 15 9 5
Answering to myself: 2VO

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Ives- 11 9
I can't find a way to report a remark. IN my opinion plötzlich can also be translated with 'all of a sudden'

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Chaostion 20
How would you say "Suddenly I saw you."?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AtalinaDove 17 15 9 9 9 8 8 8 8 8 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 3 2
A couple of ways. "Plötzlich habe ich dich gesehen" or "Plötzlich sah ich dich".

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NicoleHadd 20 6
Why "suddenly " is considered an adjective??? It is an adverb no????

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

qgil 20 199
"Suddenly I am seeing you" is not accepted...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

northernguy 25 22 14 1291
I am seeing you is the present continuous tense. Continuous is exactly that. It progresses or continues. Suddenly is momentary. In the present but only for a second.

The two tenses, present and present continuous, are interchangeable in English. Unless you do something like put a word into the sentence that forces the meaning into one tense only. Suddenly, in this sentence excludes the notion of progression or continuing. Therefore, this sentence is one of those where the two tenses are not interchangeable. You have to either drop suddenly or use the simple present.

Duo requires that you include suddenly in the translation so you have to restrict yourself to the simple present. Suddenly, I see you. Of course, you still continue to see him but it isn't sudden anymore. But your choice of verb says that the suddenness continues.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AtalinaDove 17 15 9 9 9 8 8 8 8 8 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 3 2
Also, the phrase "I am seeing you" implies that you are dating the person.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pearcrow 15 3

I learned this word from Aladdin. Thanks, Aladdin.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Xiley 16

How did you learn this from Aladdin?

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

pearcrow 15 3

It's in the German version of Whole New World! https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NccYor\_TPIU

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

muyil 24 20 19 38

The clouds parted and there you were.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

carol403117 13 2 2

Reminds me of the Beatles song "Got to get you into my life". good way to remember the phrase.

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

ToddAF 15 14 9 78

Dich vs. Du?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Ketrikal 11 6 2 1

Also in other news: Why are you in my closet?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

TreyzMeName 14 4

<https://s-media-cache-ak0.pinimg.com/736x/46/2c/9c/462c9c123d7d388d00c856a0c6477abd.jpg> perfect!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

ToyibOyeleye 17 17 14 12 94

I remember it as suddenly by thinking of Plötzlich as plot and then image a change in plot which would sudden

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

craaash80 18 12 11 11 11 11 9 6 6 6 5 5 3 3 3
Does it mean he was blind and now he can see?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luis_Domingos 18 10 2
It could have that meaning - either physical or metaphorical blindness, e.g.
<http://www.songtexte.com/uebersetzung/kt-tunstall/suddenly-i-see-deutsch-2bd6b02e.html>

But considering the whole translated sentence is "Suddenly I see you", it's probably pointing to a hypothetical situation where you were supposed to be seeing someone and he/she appears in your line of sight all of a sudden.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

craaash80 18 12 11 11 11 11 9 6 6 6 5 5 3 3 3
Well, to be honest, my question was kinda ironical; nevertheless, I was not sure if it was in the range of possibilities. Thanks again!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

824 "Jag vet inte."
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5613111>
Translation: I do not know.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment
25 Comments

MaxZakharz 8 7 2
Jon snow
33ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

folieadeux6 10 10 9 5 2
Du vet ingenting, Jon Snö

5ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

theredcebuano 12 10 8 7 7 6 6 6 5 3 3 2 2
A very useful phrase in school, indeed.

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

helloelly123 8 7 6 3 2 2
I heard someone say you can contract this in Swedish and say something like "Ja venne". Is that true?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Hashmush 11 11 7 7 5
This is true. I added it here: <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5581851>

Jag vet inte (Four different ways: "Jag vet inte" (normal); "Jag vet inte" (slowly); "Ja' ve' in'e"; "Ve' in'e") <http://vocaroo.com/i/s1OO2xjwOHNo>

14ReplyGive Lingot4•2 years ago

helloelly123 8 7 6 3 2 2
Tack!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nimbus77 14 12 11 4 2 1
I've never heard "Ja venne". In which dialect can that be heard?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Hashmush 11 11 7 7 5
Almost all of them I think. That's what happens when you speak very quickly or don't really care.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nimbus77 14 12 11 4 2 1
Ok. I've moved around a bit from Skåne to Västerbotten but never noticed it, not without a 't' in there at least.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Lundgren8 12 10 9 9 9 7 6 6 3
I can definitely say it that way and you get plenty of results for it used in colloquial writing as well, if you check a database.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

Hashmush 11 11 7 7 5
Interesting, maybe I'm mistaken then.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

nimbus77 14 12 11 4 2 1
I'm just saying I've missed it and that it isn't prevalent everywhere. Thinking about it I don't doubt that it is common. Sorry I was unclear.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Hashmush 11 11 7 7 5
No worries! I sometimes extrapolate my own version of the Swedish language a bit too much :)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

ZL321 21 17 14 14 11 9 7 7 7 6 6 2 2
A: "Har du några vänner?"

B: "Ja' ve' in'e!"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Zmrzlina 14 13 12 10 4

Spoken from a native perspective: yes, it may sound thus in spoken informal Swedish. But never ever write it!

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MichaelKop11 21 12 3 369

I dunno ...

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Nvirjskly 12 8 7 4 16

Is there any significance to 'vet' not ending with an 'r'? All other (I think) verbs up until this point have.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Zmrzlina 14 13 12 10 4

Yes, it's irregular. A single few very common verbs just don't have the present tense -r: vet, vill and kan.

4ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

bmatt007 11 9 2 1

Just out of curiosity, could one write "I don't know" as a correct answer? I've refrained from answering as such but I suppose it would be helpful information further down the line. Thanks!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ViArSkoldpaddor 15 10 8 5 5 2

If you mean the contraction "don't" vs "do not", it is automatically accepted by duolingo everywhere.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

inventing 12 11

When speaking in Swedish would it be okay to say 'vet inte' and omit the 'jag'?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Hashmush 11 11 7 7 5

Yes. It's the same as in English, I think.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

inventing 12 11

Tack!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

baconmater 15 8 6 3

If you say "I know not" with a posh English accent it makes total sense.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Willowfae 13 11 10 8 8 6 3 2

I fear I may use this phrase a lot!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

825 faisiez

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/faisiez-faire-verb-imperfect+indicative+tense-second+person-plural/0710c0c4b80f89cda789cf19a8fc52e2>

ENGLISH

(you-plural) were doing, (you-plural) were making, (you-plural) were preparing

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|      |                     |                    |
|------|---------------------|--------------------|
| fais | Je fais des frites. | I am making fries. |
|------|---------------------|--------------------|

|      |                        |                                |
|------|------------------------|--------------------------------|
| fait | La femme fait la robe. | The woman is making the dress. |
|------|------------------------|--------------------------------|

|         |                             |                            |
|---------|-----------------------------|----------------------------|
| faisons | Nous faisons nos vêtements. | We are making our clothes. |
|---------|-----------------------------|----------------------------|

|        |                      |                        |
|--------|----------------------|------------------------|
| faites | Vous faites du café. | You are making coffee. |
|--------|----------------------|------------------------|

|      |                    |                         |
|------|--------------------|-------------------------|
| font | Ils font un repas. | They are making a meal. |
|------|--------------------|-------------------------|

|       |                                               |                                 |
|-------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| fasse | Pourquoi ne voulez-vous pas que je le fasse ? | Why don't you want me to do it? |
|-------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|

|       |                                              |                                          |
|-------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| fasse | Je ne suis pas sûre qu'il fasse son travail. | I am not sure that he is doing his work. |
|-------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

|         |                                     |                             |
|---------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| fassiez | Je ne veux pas que vous le fassiez. | I do not want you to do it. |
|---------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------|

|         |                                                |                                              |
|---------|------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| faisais | Tu faisais toujours ton lit avant de déjeuner. | You would always make your bed before lunch. |
|---------|------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|

|         |                     |                            |
|---------|---------------------|----------------------------|
| faisait | Il ne faisait rien. | He was not doing anything. |
|---------|---------------------|----------------------------|

|          |                                                           |                                                             |
|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| faisions | Pendant l'hiver, nous faisons de la soupe tous les soirs. | During the winter, we used to make some soup every evening. |
|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|

|         |                       |                              |
|---------|-----------------------|------------------------------|
| faisiez | Vous ne faisiez rien. | You were not doing anything. |
|---------|-----------------------|------------------------------|

|           |                                  |                              |
|-----------|----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| faisaient | Les femmes faisaient des frites. | The women were making fries. |
|-----------|----------------------------------|------------------------------|

|      |                                               |                                             |
|------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| fait | Le travail est loin d'être fait complètement. | The work is far from being done completely. |
|------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|

|       |                                             |                                      |
|-------|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| faite | Notre maison, c'est mon père qui l'a faite. | It is my father who built our house. |
|-------|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|

|        |                                                  |                                        |
|--------|--------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| faites | Ces pièces spéciales sont faites par des femmes. | These special parts are made by women. |
|--------|--------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|

|        |                                       |                                          |
|--------|---------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| ferais | Je ferais mieux de te dire la vérité. | I would do better to tell you the truth. |
|--------|---------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

|       |                            |                             |
|-------|----------------------------|-----------------------------|
| feras | Tu ne feras pas d'erreurs. | You will not make mistakes. |
|-------|----------------------------|-----------------------------|

|      |                                        |                                        |
|------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| fais | Ne fais pas deux choses en même temps. | Do not do two things at the same time. |
|------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|

|        |                                     |                                        |
|--------|-------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| ferait | Ma grand-mère ferait un bon gâteau. | My grandmother would make a good cake. |
|--------|-------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|

|      |                      |                           |
|------|----------------------|---------------------------|
| fera | Il fera beau demain. | It will be nice tomorrow. |
|------|----------------------|---------------------------|

|         |                                       |                                            |
|---------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| faisant | Tu peux réussir en faisant un effort. | You can be successful by making an effort. |
|---------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|

|       |                                   |                                       |
|-------|-----------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| faire | Tu es le seul à pouvoir faire ça. | You are the only one able to do that. |
|-------|-----------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

|         |                         |                            |
|---------|-------------------------|----------------------------|
| faisons | Faisons une pause-café. | Let's take a coffee break. |
|---------|-------------------------|----------------------------|

|        |                                             |                                           |
|--------|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| faites | Faites ce travail avant demain si possible. | Do that work before tomorrow if possible. |
|--------|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|

faire conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON |  | PRESENT |  | FUTURE | PAST IMPERFECT |
|--------|--|---------|--|--------|----------------|
|--------|--|---------|--|--------|----------------|

|    |      |       |         |  |  |
|----|------|-------|---------|--|--|
| je | fais | ferai | faisais |  |  |
|----|------|-------|---------|--|--|

|    |      |       |         |  |  |
|----|------|-------|---------|--|--|
| tu | fais | feras | faisais |  |  |
|----|------|-------|---------|--|--|

|            |      |      |         |  |  |
|------------|------|------|---------|--|--|
| il/elle/on | fait | fera | faisait |  |  |
|------------|------|------|---------|--|--|

|      |         |        |          |  |  |
|------|---------|--------|----------|--|--|
| nous | faisons | ferons | faisions |  |  |
|------|---------|--------|----------|--|--|

|      |        |       |         |  |  |
|------|--------|-------|---------|--|--|
| vous | faites | ferez | faisiez |  |  |
|------|--------|-------|---------|--|--|

|           |      |        |           |  |  |
|-----------|------|--------|-----------|--|--|
| ils/elles | font | feront | faisaient |  |  |
|-----------|------|--------|-----------|--|--|

Discussions with the word "faisiez":

38 commentsVous ne faisiez rien.

37 commentsVous faisiez un gâteau.

12 commentsQuand faisiez-vous cela ?

84 commentsQue faire ?

80 commentsIl faisait beau.

826 "Bonvolu ne! "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9321222>

Translation: Please no!

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

38 Comments

ImNabooThatsWh0 10 4

Oh... Oh no. No. Oh please God no!

154ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

A_Konrad 9

Ne ne, bonvolu ne!

30ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

mortto 10 7 5 5 4 3 3 2

Could one translate it as "please, don't"?

50ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

vincemat 17 14 12 9 9 6 6 445

It worked just now

17ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DatGuy7 4

PLS NO I GIVE U COOKIE PLS PLS PLS

47ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

The voice acting is so spot on

Lovely

21ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kurt-Tarvis 7 2

please no! Just dont do it! Bonvolu ne!!!!!!

16ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

victory_ave 15 13 12 9

I wonder what language bonvolu is derived from?

13ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

-Drigo- 16 12 11 11 8 7

Both "bon" (good) and "volu" (will) are from Latin.

35ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TrevorForeplay 15 6

Finally, a useful phrase!

11ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

AmirA.Sali1 3

Haha

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

FanglessMin 3

The first few times I saw this I said "Bonvenon" only to realize I was using the complete wrong word. XD

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KaldrKate 8 3 2 2

This is... unsettling. If this is another way of saying 'no, thank you' then I'd be reassured - but comments below suggest it's not, and that giving 'no thank you' is marked as wrong (since presumably it'd be "Ne, dankon").

But what's the scenario here? Under what circumstances would this - what sounds to me like a desperate appeal for mercy - be used in normal conversation? Is 'No please' or 'Please no' used as an alternative to 'no, thank you' by Esperantists?

6ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

MrGeckoTS 11 10 5 4

Plis no :c

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

warrenbisch 12 7 4 2

Is this another way of saying "No, thank you"?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

StephenH0 14 6 4

No. I got it marked wrong

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SuzanneNussbaum 16 2

(Oddly, perhaps? I did the same thing! "Please, no!" is not something I think of as ordinary discourse.)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Erek13 5 5 5 5 5

I agree. I thought it would be "No thank you" but I got that marked wrong. I'd never say "Please no". It just doesn't sound right nor does it roll off the tongue easily.

1ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

kavipatro 5

I also agree, 'No thank you' seems like a colloquially better translation.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

TheGiantMango 11 6 5

What's the difference between "mi petas" and "bonvolu"?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

WilcoJacob 9 4 2

I would say that "mi petas" would be more like asking for something, it seems more formal to be(more like i would like), and "bonvolu" more like begging or a casual command/imperative. this is more from context and general knowledge of romance and other languages than me actually knowing esperanto, i could be wrong.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Shady_Hazem 15 12 10 10 10 7 6 5 5 5 4 4 4 4 3 2 2

I think they should both mean the same thing, they are interchangeable.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheGiantMango 11 6 5

Thanks!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NoahDel 3
wow you learn so many languages hazem

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Shady_Hazem 15 12 10 10 10 7 6 5 5 5 4 4 4 3 2 2
Thanks a lot, I actually learn 49 languages :)

-2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Marinofull 10 9 7 5 3
what is the gramatical class of bonvolu?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

flootzavut 18 17 17 16 13 12 12 12 11 8 7 6 5 5 5 4 2 2 1
It's an imperative :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Marinofull 10 9 7 5 3
does anyone know what are the gramatical classes in esperanto?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CassandraN481761 9 6 2
No. But i know it is a simple language :P

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GirlWithTheGold 9 8 8 5 5 3 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2
Bone + volas = bonvolu (Good + will = Please)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gamish_hhh 14 13 10 9 7 207
ne is russian for no,in case you didn't know.

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

KaldrKate 8 3 2 2
I'll defer, since you're level 6 in Russian and I haven't studied it at all... but... I thought 'Nyet' was 'no' in Russian?

And I know you left this six months ago, but I only just started on Duolingo - sorry. :o)

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

CarolYasuhara51 6

What is the difference between please, no and don't please. I really don't see the difference between the two translations.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Clara_2134 6

"Please don't", is apparently correct. But I would say "don't please" is not correct English.

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Liam265684 7

why no, Duolingo, WHY!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

JackRinne49 9 2

pls dedpewl y u do dis

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

BethanyJos1 11 7 2 5

This is so weirdly threatening!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 days ago

827 "Hola, guapo."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1297831>

Translation: Hello, handsome.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

41 Comments

jeremiahmegel 18 18 9 7 7

This could (probably) also work towards a woman as "Hola, guapa."

51ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

mayorscotch 13 3

Does it in any way imply she is masculine?

18ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

MadridEli 8 8

No, actually, when used for a woman, it has more of an "elegant" and "stylish" connotation to it.

66ReplyGive Lingot1•3 years ago

sheepsknuckles 6 4

In this case would you say "Hola, guapa"? Or does the word stay guapo

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SariahLily 13 12 8 8 5 4 2 35

To a woman you would say "Hola, guapa."

21ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

Roll-Tide 6

I was taught in my Spanish class the most appropriate way to compliment a woman in this situation would be to say, 'Hola, bonita'; bonita meaning beautiful. I don't think most women would take being called 'handsome' as a compliment. Just saying.

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SariahLily 13 12 8 8 5 4 2 35

Guapa doesn't mean handsome in Spanish, though. Once you change the ending it basically means lovely or beautiful. I think of bonita more as pretty.

I had a roommate from Spain who regularly called all of us guapa; definitely a term of endearment.

33ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MichelleSize 13 10 6 2

handsome used to be used for both in English. Also as someone who's been to Spain it's common to have men shouting 'hola, guapa' in the street :P

10ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BennyXiang 7

"Hola, bonita." is actually more natural, but that works too

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

cerebrite 9 1

Can I say bonito so it's masculine?

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

BennyXiang 7

yes

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Spanish_Young.12 5 6

no, bc that would be beautiful which is preciosa (like precious)

0ReplyGive Lingot•yesterday

switch_76 12

I typed in "Hey hot stuff" and got the green. B)

38ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sdcovitsky2024 7

Lol. That is pretty funny.

4ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

sds59600 10

Nice

3ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

selina397454 6

Love the picture

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

MystyrNile 14 8 7 5 4 3

I searched guapo(s) and guapa(s) on the Spanish Google Images. Evidently, people associate it with the face more than the body, similar to "beautiful" in English.

20ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

klb98 7 2

Awkward moment when you say "Gordo" instead of "Guapo".

17ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

malkeynz 22 18 3 893

I hear that in some places, "gordo" can actually be used as term of endearment. Don't ask me why.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GiovanniSantucci 11 7 2

In English, there are some words that are usually considered offensive and derogatory that are also occasionally used as terms of endearment. Do it's not the strangest thing I've heard.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ClineDerek 17 7

Hello cutie was accepted, lol. I love it.

12ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

neigy 14

In paraguay, guapo/a means hardworking.

10ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

PolyglotCiro 25 25 25 25 14 13 13 12 11 11 11 6 52

Now I understand everything XD

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

samg297989 12 2

So this is what i say when i look in the mirror

10ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Lindarun 12 4 3

How about hermoso?

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

compicej 25 19 17 2

Yes, hermoso means beautiful too. Hermoso = Really beautiful, so beautiful...

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

seb522065 6 5

That moment when you type in "Hola guano," and it accepts it. Thug life.

4ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

laura_alyssa 7 5

I tried saying this to a boy and he said," hola fea" (hello ugly). What a disgrace.

3ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

TashSmash 12 9 9 8 8 7

I love that it's a man's voice saying Hellooo handsome!

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

dc8F1 6 2

lol i don't know how to change from girl to guy's voice

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

ZRaider126 10 2 2

If I said this to a girl, I'd get punched in the face. Or something like that

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

selina397454 6

True and i know because it has happened to me

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Lil_MissyMaia 13 6 2

That's weird to go up to someone and say 'Hello handsome.'

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Nicholas436200 8

what i say to myself in the mirror

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

JenniferLeggi 11

does "guapo" also translate to sexy?

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

hamza427928 5

This guapo question came thrice

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Notthecool 12

I'll use this on my husband

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

jakebeats1345 5

why does 'hello sexy' not work!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

OMichaelMageo 13 14

Lol. I can imagine man using DL in the street, says this sentence, and people look at him like what?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 days ago

Spanish_Young.12 5 6

yall dont know who this is but wallace kerr is very guapo ( goes to my school and is my future husband )

0ReplyGive Lingot•yesterday

GodGirl9 12 2 2

Why hello there duo.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

828 Dutch Grammar

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/19059040>

NyOkami 11 7 132

Budget isn't exactly on my side, so I'm trying to find ways to learn Dutch for free (sadly, in my area, it is not offered as a taught course). I'm having troubles finding a place to learn the grammar though. Does anybody out there know of a good website? Youtube channel? Blog? Etc?

Give Lingot

64 months ago

Leave a new comment

10 Comments

Jersebas 22 12 11 8 256

Some links to useful threads on this forum:

Overview of grammar explanations

Helpful external material

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Cam_and_Alex 20 16 10 10 9 7 6 6 6 6 5 5 4 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 2 140

Depending on where you live, you may have a library system that will ship in books from other libraries. My favourite book/audio disk combo is called "Teach Yourself: Complete Dutch" and I absolutely love it. Also, one to check out is simply called "Teach Yourself: Beginner's Dutch Grammar", which focuses solely on grammatical concepts. For pronunciation, check out "Say It Right in Dutch". Hope this helps! =D Tot ziens!

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

NyOkami 11 7 132

Thanks! :3 I'll be sure to try and check that out

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Cam_and_Alex 20 16 10 10 9 7 6 6 6 6 5 5 4 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 2 140

No problem. =)

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Pentaan 22 18 17 7 275

<http://www.dutchgrammar.com>

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

NyOkami 11 7 132

Thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Fire-ergens 10 9 6 4 4 2 2 2 35

You might like this blog:

<https://blogs.transparent.com/dutch/>

It has posts on both Dutch culture and the language itself.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

NyOkami 11 7 132

:3 Thank you, I'll be sure to check it out.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Luscinda 25 25 25 14 11 10 8 7 6 6 5 4 3 3 2 2 23

I think there was a course on coursera that you might still be able to access? I don't know how strong it was on grammar.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

ronross40 12 3

This site has a lot of very good exercises ranging from very simple to rather complex. I use it quite a lot. <https://oefenen.nl/>

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

829 Mittagessen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/Mittagessen-mittag%2Bessen-noun-noun-neuter-singular-nominative/fc3b1649b9ee56b78b88e484a52c2ea4>

ENGLISH

lunch

Example sentences

| WORD        | NUMBER   | GENDER | CASE       | EXAMPLE                                           | TRANSLATION                         |
|-------------|----------|--------|------------|---------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Mittagessen | singular | neuter | nominative | Das Mittagessen ist lecker.                       | The lunch tastes good.              |
| Mittagessen | singular | neuter | accusative | Das Kleid ist nicht schlecht für das Mittagessen. | The dress is not bad for the lunch. |

Discussions with the word "Mittagessen":

43 commentsMittagessen ist fertig.

39 commentsDas Mittagessen ist salzig.

37 commentsDas Mittagessen beginnt.

17 commentsDas Mittagessen

7 commentsDas Mittagessen ist lecker.

830 decir

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/decir-verb-infinitive/95e0860a25cba2b50b24a247bcb77dc2>

ENGLISH

say, (to) say, (to) say to oneself

Example sentences

| WORD    | EXAMPLE                               | TRANSLATION                                 |
|---------|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| digo    | Yo digo, tú dices.                    | I say, you say.                             |
| dices   | Yo digo, tú dices.                    | I say, you say.                             |
| dice    | El autor no dice el color.            | The author does not say the color.          |
| dicen   | Ellas dicen que no comen fresas.      | They say that they do not eat strawberries. |
| digas   | No me lo digas. Do not tell it to me. |                                             |
| diga    | No quiero que él me diga la verdad.   | I do not want him to tell me the truth.     |
| dije    | Yo le dije adiós a tu amigo.          | I said goodbye to your friend.              |
| decía   | Él me decía siempre la verdad.        | He always used to tell me the truth.        |
| dijiste | ¿Cuándo le dijiste eso a mi amigo?    | When did you say that to my friend?         |

dijo El novio de mi hija dijo que la quiere mucho. My daughter's boyfriend said that he loves her very much.
 decía Él decía que yo era su amigo. He used to say that I was his friend.
 dijeron ¿Cuándo te dijeron eso mis padres? When did my parents tell you that?
 dicho Nunca he dicho que no me gusta tu jardín. I have never said I do not like your yard.
 diría Él no me diría. He would not tell me.
 dirías ¿Qué dirías tú? What would you say?
 diría Usted diría eso. You would say that.
 diciendo Estoy aquí y te lo estoy diciendo ahora. I am here and I am saying it to you now.
 decir Después de decir eso, se fue con su esposa. After saying that, he left with his wife.
 diríamos No te diríamos. We would not tell you.
 decir conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT         | PAST    | FUTURE  |
|-------------------|-----------------|---------|---------|
| yo                | digo dije       | diré    |         |
| tú                | dices dijiste   | dirás   |         |
| él/ella/usted     | dice dijo       | dirá    |         |
| nosotros/nosotras | decimos         | dijimos | diremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | decís dijisteis | diréis  |         |
| ustedes dicen     | dijeron         | dirán   |         |
| ellos/ellas       | dicen           | dijeron | dirán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "decir":

68 commentsElla no me oyó decir eso.
 51 commentsNo puedo decir qué comieron.
 44 commentsNo puedo decir cómo se hace.
 44 commentsElla no sabe qué decir.
 36 commentsElla salió de la habitación sin decir adiós.

831 Postleitzahl

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/Postleitzahl-post%2Bleiten%2Bzahl-noun-verb-noun-feminine-singular-nominative/e3ca36cdaeb2cc89d7a766e3c5af5896>

ENGLISH

postcode, postal code, ZIP code

Example sentences

| WORD         | NUMBER   | GENDER   | CASE       | EXAMPLE                           | TRANSLATION                   |
|--------------|----------|----------|------------|-----------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Postleitzahl | singular | feminine | nominative | Die Zahlen sind die Postleitzahl. | The numbers are the postcode. |
| Postleitzahl | singular | feminine | accusative | Die Postleitzahl                  | The postcode                  |

Discussions with the word "Postleitzahl":

12 commentsDie Zahlen sind die Postleitzahl.
 9 commentsDeine Postleitzahl?
 6 commentsDie Postleitzahl

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages

832 – 852 of 911

[accessed April 19, 2017]

832 passt

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/passt-passen-verb-present+indicative+tense-second+person-plural/409204b864799db0bd37545a8247762b>

ENGLISH

fits, fit, suits

Example sentences

| WORD   | EXAMPLE                  | TRANSLATION           |
|--------|--------------------------|-----------------------|
| passt  | Das Kleid passt.         | The dress fits.       |
| passt  | Passt das Kleid?         | Does the dress fit?   |
| passen | Die Schuhe passen nicht. | The shoes do not fit. |
| passen | conjugation              |                       |

Indicative

Conditional

Others

| PERSON    | PRESENT | PAST     |
|-----------|---------|----------|
| ich       | passe   | passte   |
| du        | passt   | passtest |
| er/sie/es | passt   | passte   |
| wir       | passen  | passten  |
| ihr       | passt   | passtet  |
| sie/Sie   | passen  | passten  |

Discussions with the word "passt":

28 commentsPasst das Kleid?

42 commentsDas Kleid passt.

21 commentsDie Schuhe passen nicht.

833 Est-elle courte ?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/120077>

Translation: Is it short?

04 years ago

Leave a new comment

61 Comments

Nathnainiel 16 11 11 6 6 4 3

Est-elle should be pronounced "et el", not "est el"!

184ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

BlackSea 16 14 11

Yes, yes, yes! It's wrong everywhere!

64ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

KATEJ15 13 9

I'm starting to say est and the speech exercises want EST. Another thing, the t's are not always carried over where they usually should be. As in 'comment allez'. Grammar masters, please explain what I mean.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

dukla18 14 10

First I wanted to say different, but now I think I pronounce the 't' in Comment allez-vous...

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JeanPaul_G 14 9 7

yeah pronunciation is not that good... some native French speakers can not always decipher what is being said.

16ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Seagazer 21 13

je suis d'accord. La prononciation est horrible.

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

kalukuhan 22 20 19 19 18 12 2 2

Right, no 's' sound should be there. Just the 't' sound for liaison.

15ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

KaptianKaos8 14 8 8 7 5

est-Elle. The "T" on the end of the "est" is pronounced because "elle" starts with a vowel (or a silent h before a vowel), but due to irregular grammar (the stuff that makes language learning hard) it is pronounces "est el" not "et el"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

nauajos 15 8 6 5

Is this a joke?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Jackjon 15 3

Depends on your mind set Nauajos. For me, it's just a task to help me learn French and it's grammar. I don't need tasks to make sense I need them to be correctly structured, grammatically correct, help me with illogical and ludicrous gender (The Vagina is Masculine Le Vagin! Hello? Is there anybody there?) Joke? Joke mate? In English we have FOUR conjugations of the infinitive To Eat. French has FORTY-SEVEN! Not a joke in my yard mate. Never mind sense, lets just do learning. We THE US can make sense when we have grasped the lingo, Bingo!

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

nauajos 15 8 6 5

Entertaining comment, no doubt. However, let me get this straight: Are you saying that this gentleman/lady, who claims that "est-elle" is pronounced "est el" citing French grammar irregularities, is talking seriously? And if you are, do you actually agree with them?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

Jackjon 15 3

Hi again Nauajos. My friend Claude Henri in Marseilles tells me that it is normally pronounced as it is at the top of this page "Ett Ell" Near the Swiss/French border (esp Anmas) the "S" is very LIGHTLY pronounced (Es - tell) and in Normandy, apparently (where the Cornish Celtic is understood largely) they may pronounce it "Ess - Teller". Please don't shoot the messenger, I'm no authority but I trust Claude Henri who is a retired interpreter. I'm a London Pearly, that is a Cockney born while the Bow Bells were actually chiming and my English is tainted thus. Here, I've attempted to be "Normal" which doesn't come easily to me after my 70 years mate. With respect, JJ.

2Give Lingot•4 weeks ago

nauajos 15 8 6 5

@JJ

Oh, I have no reason to doubt Monsieur Henri, my friend! I used to live in Greece and the UK and the variation of dialects I've seen is incredible. Normandy and Little Britain? I can only imagine. And, by the way, I reckon "Normality" to be highly overestimated!

1Give Lingot•4 weeks ago

Marie282520 15 2

I am delighted to know that gender is a struggle with feminism for others if I read you right, although nobody defines that the same way. I just feel my body itself struggle with gender of all nouns. But my mind plays with it and is entertained. Do I have a head that needs liberation then? Or do I just have a sense of humor? Also, do all French speakers KNOW the gender of each word? Or is that a struggle for them? I never hope to get it right. But I have heard them pronounce on the Duo voice EST with E-S-T sounded. There must be a guideline or an idiom list.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

Marie282520 15 2

Nauajos, normality can be seen as regional I guess in language and many customs...and I am glad for the variety.

0Give Lingot•3 weeks ago

Marie282520 15 2

Thank you for your reply to my comments with your entertaining stories of English. I am discovering how this works but not if you comment is on line or somehow in e-mail. "l'ordinators" are wonderful struggles for me.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

martinkunev 14

It should be pronounced without the "s". Otherwise it's wrong and very confusing.

27ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Xpander 12

you both are right! it's very confusing!

6ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

labrini_k 15

Please revise how this sentence is pronounced. I had to guess this one.

17ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

leticia.uesugi 7

can we use court(e) for people? or it's only petit(e)? i thought court(e) was only for objects... someone?

10ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Gabrielle28671 25 25 12 8 7 6 5 4 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

Only for the objects and the things. For a woman we say "Elle est petite" or "il est petit" for the man and the children. Example : "My little girl is gone = MA petite fille est partie." "Don't wear your skirts so short. = Ne porte pas de jupes trop courtes." "That's no good, it's too short. = Ce n'est pas bon c'est trop court"

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Martytoof 3

Would this also be "is she short?"

8ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

labrini_k 15

yes

4ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

amtw01 19

I answered "Is she short?", but was rejected. The posted answer is "is it short?"

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jackjon 15 3

I don't understand why your solution was rejected as an alternative translation, Amtwt. It would be really helpful and pertinent to reducing clutter if Duo found a way for people who'd like to respond to a query could locate the original task, lesson and response, including the specific lesson with its "Tips and Notes" because we are so very short of context here and for you to write it all out is again, just what Duo wants to reduce....Clutter. I think that you should report the issue. I mean how else would we say "Est-Elle Courte" for "Is She Short" in this structure and lack of context?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amtw01 19

Thanks for your comments.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Gabrielle28671 25 25 12 8 7 6 5 4 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

No ! Elle est courte = It is short in English Elle is "a person" and a person don't can be "courte" in french just a object or a thing. The peoples are petit/s or petite/s. The woman is small/little = la femme est petite The skirt is short = la jupe est courte

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

amtw01 19

Your explanation is very clear, thanks.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

lesterkentlyall 11 10

This voice tape is strange.

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Coru 12

Is courte and petite interchangeable?

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

labrini_k 15

no. "courte" means short, and "petite" means small. i.e: la robe est courte. (the dress is short) la fille est petite.(the girl is small).

8ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Nathnainiel 16 11 11 6 6 4 3

Although, with people "petit" can mean short.

15ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Andrew_Heale 12 7

And I just read on another thread that "courte" is usually not applied to people, which is why the preferred translation for this says "Is /it/ is short" rather than "Is /she/ short". Both are correct, but "it" is more likely.

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Gabrielle28671 25 25 12 8 7 6 5 4 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

No ENathanael ! never in French language

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

mzann14 9

It seems like the way "court/courte" is used is more like short in the brief sense, so instead of asking, Is she short? in terms of stature, it would be more like "Is it brief?" if that helps at all. That's what I got out of wordreference.com.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mijimito 22 13 2

The discussion has wandered off-course. The audio was incorrect. We heard "est-ce" and not "est". This MUST be changed. The sentence "Est-elle courte?" means "Is it short?" The "elle" refers to a feminine noun, not a feminine person.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

indianfrench 14

From what i have learnt till now if the next word starts with a vowel the last alphabet of the previous word is pronounced. Therefore est elle and not et elle. Please pardon if i am wrong

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Nathnainiel 16 11 11 6 6 4 3

The general rule is that if the previous word ends with a silent consonant, it is pronounced if the following word begins with a vowel. This is such a case which is why it should be pronounced [etel]. There are however many exceptions to this rule.

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 17 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 1

Yes, last letter not last two letters.

4ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

shandisoocan 10

I still don't get why she becomes it.

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

kalukuhan 22 20 19 19 18 12 2 2

It's because in French all nouns have a grammatical gender. There is no neuter "it." Here "elle" represents some feminine noun -- as if we had just been talking about quickly the week (la semaine) has been going -- La semaine, est-elle courte?

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

shandisoocan 10

Thanks kalukuhan, I think I have it now. We are jumping into the middle of a chat where the thing that is courte has already been determined.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jcutler97 9 8

but why not use 'est-ce' or 'est-cette' or whatever equivalent?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Nathnainiel 16 11 11 6 6 4 3

"est-cette" doesn't exist. To learn more about whether to use il/elle est or c'est (and the reversed word order) you can google it or read here <http://french.about.com/library/weekly/aa032500.htm>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

-ememem 14 8 6 6

is this interchangeable with 'elle est courte?'

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kalukuhan 22 20 19 19 18 12 2 2

Yes. You have 3 choices for posing the question: Est-elle courte? (inverted verb and subject) Elle est courte? (Question implied by intonation, raising pitch at end) Est-ce qu'elle est courte? (Est-ce que construction)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

april_040990 9 2

I'm pretty sure courte means run right?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

martinkunев 14

"court" can mean runs or short (masculine)

"courte" means short (feminine)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

martinski07 8

I found also a translation of "court" as narrow-minded. Does anybody know if the question "Est-elle courte ?" could also mean "Is she narrow-minded?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

duolingo, can you explain why errors aren't being corrected by now?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GodzillaGeorge 15

I am short. I love it

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

NietPiet 11

Just two sentences ago, it said "Est-il franc?", which I translated with "Is it straight?", which was marked wrong. My question was whether "est-il" couldn't be translated as "is it", as well. And here it's confirmed. This time I was sure to use "is SHE", and would you believe it, IT is acceptable. DL should not confuse us like this!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jay512106 16 2 2

sounds like she's passing gas. "ess el poot!"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kizzey.20 6

Est-ce qu'elle courte? can be also.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alirafiei 16 10 10 2

je l'ai dit: elle est courte? ça marchais!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BonBonChat 14 7 7 7 6 6 5 4 4 4 3 2 2 150

C"mon fix the pronunciation.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

chemacasado 14 11 8

Is it possible to say "is she limited"?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

andnacho 11 10 7

is it possible that the answer be "is she runs?"?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Octopus_Garden 12 11 5 4

No, for two reasons.

1) Where English has not one, but -three- forms of indicative/active present tense (She runs, she is running, and she does run- all with subtly different usages), French has one (elle court)*. This is the case in many other languages, and it often presents a difficulty to English speakers, who can take -years- to get themselves out of the habit of translating English present continuous tense word by word into gobbledegook! :D Duolingo should really be explaining this to users to start with, to prevent people developing bad habits. It's a very difficult thing for people to get used to, and no course designer should be relying on people just realising it on their own by magic.

Especially when the course very much revolves around teaching people languages via translation from and to English, which makes people especially vulnerable to that kind of error!

2) the verb -run- is courir, and in the third person singular it goes like "elle court", so no -e.

Don't quote me on this, because I am, quite frankly, nowhere near fluent, but I would guess that "is she running?" is "est-ce qu'elle court ?" or "elle court ?" or "court-elle ?"

*I am under the impression that French enforces its own linguistic right to complexity in tenses with the subjunctive later on!

23ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

KarlSteel 25 24 15 97

although I'm pretty sure if you really want to emphasize that she was running at this very moment, you could also say "elle est en train de courir."

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Jackjon 15 3

This is excellent! Well met Octopus_garden.

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

834 Betreuung

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/Betreuung-betreuung-noun-feminine-singular-accusative/9b4f4be794d66660df747b269d7201b2>

ENGLISH

supervision, care, minder

Example sentences

| WORD      | NUMBER   | GENDER   | CASE       | EXAMPLE                                                             | TRANSLATION                                              |
|-----------|----------|----------|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| Betreuung | singular | feminine | nominative | Die Betreuung                                                       | The care                                                 |
| Betreuung | singular | feminine | accusative | Die Kinder brauchen Betreuung.                                      | The children need supervision.                           |
| Betreuung | singular | feminine | dative     | Die alte Frau kann nicht mehr alleine leben. Sie braucht Betreuung. | The old woman cannot live alone anymore. She needs care. |

Discussions with the word "Betreuung":

6 commentsDie Kinder brauchen Betreuung.

14 commentsDie Betreuung

2 commentsDie alte Frau kann nicht mehr alleine leben. Sie braucht Betreuung.

835 maestro

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/maestro-noun-masculine-singular/fd08af061fb8efb301bf15edae83d3fe>

ENGLISH

teacher, schoolteacher

Example sentences

| WORD | NUMBER | GENDER | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|--------|--------|---------|-------------|
|------|--------|--------|---------|-------------|

|                                       |                    |                                           |                    |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------|-------------------------------------------|--------------------|
| maestro                               | singular masculine | El maestro de mis hijos no come pescado.  | My                 |
| children's teacher does not eat fish. |                    |                                           |                    |
| maestra                               | singular feminine  | La maestra bebe jugo de tomate.           | The teacher drinks |
| tomato juice.                         |                    |                                           |                    |
| maestros                              | plural masculine   | Mi mamá y mi papá son maestros.           | My mother and my   |
| father are teachers.                  |                    |                                           |                    |
| maestras                              | plural feminine    | Las faldas blancas son para las maestras. | The white          |
| skirts are for the teachers.          |                    |                                           |                    |

Discussions with the word "maestro":

109 comments Veo a tu maestro entre los estudiantes.

30 comments Tú eres un maestro.

22 comments El maestro de mis hijos no come pescado.

19 comments Veo al maestro.

11 comments El esposo de mi hermana es maestro.

836 dijeron

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/dijeron-decir-verb-preterite+indicative-third+person-plural/7faf6d38189c21cf7a000bc44f64df6b>

ENGLISH

(they/you-plural) said, (they/you-plural) said to oneself, (they/you-plural) thought

Example sentences

| WORD     | EXAMPLE                                       | TRANSLATION                                               |
|----------|-----------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| digo     | Yo digo, tú dices.                            | I say, you say.                                           |
| dices    | Yo digo, tú dices.                            | I say, you say.                                           |
| dice     | El autor no dice el color.                    | The author does not say the color.                        |
| dicen    | Ellas dicen que no comen fresas.              | They say that they do not eat strawberries.               |
| digas    | No me lo digas. Do not tell it to me.         |                                                           |
| diga     | No quiero que él me diga la verdad.           | I do not want him to tell me the truth.                   |
| dije     | Yo le dije adiós a tu amigo.                  | I said goodbye to your friend.                            |
| decía    | Él me decía siempre la verdad.                | He always used to tell me the truth.                      |
| dijiste  | ¿Cuándo le dijiste eso a mi amigo?            | When did you say that to my friend?                       |
| dijo     | El novio de mi hija dijo que la quiere mucho. | My daughter's boyfriend said that he loves her very much. |
| decía    | Él decía que yo era su amigo.                 | He used to say that I was his friend.                     |
| dijeron  | ¿Cuándo te dijeron eso mis padres?            | When did my parents tell you that?                        |
| dicho    | Nunca he dicho que no me gusta tu jardín.     | I have never said I do not like your yard.                |
| diría    | Él no me diría.                               | He would not tell me.                                     |
| dirías   | ¿Qué dirías tú?                               | What would you say?                                       |
| diría    | Usted diría eso.                              | You would say that.                                       |
| diciendo | Estoy aquí y te lo estoy diciendo ahora.      | I am here and I am saying it to you now.                  |
| decir    | Después de decir eso, se fue con su esposa.   | After saying that, he left with his wife.                 |
| diríamos | No te diríamos.                               | We would not tell you.                                    |

decir conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | PAST | FUTURE |
|--------|---------|------|--------|
| yo     | digo    | dije | diré   |

tú        dices    dijiste   dirás
 él/ella/usted   dice    dijo    dirá
 nosotros/nosotras    decimos        dijimos   diremos
 vosotros/vosotras    decís    dijisteis   diréis
 ustedes dicen    dijeron   dirán
 ellos/ellas        dicen    dijeron   dirán

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "dijeron":

35 comments¿Mis padres dijeron eso?

29 commentsMis propios hijos me dijeron.

26 comments¿Cuándo te dijeron eso mis padres?

20 commentsEllas me dijeron.

17 commentsLos doctores dijeron que no.

837    roja

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/roja-rojo-adjective-feminine-singular/8abb337ce69b52a6cd98eca30c726a0e>

ENGLISH

red (feminine), sunburnt

Example sentences

| WORD  | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                      | TRANSLATION                |
|-------|----------|-----------|------------------------------|----------------------------|
| rojo  | singular | masculine | El vestido es rojo.          | The dress is red.          |
| roja  | singular | feminine  | La falda roja no es mía.     | The red skirt is not mine. |
| rojos | plural   | masculine | Mis pantalones no son rojos. | My pants are not red.      |
| rojas | plural   | feminine  | Las camisas son rojas.       | The shirts are red.        |

Discussions with the word "roja":

12 commentsLa falda roja no es mía.

10 commentsNo, mi falda no es roja.

114 commentsSus faldas son rojas.

57 commentsMis pantalones no son rojos.

42 commentsLos vestidos son rojos.

838    Ich mag dich

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1548916>

Translation: I like you.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

57 Comments

psycolemming 12

In the south of Germany, particularly Bavaria, 'Ich mag dich' is used to mean 'I love you'. Just something to watch out for. This applies in Austria as well.

188ReplyGive Lingot1•3 years ago

backtoschool 22 4 3 3 2

And than you have to pronounce it like that:

"E moag de." Just saying, thats how it would sound in local dialect. (Bavaria and Austria)

37ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

OlliverMoura 9 9 8 4
Not in Vienna tho.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

backtoschool 22 4 3 3 2

I know Vienna is very special, not only in regards of the dialect. Can you enlighten us how it would sound, please. :-)

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

OlliverMoura 9 9 8 4

It sounds pretty straight forward in the way it is written to me, but I'm completely biased because my girlfriend is from there so I'm used to hear german from her.

"Ich" and "dich" with the /ç/ sound (as in Mädchen) "Mag" with the silent g

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KitCat148 16 5 2

How would it be pronounced in Vienna?

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

[deactivated user]

You seem very wise and know what you are talking about..where is the best place in your opinion for duolingo learners to visit Germany..to test out German

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

backtoschool 22 4 3 3 2

Well, I am from Berlin which is a great city, multicultural and multilingual. You will always find someone who speaks your mother-tongue, if you are not from Iceland or Mongolia. Hamburg and Hanover are great, but in other areas like Saxony and Bavaria you will hear and struggle with strong dialects. Even Cologne can get you a bit off track in regards of proper language learning, because the pronunciation, and inflexion is so different and counterproductive for learning I honestly have to say. And stay away from Schwabenlaendle.

Hope that helps, this is no discrimination of other German parts, cultures and dialects. "Die Niedersachsen sprechen zumeist Hochdeutsch", hence Hanover would be my first choice. :-)

40ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Thanks for your answer and time

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

backtoschool 22 4 3 3 2

Thanks, no problem. You may also check the Deutsche Welle website out.

<http://www.dw.com/en/top-stories/s-9097>

<http://www.dw.com/en/learn-german/german-courses/s-2547>

They have also news spoken very slow for language learning and other nifty stuff.

16Give Lingot•1 year ago

AyonKhan1 21 3 3 14

Hey backtoschool, what is Leipzig like? Will I have trouble understanding German if I go there?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

backtoschool 22 4 3 3 2

To tell how a city is like would fill pages, but regarding to the language, be prepared to hear the: "Sächsischen Dialekt" (dialect spoken in Saxony). This is a strong dialect and when spoken properly and full hearted by the locals you will have trouble to understand, even me coming from Berlin had sometimes trouble to get what they say, apart from really not liking this dialect at all. Well all in all if you want to live and work there you may have to learn some of the phrases but it is definately not supporting to learn proper "Hochdeutsch", this is for sure!

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XCJsrH1ZA\_Q

This video also tells that the Saxon dialect is the most disliked dialect in Germany, well this is what they say.

5Give Lingot•1 year ago

Gottesanbeterin 20

Danke! Danke! I'm going to both places next year! Wow!

8ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

[deactivated user]

Important safety tip!

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

izzitty 14

Wow, I didn't know that. lol

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

NormanLG07 8 7

Danke ;D

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Elisabeth_J. 7 6
Good to know!! xD

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

EarthyChakra 19 6 6
In German, what is the context of "Ich mag dich"? Is it normally romantic, or would people say it to friends? What is typically crossing the line between casual and friendly and romantic?

29ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

myra 20 12 10 7 5 5 3 2 imo it can be just as vague in German as in English. You could say it and sound completely innocent/friendly, but it could also be interpreted as subtle flirting. There are probably different opinions on this though :)

39ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago
[+] 3 hidden comments

Trung_Gundriver 14 7
Sometimes I find those words given a context by the speaker's expression

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

passivestrength 10
You'll hear "Ich mag dich" in the romantic context much more frequently than "Ich liebe dich", fyi. Ich liebe dich carries a MUCH more powerful meaning than "I love you" in English, and many Germans refrain from saying it and substitute "Ich mag dich" and the like ;)

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Zipperwow 11
Ich mag dich, aber du bist verrückt.

7ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

lallie_enten 5
i like my dick

6ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

AseemKumar 9
How is "Ich" exactly pronounced? Google and other websites pronounce it as eekh. Also checked with a friend and she didn't agree with how it sounds in duolingo.
<http://translate.google.com/#de/en/Ich>

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

EarthyChakra 19 6 6

I've been that it's a dialect thing. Different regions of Germany pronounce it differently, and if I understand it right, it's comparable to say an American English accent vs. a Southern American one. Again, I'm not sure, but I hope it helps!

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Arlesgottheit 13 10 9

Ich is pronounced "ich" but it can also be pronounced "ig". Ig was introduced thanks to theater where they started to pronounce it that way due to it is more harmonic and actually easier.

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

franglish9265 9 9 6

How does one pronounce "dich"? Is it more of a di-sch sound? Or more of a di-kh sound? Hard to tell with Duo.

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

karaann1204 9 3

It's like saying dish in the english language and you can also pronounce ich "Ish"

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

karaann1204 9 3

Hope that helps

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

LordVashi 7 5

That is a more southern German pronunciation, right? I've always heard a harder more 'ck' sound from people I know who speak German. Could be wrong though.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rewjeo 14 4 2 718

Deutsch für Euch (the Youtube channel) described the ch sound in German as (sometimes) sort of a lazy attempt at a cat hiss. There's also the scary throat-clearing-sound, but I don't believe that it is used in the case of ich or dich. The cat-hiss-sound is pretty close to a sch sound, at least to my American ear.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rewjeo 14 4 2 718

I suppose it's worth pointing out that German, like English, has a bunch of regional dialects and so pronunciation can vary a lot. I think that what I said applies to Hochdeutsch, but I really cannot say with 100% certainty and if anyone who knows better than confirm/correct this, please do so.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 17 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 4 2 2 1

Here listen to native speakers: <http://www.forvo.com/search-de/ich%20mag%20dich/page-1/>

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bynny2015 15 7 5 4 3 384

I believe both pronunciations are correct, and that it depends on which region you are from. I have a CD with German rock music, and more of the singers sound like they pronounce it, ish. But my relatives in Germany say it more like the harder sound, which is not quite a k sound, but close to it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

M3RKMUS1C3 12

how to flirt like a first grader

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Uyterschout 17 16 15 13 13 9 8 5 4

I fancy you.

3ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

colec230 6 2

Well that's a step up from, "You are boring."

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

gerritboehringer 8 7

nope

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

LexiaMyles 6 3

Why does it sound like eat my dick?

1ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

DannyDiaz605835 10 7 5

Thank you! I thought I was the only one thinking that!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mccoy_elijah 9

as a friend

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FearsomeElf 7 6 6 4 2

Smooth moves.

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

gerritboehringer 8 7
nope

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

nip667 10 2

So my boyfriend is from Austria, and someone said this would be to forward if you aren't together.

He says "Ich liebe dich" but can this be the same thing?

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

EliRath 7

Would "Ich habe gern dich" work here as well? My textbook suggests that's how you say you like someone, but is that more definitively saying you like them as a friend?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

backtoschool 22 4 3 3 2

Well, when you get the word order right: "Ich habe dich gern" it has a very similar meaning as: "Ich mag dich" and can be used for flirting and as a statement. All in all it works for friendship as well as emotional, romantic intentions only the context will determine.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sylvygerry 11 6 2

"Ich liebe dich" and "Ich mag dich" aren't the same..... Lieben=Love Mag=Like If you are shy to show your feelings to a boy or girl using "Ich liebe dich" then better use "Ich mag dich" It would be more understandable

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Gunjan190189 9 3

Ich leibe Deutsche, i feel it is like a song

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

KitCat148 16 5 2

In the old duo, it would let me do "Ich mag Dich" but for some reason it is now. It use to be different. New german too?

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

WMiller45 12 3 2

Why can you not use du? Is du only used in the subject, not the predicate?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Alexx.26 6

i like you

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

willherbert 7 5

Is this always meant in a flirty way or can it simply mean "I like you" as in English?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

marinasays 5 2

once again you live i is playing through my head

-1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

tobobiasy 12 4

Just one thing my brain ses it is. i like d***

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

839 Cual es la diferencia entre Mug y Cup

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11138911>

fuko99 13 4

bueno he revisado y ambas significan taza, pero cual es la diferencia, .. si es que la hay

Give Lingot2

51 year ago

Leave a new comment

11 Comments

Lrtward 25 25 8 191

Buena pregunta!

Estas diferencias son sólo mi opinión.

Mug es un poco más grande y pesado que cup. Siempre tomamos un mug de cerveza; nunca un cup de cerveza.

Cup is más delicado y pequeño. Un cup de té pero nunca un mug de té.

Cuando cocinamos, un cup es una unidad de medida:

A veces mug y cup son igual. Podemos tomar un mug de chocolate o un cup de chocolate. Aquí está algo que se puede llamar cup o mug:

9ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

fuko99 13 4

ho perfecto .. muchisimas gracias!! me has sacado de una gran duda ... no paraba de pensar en ello... gracias n_n .... lo explicaste genial :D .... te ganas mi lingot jeje ...Pd: ¿como has hecho para colocar imagenes? .... realmente ayuda :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

"google images" deberia ayudarte. Mugs se utilizan para bebidas calientes

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

fuko99 13 4

si eso pense ..... ( siempre hago eso antes de preguntar algo) pero en ambas me salian el mismo tipo de tazas O_O

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

no.name.42 25 25 25 14 13 10 10 8 7 7 5 4 3 3 951

Yo solo he oído "mug" con café.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lrtward 25 25 8 191

Hola, noname! :)

Nunca has oído "Let's get a cup of coffee"?
O "a cuppa joe"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

no.name.42 25 25 25 14 13 10 10 8 7 7 5 4 3 3 951

He oído "cup" con café, pero no he oído "mug" con bebidas que no son "café".

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sergio_between 10

Un jarro es un vaso de beber que generalmente tiene asa, y sirve para tomar bebidas como refrescos, cerveza, etc. En ese caso sería Mug.

Cup es la taza como tal donde se bebe café, y a su vez el nombre de la medida en el sistema internacional de unidades llamado así, taza o cup.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

arense 23 23 17 17 14 14 384

a mi punto de ver, MUG es la típica taza dónde tomas la leche o cualquier bebida tipo Cola Cao, o bebida de cereales, sin embargo, CUP, es la taza pequeña dónde se toma por ejemplo el cafe tipo Espresso o Americano

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ClaudiaRusso12 7 6 4

fuko99: you can look at wikipedia the difference between these two words...The main difference is that "mug" is usually use for hot drinks with handle and in an informal context. However, cup is use in a formal context, and is also smaller than the mug. For example: you use "mug" in your house to drink coffe, but you use a "cup" at work to drink it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JuneGi 18

'Cup' es la taza de té con su platito y 'Mug' es la taza alta con un asa.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

840 pagada

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/pagada-pagar-verb-past+participle+tense-feminine-singular/85e6ec4cb296e6920ec3ff1a34fd8b3f>

ENGLISH

paid for, paid (feminine), paid off

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

pago Yo pago, usted paga, ella paga. I pay, you pay, she pays.

pagas Tú pagas el almuerzo. You pay for the lunch.

paga Yo pago, usted paga, ella paga. I pay, you pay, she pays.

pagamos No pagamos la cena. We do not pay for the dinner.

pagan Nosotras pagamos, ellas pagan. We pay, they pay.

pagues ¡No pagues por ese emparedado! Do not pay for that sandwich!

pagado No me han pagado desde el mes pasado. They have not paid me since last month.

pagada Esta noche ya está pagada en el hotel. Tonight is already paid for at the hotel.

pagar Ellos van a pagar por la revista. They are going to pay for the magazine.

pagando Ese día vimos a mis hijas pagando. That day we saw my daughters paying.

pagar conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT | PAST      | FUTURE    |
|-------------------|---------|-----------|-----------|
| yo                | pago    | pagué     | pagaré    |
| tú                | pagas   | pagaste   | pagarás   |
| él/ella/usted     | paga    | pagó      | pagará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | pagamos |           | pagaremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | pagáis  | pagasteis | pagaréis  |
| ustedes           | pagan   | pagaron   | pagarán   |
| ellos/ellas       | pagan   | pagaron   | pagarán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "pagada":

83 commentsLa casa ya está pagada.

51 commentsYa está pagada.

46 commentsEsta noche ya está pagada en el hotel.

37 comments¿Tu moto ya está pagada?

139 commentsVoy a pagar por la fresa.

841 She likes coffee without milk

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/8044663>

Translation: O sütsüz kahve sever.

12 years ago

Leave a new comment

16 Comments

emmaemily1 9

o kahveyi süt ile sever doğrusu bu yapınca yanlış diyor

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

cerenkurtulu 7

without olumsuzlama eki veriyor. yani milk süt demek onu sütsüz yapıyor z eki veriyor mesela without bag çantasız oluyor

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

osuk777 7

o sütsüz kahve gibi neden olmaz birşeye benzetirkende like kullanmıyormuyuz ??

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

remiemiyo 6

o kahvesini sutsuz sever yazdim neden yanlis cikti anlamadim

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

User571 7

o sutsuz kahveden hoslanir ne yalnisi olur ki

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

brhmomer 6

hoşlanmak=love anladın?

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

hasansemerkand 18 1

fiil

like

beğenmek, hoşlanmak, sevmek, istemek, hoşuna gitmek dolayısıyla "O sütsüz kahveden hoşlanır" cevabı da doğru. Programın bu cevabı da eklemesi gerekli

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

burcin123 6

kahveyi yerine kahvesini yazınca kabul etmiyor

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

74ali74 8

o kahveyi süt olamdan sever neden olmazki

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

onlyisland 7

o kahvenin yanında süt sever. Şeklinde cevapladım. Cevabın o sütsüz kahve sever olması şaşırttı.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Selcen_Ozturk 23 11 10 6 6 2

without -siz demek çünkü, hiçbir şekilde yanında anlamı yok. zaten ipucu olarak da verilmiş

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

onlyisland 7

teşekkürler. epey ara verdiğim için kelimenin anlamını yanlış hatırlamam dolayısıyla yanlış düşünmeme yol açtı.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

buketsevcen 11 10

She likes coffee ( O kahveyi seviyor/sever) + without milk ( süt olmaksızın, sütsüz) = O kahveyi sütsüz seviyor / sever.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

onlyisland 7

teşekkürler. epey ara verdiğim için kelimenin anlamını yanlış hatırlamam dolayısıyla yanlış düşünmeme yol açtı.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sinmc_ 6

süt olmadan yazdım kabul etmedi

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rftyklmz 13 4

Sınav için türkçe'ye çalışırken fark ettim dil kurallarını öğrenince her şey daha anlamlı ve kolay geliyor.İngilizce Özne+yüklem+nesne oluyor genel olarak 5. 6. sınıfta hoca tahtaya subject + verb filan yazardı anlamazdım şimdi daha anlamı geliyor her şey

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

842 nationale

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/nationale-national-adjective-feminine-singular/e7a3325ca299df6f2bc0fcb4bbd22599>

ENGLISH

national, A road, highway

Example sentences

| WORD      | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                                          | TRANSLATION                                    |
|-----------|----------|-----------|--------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| national  | singular | masculine | Deux ans plus tard, il devient le chef national. | Two years later, he became the national chief. |
| nationale | singular | feminine  | C'est la semaine nationale du livre.             | It is the national book week.                  |
| nationaux | plural   | masculine | Les journaux nationaux                           | The national newspapers                        |

Discussions with the word "nationale":

30 comments C'est une honte nationale.

10 comments C'est la semaine nationale du vin.

9 comments C'est la semaine nationale du livre.

27 comments Deux ans plus tard, il devient le chef national.

15 comments Quel est l'oiseau national ?

843 haber

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/haber-verb%3A+to+have-infinitive/93d56b417cbea40f1ec8833b80db4cfb>

ENGLISH

have, (to) is, (to) have

Example sentences

| WORD     | EXAMPLE                                                  | TRANSLATION                                              |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| he       | Nunca he estado en un barco, pero he estado en un avión. | I have never been on a boat, but I have been on a plane. |
| has      | ¿Qué has bebido en ese restaurante?                      | What have you drunk at that restaurant?                  |
| ha       | Tu esposo no ha estado en este país.                     | Your husband has not been in this country.               |
| hemos    | Hemos sido amigos desde ayer.                            | We have been friends since yesterday.                    |
| han      | Mis otros hermanos han comido en ese lugar.              | My other brothers have eaten at that place.              |
| haya     | Nosotros esperamos que haya una decisión mañana.         | We hope there will be a decision tomorrow.               |
| hubiera  | Yo no pensé que todavía hubiera sal en la casa.          | I did not think that there was still salt at the house.  |
| había    | Sólo había una silla en ese restaurante.                 | There was only one chair at that restaurant.             |
| hubo     | Hubo mucha felicidad el jueves.                          | There was a lot of happiness on Thursday.                |
| había    | Ayer había una mujer aquí.                               | Yesterday there was a woman here.                        |
| habías   | Mi padre me dijo que habías venido.                      | My father told me that you had come.                     |
| haber    | Es domingo. No puede haber ido a la escuela.             | It is Sunday. He can not have gone to school.            |
| habíamos | Él dijo que habíamos perdido un amigo.                   | He said that we had lost a friend.                       |
| habían   | Nadie me dijo que habían venido.                         | No one told me that you had come.                        |
| habría   | Hasta un niño de cuatro años lo habría descubierto.      | Even a four year old boy would have found it.            |
| habré    | Yo habré vuelto antes de las once.                       | I will have returned before eleven.                      |
| habrías  | Nunca habrías abierto la puerta por mí.                  | You would never have opened the door for me.             |

habrás En cuatro meses fácilmente habrás encontrado a alguien. In four months you will have easily found someone.

habría El policía habría dirigido el tráfico después del concierto. The police officer would have directed traffic after the concert.

habrá El animal habrá muerto sin agua. The animal will have died without water.

habríamos Si no fuera por eso no lo habríamos descubierto. If it had not been for that we would not have discovered it.

habremos Lo habremos encontrado a él en dos horas. We will have found him in two hours.

habrían Ellas habrían descubierto la verdad de la historia. They would have discovered the truth about the story.

habrán Ellos ya habrán llamado al restaurante antes de la cena. They will have already called the restaurant before the dinner.

haber conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT | PAST      | FUTURE   |
|-------------------|---------|-----------|----------|
| yo                | he      | hube      | habré    |
| tú                | has     | hubiste   | habrás   |
| él/ella/usted     | ha, hay | hubo      | habrá    |
| nosotros/nosotras | hemos   | hubimos   | habremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | habéis  | hubisteis | habréis  |
| ustedes           | han     | hubieron  | habrán   |
| ellos/ellas       | han     | hubieron  | habrán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "haber":

352 comments Gracias por haber venido.

40 comments Ella no puede haber perdido sus llaves.

37 comments Él no puede haber leído este documento.

32 comments Tienes que haber venido aquí de niño.

21 comments Ella no puede haber estado enferma.

844 quisiera

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/quisiera-querer-verb-imperative+subjunctive+tense-first+person-singular/b6387bbb26c70b877e746f2371e15a4d>

ENGLISH

(I) would like, (I/he/she/it/you) want

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

quiero Yo quiero ir al extranjero, por ejemplo, a Italia o España. I want to go abroad, for instance, to Italy or Spain.

quieres ¿Quieres salir conmigo? Do you want to go out with me?

quiere El problema es que mi hijo no quiere ir a la escuela. The problem is that my son does not want to go to school.

queremos Nosotros vamos a la escuela porque queremos aprender. We go to school because we want to learn.

quieren Mis amigos dicen que no quieren comer en ese restaurante. My friends say that they do not want to eat at that restaurant.

quisiera Yo quisiera tener un mundo en paz, con justicia para todos. I would like to have a world in peace, with justice for all.

quise Quise caminar al castillo. I wanted to walk to the castle.

quería Él ni siquiera quería saber mi nombre. He did not even want to know my name.

quiso Ella no quiso ir a la fiesta. She did not want to go to the party.

quería Él quería aprender a nadar. He wanted to learn how to swim.

quisieron Los niños quisieron caminar en la calle. The children wanted to walk on the street.

querido Nosotros hemos querido beber ese vino. We have wanted to drink that wine.

quiero Yo no quiero la falda negra. I do not want the black skirt.

quieres ¿Cuáles vestidos quieres? Which dresses do you want?

quiere Antonio quiere una fresa. Antonio wants a strawberry.

queremos No queremos emparedados. We do not want sandwiches.

quieren Los elefantes quieren agua. The elephants want water.

quieras Come pasta cuando quieras. Eat pasta whenever you want.

quiera Usted puede comenzar a comer cuando quiera. You can start to eat when you want to.

quisiera Si ella me quisiera, estaríamos juntos. If she loved me, we would be together.

quise Las quise menos que a ella. I loved them less than her.

quería Yo quería zapatos para una amiga mía. I wanted shoes for a friend of mine.

quisiste Lo quisiste. You wanted it.

quiso Usted nunca me quiso. You never loved me.

quisimos Nosotros no lo quisimos. We did not want it.

quisieron Mis amigos no los quisieron. My friends did not love them.

querer Ellos van a querer más comida. They are going to want more food.

querer conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT  | PAST       | FUTURE             |
|-------------------|----------|------------|--------------------|
| yo                | quiero   | quise      | querré             |
| tú                | quieres  | quisiste   | querrás            |
| él/ella/usted     | quiere   | quiso      | querrá             |
| nosotros/nosotras | queremos |            | quisimos querremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | queréis  | quisisteis | querréis           |
| ustedes           | quieren  | quisieron  | querrán            |
| ellos/ellas       | quieren  | quisieron  | querrán            |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "quisiera":

175 comments Yo quisiera que tú fueras a la universidad.

64 comments Yo quisiera sopa de pollo.

40 comments Si ella me quisiera, estaríamos juntos.

40 comments Quisiera un vaso de leche, por favor.

115 comments Tú quieres un león.

845 paga

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/paga-pagar-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-singular/28706253902ea3c7b25ccd8c630d1d87>

ENGLISH

pay, (he/she/it) pays, (he/she/it) pays for Example sentences

| WORD    | EXAMPLE                                | TRANSLATION                               |
|---------|----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| pago    | Yo pago, usted paga, ella paga.        | I pay, you pay, she pays.                 |
| pagas   | Tú pagas el almuerzo.                  | You pay for the lunch.                    |
| paga    | Yo pago, usted paga, ella paga.        | I pay, you pay, she pays.                 |
| pagamos | No pagamos la cena.                    | We do not pay for the dinner.             |
| pagan   | Nosotras pagamos, ellas pagan.         | We pay, they pay.                         |
| pagues  | ¡No pagues por ese emparedado!         | Do not pay for that sandwich!             |
| pagado  | No me han pagado desde el mes pasado.  | They have not paid me since last month.   |
| pagada  | Esta noche ya está pagada en el hotel. | Tonight is already paid for at the hotel. |
| pagar   | Ellos van a pagar por la revista.      | They are going to pay for the magazine.   |
| pagando | Ese día vimos a mis hijas pagando.     | That day we saw my daughters paying.      |

pagar conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT | PAST      | FUTURE    |
|-------------------|---------|-----------|-----------|
| yo                | pago    | pagué     | pagaré    |
| tú                | pagas   | pagaste   | pagarás   |
| él/ella/usted     | paga    | pagó      | pagará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | pagamos |           | pagaremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | pagáis  | pagasteis | pagaréis  |
| ustedes           | pagan   | pagaron   | pagarán   |
| ellos/ellas       | pagan   | pagaron   | pagarán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "paga":

64 commentsElla no paga.

45 comments¿Paga usted?

0 commentsYo pago, usted paga, ella paga.

139 commentsVoy a pagar por la fresa.

86 commentsNo pagues por ella.

846 llaman

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/llaman-llamar-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-plural/a8b0ad66ee7d68189134a31f8c94f0dd>

ENGLISH

call, (they/you-plural) call, (they/you-plural) call out

Example sentences

| WORD     | EXAMPLE                      | TRANSLATION                   |
|----------|------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| llamo    | Te llamo mañana.             | I'll call you tomorrow.       |
| llama    | ¿Cómo se llama la carretera? | What is the name of the road? |
| llamamos | Te llamamos.                 | We call you.                  |
| llaman   | Ustedes llaman al hospital.  | You call the hospital.        |
| llamé    | Te llamé esta mañana.        | I called you this morning.    |
| llamó    | ¿Por qué usted no me llamó?  | Why did you not call me?      |

llamaba Ella no llamaba a su familia desde hace dos años. She did not call her family for two years.

llamaron Ellos me llamaron. They called me.

llamado Estoy aquí porque ellos me han llamado. I am here because they have called me.

llamaré Llamaré mañana por la mañana. I will call tomorrow morning.

llama ¡Llama una ambulancia! Call an ambulance!

llamará Ella dice que te llamará luego. She says that she will call you later.

llamar La próxima vez voy a llamar a la policía. Next time I am going to call the police.

llamen ¡Llamen una ambulancia! Call an ambulance!

llamar conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT  | PAST       | FUTURE     |
|-------------------|----------|------------|------------|
| yo                | llamo    | llamé      | llamaré    |
| tú                | llamas   | llamaste   | llamarás   |
| él/ella/usted     | llama    | llamó      | llamará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | llamamos |            | llamaremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | llamáis  | llamasteis | llamaréis  |
| ustedes           | llaman   | llamarán   |            |
| ellos/ellas       | llaman   | llamarán   |            |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "llaman":

30 comments Ustedes llaman al hospital.

18 comments Ellas llaman al doctor.

15 comments Ellos llaman a la policía.

4 comments Ellos llaman al capitán.

83 comments Te llamo.

847 empresario

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/empresario-noun-masculine-singular/cbb24da6803c0e0a85ac4fe6979d1809>

ENGLISH

businessman, businessperson, entrepreneur

Example sentences

| WORD        | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                              | TRANSLATION                                 |
|-------------|----------|-----------|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| empresario  | singular | masculine | Yo soy un empresario.                | I am a businessman.                         |
| empresaria  | singular | feminine  | La empresaria escribe.               | The businesswoman writes.                   |
| empresarios | plural   | masculine | Las fresas son para los empresarios. | The strawberries are for the entrepreneurs. |

Discussions with the word "empresario":

62 comments Yo soy un empresario.

84 comments Las fresas son para los empresarios.

26 comments La empresaria escribe.

848 My parents eat rice

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/89143>

Translation: Mis padres comen arroz.

04 years ago

Leave a new comment

44 Comments

VelazquezIgnacio 15 4

En Mexico como en otras partes donde se habla español papas es lo mismo que padres

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

duvan_Alonso 6

si es lo mismo pero en papas se le coloca una tilde en la primera a

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[+] 2 hidden comments

Felixsaxo 8

Siii asi puse yo y me lo puso malo.. Que mal

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NobleJohn 21 20 14 8 8 6 6 3 2

The pronunciation is terrible!

9ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Darinelo 8

Si lo escuchas en modo lento se entiende un poco mejor.

4ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

dsoodmand 25 18 2

Very, very bad. Please block this sentence from your memory.

EDIT: They changed the voice and it's better now, though still a bit strange.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JennyferDe 10

papás y padres es lo mismo -.- por que no lo acepta?¿

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tuangel777 23 11 3

Si es lo mismo

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tuangel777 23 11 3

Porque no lo corrigen :3

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lys02 4

my parents eat rice

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Ed_03 15

Los nativos juntan la ultima consonante con la primera vocal de la otra frase

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

DianaPelay1 10

No manches hasta en lento se oye como eco y no se entiende muy bien

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Santiagong1 14

Yo estoy contigo tienes toda la razon

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lynettejimenez 11

that is wrong because parents in spanish will be: Papas or Padres

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

angienietog 10

Como se diria "Mis familiares comen arroz"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gushuerta1027 11 3 2

padres tambien se se puede como es posible que la marquen mal

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MCANADA150104 15 10

pq me quedo malll..... si coloque PAPAS y el cp corrigio PADRES y supuestamente esta mal...

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sentia1 9 2

yo puse papas, y papas es como padres.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CristinaGa345879 14 5

En mexico 'papas' es lo mismo que 'padres' y me la pusieron mal.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

danielaarevalo
que chevre

-2ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Colombiana45 16 8
esa pronunciación es terrible no se entiende nada

-2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Kennyja 11
Q mala pronunciacion eso es lo malo de esta app :(

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

3mas3 6
mi parientes comen arroz

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lufloidio 19 19 18 17 15 7 5 711
«padres», parientes creo que es «kin»

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

parrakatherine 10
porque no acepta papas si aca en colombia decir padres o papas es lo mismo !!

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lufloidio 19 19 18 17 15 7 5 711
¿Papas de cocinar? ¡ nosotros en Colombia! O ¡Papás!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

j.arteur 11
escribi, "mis papas" y me marco como incorrecto

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

phirolopez14 11
padres y papas son lo mismo

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

guillealtube222 7
Se tendría que aceptar "papas"

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mauriciocamalv 13 4

Papas es lo mismo que padres : parents

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lufloidio 19 19 18 17 15 7 5 711

¿Papas? O Papás con tilde por ser palabra aguda.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Spidigonzalez 7

¿ La tercera persona no era con "s" ( eats ) ?

-5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

-DubiDU- 18 17 9 1051

Con "s" van los verbos que acompañan a He/She/It. Parents es plural (they), por lo tanto, no lleva "s"

9ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

alejocr707 11 3

parents es lo mismo que progenitores y me la puso mala

-8ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Henry1030 10 2

No necesariamente, que tal si son adoptados.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

849 Hi! Would you mind practicing English with me ? I can help you With Spanish!

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9544579>

andreaaguilar06 6

Recién estoy usando esta página y me gustaría practicar el inglés , yo los puedo ayudar con el español , gracias.

Give Lingot

51 year ago

Leave a new comment

9 Comments

carzun15 6

Hola, esta es una de las buenas formas para canalizarse y aprender interactuando con otro compañero nativo de otro idioma y realizando con seriedad la causa. Estoy ala orden para ayudar con mi idioma Español, gracias

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ander313 10 8 3 3

Hola Andrea, me encantaria practicar mi español mientras ayudándole con tu ingles. Soy de los Estados Unidos. De donde eres?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fiorel7

hola yo soy peruana te podria ayudar a practicar el español

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ma.Crilin1998 10 8

Hola! pasaba por aca y no pude evitar leer los comentarios y de repente me tope con el tuyo! me gustaría practicar my ingles y esperaría poder ayudarte con tu español si te interesa podrias contactarme en Skype! marcelorws98-98@hotmail.com. o dime que otro medio te queda bien!.. saludos

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Raizindabern 18 12 8 5 2 513

Uh, wouldn't this thread be better suited for the "Spanish from English" forum? Andrea, you didn't think your master plan all the way through, didn't you?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hugoes2012 13

agregame podemos practicar , yo tambien quiero mejorar mi ingles

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EduardoArt.P 12 7 2

Hola Andrea mi nombre es Eduardo, mucho gusto. También me gustaría practicar inglés. Aquí está mi contacto. +526241254506.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fiorel7

me encanaría que me ayudes pliz

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ma.Crilin1998 10 8

hi every one i'm looking for someone who wants to talk whit a native spanish speaker! your level of spanish isn't so importat! i hope i could help you to improve your skils if you want to know what is my english level i think that it's around a 60 %! please if you are interesting in this! contact my by Skype! marcelorws98-98@hotmail.com or if you don't use say me what other options you would like to try!.. and tha's all.. i hope you have great day! i'll be waiting for your message! ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

ENGLISH

do, do!, (they/you-plural) do

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

|                   |                                                                |                                                          |
|-------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| hago              | Yo hago una pregunta.                                          | I ask a question.                                        |
| haces             | ¿Haces la comida?                                              | Do you make the food?                                    |
| hace              | Ella hace el almuerzo.                                         | She prepares lunch.                                      |
| hacemos           | Nosotros hacemos salsa.                                        | We prepare sauce.                                        |
| hagas             | Quiero que lo hagas.                                           | I want you to do it.                                     |
| haga              | ¿Hay algo más que quieres que haga?                            | Is there anything else you want me to do?                |
| hagan             | No lo hagan ahora.                                             | Do not do it now.                                        |
| hice              | Ya sabes qué hice.                                             | You already know what I did.                             |
| hacía             | Yo hacía la comida todos los días.                             | I used to make the food every day.                       |
| hiciste           | ¿Hiciste mucho dinero con tu restaurante?                      | Did you make a lot of money with your restaurant?        |
| hacías            | ¿Qué hacías esa noche en mi casa?                              | What were you doing that night at my house?              |
| hizo              | ¿Qué hizo ella el domingo?                                     | What did she do on Sunday?                               |
| hiciera           | Él quería que su amigo hiciera todos los planes para el viaje. | He wanted his friend to make all the plans for the trip. |
| hacía             | Ella siempre hacía el almuerzo.                                | She always used to make lunch.                           |
| hacíamos          | Cuando éramos niños, hacíamos más ejercicio.                   | When we were boys, we used to exercise more.             |
| hicieron          | Tus amigos no hicieron comida hoy.                             | Your friends did not make food today.                    |
| hacían            | Cuando éramos niños, mis amigos hacían más ejercicio.          | When we were boys, my friends used to exercise more.     |
| hecho             | ¿Has hecho algo esta semana?                                   | Have you done anything this week?                        |
| hecha             | La carne fue hecha hoy.                                        | The meat was made today.                                 |
| hechos            | No sé por qué esos trabajos son hechos por la noche.           | I do not know why those jobs are done at night.          |
| haría             | Yo no lo haría así.                                            | I would not do it that way.                              |
| haré              | Hoy haré más ejercicio que ayer.                               | Today I will exercise more than yesterday.               |
| harías            | ¿Harías algo por mí?                                           | Would you do something for me?                           |
| harás             | ¿Cuándo harás arroz con pollo?                                 | When will you make rice with chicken?                    |
| haría             | Yo no lo haría.                                                | I would not do it.                                       |
| hará              | Usted hará un buen producto.                                   | You will make a good product.                            |
| haciendo          | Mamá está haciendo la comida en la cocina.                     | Mom is making the food in the kitchen.                   |
| hacer             | ¿Puedes hacer arroz con pollo?                                 | Can you make rice with chicken?                          |
| haríamos          | No lo haríamos.                                                | We would not do it.                                      |
| haremos           | No lo haremos.                                                 | We will not do it.                                       |
| harían            | ¿Cuándo harían eso ellos?                                      | When would they do that?                                 |
| hacer conjugation |                                                                |                                                          |

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

PERSON PRESENT PAST FUTURE

|                   |         |           |         |
|-------------------|---------|-----------|---------|
| yo                | hago    | hice      | haré    |
| tú                | haces   | hiciste   | harás   |
| él/ella/usted     | hace    | hizo      | hará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | hacemos | hicimos   | haremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | hacéis  | hicisteis | haréis  |
| ustedes           | hacen   | hicieron  | harán   |
| ellos/ellas       | hacen   | hicieron  | harán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "hagan":

36 comments ¡No lo hagan!

11 comments No lo hagan ahora.

139 comments La carne fue hecha hoy.

131 comments Yo hago una pregunta.

95 comments ¿Haces la comida?

851 How do I block someone?

<https://support.duolingo.com/hc/en-us/articles/204820904-How-do-I-block-someone->

To block someone, follow these instructions:

Visit their profile

Click on the small gear icon to the right of their picture

Click on "Block <username>"

852 connais

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/connais-conna%C3%A9tre-verb-present+indicative+tense-first+person-singular/8e7ec86742eb636b7b5d952d7b215cb3>

ENGLISH

(I/you) know, (I) am familiar with, (I) am acquainted with

Example sentences

|      |         |             |
|------|---------|-------------|
| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |                       |                 |
|---------|-----------------------|-----------------|
| connais | Je connais le garçon. | I know the boy. |
|---------|-----------------------|-----------------|

|         |                      |                 |
|---------|----------------------|-----------------|
| connais | Tu connais un homme. | You know a man. |
|---------|----------------------|-----------------|

|         |                        |                 |
|---------|------------------------|-----------------|
| connaît | Il connaît les femmes. | He knows women. |
|---------|------------------------|-----------------|

|            |                           |                   |
|------------|---------------------------|-------------------|
| connaissez | Vous connaissez ma femme. | You know my wife. |
|------------|---------------------------|-------------------|

|             |                                     |                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| connaissais | Tu ne connaissais pas ce cuisinier. | You did not know that cook. |
|-------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------|

|              |                                                                 |                                           |
|--------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| connaissions | De temps en temps, nous voyions des gens que nous connaissions. | From time to time, we saw people we knew. |
|--------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|

|       |                                         |                                       |
|-------|-----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| connu | Jamais il n'avait connu pire situation. | He had never known a worse situation. |
|-------|-----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

|           |                                                        |                                          |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| connaître | Il lui faut connaître toutes les pièces de la voiture. | He has to know all the parts of the car. |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

connaître conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

|        |         |                      |
|--------|---------|----------------------|
| PERSON | PRESENT | FUTUREPAST IMPERFECT |
|--------|---------|----------------------|

|            |             |             |               |
|------------|-------------|-------------|---------------|
| je         | connais     | connaîtrai  | connaissais   |
| tu         | connais     | connaîtras  | connaissais   |
| il/elle/on | connaît     | connaîtra   | connaissait   |
| nous       | connaissons | connaîtrons | connaissons   |
| vous       | connaissez  | connaîtrez  | connaissez    |
| ils/elles  | connaissent | connaîtront | connaissaient |

Discussions with the word "connais":

38 commentsJe connais le garçon.
 35 commentsJe connais une femme.
 99 commentsTu ne connaissais pas ça.
 64 commentsIl connaît les femmes.
 63 commentsTu connais un homme.

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages

853 – 891 of 911

[accessed April 19, 2017]

853 Ce n'est pas une horloge

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1117935>

Translation: This is not a clock.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

40 Comments

peterflaneur 14 2

"Ceci n'est pas une pipe."

76ReplyGive Lingot6•2 years ago

percyflage 22 18 10

Non. C'est un television que j'ai emprunte.

(3 accents missing)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

2 -e missing: c'est une télévision que j'ai empruntée

5ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

percyflage 22 18 10

Merci!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Z9r 15 6

lol... tres bien! J'ai une chemise avec ces mots!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Dieuwertje 12 2

That's confusing! In my language (Dutch) "horloge" means watch/montre.

24ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

We have yet another one: "une pendule" (= une horloge with a pendulum).

8ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

arneman 12 11 11 8 7 3 3 3

I know, took me a while to adjust as well. Correct translation for a watch would be une montre. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alexisbutti 17 10 6

Et ceci n'est pas une pipe. Duolingo, let's talk about giving a meaning to sentences. I don't even know if my English grammar is right.

11ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

The_Best_Mikah 8

Most English speakers use improper grammar anyway.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

If your proposal was accepted, your English grammar must be right.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jamil_m88 14 10 5

Said Ahmed's teacher.....

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JayFlowmeester 10 2 2

I was thinking this same thing hahahaha

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Martinsspiegel 16 15 13 8 6 4 3 2

Magritte!

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

I-christ 23 8 150

Why not 'cette' - horloge is feminine?

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

howcheng 21 16 46

You only use «cette» when it immediately precedes a feminine noun. Cette horloge (this clock), but c'est une horloge.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gdevotta 12

Should this not be - Ce n'est pas DE horloge - don't indefinite articles change to 'de' in negative sentences

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

The reason is that you have state verb "être" here, which means that "une horloge" is not a direct object but what we call "un attribut" (ie defining the subject of verb être).

j'ai une horloge => je n'ai pas d'horloge (non-aspirate H): horloge is direct object c'est une horloge => ce n'est pas une horloge: horloge is "attribut"

16ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

managerx 25 14 6 6 5

Yes, in the negative sentences indefinite article or partitive article changes to "de" (According to this page: http://french.about.com/od/grammar/a/adverb\_negative.htm )

But, in this case I don't know why it haven't changed

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nicholas_ashley 25 8 14

In a negative sentence where the noun is the direct object of the verb (excluding être) being negated, de is commonly used instead of an indefinite or partitive article (un, une, du, de la, and des).

examples

Je n'ai pas de chien. - I don't have a dog.

Pas de problème. - Not a problem.

exception 1

If the verb is être the article remains the same.

example

C'est une poire, ce n'est pas une pomme. - It's a pear, it's not an apple.

exception 2

You can keep the article in order to stress the negative aspect:

examples

Je n'ai pas de sous. - I don't have any money.

Je n'ai pas un sou. - I (really) don't have any money.

Il ne veut pas de bébé. - He doesn't want a baby.

Il ne veut pas un bébé. - He (really) doesn't want a baby.

exception 3

With sports and games, you use the construct: jouer + à + definite article and with musical instruments you use the construct: jouer de + definite article.

examples

Son père ne joue pas au golf. - His father doesn't play golf.

Il joue du piano mais il ne joue pas de violon. - He plays the piano but doesn't play the violin.

exception 4

In negative sentences the indefinite article usually changes to de but not always. For example, both of the following two sentences are grammatically correct but their meanings are different.

Je n'ai pas un beau livre - I have a book but it isn't beautiful.

Je n'ai pas de beau livre - I have some books but none are beautiful.

The choice of article depends on the context.

Note

if the noun is not the direct object of the verb then de is not used instead of an indefinite or partitive article

examples

je n'ai jamais dîné dans un restaurant vietnamien.

je n'ai jamais joué dans un film. contrast Je n'ai jamais joué de rôle dans un film.

Je n'ai jamais assisté à un concert. contrast Je n'ai jamais écouté de concert.

je n'ai jamais participé à un marathon contrast je n'ai jamais courru de marathon

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

lintilla42 21 7 2

THIS is a clock!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

patriciacamilo19 21 15 5

MATRIX

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PillowParty 9

c'mon duolingo, what is it? i aint got the time! ;)

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

King_Doge0 12 3
? i put it does that work

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

King_Doge0 12 3
-_- wow.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

cibsoledade 14 2 2
Is there any difference between "horloge" and "montre"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7
une horloge is a tall, self-standing 'box' showing a clock at the top une pendule is smaller, self-standing clock you can sit on the top of a chimney une montre is a pocket or wrist watch.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

LiquidBlade 17 4
Questions: Is a horloge a wall clock or a 'grandfather clock'. Cause that's what your description sounds like

If not, does a pendule (having a pendulum) count as a grandfather clock?

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7
I think "une pendule" (sitting on your chimney or hung) is just smaller than "une horloge" when it comes to clocks.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LiquidBlade 17 4
I did some google image search, let me know if this is right.

Pendule seems to specifically be a stand-alone clock (that is small). It also has a pendulum. However, a grandfather clock would also be considered in this category (possibly with some attached article).

Horloge can be either a wall clock (which it is predominantly), but can also relate to huge clocks, such as the Big Ben.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

Yes, I also saw there are variants, for some "pendules" (small) do not have a pendulum, while old self-standing "horloges" (big) can have one.

The main 'differentiator' seems to be the size of the clock.

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

madelon771181 16 9 1
horloge is also a "watch", not "clock" only

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7
No, "une horloge" is not a watch (short for wrist-watch or pocket-watch).

a watch is "une montre" (short for une montre-bracelet or une montre à gousset)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AndrewKang4 13 5
Well guys, I guess these guys didn't find the missing clock from before.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Andrew_Rees 25 16 690
Ce n'est pas & ce n'ai pas both sound the same from the audio

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7
"ce n'ai" cannot happen, for "ai" is the exclusive form of conjugation for "je" and it is the verb "avoir".

"ce" is 3rd person singular, si if you hear [ne], it has to be "n'est", verb "être" in indicative present.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Andrew_Rees 25 16 690
Of course thank you.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Joshua458773 21 7 12
I thought the "s" in "pas" wasn't pronounced for negative sentences. Please can anybody clear this up?

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7
The liaison is optional but the sound with the liaison is nicer.

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

violone 11 5 19

But "horloge" or "horologe"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•yesterday

854 queremos

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/queremos-querer-modal+verb-present+indicative+tense-first+person-plural/8066c8af3bad5cf8894cb2d1f44a1b00>

ENGLISH

(we) want, love, like

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

quiero Yo quiero ir al extranjero, por ejemplo, a Italia o España. I want to go abroad, for instance, to Italy or Spain.

quieres ¿Quieres salir conmigo? Do you want to go out with me?

quiere El problema es que mi hijo no quiere ir a la escuela. The problem is that my son does not want to go to school.

queremos Nosotros vamos a la escuela porque queremos aprender. We go to school because we want to learn.

quieren Mis amigos dicen que no quieren comer en ese restaurante. My friends say that they do not want to eat at that restaurant.

quisiera Yo quisiera tener un mundo en paz, con justicia para todos. I would like to have a world in peace, with justice for all.

quise Quise caminar al castillo. I wanted to walk to the castle.

quería Él ni siquiera quería saber mi nombre. He did not even want to know my name.

quiso Ella no quiso ir a la fiesta. She did not want to go to the party.

quería Él quería aprender a nadar. He wanted to learn how to swim.

quisieron Los niños quisieron caminar en la calle. The children wanted to walk on the street.

querido Nosotros hemos querido beber ese vino. We have wanted to drink that wine.

quiero Yo no quiero la falda negra. I do not want the black skirt.

quieres ¿Cuáles vestidos quieres? Which dresses do you want?

quiere Antonio quiere una fresa. Antonio wants a strawberry.

queremos No queremos emparedados. We do not want sandwiches.

quieren Los elefantes quieren agua. The elephants want water.

quieras Come pasta cuando quieras. Eat pasta whenever you want.

quiera Usted puede comenzar a comer cuando quiera. You can start to eat when you want to.

quisiera Si ella me quisiera, estaríamos juntos. If she loved me, we would be together.

quise Las quise menos que a ella. I loved them less than her.

quería Yo quería zapatos para una amiga mía. I wanted shoes for a friend of mine.

quisiste Lo quisiste. You wanted it.

quiso Usted nunca me quiso. You never loved me.

quisimos Nosotros no lo quisimos. We did not want it.

quisieron Mis amigos no los quisieron. My friends did not love them.

querer Ellos van a querer más comida. They are going to want more food.

querer conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT  | PAST       | FUTURE    |
|-------------------|----------|------------|-----------|
| yo                | quiero   | quise      | querré    |
| tú                | quieres  | quisiste   | querrás   |
| él/ella/usted     | quiere   | quiso      | querrá    |
| nosotros/nosotras | queremos | quisimos   | querremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | queréis  | quisisteis | querréis  |
| ustedes           | quieren  | quisieron  | querrán   |
| ellos/ellas       | quieren  | quisieron  | querrán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "queremos":

19 commentsElla y yo queremos ser amigos.

12 commentsNosotros queremos participar.

10 commentsMis amigos y yo queremos ser doctores.

9 commentsNosotros vamos a la escuela porque queremos aprender.

175 commentsYo quisiera que tú fueras a la universidad.

855 arriver

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/arriver-verb-infinitive/b34b9ac97afd9c2439c7608be635b23f>

ENGLISH

arrive, (to) arrive, (to) come

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

arrive J'arrive au mauvais moment ? Do I arrive at the wrong moment?

arrive Elle arrive bientôt. She is arriving soon.

arrivent Des policiers arrivent. Some police officers are coming.

arrivé Il est arrivé au même moment. He arrived at the same time.

arrivés Nous sommes arrivés. We have arrived.

arriver Les dames vont arriver bientôt. The ladies are going to arrive soon.

arriver conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON     | PRESENT  | FUTURE     | PAST IMPERFECT |
|------------|----------|------------|----------------|
| je         | arrive   | arriverai  | arrivais       |
| tu         | arrives  | arriveras  | arrivais       |
| il/elle/on | arrive   | arrivera   | arrivait       |
| nous       | arrivons | arriverons | arrivions      |
| vous       | arrivez  | arriverez  | arriviez       |
| ils/elles  | arrivent | arriveront | arrivaient     |

Discussions with the word "arriver":

43 commentsIl peut y arriver.

33 commentsLes dames vont arriver bientôt.

25 commentsTu peux y arriver.

21 commentsJe ne peux pas arriver avant lui.

12 commentsTu ne vas pas y arriver.

856 No quiero carne

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/114737>

Translation: I do not want meat.

04 years ago

Leave a new comment

45 Comments

merrylilli 17 8 2

I forgot to think in English. I typed, "I no want meat."

17ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Yourfacerecords 6

For I am a vegetarian

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

goblok 5

why is "i don't like meat" incorrect???

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

droma 21 75

I don't like meat. = No me gusta carne.

27ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

aliseea 6

But some Spanish speakers (like mis abuelos) also use "quiero" to mean like or love. Example: Yo quiero mucho, Alicia. My nana is not saying she WANTS me, but that she loves me. Can anyone else comment on this?

4ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

caiser 19 10 9 7

The verb querer in Spanish has two principal meanings, one of them is similar to love in English and the other is similar to want or desire. But the use is different, when we use querer as love we use it always with pronoun, so "I love you" is translated as "(Yo) Te quiero", but when it means "want" the pronoun is only used when needed., so "yo quiero mucho" is always translated as "I want much", to say "I love you so much" we would say "Te quiero mucho"

The verb like is never translated as "querer", at least I can say a context when it can be translated like that. The nearest meaning in Spanish is "gustar"

8ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

baqer0921 7

But this is computer :) and has his severe rules :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

[+] 1 hidden comment

glennonrp 12

I think it would be understood that yo quiero carne meant I like meat without romance being involved. It can mean both.

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

rebequitasalas 7

No. Me gusta carne is I like meat. Yo quiero carne is I want meat. Difference.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DanielaStranieri 15 13 5 4 2 40

ok, "i like meat" could be translated with "me gusta carne"... so, why DL for "quiero" suggest "i want" or "I like"???

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

DanHoyt 16

Why is "I do not want flesh" incorrect? That's what the hint says! carne=flesh.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mitaine56 15 6

danhoyt- flesh is soft parts of an animal, muscles. Carne is what we eat, meat.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NathanChan31 12 15

The -o ending in quiero is a hint to tell you first person talking. Such as " Yo". Am I correct?

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Shkia 9 7 6 6

Yes you are. Spanish speakers probably never even say Yo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IndianaYoSoy 10 3 3

Yo no quiero carne, sino vegetales. :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Dounette6133 12 6

The first time I got this question I answered I don't want meat I was corrected with I don't like meat ok no big deal. I was happy getting this question again so I answered I don't like meat with all the confidence in the world but NO! I was corrected again with I don't want meat. Seriously!

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Ramsey 8
why does love (instead of want) not work?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

caiser 19 10 9 7
We don't love objects, for us to love is "amar"

6ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

priella1 10
<http://www.spanishdict.com/translate/querer>

But caiser is correct here.

amar would seem a little creepy...or insane... lol like we were saying we do not love meat..

like we would never desire or marry...our luncheon loaf...

or go out on a date... with a rack of lamb...

Though, hopefully, this is a correct statement.. lol. ;)

Again, amar would make us sound a bit strange.. lol.

I'll try to be a little more clear.

amar is like romantic love and feelings of the like

Example:

It's wasn't:

Yo Amo Taco Bell. - Taco Bell is sooooo dreamy. ( faints )

It was:

Yo Quiero Taco Bell - I want tacos and only if they come from Taco Bell.

12ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

smgriffith76 10 8 3
Lollllll times infinity on this comment

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

nat22324 6

"Encantada carne" is "I love meat." "Encantada" is used for loving objects. Whereas, "quiero" CAN be used to love people, in context. For example, "Te quiero" is "I love you"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago spartan209 5

why is there no yo before this sentence? i want my heart back!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

m7ia 11 11 2

The "yo" is optional; I believe the pronoun is included in "quiero" since it is in the first person conjugation.

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Lisa_Kemp 6

Why is beef wrong?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

caiser 19 10 9 7

Beef is "ternera"

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

mitaine56 15 6

lisa- when we eat meat, it doesn't mean that we eat beef, it can also be, chicken or else

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

IzabellaJ. 12 11 11 10 10 8 6 5 4 3 3

Why is "I do not want ANY meat" incorrect?!? It does not add or change anything about the whole statement.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TristanMmm 12 11 15

Why is: "No I do not want meat" incorrect?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Taylor_Coleman 6

The "No" sounded like "Yo"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Keima. 25 2

No like meat!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ApriWd 11 6
how about "yo No quiero carne."

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Keygan20 12
P

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MrDontAsk3 5
This site has an odd vegetarian agenda...

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

harsh183 8
Where does the I come from?

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

james39754 10
?

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

AuroraC.M. 4
What am I typing? Of course I want meat! I love meat!

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

RichardAve10 2 2
Pffff....more for me then :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

NaomiTheAw 4
They never taught me how to say meat

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Juliet400241 7
"Meat" wasn't an option shown?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

DonPlemmon 8 6
This sentence is wrong.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

DonPlemmon 8 6

I do want meat...

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

daniel.w.lambert 10

Did any one else have to do this over because they put "I do not want his meat"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

857 verbessern

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/verbessern-verb-infinitive/0cdd056b303633110f6de5c6ebbe9581>

ENGLISH

improve, improve on, improve upon

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|            |                                                   |                                                |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| verbessert | Er hat seine Beziehung zu seinem Sohn verbessert. | He has improved his relationship with his son. |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|

|            |                                         |                                         |
|------------|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| verbessern | Ich werde den Beitrag heute verbessern. | I will optimize the contribution today. |
|------------|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|

verbessern conjugation

Indicative

Conditional

Others

| PERSON    | PRESENT     | PAST          |
|-----------|-------------|---------------|
| ich       | verbessere  | verbesserte   |
| du        | verbesserst | verbessertest |
| er/sie/es | verbessert  | verbesserte   |
| wir       | verbessern  | verbesserten  |
| ihr       | verbessert  | verbessertet  |
| sie/Sie   | verbessern  | verbesserten  |

Discussions with the word "verbessern":

11 commentsDen Artikel werde ich verbessern.

9 commentsWir müssen unsere Ernährung verbessern.

6 commentsIch werde den Beitrag heute verbessern.

5 commentsWir werden unser Leben verbessern.

5 commentsIch werde den Artikel verbessern.

858 vivía

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/viv%C3%ADa-vivir-verb-imperfect+indicative+tense-third+person-singular/ad63fbefc3c0bc1e3057974bbb7b958>

ENGLISH

(I/he/she/it/you) used to live, (I/he/she/it/you) used to be alive, (I/he/she/it/you) lived

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

vivo Yo vivo con mis padres. I live with my parents.
 vives ¿Vives solo? Do you live alone?
 vive El hombre joven vive en una casa vieja. The young man lives in an old house.
 vivimos Nosotros vivimos cerca de la plaza. We live close to the plaza.
 viven Mis padres viven en la isla. My parents live on the island.
 vivas Él quiere que tú vivas por muchos años. He wants you to live for many years.
 viva ¡Que viva el rey! Long live the king!
 vivan Mi sueño es que ellos vivan hasta que tengan setenta años. My dream is for them to live until they are seventy years old.
 vivía Él vivía con su novia. He used to live with his girlfriend.
 vivido He vivido aquí por treinta años. I have lived here for thirty years.
 vivir Tengo que vivir allí por un año. I have to live there for one year.
 vivir conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            |       | PRESENT  | PAST      | FUTURE    |
|-------------------|-------|----------|-----------|-----------|
| yo                | vivo  | viví     | viviré    |           |
| tú                | vives | viviste  | vivirás   |           |
| él/ella/usted     | vive  | vivió    | vivirá    |           |
| nosotros/nosotras |       | vivimos  | vivimos   | viviremos |
| vosotros/vosotras |       | vivís    | vivisteis | viviréis  |
| ustedes           | viven | vivieron | vivirán   |           |
| ellos/ellas       | viven | vivieron | vivirán   |           |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "vivía":

36 comments Él vivía con su novia.
 32 comments Ella vivía en un hotel.
 16 comments Usted vivía en Argentina.
 85 comments ¡Que viva el rey!
 70 comments Ellos han vivido aquí por diez años.

859 Toutes les bonnes choses ont une fin

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1304583>

Translation: All good things come to an end.

13 years ago

Leave a new comment

88 Comments

gbrown022 14

...as does my perfect score as I haven't seen this phrase before :)

188ReplyGive Lingot3•3 years ago

usrjson 10 9 7 2

I lol'd at this one

13ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JewishPolyglot 14 13 12 11 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

Yeah, now I get why they give us three hearts. This talk is almost impossible if you haven't grown up with it

20ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

gpvos 10 9 5 2

As we say in Dutch: all good things have an end, and a sausage even two! (i.e., a sausage even has two ends)

70ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

JoCurryrice 12 10 6

In French, the classic joke is "Toutes les bonnes choses ont une fin, sauf la banane, qui en a deux." (literally: "All good things have an end, except bananas, which have two.")

61ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Eulilchen 15 12 11 9 8 6 4 4 2

In German it's the same sentence with (of cause!!!) a saussage instead: "Alles hat ein Ende nur die Wurst hat zwei" (says the vegan)

13ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

TheTastyWord 14 10 6

Ha! Love the Dutch and French sense of humor! :)

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mariska1234567 19 10 9 6 2

well... i am Dutch, but i've never heard of that sentence before. It's funny though ;)

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RubinaChit 9 8

Why is "all the good things come to an end" incorrect?

14ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1383

Because in English we don't put the definite article (the) in before good things, in general and specifically not in this idiom.

10ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jrikhal 22 18 18 7 6 5 5 5 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 3

[deleted]

Give Lingot•3 years ago

WeiDeTaiwan 20 14 12
[deleted]

1Give Lingot•3 years ago

DavidWood583222 8
native frenchspeakers: in english we normally drop the ends of the idioms i.e. just say "when in rome" or "all good things". Does one do that in french?

6ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

HorsePlaya 9
Yes, for example when using the idiom "Et quand ça vient, ça va" in response to "ça va, ça vient" most people just say the first few words, "Et quand ça vient..." and leave it there.

6ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

SHIKHAR77 8
If it is LES there can't we write THE as in ALL THE GOOD THINGS COME TO AN END

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BryanLeeM 10 4
The English idiom is "All good things come to an end". You ARE doing idioms and proverbs, after all.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SourireCache 16 9 5 3
Question: Why is the verb 'devoir' not used in this expression, since all "good things MUST come to an end" is being said here?

4ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

shawthorn 14 5 4 4 2 2 2
It's an idiomatic expression - the French phrase is as known in francophone countries as the English one is in the Anglosphere. Anyone doing this exercise in the other direction would be complaining that the English version should be "all good things have an end"!

28ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

namdlefhtes 13
That is reasonable I suppose, but I assume when we are translating for idioms we are translating for meaning, not word for word.

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Conqueror_Elmo 16 2
You're right, but I like to know what the translation is word for word anyway because it helps me remember how to write the phrase.

15ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

DuoSay13751 8

Yes but there is actually a difference of character in what is being said here.

All good things must (eventually) come to an end, carries a feint connotation that, if they did not, then they would not be good things.

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

AlexanderI2 16 11

'Nothing lasts forever' could be offered as an alternative

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tejuuu 13 10

They have another idiom for that, don't they? Rien n'est eternel?

15ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

elizablu 18 12 3 2

Maybe not, since the French and the commonly given English, "all good things come to an end," both contain the idea of GOOD things specifically. But I'm being quite picky; it's approximately right.

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RuthIngles1 10 6 6 3

The idiom in english is must

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Alan334351 19 137

In England we say 'all things must pass'.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AdrianGlamorgan 18 7 3 2 2

Could a kind person enlighten me as to why "All good things must pass" would not be an accurate translation?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TobyBartels 11 10 9 9 9 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 2 1

It's not literally the same as the French, and it's not how it's said in English. (Unless that is how it's said in English where you're from, in which case you should report it!)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mglenn13 12 7

Yes, "All good things must pass" and "all good things must end" are common versions of this idiom.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

gesker 17

Just got these: "Correct solutions: • Every good thing come to an end. • All good things come to an end." The first one is incorrect - it must be "comes" because 'thing' is 3rd p sgl and thus the verb must end in -s. Have reported it; just posting here in case someone is confused by it. Second solution is correct.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

crazyoddygal 11 10 9 21

Does the speaker pronounce "choses ont" as /sho zer zon/?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

JeaneSpeaksFunk 10 9 2 2

I keep hearing /sho ze zon/

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

AntToddy 17 5

Agreed - shouldn't choses sound like "choz" here regardless of whether plural or singular?

7ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

TobyBartels 11 10 9 9 9 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 2 1

liaison

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[+] 2 hidden comments

Flicka930 15 15

I am hearing a liason between choses and ont. Is this correct?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ladymontecristo 13 11 1

I hear it, too. The French audio has always been muddy for me, but no trouble with the Italian audio.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Nihongoneko14 17 15 10 9 9 8 6 6 6 5 4 3 2

<https://m.youtube.com/?#/watch?v=4pBo-GL9SRg>

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

King.Sid 23 9 8

Should not "All things good come to an end be allowed

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1383

English doesn't put the adjective after the noun.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sthasselback 12 4

"They say that all good things must end, someday, Autumn leaves must fall.." - Chad and Jeremy, Summer Song :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sthasselback 12 4

"They say that all good things must end, someday, Autumn leaves must fall.." - Chad and Jeremy, Summer Song :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

boyka_y 25 20 16 11 604

Well I was taking notes when I studied this section. I marked in my notebook as a correct answer: "All good things must end" Somehow today this answer, given then by Duolingo is not correct anymore. How is that possible?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1383

Because when an 'answer' is reported as incorrect enough it sometimes gets removed. Although that looks like one of the idioms that works as a translation so I'm not sure why it did. Try reporting it.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

boyka_y 25 20 16 11 604

Thanks, I did.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SierraKala 6

assumed we were translating the idiom and where I'm from we say "All good things must come to an end." I translated it as such and was wrong for adding the word "must" which is upsetting. I wish it usually lets me translate it kind of correctly but not for this one. Also the phrase "Everything good come to an end" is not grammatically correct. It needs to be "everything good comes to an end" or "everything good must come to an end."

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

feyMorgaina 14 14 13 12 12 12 11 11 11 10 9 6 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 2 896

"All good things must come to an end" is accepted as of 2016-01-31.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PavelAntropov 11 9 8 8 4 4 3 3 3 2
What about "nothing lasts forever"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

feyMorgaina 14 14 13 12 12 12 11 11 11 10 9 6 6 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 2 896
That would be "Rien n'est éternel".

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

feyMorgaina 14 14 13 12 12 12 11 11 11 10 9 6 6 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 2 896
"All good things must come to an end" - Q

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/All\_Good\_Things...\_\(Star\_Trek:\_The\_Next\_Generation\))

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lando_007 18 12 12 12 9 6 6 flames to dust... lovers to friends

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pichaliiin 21 6 44
Valar Morghulis

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

brigids.em 13 11 7 6 4 4
Valar Dohaeris!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

charte719 9
Why is end used with une as opposed to un? Isn't the end, "Le fin" ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CJ.Dennis 25 13 10 9 9 9 9 9 9 409
It might not look it, but « fin » is a feminine noun, so it's « la fin », « une fin ».

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Catherine273623 14
This too shall pass, I've heard, but not all things must pass

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

ashpriom 13 3 124
How do I say "All good things end sometime" rather than using "have an end"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

RosesOfTheDay 7

I said "All things good must come to an end" but it said that it was and and it was "Everything good must come to an end"...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1383

English has adjectives before nouns. good things, not things good.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

-Nico_1325- 25 3 26

nope not One Piece

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

Ehsan_Mehmed 25 21 20 17 15 15 12 11 10 10 10 10 8 8 7 6 6 6 5 4 3 2 2 17

"Semua akan indah pada waktunya" -Indonesian

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

Sissi990 13 12 9

Why not "All good things have to come to an end"? = ("have to" instead of "must")

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1383

Don't think that's the English idiom.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

inneedofallah 12 11

all the good come to end

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

inneedofallah 12 11

every good thing come to an end

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

WillowTan 25 5

...like Mary Stuart's life. Wait, her life wasn't that great. I mean, almost half of it was spent in captivity! I bet she became an expert at whining, sulking, moping, etc. But I still admire her

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JuliaChris14 12

Why is "all is well that ends well" incorrect?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1383

Because it's not the same meaning. "All's well that end's well" means that no matter the means to achieve a good ending, as long as it ended up well things are fine.

"All good things come to an end" means that nothing, even good things, lasts forever.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JuliaChris14 12

Merci Beaucoup!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

john858645 12 11 7 3

Isn't it all good things have THEIR end?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

plm3010 12

Why "all that is" doesn't work ???

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Siipisimppu 14 13 10 9 7 6 5 4 2 2 2

I'd like to know this too. My answer "All that is good will come to an end" is incorrect, and I don't understand the meaningful difference between that answer and the correct answer. Hope someone knows!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jonathanbost 16 10 7 7 6 213

Except Jesus Christ!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

peintresue 12 3

The answer given -every good thing come to an end -isn't English

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AllisterGr2 13 7 6

"All of the good things come to an end" was marked as incorrect.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

diddeto 9 6

Home come ALL good comes to an end is not ok, when ALL good things come to an end is ok

-1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Ariaflame 25 25 14 1383

I assume you meant 'how come' there, and the answer is twofold. One, the French has 'things' in it "choses", and the other is that the English idiom is "All good things come to an end", there is no English idiom that has "all good comes to an end"

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

bana369526 11 10 4

Oui , sûrement

-1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

CinthiaBru4 9 6

Em português há uma expressão equivalente: "tudo o que é bom dura pouco."

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 days ago

bana369526 11 10 4

<h1>b</h1>

-2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

860 [Song ngữ] 20 hình vẽ cho thấy smartphone đã kiểm soát cuộc sống của chúng ta như thế nào
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/18106868>

giaphi 25 3

a

You won't find many people who are ready to admit just how much they depend on their smartphone, computer or tablet. But this is completely natural for the high-tech world we live in, you'll say. Nevertheless, once in a while it's worth facing up to the reality of what impact this dependency has on our lives. The following collection of images will help you do just that. Take a look.

Không phải ai cũng sẵn sàng thừa nhận mình bị phụ thuộc vào smartphone, máy tính hoặc máy tính bảng. Bạn sẽ nói rằng điều này là hoàn toàn bình thường trong thế giới công nghệ cao mà chúng ta đang sống. Tuy nhiên, thỉnh thoảng cũng nên đối mặt với thực tế rằng sự phụ thuộc này đã ảnh hưởng tới cuộc sống của chúng ta như thế nào. Những hình vẽ sau đây sẽ giúp bạn làm điều đó. Hãy cùng xem qua nhé.

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

a

Tổng hợp và biên dịch bởi Gia Phi - Theo Bright Side

Give Lingot4
486 months ago

Leave a new comment
105 Comments

Do_Nhi2 8 7
like

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

culacc 7 2
like like like mod ơi ^^

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

...MoonLight... 25 10 10 402
Bài của mod có khác, tý cái đã được nhiều lời bình với like như thế r...Chẹp...Like mod :))

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Characters7 20

like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Characters7 20

mắc cười khúc cuối, ngu ớn.!

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

Nói thật với mod (hơi kì) 1 ngày em thiếu cái ipad hay cái đt là em sống kh nổi đó ạ ^^ 1like for mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

đấy gọi là sống ảo :) giống em....

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

Ừ mà chị chỉ vào Duo, Mess, Fb, Zalo là hết rồi mà cái đt hết pin là lao vào ipad xong rồi sạc đt, sau khi ipad hết pin lại chơi đt, lâu lâu quên sạc thì dùng lap

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

Xóa hết cmt đi em gái, loãng topic mod Phi đấy

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

_Suzue_ 25 25 12 11 10 10 10 10 6 5 5 2

Thế thời gian học đâu? :v

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

Học cx bằng đt luôn, trường tui dạy theo phương pháp soạn bài trên công nghệ nên thế

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

_Suzue_ 25 25 12 11 10 10 10 10 6 5 5 2

Soạn bài trên công nghệ?! :v

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

Là soạn bài, làm bài trên máy riêng rồi kết nối với máy chủ của giáo viên để gv kt tất cả mọi ng, và nó đc thực hiện hoàn toàn ở trên iPad, phone hoặc lap

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

_Natsume_Sorane_ 9 315

Ờ, sướng thế ' _ '

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

Ukm^^

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

linhvalinh 11 6 2

sướng thế!đang mong k đc

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

linhvalinh 11 6 2

nhưng so vs nc ngoài vẫn chưa là gì - _'" nhưng là hiện đại ở VN rồi

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

Dii.Dii 8

Ừm. Sướng mỗi có wifi toàn trường và luôn luôn đc bật đt trong giờ học^^

0Give Lingot•6 months ago

...Firefly... 25 25 12 9 8 3 3 3 3 2 2 317

like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

[deactivated user]

em thấy ngưỡng mộ bản thân khi vẫn sống mà không có xì mát phôn

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

thật ko O.O chị có laptop ko hay chị dùng ipad -_-

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

[deactivated user]

cj có em để ngủ ngon lành trên nóc tủ nhà cj quê ko có ipad laptop bố ốm cj chung tình với cái máy bàn

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

-_- hóa ra là z :v

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Anamikas 16 8 7 3 2 2

1 like for mod

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

Cho em hỏi nhé mod, mod học trường đại học nào vậy ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

giaphi 25 3

anh ra trường đi làm lâu rồi em ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

...Jolie... 8 5

thế anh học trường gì?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Do_Nhi 12 11 11 8 355

thì em hỏi là lúc còn đi học thì học trg đại học nào -_- còn 26 t rồi ai mà chả biết anh đã ra trường :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

.....Evie..... 12 2 2

Like choa anh Mod Phi

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

"anh Mod Phi" -_-

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Do_Nhi2 8 7

mod rồi còn anh :v

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

HoAnggVy 9

hay quá có thể đọc hoài không chán luôn ấy chứ

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

White_Cats 8

Like nhé, từ giờ chắc phải để điện thoại trong két sắt quá đi mất :))

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

linhvalinh 11 6 2

thử nổi đôi ba ngày không

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Tonthatgiahien 8

so cool give 1 ling

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Tonthatgiahien 8

2 ling

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

01278464620 6

uk đứng hình bố hay mẹ tở lun .....ahihi

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

linhvalinh 11 6 2

thiệt hử,nhà tở mỗi tở vs em tở

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Buitandung2006 7

hay

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

NgocHa2003 13 8 3 2

1like cho Mod nhé, bài rất ý nghĩa

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

VHngGiang15 12

like

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Duo.lin.go.tai 6
hay thế

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

tungan2005 15 10 6 2 2 2 2 2
like for mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

thuynadoantfbboy 7
hay woa like cho bn

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Chii_be 12 2
haha, like cho mod ạ

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

[deactivated user]
like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

...Ariana... 8 2 1
Hay quá mod ơi, nhưng dạo này em thấy Mod có vẻ ít đăng topic vậy ạ. 1 Like for Mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

giaphi 25 3
dạo này mod bận

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

buithaoan140905 12 6
lờ ai lai phờ o pho mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

linhvalinh 11 6 2
ukm

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

...Mei... 4
like cho mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

hoanghavirgo 13 7 2 2
like

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

VnAnhTrnh1 10 3 2
1 like cho mod! Quá đúng

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

DeaneK.Zegeln 18 1
chưa có điện thoại hay laptop, chỉ có một con xp bán sở hữu yếu xìu nên không bị tông cột điện :v

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

```
ran_pretty1 13 2
like Mod!
```

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

huyenovem 25 25 7 6 5 5 5 5 4 4 4 4 3 3 2 2 402
1 like cho mod. Hay quá

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

```
anime_ecchi 6
hay quasaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa cho mod 10000000000000000000000000000000 like
```

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

[deactivated user]
Thời buổi công nghệ thông tin mà tránh sao đc hả mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Uzumaki_Naruto_ 9 6 5 3
like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Uzumaki_Naruto_ 9 6 5 3
Hay quá mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

```
_minecraft_ 15 4 3 2
mod σi like
```

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

_Natsume_Sorane_ 9 315

Vẫn sống khi không có smartphone :) A like cho mod :)

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Nina_Yato 9 3

mk like for mod k có điện thoại chỉ dùng máy tính xách tay của ba

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

...Jolie... 8 5

like mạnh Mod ơi! E cx bị nghiện smartphone rồi!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

HoHoangDan23-09 25 10 3 2 2 2 59

hay quá mod ơi

0ReplyGive Lingot4•6 months ago

FN-5.7 18 8 3 3

like mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

_jack_frost_ 11

like cho anh

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

_jack_frost_ 11

ko điện thoại chết liền

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

KatherineMoore3 9 9 240

like mod

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

NgocLien1 8 79

Like

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

Haru...Haru 21 11 7 6 4 2 2 2 2 2 2 195

1 like ạ

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

[deactivated user]
bai mod rat hay

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

nguoila05 23 8 6 2

Cả bài rất đẹp cho tới khi... "chủ nhân" -.-

0ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

culacc 7 2
toàn là mod dịch a? giỏi quá!

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

thutranglove6a3 3
hay đấy

0ReplyGive Lingot24•6 months ago

haniexid 11
1 like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

gps1112 25 23 17 9 7 7 7 6 61
like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

linhvalinh 11 6 2
^ _

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

nguynnngocthuy123 7 5
hay quá mod ơi! like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

nguynnngocthuy123 7 5
anh toàn đăng bài hữu ích <bây giờ em mới thấy nên like cho mod hơi muộn>

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Yoshikumi_Chiaki 8 2 2
like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

01674028290 7

anh là mod sao? bài hay ghê, đang buồn thì cũng phải cười luôn

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

01674028290 7

thế mà ít người tặng like ghê.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

01674028290 7

em đưa thêm cái nha

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

01674028290 7

hahahaaaaaaaaaaaa.....chịu không nổi nữa , buồn cười quá

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Thieno9630 15

Like

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Takasune_Miika 10 3 2 2 5

like for Mod ^^

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

lemaithienthu10 8

like , mà bn giaphi ơi , mấy bữa trước mik có làm một khóa học , mik là đơn gửi rùi , nó nhắn mail cho mik là ..... Mà hôm sau mik lên lại thì thấy bình thường ( Mik biết mik ko đc chọn ) Mik làm lại vài lần nữa , vẫn y như cũ . Tại sao mik lại ko được chọn ???

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

DestartreK1st 15 7 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 2 2

Hahahahahahahahahahaha!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Yamate-Midori. 4

Mod nói quá chuẩn, 1 like nha Mod. ^^

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

dangvietchi 9

1 like quá hay

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

-gol.d.roger- 6 3
hay

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Purple...Tear_ 12 6 3 2
1 like cho mod

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Magical_Dream 7
like

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Beautiful_heart 8 8 6 4 3
1 like for you very good and keep going ok

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Beautiful_heart 8 8 6 4 3
Đúng là Mod có khác đăng gì cũng hay

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

nhV735405 8
làm thế nào để nhận lingots khi đăng topic

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Erza-scarlet1 8
hay 1 like

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

thaolyxu321 8
like mạnh

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

monsternaki 5
one like for you

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

[illegible]

luminosS2 10 5

os 600k significa eles tem 600 mil seguidores no facebook." k" significa mil e "kk"e milhão. exemplo:

eu tenho 8k = eu tenho 8 mil

eu tenho 1kk = eu tenho 1 milhão

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ThunderTail 19

Atá... obrigada

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

862 certa

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/certa-certo-determiner-indefinite-feminine-singular/f47e9d5f98b54726541663dfda0f4b4b>

ENGLISH

certain, for certain, certainly

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|       |                                  |                                     |
|-------|----------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| certa | Certa gente non lavora come lui. | Certain people don't work like him. |
|-------|----------------------------------|-------------------------------------|

|       |                                          |                                            |
|-------|------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| certi | Certi individui non mangiano la verdura. | Certain individuals do not eat vegetables. |
|-------|------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|

|       |                                               |                                                 |
|-------|-----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| certe | Le cose non stanno come dicono certe persone. | Things are not how certain people say they are. |
|-------|-----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|

|       |                                  |                                   |
|-------|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| certo | La tartaruga non è certo nostra. | The turtle is certainly not ours. |
|-------|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

|       |                               |                                   |
|-------|-------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| certi | Decidiamo perché siamo certi. | We decide because we are certain. |
|-------|-------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

|       |                             |                             |
|-------|-----------------------------|-----------------------------|
| certe | Siete certe della risposta? | Are you sure of the answer? |
|-------|-----------------------------|-----------------------------|

Discussions with the word "certa":

30 commentsCon certa gente non lavoro.

23 commentsCerta gente non impara mai.

20 commentsCerta gente non lavora come lui.

75 commentsCerti uomini amano gli animali.

62 commentsCerte cose cambiano col tempo.

863 feste

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/feste-festa-noun-feminine-plural/e9638cfd559375c3780bf9cccfcb53b3>

ENGLISH

parties, holiday, party

Example sentences

| WORD | NUMBER | GENDER | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|--------|--------|---------|-------------|
|------|--------|--------|---------|-------------|

|       |          |          |                          |                                       |
|-------|----------|----------|--------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| festa | singular | feminine | Vieni alla festa domani? | Are you coming to the party tomorrow? |
|-------|----------|----------|--------------------------|---------------------------------------|

|       |        |          |                           |                               |
|-------|--------|----------|---------------------------|-------------------------------|
| feste | plural | feminine | Le feste non sono domani. | The parties are not tomorrow. |
|-------|--------|----------|---------------------------|-------------------------------|

Discussions with the word "feste":

24 commentsLe feste sono ad agosto.

14 commentsLe feste sono a febbraio.

7 commentsLe feste non sono domani.

29 commentsOggi è la festa della donna.

14 commentsVieni alla festa domani?

864 Te voy a presentar a mi familia

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/173080>

Translation: I am going to introduce you to my family.

04 years ago

Leave a new comment

53 Comments

sherryhanan 15

I said .....going to introduce my family to you.....probably missing some protocol??

11ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

rspreng 24

Hmmm.....good question. It seems that "te" can be indirect or direct object, and that "a mi familia" could be a direct object (personal "a" + mi familia) or a prepositional phrase, so it could be either way. Hmmm.....

23ReplyGive Lingot1•4 years ago

LGH 16

I was once so preoccupied by this, I had long discussions with Spanish-speaking friends in my circle. I asked them to translate: "I am going to present you to my family." Then I asked them to translate: "I am going to present my family to you." Guess what? Haha, the same thing. :) Then they explained that the act of "introducing" is a two-way act and what matters is that the two sides are presented to each other. Funny!

69ReplyGive Lingot7•4 years ago

Librasulus 22 17 15 2

so how would you interpret this? that both translations should be correct?

4ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

rogercchristie 21 20 16 8 716

Thank you LGH for clarifying that. It makes a lot more sense now.

However, if presenting is a two-way process, then wouldn't the phrase "I am going to present you and my family to each other" be more logical? Is this a form that is used in Spanish?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amble2lingo 19 4

It may be more logical, but it is an awkward sentence. Besides, the "to each other" that you added on the end would require something more to be said, probably "cada uno al otro."

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rogercchristie 21 20 16 8 716

If "Te voy a presentar a mi familia" is the Spanish equivalent of both "I am going to present you to my family" and "I am going to present my family to you" then there would be no need to add anything to the Spanish version. I was fishing for someone to suggest a single sentence in English that would cover the whole situation (the two-way act, as LGH put it).

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

OmaJennie 11 10 9

RCChristie, you seem to have forgotten that you yourself suggested that the sentence be modified to be "I am going to present you And my family To Each Other.

Amble2... is suggesting that this change warrants the addition of "cada uno al otro", to satisfy this change in condition.

Why fish, when you have developed the sentence you seek yourself?

1Give Lingot•10 months ago

rogercchristie 21 20 16 8 716

I have made lots of comments and suggestions over the last year, OmaJennie, and mine was a response to some three-year-old messages that appeared not to have attracted much clarification. Anyway, although amble2lingo's proposal was interesting, I didn't actually get a definitive answer to my suggestion. I think my suggested alternative was eventually accepted as a valid answer by DL but I'm not sure - and anyway I had moved on by then. If you think it is OK then that's an encouraging sign, thank you. And if it comes up again in revision I must try it and see.

1Give Lingot•10 months ago

ronygozes 23 20 19 17 4 1

Shouldn't the 'te' turn into 'ti' if 'you' were the indirect object? And if it should, could the sentence take the following form: Le voy a presentar a mi familia a ti?

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nunes89 21 17 16 15 15 13 12 12 12 11 10 10 9 698

In short, ti is the form that goes after a preposition (just like you did, a ti). Le is the indirect object pronoun, to you, but only when using usted to address someone, otherwise, it would mean to him/her. Espero que todo esté claro ahora :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tessbee 24 16 20

I was just thinking the same, ronygozes. Hope someone answers your question.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alejandrocarmo 25 19 7 5 3 2 4

"Le voy a presentar a mi familia a ti" .....It's not grammatical.

You can say: "Le voy a presentar a mi familia (a usted)". or "Te voy a presentar a mi familia (a ti)". Or simply without (--).

In Spain is more polite the way "usted", but in South America is very common this way.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tessbee 24 16 20

Thank you, Alejandro. I finally came to understand this after I'd posted my comment above.

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

alejandrocarmo 25 19 7 5 3 2 4

"Le voy a presentar a mi familia a ti".....It's not grammatical.

You can say: "Le voy a presentar a mi familia (a usted)". or "Te voy a presentar a mi familia (a ti)". Or simply without (--).

In Spain is more polite the way "usted", but in South America is very common this way.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tylerdурden007 18 5

why there is no les? indirect object "family" is there right?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

composerdude 17 8 2 2

"les" is an indirect object pronoun: it is only used when you want to say "them".

Consider: - I am going to read the book to him - I am going to read the book to my son

Both sentences have indirect objects ("him" and "my son"), but only "him" is an indirect object pronoun. So in translation, only the first will use "le".

le voy a leer el libro

voy a leer el libro a mi hijo

The only real difference between Spanish and English here is that the object pronouns go in front of the verb in Spanish, as opposed to after like in English.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ArvindPradhan 15 3

Now that you are pregnant!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Audrey5775 14 6 2

Have you ever seen that Cosby Show episode where the oldestcgirl goes to Africa and comes back with a husband? That would be an example of needing to use this sentence!

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Audrey5775 14 6 2

Oldest girl

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

learnTACO32 25

I saw a similar Duo sentence which did not contain the "personal A" after the verb. Ex. "Ella me va a presentar su padre." Why does one phrase contain the "personal A" while the other doesn't? What is the difference? Thanks

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

hello_world_hola 13 11 7 4 4 216

This "a" is a preposition meaning "to", not the personal a.

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

k-kayak 14

Thanks. That would explain why the translation is "...introduce you to my family."

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Seamus747 24 19 17 7 936

I am confused about the position of "te" in this sentence. Is that the usual place for it in Spanish?

I would be much more inclined to say:

Voy a te presentar a mi familia..

Is that wrong? Or would it just sound strange to Spanish ears?

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

horvathdavid 10 9 2 2

Yes that is incorrect. There are only two options: Voy a presentarte a mi familia or Te voy a presentar a mi familia. Voy a plus infinitive always.

6ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

filipmc 25 11 7 6 6 3

I'm no expert, but I've never seen the pronoun embedded inside the verb phrase as you suggest ("voy a te presentar"), so I wouldn't do that unless you get it confirmed by someone knowledgeable.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Seamus747 24 19 17 7 936

In the months since I posted my original comment, I have now seen "te voy a..." and its equivalents many times. I guess one just has to get used to the Spanish way of doing things, even if it is different to English and French.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GrandesCocos 11 7 5

Would it not be "Te la voy a presentar a mi familia"? And could you write "... presentarte ..?" Thx in advance

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

AX3Mx 11 7 6 5 2

"I am going to present my family to you" is my answer but it was still accepted. I think my answer is wrong, it should be vice versa or they are idea-interchangeable?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Shirlgirl007 23 22 21 10
answered above.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alejandrocarmo 25 19 7 5 3 2 4

(yo) Te voy a presentar a mi familia = (yo) Voy a presentarte a mi familia =

My question is if in English, THIS IS THE SAME?.

I'm going to introduce you my family = I'm going to introduce my family to you.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

tessbee 24 16 20

In English, the two sentences, "I'm going to introduce you to my family" and "I'm going to introduce my family to you" are a little different from each other but will have the same outcome. In the first one, it will be (for example): "Hey Dad, Mom, this is my friend X.", while in the second one, it will be: "X, these are my dad and mom."

I have a question, though. Would the sentence, "La voy a presentar a mi familia a ti" be also valid, and could it mean "I'm going to introduce my family to you"? Thanks.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

alejandrocarmo 25 19 7 5 3 2 4

This explication is cool!. I like because I think that is the same in Spanish, and because with you I learn some new word for me, like outcome, this is the key, so we use both at the same way.

"La voy a presentar a mi familia a ti" this sentence is no right. It's not grammatical.

We can say : "La voy a presentar a mi familia". Here you introduce to her (la), but you tell it other person.

If you speak to her, you will say her : "TE voy a presentar a mi familia" or "Voy a presentarTE a mi familia".

But if you want to put stress in only to her/him, then you can say : "A ti, te voy a presentar a mi familia" or "Te voy a presentar a mi familia, a tí".

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

tessbee 24 16 20

¡Muchísimas gracias! Alejandro, for confirming that my example sentence was ungrammatical. Very big help! And thank you for the added examples. I really appreciate it!

About the English, yes, the two has the same outcome, but the style of the introduction/presentation (later) will be different, so the two sentences still mean differently.

So if you're talking to A and say: "I'm going to introduce you to B"
Later, this will happen: You: "B, this is A."

But if you're talking to A and say: "I'm going to introduce B to you"
Later, this will happen: You: "A, this is B."

One outcome: A and B now know each other.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alejandrocarmo 25 19 7 5 3 2 4
Thanks, it's very clear.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Shirlgirl007 23 22 21 10
answered above

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KacperGilewicz 14 13 8 7 6 6 5 4 4
It was kinda tricky for me. "I'm going to introduce my family to you" ;)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ThalieWaters 9
i am going to present my family to yo that's what I typed it was just a tiny typo

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

brian266344 21
Why is it mi and not me

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

filipmc 25 11 7 6 6 3
my (adjective) => mi

"my family" => "mi familia"

"my house" => "mi casa"

me (pronoun) => me

"give it to me" => "dámelo"

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

filipmc 25 11 7 6 6 3

Oops. But, also,

to me (indirect object) => "a mí"

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Karen69472 20 18 18 17 15 11 469

My family is presented to you! - not the other way round .... the "a" is the personal "a" thus the family is the direct object.

(I reported it)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rogercchristie 21 20 16 8 716

Go back to the top of this discussion page and see LGh's explanation of three years ago.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Karen69472 20 18 18 17 15 11 469

ok, but nevertheless both ways should be accepted

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rogercchristie 21 20 16 8 716

Yes, I believe so. Since it means the same either way in Spanish (as LGh said) then both "I am going to introduce you to my family" and "I am going to introduce my family to you" should be acceptable translations.

However, as the purpose of DL's exercises is to help us learn the vocabulary and grammar, I suspect that we would be expected to keep the same word order, so don't be surprised if DL reports an error if you switch it round.

Incidentally, I think the a is just a preposition meaning "to", not the personal a. I believe the relevant rule is "do not use a "personal a" with non-specific things or people."

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rhea424662 12

can't it be 'yo voy a...' or just 'voy a..'? Why 'Te'?

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Shirlgirl007 23 22 21 10

Let me take a stab at this... Yo voy a presentar... I am going to introduce something/someone to my family... a mi familia. What or who is that something, someone? Te represents you... so I am going to introduce YOU to my family. Native speakers feel free to interject if I made an error!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

JaspervanderMeer 17

NOT confusing at all: <http://i.imgur.com/egJWpds.png> te/yo/me/with

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

filipmc 25 11 7 6 6 3

Nice screenshot :)

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RobChristiansen 12

you I am going to present to my family - but they marked it wrong!

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

P1GG1EP0W3R 14 5 2

I said "I will introduce you to my family." Basically the same thing...

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

_Samzara_ 11 9 9 7

Just curious: Does it ever occur that two reflexive verbs with their pronouns are used in the same sentence? "Sentirse" is reflexive, but in the sentence "Me voy a sentir bien" you omit the second (redundant) pronoun.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

865 Ma dov'è la sezione per fare le traduzioni?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/13490812>

desifromitaly 20 12 10 8 7 1

Salve, ho finito l'albero in una decina di giorni, perché facendo il test d'ingresso, ho superato tutte le scorciatoie fino alla sezione finale e mi restavano solo poche lezioni da fare. Più che per fare quelle nuove, mi ci è voluto del tempo per fare quelle di ripasso (per mantenerle sempre dorate), ma sinceramente non ho imparato niente: tutte le lezioni dell'albero sono troppo facili per me (sono al livello b2 e aspiro a raggiungere il c1). Quindi, per progredire in inglese con Duolingo, mi sembra di capire che il metodo giusto sia quello delle traduzioni, di cui sono venuta a conoscenza grazie al forum. Ma non trovo tale sezione nel sito! Vedo solo "lezioni", "parole", "discussioni" e nient'altro.

Give Lingot

11 year ago

Leave a new comment

11 Comments

dhunteroz 22 10 7 4 4 9

L'albero insegna A2/B1 da zero, per forza è stato troppo facile per livello B2. A parte immersione (dov'è si fa le traduzioni), si può anche fare discussioni per la lingua inglese dove si parla con le persone di madrelingua.

Per immersione prova questo link <https://www.duolingo.com/translations>. Penso che Duo nasconda il bottone fino a che viene raggiunta un certo livello (XP).

Ti consiglio anche di pensare di fare "university prep course" in inglese oppure l'università in inglese per raggiungere il c1/c2.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

desifromitaly 20 12 10 8 71

Ti ringrazio per gli spunti.

Cliccando il link che mi hai dato, mi appare il seguente messaggio:

Error 404

Sorry, the page you were looking for doesn't exist. Try going to Duolingo.com, or follow us on Twitter or Facebook.

Io non credo che "Duo nasconda il bottone fino a che viene raggiunta un certo livello (XP)", perché ad esempio mar.favaretto (che mi ha risposto sopra), che attualmente è al 9° livello (mentre io sono all'11°) può accedere alla sezione "immersione", mentre io no (non mi appare proprio il link)...

Giorni fa ho letto nel forum in inglese, che a quanto pare stanno facendo degli esperimenti e precludono ad alcuni utenti (selezionati a caso) di accedere a tale sezione (che nel mio caso sarebbe l'unica utile per progredire in inglese).

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dhunteroz 22 10 7 449

Credo che abbia ragione Desi. Ma forse è possibile accedere alla Immersione dall'interno del albero contrario. Fai clic sulla bandiera quindi fai clic "Aggiungi un altro corso" poi scegli "Parlo" inglese, poi scegli italiano. Magari poi la Immersione funzionerà. (Perché prima potevo accedere nell'inglese ma non nell'italiano. Ma adesso posso in entrambe.)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mar.favaretto 10

Sinceramente io vedo "Lezioni", "Parole", "Attività", "Discussioni", "Immersione". Cliccando su Immersione dovresti trovare le traduzioni.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

desifromitaly 20 12 10 8 71

Ti ringrazio per la risposta. Il problema è che a me non appare affatto il link "Immersione" (e neppure "Attività"). Non capisco da che cosa dipenda! Uso Chrome, ma ho provato anche da Firefox e il problema è lo stesso (non credo comunque che dipenda dal browser utilizzato). Ho anche disattivato Adblock, ma non dipende nemmeno da quello...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GreaseMarty 6 4 2

hai ragione mar.favaretto!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GreaseMarty 6 4 2

ma io nn capisco come si usa immersione!!! Qualcuno mi può spiegare??? =) grazie

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

desifromitaly 20 12 10 8 71

La sezione "attività" (di cui a me non appare il link, come "immersione"), di che cosa si tratta?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dhunteroz 22 10 7 449

"attività" link: https://www.duolingo.com/activity\_stream La sezione "attività" dimostra attività recenti e le chiacchiere dei tu e i tuoi amici sul Duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

desifromitaly 20 12 10 8 71

Ti ringrazio per la risposta. Quando ho provato a cliccare sul link da te indicato mi era apparsa la scritta:

Error 404

Sorry, the page you were looking for doesn't exist. Try going to Duolingo.com, or follow us on Twitter or Facebook.

Ora, invece (a una settimana di distanza), mi appare anche la sezione "attività". Forse perché nel frattempo un utente mi ha aggiunto tra gli amici (prima non avevo alcun contatto su Duolingo).

Il problema con "Immersione" invece resta (tale sezione mi è preclusa: non mi appare affatto il link, né posso accedervi in altro modo).

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dhunteroz 22 10 7 449

Allora, spero che Duolingo decida di mantenere la sezione di immersione per tutti.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

866 Unternehmen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/Unternehmen-unternehmen-noun-neuter-plural-accusative/2404d55ed960c373df966a7e588d5cd9>

ENGLISH

business, businesses, company

Example sentences

WORD NUMBER

GENDER

CASE

EXAMPLE

TRANSLATION

Unternehmen singularneuter nominative Das Unternehmen blieb in der Stadt. The enterprise stayed in the city.
 Unternehmen plural neuter nominative Das sind zwei Unternehmen und ihre Standorte. These are two businesses and their locations.
 Unternehmen plural neuter accusative Ich arbeite für dieses Unternehmen. I work for this company.
 Discussions with the word "Unternehmen":

18 commentsIch arbeite für dieses Unternehmen.
 27 commentsDie Unternehmen sind bereit.
 5 commentsDas sind zwei Unternehmen und ihre Standorte.
 2 commentsDas Unternehmen blieb in der Stadt.

867 terwijl
<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Dutch/terwijl/310e2741cda4edc33a22ac3f8505b7d0>
 ENGLISH
 while, as
 Example sentences

| WORD    | EXAMPLE                                                  | TRANSLATION                                                    |
|---------|----------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------|
| terwijl | De mevrouw leest terwijl ze kookt.                       | The woman is reading while she cooks.                          |
| terwijl | Iedereen luistert terwijl de man met zijn vrouw spreekt. | Everyone is listening while the man is speaking with his wife. |

Discussions with the word "terwijl":

24 commentsZij drinkt terwijl zij werkt.
 19 commentsDe mevrouw leest terwijl ze kookt.
 11 commentsIk lees terwijl ik eet.
 8 commentsDe man spreekt terwijl hij rent.
 21 commentsIedereen luistert terwijl de man met zijn vrouw spreekt.

868 inzwischen
<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/inzwischen-adverb/aca51e7f937297b7bcc9fd9ad92949c3>
 ENGLISH
 by now, in the meantime, meanwhile
 Example sentences

| WORD       | EXAMPLE                                   | TRANSLATION                               |
|------------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| inzwischen | Inzwischen ist er Vater von fünf Kindern. | By now he is the father of five children. |

Discussions with the word "inzwischen":

96 commentsUnd inzwischen haben wir ein Baby.
 55 commentsInzwischen ist er Vater von fünf Kindern.
 53 commentsInzwischen haben wir achtzehn Katzen!

869 Kreis
<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/Kreis-kreis-noun-masculine-singular-dative/082b491d53b5739385cd54ea95e6c03a>
 ENGLISH

circle, circuit, circular

Example sentences

| WORD  | NUMBER   | GENDER    | CASE       | EXAMPLE                                 | TRANSLATION                                |
|-------|----------|-----------|------------|-----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Kreis | singular | masculine | nominative | Ein Kreis ist immer rund.               | A circle is always round.                  |
| Kreis | singular | masculine | accusative | Der Junge macht einen Kreis.            | The boy makes a circle.                    |
| Kreis | singular | masculine | dative     | Ihre Beziehung zum Kreis ist unbekannt. | Her relationship to the circle is unknown. |

Discussions with the word "Kreis":

28 commentsIhre Beziehung zum Kreis ist unbekannt.

18 commentsDer Kreis

1 commentEin Kreis ist immer rund.

1 commentDer Junge macht einen Kreis.

870 "He did make a lot of money" or "He made a lot of money"?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4588964#!>

evgeny_le 7

"He did make a lot of money" and "He made a lot of money" - what is the difference between these two sentences? When and which of them to use right?

Give Lingot

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

4 Comments

iyugov 24 21 14 10 9 8 5 3 4

"He made a lot of money" - обычный вариант. "He did make a lot of money" - так говорят, когда делают особый акцент на действии.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

evgeny_le 7

А в каких случаях для примера делается этот акцент на действии?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

He stole that money!

No. He did make it.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

andru_f 23 14 13 11 8 1

Ну, например, когда по-русски говорят "Я действительно заработал много денег".

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

871 Eltern

https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/Eltern-eltern-noun-masculine\_feminine-plural-dative/f05ca566272da11d6d9bdd44888f6178

ENGLISH

parents

Example sentences

| WORD   | NUMBER | CASE       | EXAMPLE                    | TRANSLATION                  |
|--------|--------|------------|----------------------------|------------------------------|
| Eltern | plural | nominative | Die Eltern mögen den Käse. | The parents like the cheese. |
| Eltern | plural | accusative | Magst du deine Eltern?     | Do you like your parents?    |

Discussions with the word "Eltern":

79 comments Hast du Eltern?
 40 comments Meine Eltern mögen Bier.
 26 comments Die Eltern mögen den Käse.
 24 comments Meine Eltern essen Reis.
 15 comments Jeder hat Eltern.

872 símbolo

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/s%C3%ADmbolo-noun-masculine-singular/4dd80c1fed6e487ae2346fe5cd703036>

ENGLISH

symbol

Example sentences

| WORD     | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                                 | TRANSLATION                           |
|----------|----------|-----------|-----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| símbolo  | singular | masculine | El edificio es un símbolo importante.   | The building is an important symbol.  |
| símbolos | plural   | masculine | Los colores y símbolos son importantes. | The colors and symbols are important. |

Discussions with the word "símbolo":

18 comments Ese es el símbolo de la paz.
 22 comments Los colores y símbolos son importantes.

873 nuages

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/nuages-nuage-noun-masculine-plural/a0d0833cedf8dd6b835f6f0a2d435ba4>

ENGLISH

clouds

Example sentences

| WORD   | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                         | TRANSLATION                    |
|--------|----------|-----------|---------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| nuage  | singular | masculine | Le nuage ressemble à un lapin.  | The cloud looks like a rabbit. |
| nuages | plural   | masculine | Il y a des nuages dans le ciel. | There are clouds in the sky.   |

Discussions with the word "nuages":

14 comments Il y a des nuages dans le ciel.
 18 comments Le gros nuage est noir.
 5 comments Le nuage ressemble à un lapin.
 2 comments Le nuage est blanc.

874 Il faut lutter pour notre liberté

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6076800>

Translation: We have to fight for our freedom.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

40 Comments

otisagabey 18 15 12 11 8 3 2

Il faut lutter... Pour notre droit... A paaaaaarti... (then they have realized it doesn't mean what it's supposed to mean and switched to English)

36ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

hellerm 25 17 11 8 8 7 4 3

How would you tell "he has to" from "it is necessary" from "We have to"?

24ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

evatenn 23 14 7

"He has to..." would use "devoir": "Il doit..." In this case, "il" is "he," a particular person. "It is necessary [to]..." and "We have to..." are both ways of translating "Il faut..." (using "falloir"). In this case, with "falloir", "il" is not "he", but rather an impersonal "it", and "falloir" can only be used in this kind of impersonal construction expressing necessity.

23ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

hivemindx 23 10 10 778

I thought that "Il faut" was always "It is necessary" so I was very surprised to see this translated as "We must"! Does this always take the subject from the secondary clause? For example "Il faut lutter pour sa liberté" would mean "He must fight for his freedom".

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

evatenn 23 14 7

My best non-expert attempt at an answer: No, I think the meaning of your sentence "Il faut lutter pour sa liberté" would depend on the context-- some person or group must fight for the liberty of whoever "sa" refers to, him or her, but not necessarily that person. You can use the "Il faut" construction in a way that makes explicit the person/group who must act, though, by either adding the appropriate object pronoun before "faut", "Il nous faut lutter..." --> "We must..." or by beginning with "Il faut que nous luttons...", in which case the dependent clause takes the subjunctive. I don't think there would be any reason to use the "Il faut que..." construction here-- all other possibilities are easier and more straightforward-- but sometimes it makes sense if you want to express "It is necessary that we [should] do something..."

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

thebaum1113 22 15 38

Il faut" always means it is necessary. But because of context, it can be translated as we must. usually the two are actually interchangeable and will still make sense. Just something i thought i would add because i didn't see it. Everybody else is correct as well. :D

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kvargman 15 12 7 6
Context

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

ratapinyata 16 12
DANS LA RUE ! DANS LA RUE ! DANS LA RUE !

12ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

jmun21 15 14 10 7 6 3 3 2
Why is it not "One needs to fight"?

8ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Maharachat 11 10 9 9 8 7 3 2
It's ok too

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

spencersloth 13 12 11 7 6 5 3 3
I believe that I wrote "Il faut qu'on lutte pour notre liberté" and Duo accepted this. However, after reading it again it seems incorrect to me to use "on" with "notre." Should I not have used "pour son liberté"?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DianaM 22
Not at all. It's still "our" freedom that needs to be fought for. If you change it to "son", then it's "his" or "her" freedom.
I'm no expert, but I have a feeling that your construction is a bit odd, though. "Il faut lutter" is plain enough, but "Il faut qu'on lutte" seems a bit vague, as if "somebody" needs to fight, but I'm not just sure who.

Francophones, please correct or confirm.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Maharachat 11 10 9 9 8 7 3 2
"Il faut qu'on lutte pour notre liberté" is correct. "Son" is singular, so you would make a non-sense by putting it in your sentence. "Notre" refers to general freedom, the freedom of the whole people. Plus, "son" is masculine while "liberté" is feminine, so it would rather be "Il faut qu'on lutte pour sa liberté", but it would not mean the same thing at all. The singular form would mean that's it is necessary to fight for the liberty of someone in particular.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

spencersloth 13 12 11 7 6 5 3 3

Thank you, that makes sense. I was confused because the verb conjugations of "on" match "il/elle" and assumed the possessive pronouns matched as well.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Maharachat 11 10 9 9 8 7 3 2

You're welcome :). "On" is used to a large extent in French and tends to replace "nous", so it common to see such sentences with a "on" accorded to a "notre" for there's no direct possessive form of "on" which is grammatically a singular form having a plural meaning, so we use "notre". For example: "Il faut que nous fassions notre travail" would rather be in the everyday life "(Il) faut qu'on fasse notre travail".

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

devbanana 12 5 4

"One must fight for liberty." I think this should be accepted since it is impersonal.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Laser-reparateur 15 10

Similarly to RICHARDBER583347 I'm a bit confused here. I gave the translation "We need to struggle for our freedom" which was considered incorrect with the "we" and the "our" struck out. I was presented with alternative correct solutions of "You need to struggle for your freedom" or "We have to fight for our freedom".

Why is DL insisting on "we" with "fight" and "you" with "struggle" in "We have to fight ..." and "You need to struggle .."? and how can "notre" possibly translate as "your"?

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

NYC-Rocker 23

This is the first time in these lessons that I'm seeing "Il faut" translates to "We have to". I have seen "He has to", or "It is necessary", but not "we." Is there any particular rule when we should translate "Il" to mean "We?"

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DianaM 22

"Il faut" can have a lot of translations, depending on context. See my remarks to deltalon, just above.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

deltalon 22 18 5

Why is this translated as 'we have to fight'? Or is 'Il faut' in general translated as 'we have to'? (or 'it is necessary')?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CsabaDaday 19 17 11 11 10 8 6

It always sounds a bit unnatural in English to start a sentence with 'It is necessary to ...' so in practice one would look into the context to see if we can make a better translation. In this case, given the 'notre liberté,' it is a reasonable assumption that we will have to fight for our freedom, and that is a much better sentence in English than 'It is necessary to fight for our freedom.'

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

deltalon 22 18 5

Thanks for the answer! But is it 'notre' that suggests to use 'we'? Because it could very well be 'she' who fights for our (notre) freedom.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DianaM 22

When it is necessary to make it clear who, you could say, "Il faut qu'elle lutte pour notre liberté." (She must fight for our freedom)

Note that in the English "It is necessary to fight for our freedom" it is not specified who should fight, either, but without further context, it seems to imply it is we who should fight for our freedom. Context could imply a lot of possibilities for "il faut". If my partner is struggling to open a jar by prying off the lid, I might say, "Non, non. Il faut le tourner." "No, no, you have to turn it."

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Janatidenphobie 12 9 8 4 3

Can anyone explain, what's the difference between liberty and freedom?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

thebaum1113 22 15 38

They are the same thing. Liberty is just a fancier word.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

thebaum1113 22 15 38

okay, not just a fancier word, but it encloses freedom, and civil rights as well.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GeorgeHepburn 14 13 12 10

'It is necessary to fight..'is acceptable, but 'We have to fight..' is clearly not. Is it by any chance a quotation?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JosephErns1 14 13

I still don't see that notre liberté means your freedom. Unless the sentence structure excludes the speaker, he an I make we.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DianaM 22

I have just re-read the entire thread and don't see "notre liberté" translated as "your freedom" anywhere. "Notre" = "our".

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RICHARDBER583347 23 14 7 502

It seems to me that my translation, "We have to struggle for our liberty" also should be accepted. On that assumption, I reported it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

RICHARDBER583347 23 14 7 502

Je l'ai fait encore ! S'il vous plaît, expliquez la raison pourquoi, "we have to struggle for our freedom" n'est pas juste, autrement je continuerai à faire le même erreur !

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

RICHARDBER583347 23 14 7 502

Same problem today. I suppose I'm just incorrigible, but perhaps someone out there can set me straight - or else DL should accept my alternative translation.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

David505111 19 8 184

I said "We must struggle for our freedom" also not accepted!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

Jliardi 20 8 8

Seems a bit unfair

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

AndrewClar367820 19

I put "One needs to fight.....". Wrong?

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Macuk35 18 164

As mentioned above, struggle is a better translation of 'lutter' than fight - why isn't it accepted here?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

smio57 11 8

Our freedom wasn't accepted, it was corrected to your.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

RickMeans 22 173

OK, I got this wrong for saying "struggle" . Lutter can mean "Fight, struggle, or combat." It can mean all three because the all mean pretty much the same thing. What french rule is there that says in this sentence Lutter cannot mean "struggle." There are other lessons that you are required to say "struggle." Someone give me the rule.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

875 negra

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/negra-negro-adjective-feminine-singular/1f4bb36e5aa8231dc04d772d8f4dc839>

ENGLISH

black, black person, bleak

Example sentences

| WORD   | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                              | TRANSLATION                           |
|--------|----------|-----------|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| negro  | singular | masculine | El libro es negro.                   | The book is black.                    |
| negra  | singular | feminine  | Julia, no necesitas una falda negra. | Julia, you do not need a black skirt. |
| negros | plural   | masculine | Los vestidos no son negros.          | The dresses are not black.            |
| negras | plural   | feminine  | Mis camisas no son negras.           | My shirts are not black.              |

Discussions with the word "negra":

40 commentsLa camisa es negra.

13 commentsNo necesito una falda negra.

7 commentsNo, mi camisa no es negra.

4 commentsYo no quiero la falda negra.

58 commentsLos vestidos no son negros.

876 Procura lo mejor, espera lo peor y toma lo que viniere

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1617685>

Translation: Hope for the best and prepare for the worst.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

36 Comments

danguelo 11 8 7 4

Okay ... Cómo demonios iba a saber que tenía que poner eso?

51ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

PAOLABUELV 9 3

De acuerdo

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

Balastena 25 21 21 19 15 12 9 8 8 7 5 1228

La traducción literal de esta frase sería "espera lo mejor y prepárate para lo peor". No sé de dónde ha salido la otra frase tan larga en español, pero si se supone que es un dicho, no lo había oído en mi vida.

43ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jesus_ogando 15
Totalmente de acuerdo

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

PAOLABUELV 9 3
¿Cómo iba a saber traducirlo si no me lo habían enseñado? Antes de colocarnos a traducir de español a inglés es importante nos indiquen como hacerlo, ya que desconocemos esas palabras en inglés. Gracias.

17ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

danguelo 11 8 7 4
Ni es eso, porque, como dijeron antes, esa ni siquiera es la traducción literal.

12ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago
[+] 1 hidden comment

jcmuras 10
¿Y la parte de toma lo que viniere?

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mario48s 23 12 8
Yo con la misma pregunta.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RodrigoMon216212 10 4
Creo que no deberían poner las opción de traducir al español muchos "dichos" son diferentes en cada país creo que deben solucionarlo.

10ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

sandraVerts1 19 17 6 5 4 3 3 31
creo q si digo espera lo mejor y preparete para lo peor así ya está la traducción de la frase...

7ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

karen27portilla 6
Esta lección es muy extraña, no en todos los países los dichos son iguales

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gloria_pabon 14 1

En la anterior ustedes tradujeron esto como "Espera lo mejor y prepárate para lo peor." Y luego ustedes colocan en español "Procura lo mejor, espera lo peor y toma lo que viniere." Entonces que????? Por favor enseñen y no confundan.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

M.Jhon 24 33

Esto esta mal ya corrijan, como que si procuro lo mejor entonces voy a esperar lo peor, y ya cuando llegue lo peor lo tomo como viniere, pues que dicho tan mas pesimista y ridiculo jajajajajajajajaj

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Darkhacker 19 8 3

Y donde queda y toma lo que viene? Se desaparece? No saben traducir >:(

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

marioafs 15 12 10 8 6 6

Horrible traducción!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DaniAsis 9 2

Quién hace éstas frases? Por favor chequeen bien, la última oración en español no tiene sentido. Además corrigen mal.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

susodom 17 11 8 3

En España se dice igual espera lo mejor y preparete para lo peor, la traducción literal

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KarinaSM92 10 9 4 3 3

"Come what may" Debería ser la respuesta, ya que así es la frase en inglés

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BettyBoopMexico 15 10 7 2

tambièn deben enseñarnos la traducciòn palabra por palabra, porque tratamos de pensarlo en inglés

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mathiasperez0 14

ese dicho nunca lo había escuchado en mi vida como iba a saber que poner!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

paqui426285 13 6

Es verdad no porque no lo han traducido como tenia que ser caramba

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

migust 18 13 8 7 7 5 5 2 2 2

Por que no es correcto "Try the best, expect the worst and take what comes."

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GregoryAlv4 15 10 3

Espera lo mejor y prepárate para lo peor.

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Malusa5 19 15 5 246

Estoy con Balastena.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

RafaelZenn1 15

La traducción sugerida no esta completa : OBTAIN FOR THE BEST, HOPE FOR THE WORST AND TAKE WHAT WILL COME.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

GerardoAsensio 25 38

Considero que es más correcta la siguiente traducción española: " Espera lo mejor pero prepárate para lo peor". En la frase inglesa no veo ninguna indicación referente a "lo que viniere". Estoy muy de acuerdo con Balastena.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

la_miri 17 1

Pienso que la idea no es hacer una traducción literal, lo que tenemos que aprender es que significan en los dos idiomas. Conociendo el significado de la expresión completa es fácil aprenderlas en inglés. A mí me parece un excelente ejercicio, además cuando las digo a mis amigos ingleses me siento muy orgullosa de mi inglés. Gracias Duolingo. estoy muy contenta con vosotros.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

antonioeljesser 11 10

procura lo mejor, espera lo peor y toma lo que viniere

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

antonioeljesser 11 10

"espera lo mejor y prepárate para lo peor".

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

DanHdz1 11 2

En estos casos deberían poner varias opciones de respuesta y no una respuesta abierta

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

MauroPrest 12 6

"seeks the best, expect the worst and take what comes"

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

erikagusi 14 2

yo lo traduce y no es coherente con la frase

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

lilpeeacch 10 2

Y lo que viniere?? Donde queda??

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

annie_47 24 355

Hope for the best and prepare for the worst

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

877 hojas

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/hojas-hoja-noun-feminine-plural/01379d173c64daf6326c0ba777bc0abd>

ENGLISH

leaves, sheets, blades

Example sentences

| WORD  | NUMBER   | GENDER   | EXAMPLE                       | TRANSLATION                   |
|-------|----------|----------|-------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| hoja  | singular | feminine | La hoja es blanca.            | The sheet is white.           |
| hojas | plural   | feminine | Mi perro juega con las hojas. | My dog plays with the leaves. |

Discussions with the word "hojas":

22 commentsMi perro juega con las hojas.

17 commentsLas hojas verdes son pequeñas.

30 commentsLa hoja

10 commentsLa hoja es blanca.

878 nuage

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/nuage-noun-masculine-singular/14b2274678c3376adc355d709a3b7628>

ENGLISH

cloud

Example sentences

| WORD   | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                         | TRANSLATION                    |
|--------|----------|-----------|---------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| nuage  | singular | masculine | Le nuage ressemble à un lapin.  | The cloud looks like a rabbit. |
| nuages | plural   | masculine | Il y a des nuages dans le ciel. | There are clouds in the sky.   |

Discussions with the word "nuage":

18 commentsLe gros nuage est noir.
 5 commentsLe nuage ressemble à un lapin.
 2 commentsLe nuage est blanc.
 14 commentsIl y a des nuages dans le ciel.

879 modas

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/modas-moda-noun-feminine-plural/eb8b7b3b0bb3d0471f5965006b72d5c6>

ENGLISH

fashions, looks

Example sentences

| WORD  | NUMBER   | GENDER   | EXAMPLE                                             | TRANSLATION                                    |
|-------|----------|----------|-----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| moda  | singular | feminine | París es la capital de la moda en el mundo.         | Paris is the fashion capital of the world.     |
| modas | plural   | feminine | Las modas de este año son completamente diferentes. | This year's fashions are completely different. |

Discussions with the word "modas":

72 commentsLas modas de este año son completamente diferentes.

16 commentsYo estudio la moda.

9 commentsParís es la capital de la moda en el mundo.

880 fai

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/fai-fare-verb-present+indicative+tense-second+person-singular/99a9dcfbcaaabecc64d8745131ac8436>

ENGLISH

do, (you) do, (you) make

Example sentences

| WORD     | EXAMPLE                                                        | TRANSLATION                                           |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| fai      | Tu fai un panino.                                              | You make a sandwich.                                  |
| fa       | Lei fa un panino.                                              | She makes a sandwich.                                 |
| facciamo | Noi facciamo una torta.                                        | We make a cake.                                       |
| faccia   | C'è qualcos'altro che vuoi che io faccia?                      | Is there something else that you want me to do?       |
| faccia   | È necessario che tu faccia questo.                             | It is necessary that you do this.                     |
| feci     | Feci tutto quello che potei.                                   | I did all that I could.                               |
| facesti  | Cosa vorresti che io facessi?                                  | What would you like me to do?                         |
| facevi   | Cosa facevi questa mattina?                                    | What were you doing this morning?                     |
| fece     | Mia sorella mi fece studiare.                                  | My sister made me study.                              |
| faceva   | Faceva parte del lavoro.                                       | That was part of the job.                             |
| facesse  | Volevo che mia figlia facesse il letto.                        | I wanted my daughter to make the bed.                 |
| facevano | Facevano la stessa cosa ogni gennaio.                          | They used to do the same thing every January.         |
| fatto    | Ancora mi chiedo come lui abbia fatto a trovare i miei numeri. | I still ask myself how he managed to find my numbers. |
| fatta    | L'avrebbe fatta morire di dolore.                              | It would have made her die of pain.                   |
| farò     | Non lo farò.                                                   | I will not do that.                                   |
| farei    | Al posto tuo, farei lo stesso.                                 | In your place, I would do the same.                   |
| faresti  | Lo faresti?                                                    | Would you do it?                                      |
| farai    | Cosa farai per tua nonna?                                      | What will you make for your grandmother?              |

farà Mi farà una zuppa. She is going to make me a soup.
 farebbe Mi ha detto che non lo farebbe He told me that he would not do it.
 faccia Non faccia tardi, per favore! Please, do not be late!
 fare Lei ha usato mele per fare la marmellata. She used apples to make the jam.
 facendo Cosa stavi facendo quella sera nella tenda? What were you doing that night in the tent?
 faremo Faremo domanda per essere insegnanti. We are going to apply to be teachers.
 faremmo Non lo faremmo. We would not do it.
 fate Fate una bella cena per la mamma! Make a nice dinner for mom!
 farete Quando lo farete? When will you do it?
 farebbero Cosa farebbero senza di noi? What would they do without us?
 faranno Faranno domanda al ristorante. They are going to apply to the restaurant.
 fare conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON  |          | PRESENT  |         | REMOTE PAST | FUTURE |
|---------|----------|----------|---------|-------------|--------|
| io      | faccio   | feci     | farò    |             |        |
| tu      | fai      | facesti  | farai   |             |        |
| lui/lei | fa       | fece     | farà    |             |        |
| noi     | facciamo | facevamo | faremo  |             |        |
| voi     | fate     | faceste  | farete  |             |        |
| loro    | fanno    | fecero   | faranno |             |        |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "fai":

65 comments Cosa fai?

44 comments Fai come vuoi.

16 comments Tu fai un panino.

73 comments Lei fa un panino.

65 comments Noi facciamo una torta.

881 konnte

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/konnte-k%C3%B6nnen-modal+verb-imperfect+indicative+tense-first+person-singular/50cc15ef150f047444cf4a1b467cf682>

ENGLISH

could, was able to, was able to play

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

kann Kann ich dir ein Getränk bestellen? Can I order you a drink?

kannst Du kannst leider nicht gehen. Unfortunately, you cannot go.

kann Was kann er in diesem Restaurant essen? What can he eat in this restaurant?

können Sobald er sitzt, können wir essen. As soon as he is seated, we can eat.

könnt Ihr könnt keine Eltern sein. You cannot be parents.

können Meine Großeltern können jetzt schwimmen. My grandparents can swim now.

könnte Ohne dieses Buch könnte ich nicht lernen. Without this book I could not learn.

konnte Ich konnte letzte Nacht nicht schlafen. I could not sleep last night.

könntest Könntest du die Frage wiederholen? Could you repeat the question?

könnte Er könnte es machen. He could do it.

könnten Ich dachte, wir könnten ein bisschen reden. I thought, we could talk a little.
 konnten Zum Glück konnten wir alles sehen. Luckily we were able to see everything.
 könnten Könnten Sie mir den Weg zur Bushaltestelle zeigen? Could you show me the way to the bus stop?
 konnten Sie konnten die Tür von außen nicht öffnen. They could not open the door from the outside.
 können conjugation

Indicative

Conditional

Others

PERSON PRESENT PAST

ich kann konnte
 du kannst konntest
 er/sie/es kann konnte
 wir können konnten
 ihr könnt konntet sie/Sie können konnten

882 litres

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/litres-litre-noun-masculine-plural/e3a622170b1e3101ab72ad01f612fb62>

ENGLISH

litres (UK), liters (US)

Example sentences

| WORD   | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                                              | TRANSLATION                                            |
|--------|----------|-----------|------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|
| litre  | singular | masculine | Il y a un litre d'huile sur la table.                | There is a litre of oil on the table.                  |
| litres | plural   | masculine | Le pays produit des millions de litres de vin blanc. | The country produces millions of litres of white wine. |

Discussions with the word "litres":

12 commentsLe pays produit des millions de litres de vin blanc.

5 commentsLa famille boit plusieurs litres de lait par semaine.

16 commentsJ'ai un litre de vin.

9 commentsJ'ai un litre de lait.

8 commentsJ'ai un litre d'huile.

883 Hơn 10.000 bộ phim cùng phụ đề tiếng Anh để luyện!

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12398479>

ChauLe3 25 25 25 25 11 11 11 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 4 4 3

Sao các bạn cứ phải tốn thời gian đi mò mẫm download từng tập phim có phụ đề tiếng anh thế nhỉ, bí kíp down cả chục bộ phim hay có cả phụ đề khi mình học tiếng anh đây!

CÁCH LUYỆN TIẾNG ANH QUA PHIM NHƯ THẾ NÀO?

Nhiều tiền bố chia sẻ bí kíp luyện võ công nghe và nói của họ là nhại phim, thế nhại như thế nào thì hiệu quả, nhiều bạn nhại của trăm tập phim mà vẫn dậm chân tại chỗ, nhiều bạn mới nhại một tuần 3-4 tập mà nghe thấy lên vèo vèo, nghe là cứ muốn phản xạ đập lại liền, ăn đứng ngồi hay nằm cũng có tiếng anh trong đầu.

Điều quan trọng nhất là phải xem trình độ của bạn đang ở mức nào mà lựa chọn phim nào mà luyện. Lựa chọn đúng phim để luyện đã chiếm đến 30% thành công cho phương pháp này rồi. Nếu bạn đang ở tầm bắt đầu lại thì đừng có mà nhảy vô Friends hay How I met your mother ngay lập tức, PHẢI bắt đầu nghe bằng mấy phim hoạt hình cho con nít, như Frozen, Legend, How to train your dragon ....vừa mắc cười mà hoàn toàn có thể dựa vào ngữ cảnh để hiểu.

Nếu đã có cơ bản, khả năng nghe bắt lấy từ tạm ổn như trung bình nghe một câu 10 chữ thì bạn bắt được hết khoảng 3-4 key words của câu thì được, hãy luyện How I met your mother hay Friends, nếu xem hoài thấy chán thì lựa mấy phim tình cảm hay hoạt hình mà xem cho đỡ ngán. Khi lựa chọn được phim rồi áp dụng cách sau đây mà nghe, đảm bảo bạn sẽ say sưa đến mức quên đi cái thế giới bên ngoài để ngập chìm trong thế giới tiếng anh, cảm giác như chẳng có người Việt Nam nào ở bên bạn mà toàn mấy gã khổng lồ người Mỹ thôi.

Bước 1: lên bác Google tìm tên bộ phim + script ( ví dụ mình tìm: Frozen Script là ra một nùi lun ). Tiếp đến đọc cái script này, từ nào không hiểu thì tra từ điển, từ nào tra mà cũng không hiểu, vì đọc vô câu thấy nó không ăn nhập gì, thì bỏ qua vì biết đâu đó là Idiom hay slang, nếu siêng thì tra nguyên cụm đó coi nó nghĩa gì. Bí kíp: Đừng có mà dò hết từ đầu đến cuối một lúc nhá, vì sẽ rất rất nản, đọc dò khoảng 15 phút thôi rồi bật phim lên xem.

Bước 2: xem phim có phụ đề tiếng anh cho đến phần mình đã dịch script, chắc chắn bạn sẽ hiểu dc câu và nhiều từ mới sẽ hiểu hơn vì nó có ngữ cảnh mà. Dừng lại rồi lại dò script tiếp, lặp đi lặp lại đến hết phim.

Bước 3: Xem phim lại một lần nữa mà không có phụ đề, từ nào nghe k rõ nghe lại 3 lần, vẫn không nhớ ra thì mở lại script coi lại.

Bước 4: Coi lại lần cuối nha. Lần này là nghe và hiểu đến từng con chữ luôn ak

Bước 5: Lỡ nghe rồi mà không nhại lại thì phí quá, ai dùng phần mềm VLC hay KMPlayer có nút chỉnh Speed ak, chỉnh cho tốc độ xuống còn 0.7 – 0.8 thì mới nhại được ( vì người ta nói nhanh lắm), nhại xong thì chỉnh về tốc độ chuẩn, rồi nhại lại lần nữa. Đảm bảo các câu thoại chỉ lớn vồn trong đầu, nhìn tình huống tương tự là chỉ muốn bật lại câu thoại như trong phim. Những phim tiếng anh hay cho việc luyện tiếng anh

Mình xem gần cả trăm bộ phim, có bộ dùng luyện được, có bộ ngủ vật vờ mấy lần. Xin giới thiệu mấy bộ phim mình rất tâm đắc và học được rất nhiều mẫu câu từ vựng gửi đến các bạn, mình luyện giọng Mỹ, nên xem phim Mỹ thôi, bạn nào giọng Anh, xin vui lòng bỏ qua cái này :D

Phim hoạt hình: Beauty and the Beast (1991), Frozen 2013, Spirited Away, The Lion King, Tangled, Brave, The Nut Job, Epic, Croods, Rio, Rise of Guardians, Madagascar, Hotel Transylvania, Wreckit Ralph, Toy Story, Monster, The princess Frog, The incredibles, Ratatouille, Cinderella, Kungfu panda, ice age, Dumbo, corpse Bride, Shrek.... Từng xem mấy phim hoạt hình hành động như Superman hay Batman nhưng nói vừa nhanh vừa từ chuyên ngành mình chẳng hiểu gì.

Phim tình cảm: Love actually, Warm Bodies, The Note Book( bao cực hay, xem đi xem lại 5 lần chưa chán), Before Midnight, Easy A, Crazy Stupid Love...

Phim hài: The Friends , How I met your mother, We're The Millers...

Imgur

TẤT TẦN TẬT PHIM HD PHỤ ĐỀ TIẾNG ANH LUÔN CẬP NHẬT NÓNG HỔI

Giờ là giây phút cho những bạn đam mê muốn thay đổi tiếng anh, muốn mình bay cao bay xa và nhanh hơn những người khác, mình chia sẻ kho phim của mình :D

Vào trang <http://toomva.com/>. Đây là trang học tiếng Anh qua phim, có phụ đề Anh- Việt luôn nhé. Những bạn nào tải phim về mà chưa có phụ đề thì tải phụ đề về gắn vào.

Bạn xem tên file của phim down về Ví dụ như: Frozen 2013 720p WEB-DL x264 AC3-JYK lên <http://subscene.com/> , gõ vào ô subtitle tên bộ phim bạn muốn tìm phụ đề, down subtitle có các nội dung giống với tên phim nhất.

Chào mừng bạn đến với thế giới tiếng anh, hãy cứ say sưa, hãy cứ kiên nhẫn và chăm chỉ, hãy quên hết thế giới bên ngoài, hãy sống với những gã khổng lồ người Mỹ, bạn sẽ giỏi tiếng anh sớm thôi, chúc bạn thành công.

Nguồn: FB

Give Lingot4
131 year ago

Leave a new comment
20 Comments

ChauLe3 25 25 25 25 11 11 11 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 4 4 3

Nguồn chỉ khó quá nên mình có đổi chút ít, lên toova tải film về bằng IDM, rồi tải thêm phụ đề. Chạy phim bằng KMPlayer, ghép phụ đề vào. Đang xem phim Hoàng tử bé ^^

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Thuy.Nguyen. 25 25 25 25 558
Chị CHÂU luyện phim à

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Serena_Nhi 18 3
1 like! ok

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
đây nè <http://toomva.com/Phim-Friends-hoc-tieng-Anh-v.872>

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

thangdn1304 14
Cảm ơn bạn. hay quá

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RikarikaMoon 12

That's how you learn English ^^ Thanks a lot !! I'll follow what you have said, hope that my English would be better hehe

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ngochai.. 25 13 56
thank you for your topic

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChauLe3 25 25 25 25 11 11 11 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 4 4 3
You Are Welcome :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Pretty-girl-1307 12 4
i like cho chị châu

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

buitruongson02 17
cách này mới nè lên mạng ngay thôi

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hongdangnhim 25
creat

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

._Jayden_. 11 2 2
mấy cái đường dẫn này có an toàn không!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChauLe3 25 25 25 25 11 11 11 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 4 4 3
Có

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Serena_Nhi 18 3
Kèm thêm hình ảnh đc ko vậy, nói rồi mà cứ ưn chẳng

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChauLe3 25 25 25 25 11 11 11 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 4 4 3
thôi mệt quá, lười làm

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Serena_Nhi 18 3

mà Frozen hay mà ko thấy ns tiếng Anh mà lồng tiếng, ko ưa, nếu có phụ đề thì chỉ vs

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

...Happy_Life...

xem lm sao hết được 10000phim

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

tranquockhanh3a5 21 6 119

đúng đấy

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

tranquockhanh3a5 21 6 119

hoi kho doc

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

VanDanhNguyen 25 3 264

Hay! Cảm ơn bạn Châu.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

884 Cambridge English Dictionary & Thesaurus

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12971374>

silmever 25 827

Link para el Diccionario de Cambridge, de gran ayuda para las traducciones de palabras y fonación en inglés del Reino Unido y USA:

<http://dictionary.cambridge.org/dictionary/english/>

Give Lingot1

41 year ago

Start the discussion

No one has commented yet.

885 How do I access Duolingo for Schools?

<https://support.duolingo.com/hc/en-us/articles/204751804-How-do-I-access-Duolingo-for-Schools->

Visit <https://schools.duolingo.com/>

Click on "Get started" and log in with your Duolingo account.

This FAQ and the educators' forum offer helpful information about Duolingo for Schools.

886 Chuyển sang ngôn ngữ Tiếng Việt do cài đặt ứng dụng Duo về Android

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3570691>

Quynh_Trang_1601 8

Ad ơi, giúp bạn mình với! Bạn mình không biết nên cài ứng dụng Duo về máy điện thoại nhưng không có tiếng Việt mà còn bị chuyển sang tiếng nước nào ấy nên giờ ko học được. Mặc dù đã xóa phần mềm trên điện thoại rồi nhưng trên máy tính vẫn không trở về tiếng Việt để tiếp tục học được, mong Ad giúp đỡ để bạn mình tiếp tục học lại được. Thanks!

Give Lingot

02 years ago

8 CommentsThis discussion is locked.

ThanhGiang2 6

em cũng bị như thế. em đã chuyển tiếng rồi nhưng trong đt lại k có

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

voikoi

của t cũng bị thế. dùng trên máy tính thì học được khóa học tiếng anh( tôi biết tiếng việt). Nhưng trên android k có khóa học này :( Add giúp mình với nhé

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

ckhadung 24 14 10 10 8 8 7 6 5 3

Bạn có thể vào link này: <https://www.duolingo.com/course/en/vi/Learn-English-Online> và sau đó bấm vào nút chuyển khóa học (ở giữa, bên phải màn hình) để có thể chuyển lại về khóa học này và có giao diện tiếng Việt.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

ckhadung 24 14 10 10 8 8 7 6 5 3

Chào bạn, bạn có thể gửi link này: <https://www.duolingo.com/course/en/vi/Learn-English-Online> và sau đó bấm vào nút chuyển khóa học (ở giữa, bên phải màn hình) để có thể chuyển lại về khóa học này và có giao diện tiếng Việt.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

ThanhGiang2 6

hôm nay mình vừa chuyển lại thế nào mà lại học đc trên máy tính rồi. hôm nọ mình cũng ấn vào link chuyển như thế nhưng kiểu gì lại toàn dịch tiếng Anh sang tiếng Hà Lan mà k dịch sang tiếng Việt. chắc trường trình có sai sót gì đó

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

ckhadung 24 14 10 10 8 8 7 6 5 3

Không phải sai sót đâu bạn. Do bạn kích hoạt các khóa học khác trên Duolingo nên làm giao diện ngôn ngữ cũng thay đổi theo. Hoặc bạn cố đăng nhập vào bằng ứng dụng trên đt nên hệ thống chuyển bạn qua khóa học khác (vì ứng dụng Android và iOS chưa - nhưng sắp được cập nhật).

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Dieuhien 6

mình cài dat máy tính ở nhà mà sao lúc chỉ mũi tên vào từng từ trong bài không thấy hiện ra nghĩa phía dưới?

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

nguyenvanhaiphuc
huong dau roi

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

887 kaufen

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/German/kaufen-verb-infinitive/39a0611b7ab9aeea7f50341117300f69>

ENGLISH

buy, buying, are buying

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|       |                                              |                                    |
|-------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| kaufe | Ich kaufe keinen Garten, sondern einen Park! | I do not buy a garden, but a park! |
|-------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|

|       |                             |                     |
|-------|-----------------------------|---------------------|
| kauft | Der Junge kauft einen Hund. | The boy buys a dog. |
|-------|-----------------------------|---------------------|

|        |                                |                                   |
|--------|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| kaufen | Die Jungen kaufen die Tomaten. | The boys are buying the tomatoes. |
|--------|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------|

|         |                                                      |                                                           |
|---------|------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| gekauft | Du wirst den Regenschirm vor vier Uhr gekauft haben. | You will have purchased the umbrella before four o'clock. |
|---------|------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|

|      |                             |                          |
|------|-----------------------------|--------------------------|
| kauf | Kauf mir bitte dieses Buch. | Please buy me this book. |
|------|-----------------------------|--------------------------|

|       |                  |              |
|-------|------------------|--------------|
| kauft | Kauft mein Buch! | Buy my book! |
|-------|------------------|--------------|

|        |                                                 |                                       |
|--------|-------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| kaufen | Ich werde das Unternehmen nicht mit dir kaufen. | I will not buy the business with you. |
|--------|-------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|

kaufen conjugation

Indicative

Conditional

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | PAST |
|--------|---------|------|
|--------|---------|------|

|     |       |        |
|-----|-------|--------|
| ich | kaufe | kaufte |
|-----|-------|--------|

|    |        |          |
|----|--------|----------|
| du | kaufst | kauftest |
|----|--------|----------|

|           |       |        |
|-----------|-------|--------|
| er/sie/es | kauft | kaufte |
|-----------|-------|--------|

|     |        |         |
|-----|--------|---------|
| wir | kaufen | kauften |
|-----|--------|---------|

|     |       |         |
|-----|-------|---------|
| ihr | kauft | kauftet |
|-----|-------|---------|

|         |        |         |
|---------|--------|---------|
| sie/Sie | kaufen | kauften |
|---------|--------|---------|

Discussions with the word "kaufen":

15 commentsIch werde ihn jetzt kaufen.

9 commentsIrgendwie werde ich einen Fernseher kaufen.

5 commentsNiemand wird so was kaufen.

5 commentsIch werde das Unternehmen nicht mit dir kaufen.

5 commentsIch werde es nicht kaufen.

888 comimos

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/comimos-comer-verb-preterite+indicative-first+person-plural/54ea6e7ad0807d4d9d66557447f4e624>

ENGLISH

(we) ate, eat, ate

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

como Soy vegetariana, no como pollo. I am vegetarian, I do not eat chicken.
 comes Comes, come, comemos. You eat, he eats, we eat.
 come Fred no come queso, él es vegetariano. Fred does not eat cheese, he is a vegetarian.
 comemos Comes, come, comemos. You eat, he eats, we eat.
 comen Ellos comen arroz, ellas comen queso. They eat rice, they eat cheese.
 comas No quiero que comas pescado. I do not want you to eat fish.
 comamos Quiero que comamos pollo. I want us to eat chicken.
 coman Mi madre quiere que ustedes coman sopa de tomate. My mother wants you to eat tomato soup.
 comía Esa noche Andrea bebía cerveza y yo comía un emparedado. That night Andrea was drinking beer and I was eating a sandwich.
 comí El martes no comí en mi casa. On Tuesday I did not eat at my house.
 comías Quiero de ese pollo que tú comías. I want some of that chicken that you used to eat.
 comiste ¿Cuándo comiste con Alberto en ese restaurante? When did you eat with Alberto at that restaurant?
 comía Ella comía con su madre todos los días. She used to eat with her mother every day.
 comió Tu madre no comió arroz en mi casa. Your mother did not eat rice at my house.
 comíamos Nunca comíamos emparedados de pollo, pero ahora siempre lo hacemos. We never used to eat chicken sandwiches, but now we always do.
 comimos Fuimos al restaurante y comimos pasta. We went to the restaurant and ate pasta.
 comían Eran las ocho cuando los niños comían. It was eight o'clock when the children were eating.
 comieron Ustedes no comieron pan en el restaurante. You all did not eat bread in the restaurant.
 comido No he comido pescado, pero he comido pollo. I have not eaten fish, but I have eaten chicken.
 comeré Mañana yo comeré más fresas. Tomorrow I will eat more strawberries.
 comerías ¿Comerías carne de tortuga? Would you eat turtle meat?
 comerás El sábado comerás más sopa que yo. On Saturday you will eat more soup than I.
 comería Él no comería pescado. He would not eat fish.
 comerá La hermana de mi novia no comerá ese pescado. My girlfriend's sister will not eat that fish.
 comiendo Los tres estudiantes están comiendo en el restaurante. The three students are eating in the restaurant.
 comer Vamos a comer a ese restaurante otro día. Let us go eat at that restaurant another day.
 comeremos Mañana comeremos fresas, pero no manzanas. Tomorrow we will eat strawberries, but not apples.
 comamos ¡Comamos manzanas! Let's eat apples!
 comerían ¿Las niñas comerían pescado? Would the girls eat fish?
 comerán Las mujeres comerán menos comida que los hombres. The women will eat less food than the men.
 coman ¡Coman toda la comida! Eat all your food!
 comer conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            |       | PRESENT | PAST    | FUTURE    |
|-------------------|-------|---------|---------|-----------|
| yo                | como  | comí    | comeré  |           |
| tú                | comes | comiste | comerás |           |
| él/ella/usted     | come  | comió   | comerá  |           |
| nosotros/nosotras |       | comemos | comimos | comeremos |

vosotros/vosotras      coméis comisteis      comeréis

ustedes comen comieron      comerán

ellos/ellas      comen comieron      comerán

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "comimos":

143 comments Fuimos al restaurante y comimos pasta.

18 comments Nosotros no comimos pasta.

15 comments ¿Dónde comimos el domingo?

8 comments Comimos pescado en el almuerzo.

8 comments Comimos pasta en el restaurante.

889 ! DUOLINGO CLUB !

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/19927598>

Walide_Chorfi 13 8 7

Alright guys ! I want to make a great club with people engaged in duolingo and interesting people !
Are u in ?? So join me ! Can't wait to have you in my group :)))) The code to enter in group is : 9 P Z
W 8 C

Give Lingot

33 months ago

Leave a new comment

2 Comments

ThibautJac 11

For french people i make a new code J 8 T Q K X for learn english it's a new club

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

PolLon206058 25 92

Hello ! Tu peux venir sur ce club d'italien en français, il y a de la place. KUTPX6

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

890 comamos

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/comamos-comer-verb-imperative-first+person-plural/0e4a808b1cc89893d9698c73b1e13caa>

ENGLISH

eat, let's eat, (let us) eat

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|      |                                 |                                        |
|------|---------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| como | Soy vegetariana, no como pollo. | I am vegetarian, I do not eat chicken. |
|------|---------------------------------|----------------------------------------|

|       |                       |                           |
|-------|-----------------------|---------------------------|
| comes | Comes, come, comemos. | You eat, he eats, we eat. |
|-------|-----------------------|---------------------------|

|      |                                        |                                               |
|------|----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|
| come | Fred no come queso, él es vegetariano. | Fred does not eat cheese, he is a vegetarian. |
|------|----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|

|         |                       |                           |
|---------|-----------------------|---------------------------|
| comemos | Comes, come, comemos. | You eat, he eats, we eat. |
|---------|-----------------------|---------------------------|

|       |                                       |                                 |
|-------|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| comen | Ellos comen arroz, ellas comen queso. | They eat rice, they eat cheese. |
|-------|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------|

|       |                              |                                |
|-------|------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| comas | No quiero que comas pescado. | I do not want you to eat fish. |
|-------|------------------------------|--------------------------------|

|         |                           |                           |
|---------|---------------------------|---------------------------|
| comamos | Quiero que comamos pollo. | I want us to eat chicken. |
|---------|---------------------------|---------------------------|

coman Mi madre quiere que ustedes coman sopa de tomate. My mother wants you to eat tomato soup.

comía Esa noche Andrea bebía cerveza y yo comía un emparedado. That night Andrea was drinking beer and I was eating a sandwich.

comí El martes no comí en mi casa. On Tuesday I did not eat at my house.

comías Quiero de ese pollo que tú comías. I want some of that chicken that you used to eat.

comiste¿Cuándo comiste con Alberto en ese restaurante? When did you eat with Alberto at that restaurant?

comía Ella comía con su madre todos los días. She used to eat with her mother every day.

comió Tu madre no comió arroz en mi casa. Your mother did not eat rice at my house.

comíamos Nunca comíamos emparedados de pollo, pero ahora siempre lo hacemos. We never used to eat chicken sandwiches, but now we always do.

comimos Fuimos al restaurante y comimos pasta. We went to the restaurant and ate pasta.

comían Eran las ocho cuando los niños comían. It was eight o'clock when the children were eating.

comieron Ustedes no comieron pan en el restaurante. You all did not eat bread in the restaurant.

comido No he comido pescado, pero he comido pollo. I have not eaten fish, but I have eaten chicken.

comeré Mañana yo comeré más fresas. Tomorrow I will eat more strawberries.

comerías ¿Comerías carne de tortuga? Would you eat turtle meat?

comerás El sábado comerás más sopa que yo. On Saturday you will eat more soup than I.

comería Él no comería pescado. He would not eat fish.

comerá La hermana de mi novia no comerá ese pescado. My girlfriend's sister will not eat that fish.

comiendo Los tres estudiantes están comiendo en el restaurante. The three students are eating in the restaurant.

comer Vamos a comer a ese restaurante otro día. Let us go eat at that restaurant another day.

comeremos Mañana comeremos fresas, pero no manzanas. Tomorrow we will eat strawberries, but not apples.

comamos ¡Comamos manzanas! Let's eat apples!

comerían ¿Las niñas comerían pescado? Would the girls eat fish?

comerán Las mujeres comerán menos comida que los hombres. The women will eat less food than the men.

coman ¡Coman toda la comida! Eat all your food!

comer conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            |       | PRESENT  | PAST      | FUTURE    |
|-------------------|-------|----------|-----------|-----------|
| yo                | como  | comí     | comeré    |           |
| tú                | comes | comiste  | comerás   |           |
| él/ella/usted     | come  | comió    | comerá    |           |
| nosotros/nosotras |       | comemos  | comimos   | comeremos |
| vosotros/vosotras |       | coméis   | comisteis | comeréis  |
| ustedes           | comen | comieron | comerán   |           |
| ellos/ellas       | comen | comieron | comerán   |           |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "comamos":

51 comments¡Comamos manzanas!

323 comments¿Cuánto pan come el niño?

288 commentsEl niño come pan.

230 commentsNuestro gato come huevo.

171 commentsUsted come manzanas.

891 furba

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/furba-furbo-adjective-feminine-singular/bb4a8e1c43c69f154eb5185ba6142332>

ENGLISH

cunning, crafty, sly

Example sentences

| WORD  | NUMBER   | GENDER    | EXAMPLE                           | TRANSLATION                          |
|-------|----------|-----------|-----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| furbo | singular | masculine | Lui è un furbo.                   | He is a sly one.                     |
| furba | singular | feminine  | Lei è una donna furba.            | She is a cunning woman.              |
| furbi | plural   | masculine | Forse loro sono più furbi di noi. | Maybe they are more cunning than us. |
| furbe | plural   | feminine  | Per fortuna sono ragazze furbe.   | Luckily they are crafty girls.       |

Discussions with the word "furba":

59 commentsLei è una donna furba.

36 commentsPer fortuna sono ragazze furbe.

34 commentsForse loro sono più furbi di noi.

8 commentsLui è un furbo.

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages

892 – 911 of 911

[accessed April 19, 2017]

892 la palabra raincheck

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/13597084>

zachariel66 15

si la palabra raincheck significa vale porque la forma compuesta take a raincheck significa aplazar, posponer?

Give Lingot1

41 year ago

Leave a new comment

1 Comment

Lrtward 25 25 8 191

Raincheck en WordReference:

<http://www.wordreference.com/es/translation.asp?tranword=raincheck>

Literalmente, si hay un evento y ya has comprado un boleto, y por alguna razón el evento no se realiza (lo siento, es difícil para mí explicarlo en español), te dan un "raincheck". Es un boleto para el evento, pero después de la fecha original. Tal vez es un concierto afuera y hay una tormenta. O tal vez es un concierto y el cantante se encuentra en el hospital. Te dan un "raincheck" para que puedas asistir el concierto en una fecha nueva en el futuro.

Raincheck también es una frase hecha. Cuando no puedes asistir algo o acompañar a alguien ahora pero quieres hacerlo después:

¿Quieres cenar?

No puedo. Can I take a raincheck?

o

¿Quieres cenar?

Lo siento, no puedo.

(Do you want to take a) Raincheck?

5ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

893 cantano

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/cantano-cantare-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-plural/eb39234c3c4215914df5bd8aeee2360f>

ENGLISH

(they) sing, (they) sing of, (they) chirp

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|       |               |                |
|-------|---------------|----------------|
| canto | Canto sempre. | I always sing. |
|-------|---------------|----------------|

|       |                     |                        |
|-------|---------------------|------------------------|
| canta | Lui non canta bene. | He does not sing well. |
|-------|---------------------|------------------------|

|          |               |          |
|----------|---------------|----------|
| cantiamo | Noi cantiamo. | We sing. |
|----------|---------------|----------|

|         |                      |                 |
|---------|----------------------|-----------------|
| cantano | Gli uccelli cantano. | The birds sing. |
|---------|----------------------|-----------------|

|         |                                                               |                                                 |
|---------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| cantare | A lui piace suonare il violino e a me piace cantare. to sing. | He likes to play the violin and I like to sing. |
|---------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|

cantare conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | REMOTE PAST | FUTURE |
|--------|---------|-------------|--------|
|--------|---------|-------------|--------|

|    |       |        |         |
|----|-------|--------|---------|
| io | canto | cantai | canterò |
|----|-------|--------|---------|

|    |       |          |          |
|----|-------|----------|----------|
| tu | canti | cantasti | canterai |
|----|-------|----------|----------|

|         |       |       |         |
|---------|-------|-------|---------|
| lui/lei | canta | cantò | canterà |
|---------|-------|-------|---------|

|     |          |          |           |
|-----|----------|----------|-----------|
| noi | cantiamo | cantammo | canteremo |
|-----|----------|----------|-----------|

|     |         |          |           |
|-----|---------|----------|-----------|
| voi | cantate | cantaste | canterete |
|-----|---------|----------|-----------|

|      |         |           |            |
|------|---------|-----------|------------|
| loro | cantano | cantarono | canteranno |
|------|---------|-----------|------------|

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "cantano":

1 commentGli uccelli cantano.

23 commentsTu vieni a cantare con me.

17 commentsCanto sempre.

12 commentslo canto.

10 commentsMia zia ama cantare.

894 preferisce

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Italian/preferisce-preferire-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-singular/9f3420c9d977713ab10ac38ce111ec00>

ENGLISH

(you) prefer, (he/she/it) prefers, (he/she/it) likes better

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|            |                               |                                      |
|------------|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| preferisci | Preferisci il riso o il pane? | Do you prefer the rice or the bread? |
|------------|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------|

|            |                                          |                                  |
|------------|------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| preferisce | Lui preferisce la primavera o l'autunno? | Does he prefer spring or autumn? |
|------------|------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|

|           |                                              |                                           |
|-----------|----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| preferire | Ho cominciato a preferire questo ristorante. | I have started to prefer this restaurant. |
|-----------|----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|

preferire conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | REMOTE PAST | FUTURE |
|--------|---------|-------------|--------|
|--------|---------|-------------|--------|

|    |            |          |           |
|----|------------|----------|-----------|
| io | preferisco | preferii | preferirò |
|----|------------|----------|-----------|

|    |            |            |            |
|----|------------|------------|------------|
| tu | preferisci | preferisti | preferirai |
|----|------------|------------|------------|

|         |            |         |           |
|---------|------------|---------|-----------|
| lui/lei | preferisce | preferì | preferirà |
|---------|------------|---------|-----------|

|     |            |            |             |
|-----|------------|------------|-------------|
| noi | preferiamo | preferimmo | preferiremo |
|-----|------------|------------|-------------|

|     |           |            |             |
|-----|-----------|------------|-------------|
| voi | preferite | preferiste | preferirete |
|-----|-----------|------------|-------------|

|      |              |             |              |
|------|--------------|-------------|--------------|
| loro | preferiscono | preferirono | preferiranno |
|------|--------------|-------------|--------------|

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "preferisce":

32 commentsPreferisce carne o pesce?

10 commentsLui preferisce la primavera o l'autunno?

23 commentsCi sono due ragioni per preferire questa macchina.

14 commentsPreferisci vino bianco o rosso?

13 commentsPreferisci il riso o il pane?

895 Corso di PORTOGHESE per chi parla ITALIANO

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/2092081>

kittamuff 13 11 5 3 2 2

Sarei interessata ad un corso di Portoghese. Attualmente b̃non c'è. Posso sperare? :) Grazie

Give Lingot

33 years ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

itastudent 15 14 10 9

Purtroppo al momento non mi risulta che non ci sia nemmeno un corso di questo tipo presente nell'incubatrice. Non voglio dire che non ci sarà mai, ma temo per te che possa essere una lunga attesa. Se hai già un buon livello di inglese, puoi provare il corso di portoghese per chi parla inglese. Magari ti potrà servire per migliorare anche l'inglese, sebbene capisco che possa risultare difficile.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

kittamuff 13 11 5 3 2 2

Ottima idea. Grazie!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

portarosalvatore 6

ciao belliiii :D

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/French/travailles-travailler-verb-present+indicative+tense-second+person-singular/2b855621a3ec7bdad5520639e76c2ed0>

ENGLISH

(you) work, (you) work out, (you) work on

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

travaille Il aime la boulangerie où je travaille. He likes the bakery where I am working.

travailles Tu travailles. You work.

travaille Il travaille dans cette entreprise du lundi au dimanche. He works for this firm Mondays to Sundays.

travaillons Nous travaillons sauf quand il pleut. We work except when it rains.

travaillent Les enfants travaillent bien ensemble. The children work well together.

travailler Es-tu sûre de devoir travailler samedi ? Are you sure you have to work on Saturday?

travailler conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON     | PRESENT     | FUTURE        | PAST IMPERFECT |
|------------|-------------|---------------|----------------|
| je         | travaille   | travaillerai  | travillais     |
| tu         | travailles  | travailleras  | travillais     |
| il/elle/on | travaille   | travaillera   | travillait     |
| nous       | travaillons | travaillerons | travillions    |
| vous       | travaillez  | travaillerez  | travilliez     |
| ils/elles  | travaillent | travailleront | travillaient   |

Discussions with the word "travailles":

8 commentsTu travailles.

35 commentsJe ne veux pas travailler.

28 commentsEs-tu sûre de devoir travailler samedi ?

27 commentsIl travaille dans cette entreprise du lundi au dimanche.

17 commentsIl travaille aussi pour la radio.

897 entienden

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/entienden-entender-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-plural/e034db74d518bb46933e2d02a8205163>

ENGLISH

(they/you-plural) understand

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|          |                       |                           |
|----------|-----------------------|---------------------------|
| entiendo | Entiendo a mis hijos. | I understand my children. |
|----------|-----------------------|---------------------------|

|          |                           |                              |
|----------|---------------------------|------------------------------|
| entiende | Ella entiende al maestro. | She understands the teacher. |
|----------|---------------------------|------------------------------|

|           |                  |                            |
|-----------|------------------|----------------------------|
| entienden | No me entienden. | They do not understand me. |
|-----------|------------------|----------------------------|

|          |                               |                                            |
|----------|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| entender | La gente no lo va a entender. | The people are not going to understand it. |
|----------|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|

entender conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | PAST | FUTURE |
|--------|---------|------|--------|
|--------|---------|------|--------|

|    |          |         |           |
|----|----------|---------|-----------|
| yo | entiendo | entendí | entenderé |
|----|----------|---------|-----------|

|    |           |            |            |
|----|-----------|------------|------------|
| tú | entiendes | entendiste | entenderás |
|----|-----------|------------|------------|

|               |          |          |           |
|---------------|----------|----------|-----------|
| él/ella/usted | entiende | entendió | entenderá |
|---------------|----------|----------|-----------|

|                   |            |            |              |
|-------------------|------------|------------|--------------|
| nosotros/nosotras | entendemos | entendimos | entenderemos |
|-------------------|------------|------------|--------------|

|                   |           |              |             |
|-------------------|-----------|--------------|-------------|
| vosotros/vosotras | entendéis | entendisteis | entenderéis |
|-------------------|-----------|--------------|-------------|

|         |           |             |            |
|---------|-----------|-------------|------------|
| ustedes | entienden | entendieron | entenderán |
|---------|-----------|-------------|------------|

|             |           |             |            |
|-------------|-----------|-------------|------------|
| ellos/ellas | entienden | entendieron | entenderán |
|-------------|-----------|-------------|------------|

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "entienden":

28 commentsNo me entienden.

79 commentsElla no lo va a entender.

71 commentsJamás lo vas a entender.

43 commentsYo puedo entender ese libro.

41 commentsNosotros vamos a entender al maestro.

898 alcanza

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/alcanza-alcanzar-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-singular/73c696596eb88dc996a46658a4502747>

ENGLISH

catch, (he/she/it) reaches, catch up with!

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |                        |                                    |
|---------|------------------------|------------------------------------|
| alcanza | El niño no me alcanza. | The boy does not catch up with me. |
|---------|------------------------|------------------------------------|

|         |                       |                      |
|---------|-----------------------|----------------------|
| alcanzó | Él alcanzó al pájaro. | He reached the bird. |
|---------|-----------------------|----------------------|

|           |                                     |                                    |
|-----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| alcanzado | Al mediodía los habremos alcanzado. | At noon we will have reached them. |
|-----------|-------------------------------------|------------------------------------|

|          |                               |                                    |
|----------|-------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| alcanzar | Nosotras te vamos a alcanzar. | We are going to catch up with you. |
|----------|-------------------------------|------------------------------------|

alcanzar conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT    | PAST         | FUTURE       |
|-------------------|------------|--------------|--------------|
| yo                | alcanzo    | alcancé      | alcanzaré    |
| tú                | alcanzas   | alcanzaste   | alcanzarás   |
| él/ella/usted     | alcanza    | alcanzó      | alcanzará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | alcanzamos | alcanzamos   | alcanzaremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | alcanzáis  | alcanzasteis | alcanzaréis  |
| ustedes           | alcanzan   | alcanzaron   | alcanzarán   |
| ellos/ellas       | alcanzan   | alcanzaron   | alcanzarán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "alcanza":

78 commentsÉl alcanza el sombrero.

41 commentsEl niño no me alcanza.

3 commentsElla alcanza los zapatos.

96 commentsÉl alcanzó al pájaro.

70 commentsNosotras te vamos a alcanzar.

899 viene

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/viene-venir-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-singular/79b69dea1ba5349d08b1e9958d613cd1>

ENGLISH

(he/she/it) comes, come, coming

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|        |                                  |                             |
|--------|----------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| vienes | ¿Por qué no vienes con nosotros? | Why don't you come with us? |
|--------|----------------------------------|-----------------------------|

|       |                    |                            |
|-------|--------------------|----------------------------|
| viene | Él viene de Suiza. | He comes from Switzerland. |
|-------|--------------------|----------------------------|

|        |                         |                        |
|--------|-------------------------|------------------------|
| vienen | Ellos vienen de México. | They come from Mexico. |
|--------|-------------------------|------------------------|

|       |                      |                             |
|-------|----------------------|-----------------------------|
| venía | Yo venía de mi casa. | I was coming from my house. |
|-------|----------------------|-----------------------------|

|      |                                  |                              |
|------|----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| vino | Él les sirve vino a las mujeres. | He serves wine to the women. |
|------|----------------------------------|------------------------------|

|       |                           |                                |
|-------|---------------------------|--------------------------------|
| venía | Usted venía de la ciudad. | You were coming from the city. |
|-------|---------------------------|--------------------------------|

|        |                                     |                                          |
|--------|-------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| venido | Está enfermo. Por eso no ha venido. | He is sick. That is why he has not come. |
|--------|-------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|

|     |                               |                                     |
|-----|-------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| ven | Ven el martes, si es posible. | Come on Tuesday, if it is possible. |
|-----|-------------------------------|-------------------------------------|

|       |                                  |                                        |
|-------|----------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| venir | Creo que ella va a venir mañana. | I think she is going to come tomorrow. |
|-------|----------------------------------|----------------------------------------|

venir conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON | PRESENT | PAST | FUTURE |
|--------|---------|------|--------|
|--------|---------|------|--------|

|    |            |        |
|----|------------|--------|
| yo | vengo vine | vendré |
|----|------------|--------|

|    |                |         |
|----|----------------|---------|
| tú | vienes viniste | vendrás |
|----|----------------|---------|

|               |            |        |
|---------------|------------|--------|
| él/ella/usted | viene vino | vendrá |
|---------------|------------|--------|

|                   |         |                   |
|-------------------|---------|-------------------|
| nosotros/nosotras | venimos | vinimos vendremos |
|-------------------|---------|-------------------|

|                   |                 |          |
|-------------------|-----------------|----------|
| vosotros/vosotras | venís vinisteis | vendréis |
|-------------------|-----------------|----------|

ustedes vienen vinieron vendrán

ellos/ellas vienen vinieron vendrán

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "viene":

160 comments Ella viene con nosotros.

12 comments Él viene de Francia.

11 comments Usted viene de España.

2 comments Él viene de Suiza.

0 comments Él viene con la niña.

900 oímos

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/o%C3%ADmos-o%C3%ADr-verb-present+indicative+tense-first+person-plural/34fbd819e89b25e12fb868309ff16707>

ENGLISH

(we) hear, (we) heard, (we) listen to

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|      |                            |                                              |
|------|----------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| oigo | No veo, no oigo, no hablo. | I do not see, I do not hear, I do not speak. |
|------|----------------------------|----------------------------------------------|

|      |                           |                             |
|------|---------------------------|-----------------------------|
| oyes | Yo oigo, tú oyes, él oye. | I hear, you hear, he hears. |
|------|---------------------------|-----------------------------|

|     |                           |                             |
|-----|---------------------------|-----------------------------|
| oye | Yo oigo, tú oyes, él oye. | I hear, you hear, he hears. |
|-----|---------------------------|-----------------------------|

|       |                                           |                               |
|-------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| oímos | Nosotros oímos, ustedes oyen, ellos oyen. | We hear, you hear, they hear. |
|-------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|

|      |                                           |                               |
|------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| oyen | Nosotros oímos, ustedes oyen, ellos oyen. | We hear, you hear, they hear. |
|------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|

|    |                         |                                 |
|----|-------------------------|---------------------------------|
| oí | Yo no te oí en mi casa. | I did not hear you at my house. |
|----|-------------------------|---------------------------------|

|       |                       |                         |
|-------|-----------------------|-------------------------|
| oíste | ¿Oíste a los pájaros? | Did you hear the birds? |
|-------|-----------------------|-------------------------|

|     |                                         |                                                |
|-----|-----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| oyó | Anoche, Ana oyó a su amigo en la radio. | Last night, Ana heard her friend on the radio. |
|-----|-----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|

|      |                                     |                                              |
|------|-------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| oído | He oído que tienes una nueva novia. | I have heard that you have a new girlfriend. |
|------|-------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|

|     |                          |                         |
|-----|--------------------------|-------------------------|
| oír | ¿Puedes oír esa campana? | Can you hear that bell? |
|-----|--------------------------|-------------------------|

oír conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            |      | PRESENT | PAST    | FUTURE  |
|-------------------|------|---------|---------|---------|
| yo                | oigo | oí      | oír     |         |
| tú                | oyes | oíste   | oirás   |         |
| él/ella/usted     | oye  | oyó     | oirá    |         |
| nosotros/nosotras |      | oímos   | oímos   | oiremos |
| vosotros/vosotras |      | oís     | oísteis | oiréis  |
| ustedes           | oyen | oyeron  | oirán   |         |
| ellos/ellas       | oyen | oyeron  | oirán   |         |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "oímos":

9 commentsYo oigo, nosotras oímos.

4 commentsNosotros oímos, ustedes oyen, ellos oyen.

240 commentsNo veo, no oigo, no hablo.

164 commentsNo oigo.

74 commentsElla no oye.

901 conocer

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/conocer-verb-infinitive/7e8c76f98601c706b2d4f9e03fb61ccb>

ENGLISH

meet, (to) meet, know

Example sentences

| WORD      | EXAMPLE                             | TRANSLATION               |
|-----------|-------------------------------------|---------------------------|
| conozco   | Conozco a tu padre.                 | I know your father.       |
| conoces   | Conoces a mi hija.                  | You know my daughter.     |
| conoce    | ¿Conoce usted Madrid?               | Have you been to Madrid?  |
| conocemos | Nosotros conocemos a nuestra madre. | We know our mother.       |
| conocía   | Usted me conocía.                   | You used to know me.      |
| conocido  | ¿Ya lo has conocido a él?           | Have you met him already? |
| conocida  | No es una cosa bien conocida.       | It is not a known thing.  |

conocidos      Son conocidos por la policía.      They are known by the police.

conocer Ella tiene que conocer al dueño. She has to meet the owner.

conocer conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT   | PAST        | FUTURE      |
|-------------------|-----------|-------------|-------------|
| yo                | conozco   | conocí      | conoceré    |
| tú                | conoces   | conociste   | conocerás   |
| él/ella/usted     | conoce    | conoció     | conocerá    |
| nosotros/nosotras | conocemos | conocimos   | conoceremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | conocéis  | conocisteis | conoceréis  |
| ustedes           | conocen   | conocieron  | conocerán   |
| ellos/ellas       | conocen   | conocieron  | conocerán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "conocer":

101 comments Tú puedes conocer a mi madre.

73 comments Usted puede conocer a mi padre.

33 comments Ella tiene que conocer al dueño.

154 comments Yo conozco al enfermero.

95 comments Nosotros conocemos a nuestra madre.

902 escribir

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/escribir-verb-infinitive/8e35833ab82f94c4a44be34a202514e3>

ENGLISH

write, (to) write, writing

Example sentences

| WORD | EXAMPLE | TRANSLATION |
|------|---------|-------------|
|------|---------|-------------|

|         |                       |                   |
|---------|-----------------------|-------------------|
| escribo | Yo escribo una carta. | I write a letter. |
|---------|-----------------------|-------------------|

escribes            ¿Cómo escribes una carta?      How do you write a letter?
 escribe Carlos escribe, Antonio lee.      Carlos writes, Antonio reads.
 escribimos      Nosotros escribimos una carta.      We write a letter.
 escriben      Los niños escriben las cartas.      The boys write the letters.
 escribas      No escribas con bolígrafos distintos.      Do not write with different pens.
 escriba Porque es muy importante que usted me escriba.      Because it's very important that you write to me.
 escribí Yo le escribí a él.      I wrote to him.
 escribió ¿Por qué usted no me escribió? Why did you not write to me?
 escribieron Ellos me escribieron.      They wrote to me.
 escrito He escrito tres cartas.      I have written three letters.
 escribir Voy a escribir un libro y tú lo vas a leer. I am going to write a book and you are going to read it.
 escribiendo Mis hermanos están escribiendo con esos bolígrafos.      My brothers are writing with those pens.
 escribir conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT                    | PAST        | FUTURE       |
|-------------------|----------------------------|-------------|--------------|
| yo                | escribo escribí escribiré  |             |              |
| tú                | escribes escribiste        |             | escribirás   |
| él/ella/usted     | escribe escribió escribirá |             |              |
| nosotros/nosotras | escribimos                 | escribimos  | escribiremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | escribís escribisteis      |             | escribiréis  |
| ustedes escriben  | escribieron                | escribirán  |              |
| ellos/ellas       | escriben                   | escribieron | escribirán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "escribir":

48 commentsNo te voy a escribir.

25 commentsVoy a escribir un libro y tú lo vas a leer.

7 commentsMis amigos y yo vamos a escribir un libro.

202 commentsUsted escribe.

190 comments¿Cómo escribes una carta?

903 Apprendre l'allemand pour les français
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4682227>

marinette84310 10

A quand des cours d'allemand pour les français ?

Give Lingot

92 years ago

Leave a new comment

23 Comments

deadsimon 3

yo yo sa chill :')

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

marinette84310 10

Ils sont en train de faire l'italien pour les français peut être la prochaine langue sera l'allemand :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bleubleubleu 8

je suis très intéressée aussi par des cours d'allemand

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

abdelrahmane010

hallo evrey bady how are you

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

marinette84310 10

Il y a pas de cours le but de mon commentaire était de savoir quand il y aurait un module allemand !

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mike_kevin 9 4

moi aussi j'amerais apprendre l'allemand

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

deadsimon 3

bravo ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

deadshan 3

salut je parle tres bien allemand ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

marinette84310 10

Peut être que tu pourras participer à la création du module allemand :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Elkristos 13

Oui Marinette a raison tu pourrais proposer ta contribution! c'est grâce au bilingue que tout les modules sont créés

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

chaimaechemsi 2

bien tu peux m'aider pour parler l'allemand comme toi

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Messaoudii 2

je voudrai bien qu'il est aussi cette option d'apprendre l'allemand pour les personnes qui parlent francais

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Walerain 11 10 8 6 4

J'avoue que je me suis posé la même question... En attendant, j'apprends l'allemand à partir du cours pour les anglais.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mag7e 5

j expert très vite car je fait de l'allemand depuis la 6 eme j'ai hate

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FrdricHAUG 14 13 8 7 6 6

J'aimerais également apprendre l'allemand à partir du français.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MissColibry 8 8 4

il serait très intéressant d'avoir ces cours :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

28mouns64A 21

not too difficult to learn english

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

28mouns64A 21

my is the galley bya

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lumia592 10 8 7 3 2

moi aussi j'aimerais savoir :)

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Messaoudii 2

comment je peux participer a la creation du module allemand

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Elkristos 13

Il faut que tu ailles dans "ajouter une langue" (en cliquant sur le drapeau a coté de ton pseudo en haut) et ensuite en bas de page il te propose de contribuer à la création de cours

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kyshan

je taime

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

904 oíste

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/o%C3%ADste-o%C3%ADr-verb-preterite+indicative-second+person-singular/61f0dbdb2b46390d1140a51d49a18bad>

ENGLISH

(you) listened, (you) heard, (you) listened to

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

oigo No veo, no oigo, no hablo. I do not see, I do not hear, I do not speak.

oyes Yo oigo, tú oyes, él oye. I hear, you hear, he hears.

oye Yo oigo, tú oyes, él oye. I hear, you hear, he hears.

oímos Nosotros oímos, ustedes oyen, ellos oyen. We hear, you hear, they hear.

oyen Nosotros oímos, ustedes oyen, ellos oyen. We hear, you hear, they hear.

oí Yo no te oí en mi casa. I did not hear you at my house.

oíste ¿Oíste a los pájaros? Did you hear the birds?

oyó Anoche, Ana oyó a su amigo en la radio. Last night, Ana heard her friend on the radio.

oído He oído que tienes una nueva novia. I have heard that you have a new girlfriend.

oír ¿Puedes oír esa campana? Can you hear that bell?

oír conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            |      | PRESENT | PAST  | FUTURE  |
|-------------------|------|---------|-------|---------|
| yo                | oigo | oí      | oiré  |         |
| tú                | oyes | oíste   | oirás |         |
| él/ella/usted     | oye  | oyó     | oirá  |         |
| nosotros/nosotras |      | oímos   | oímos | oiremos |

vosotros/vosotras      oís      oísteis      oiréis

ustedes oyen      oyeron      oirán

ellos/ellas      oyen      oyeron      oirán

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "oíste":

51 comments¿Oíste a los pájaros?

40 comments¿No me oíste?

240 commentsNo veo, no oigo, no hablo.

164 commentsNo oigo.

74 commentsElla no oye.

905      Is there difference between "got it" and "understood"?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9982554>

mizail 24 11 7 2

Help me please to understand is there difference between "got it" and "understood"?

Give Lingot

41 year ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

arthur0703 11 11 11 10 8 7 6 4 1

I think that "got it" is more colloquial, and "understood" is a common word.

"Got it!" - "Понял!"

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mizail 24 11 7 2

Спасибо.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

arthur0703 11 11 11 10 8 7 6 4 1

You're welcome!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

906 cuantos niveles de ingles hay en duolingo?
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4500990>

Arlette92 9

Give Lingot2

122 years ago

Leave a new comment

5 Comments

Isrianth 25 25 23 21 16 4 1334

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4500566>

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

joseantonioruz 6

25

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

juan_mariano 25 7

Es variable: si solamente contestas los ejercicios del árbol, son menos niveles que si incluyes los ejercicios de traducción ó inmersión.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

giordanooo 14 6 6 6 2

24

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nicolascenteno 10 9

5616516h51o542l8475628564154545 holajdhdsvglhgoñdfbgfoi6d51ofiu56h1256o125fd64ddsdfAQHGFPOIUTOP8I7tpigsdx9p69P5GT4P878

TD45OT5A9p74y158qf859dc54yPVTXogcp

ivS2{19451649iu4TG0FST5iu4YXOUV5gd5p4GVY4x5ygvOD0YGTvudH5GXI54Gdk54HGD5K4jfhg5IUG

VHD0h8OC4hgoi4C5HG0uoiK00 HAY CONCHON FRON JAPON B=====D

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

907 Spanish club???

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/21130037>

layla305618 2

I think Spanish learners should go to a Spanish club with other people!!!

Give Lingot1

41 month ago

Leave a new comment

8 Comments

JPBanging0805 8

Yeah that might be smart

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

JPBanging0805 8

They'll have someone to learn with

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

danman244 8

join this club mhy4gp

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

JPBanging0805 8

I know its good right

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

danman244 8

yeah

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

WeeniePanini 8 4

7QBA9N is my club. Join it if you are a beginner or in between.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

XPioneer 9

I have just made a club called Spanish Gambit , for those who wish to be more motivated to complete their daily Duolingo session. The concept it ALL members in the club buy Double or Nothing in the store, and those who fail to maintain a 7+ streak(Or 210 XP a week) get booted from the club. The code is CVWMHA if you are interested in joining. Good luck!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

mikeboht 17 41

Use 4KZEBM to join the Spanish Champs club :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

908 Cosa proverebbe?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10554626>

Translation: What would he try?

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

kucas 17 9 8 6

How would you say "what would that prove"?

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

rut962457 24 21 504

What would it prove, was accepted.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

EmilGentil1 25 11 11 11 10 3 3

She is actually saying "proveredde". Why the difference?

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

909 muestra

<https://www.duolingo.com/dictionary/Spanish/muestra-mostrar-verb-present+indicative+tense-third+person-singular/d434fc4465d84cb3f44a0675da7fae63>

ENGLISH

(he/she/it) shows, sample, show

Example sentences

WORD EXAMPLE TRANSLATION

muestras Tú muestras tu cinturón. You show your belt.

muestra Él muestra sus cartas. He shows his cards.

mostró La policía mostró su foto por el museo. The police showed her photo around the museum.

mostrar Ella nos va a mostrar su casa. She is going to show us her house.

mostrar conjugation

Indicative

Subjunctive

Others

| PERSON            | PRESENT   | PAST        | FUTURE      |
|-------------------|-----------|-------------|-------------|
| yo                | muestro   | mostré      | mostraré    |
| tú                | muestras  | mostraste   | mostrarás   |
| él/ella/usted     | muestra   | mostró      | mostrará    |
| nosotros/nosotras | mostramos | mostramos   | mostraremos |
| vosotros/vosotras | mostráis  | mostrasteis | mostraréis  |
| ustedes           | muestran  | mostraron   | mostrarán   |
| ellos/ellas       | muestran  | mostraron   | mostrarán   |

Show more tenses →

Discussions with the word "muestra":

207 comments Él muestra sus cartas.

86 comments Él muestra las cartas.

184 comments Tú muestras tu cinturón.

109 comments Luego él se la mostró a sus amigos.

63 comments Le voy a mostrar mi coche a él.

910 Duolingo'ya teşekkürler

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6263700>

farah-cansu 12 4

Ne zamandır duolingo ya tesekkür etmek ıstıyordum daha çok moderatörlerine diyelim.İyi ki bu siteyi kurmuşsunuz.İngilizcem iyidir ve çok ilgim vardır.Ama okuldaki hocalardan ne kadar öğrenebiliyoruz herkes biliyor.Ben burada bilgi eksikliğimi tamamladım ve tamamlamaya devam ediyorum.İngilizce'yi hızlı bir şekilde daha iyi öğrendim.Bence İngilizce öğretmek amacıyla yapılan bütün sitelerden en iyisısınız.Tebrikler !!!!!

Give Lingot2

42 years ago

Leave a new comment

12 Comments

mburak07 21 8

iyi düşünmüşsün bende duolingoya çok teşekkür ediyorum.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AyhanMurse 12

Kesinlikle katılıyorum. Kendi başına dil öğrenmek isteyenler için bundan daha iyisi olamaz. Teşekkürler.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Senel_KOSE 25 14

haklı bir yorum ve tespit. Umarım ücretsiz hizmet vermeye devam eder. Başarılar

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

zehrarefzehraref 4

bencede cansu hanım çok haklısınız okulda okadar burada 10 katını öğreniyorum ha bide dersaneye gidiyorum ama duolingo kadar iyi değil iyiki duolingo ile tanışmışım

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

halil106 6

çok haklısın bence bu site iyi ki yapılmış çok şey öğrendim

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

keremtyds 15 8

katılıyorum. başarılı bir site.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

aleynaekin

firofil nasıl koyuluyorr :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mburak07 21 8

firofil?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

aleynaekin

pardon profil olucaktı :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mburak07 21 8

Sen profil resmimi koymak istiyorsun ?yukari daki mavi seritte adam resminin uzerine tikla orada ayarlar var tikla sonra dosya sec var oradan koymak istedigin resmi bilgisayarından sec.tamam de bu kadar.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

semiha6161 8

Kesinlikle Haklısınız...

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Ayezknay 14

Ne kadar bilinse de kullanılmadığında unutuluyor.Hatırlamak ve yeni bilgiler edinmek için harika bir program.Teşekkür ederim.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

911 30 datos interesantes sobre el inglés.

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/17854863>

Pablo021991 14

El inglés, en realidad, tiene sus orígenes en lo que ahora conocemos como noroeste de Alemania y Países Bajos.

Se cree que la expresión long time no see es una traducción literal de una expresión de la lengua nativa americana o del chino, ya que esta frase no es gramaticalmente correcta.

Go! –"¡Vamos!"- es la frase gramaticalmente correcta más corta que podemos encontrar en el inglés.

La palabra original para butterfly –"mariposa"- era flutterby.

Cada año se añaden unas cuatro mil palabras al diccionario.

Las dos palabras más comunes en inglés son I y you, es decir, "tú" y "yo".

El 11% del total de la lengua inglesa está formado solamente por la letra e.

Se dice que la lengua inglesa es una de las más alegres del mundo. Y hablando de alegría, ¡la palabra happy –"feliz"- se usa tres veces más que la palabra sad –"triste"-, su antónimo!

Un cuarto de la población mundial habla al menos algo de inglés.

Estados Unidos no tiene una lengua oficial.

Es la única lengua importante que no dispone de una organización que vele por ella, en oposición a la Académie Française, la Real Academia Española y la German Rat für deutsche Rechtschreibung. Estas organizaciones son responsables de controlar la evolución de sus respectivas lenguas en términos de uso, vocabulario y gramática.

El adjetivo más empleado en inglés es good, es decir, "bueno".

El sustantivo más usado es time, es decir, "tiempo, hora, momento...".

La palabra set es la que mayor número de definiciones posee.

Month –"mes"-, orange –"naranja"-, silver –"plata"- y purple –"morado"- no riman con ninguna otra palabra.

El inglés contiene numerosos "contrónimos", palabras que pueden tener significados contradictorios dependiendo del contexto. ¡Aquí puedes leer una excelente lista!

Más del 80% de la información guardada en los ordenadores de todo el mundo está escrita en inglés.

Las palabras que se usan para rellenar espacios cuando se habla, como por ejemplo like –"como"- o basically –"básicamente"-, se conocen como muletillas. Por ello, al igual que sucede en español, ¡es mejor que las evites!

El inglés es la lengua oficial de sesenta y siete países.

El 90% de los textos ingleses contienen apenas mil palabras.

Existen veinticuatro dialectos diferentes del inglés en los Estados Unidos.

La palabra lol –acrónimo de laughing out loud, frecuentemente empleada en los medios de comunicación equivaliendo a ha, ha o "ja, ja" en español– fue añadida al Oxford English Dictionary en 2011.

Lo que hoy conocemos como acento británico comenzó a ser utilizado como tal en Londres y sus alrededores en la época de la Revolución Americana.

Shakespeare inventó muchas palabras que hoy usamos en inglés, como birthplace –"lugar de nacimiento"-, blushing –"ruborizado"-, undress –"desvestirse" y torture –"tortura/tomento"-, ¡así como muchas otras que encontrarás aquí!

La palabra Goodbye originalmente procede de una expresión del inglés antiguo que significa "Que Dios esté contigo".

Etimológicamente, Gran Bretaña significa "gran tierra del tatuado".

Hay siete formas de escribir el sonido [ee] en inglés. Esta frase las contiene todas: He believed Caesar could see people seizing the seas.

Muchas palabras inglesas han cambiado su significado con el paso del tiempo. Por ejemplo, awful - "terrible"- solía significar inspiring wonder –"algo maravilloso capaz de inspirar"- e incluso tenía una versión apocopada en full of awe, mientras que nice solía significar "tonto"...

El primer diccionario de la lengua inglesa se escribió en 1755.

La palabra inglesa más antigua vigente en la actualidad es town, en español, "ciudad".
<https://www.lingoda.es/blog/datos-curiosos-ingles>

Give Lingot1

67 months ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

RodolfoRod263538 25 10 365

Excelente informacion .....

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

[deactivated user]

Te felicito Pablo!! Gracias por la información. Me gustaría darte un regalo en lingots. Responde este mensaje para poder acreditar.

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Pablo021991 14

De nada...

0ReplyGive Lingot3•6 months ago

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages 912 - 942

[accessed April 25, 2017]

912-942 [1-30] from search for term: "skill"

1 Game "Word Search" by Autumn_Maple (Part 3)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/14101528>

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Hãng Game Mùa Thu xin hân hạnh chào mừng các bạn đến với một trò chơi quen thuộc: WORD SEARCH.

Các bạn có thể theo dõi lại diễn biến của các phần trước bằng cách click vào tên phần đó:

Game "Word Search" by Autumn_Maple (Part 1)

Game "Word Search" by Autumn_Maple (Part 2)

Mình mới tổ chức trò chơi nên không thể tránh khỏi sơ suất, mong được mọi người góp ý. Mình không online nhiều nên có thời gian vào mình sẽ trả lời về đáp án của các bạn. Mình sẽ chỉ trao thưởng cho các từ nằm trong chủ đề đưa ra. (3 lingots cho mỗi từ đúng)

Lưu ý: Không giới hạn về số lượng đáp án mà mỗi người đưa ra nhưng mỗi comment chỉ chứa một đáp án. Ví dụ nếu muốn trả lời 2 từ thì các bạn phải comment 2 lần. Bạn nào gian lận và đưa ra các từ linh tinh nhiều lần sẽ bị cảnh cáo, phạt 5 lingots và bị loại khỏi trò chơi.

Chủ đề của ô chữ lần này là SPORT (THỂ THAO).

Có tất cả 18 từ, trong đó: (đã tìm ra 15/18 từ)

1 từ có 4 chữ cái: team (đã đủ)

3 từ có 5 chữ cái: medal, coach, skill (đã đủ)

3 từ có 6 chữ cái: league, defeat, season (đã đủ)

7 từ có 7 chữ cái: contest, captain, athlete, stadium, referee

1 từ có 9 chữ cái:

2 từ có 10 chữ cái: competitor, tournament (đã đủ)

1 từ có 12 chữ cái: professional (đã đủ)

Imgur

Nguồn: Sưu tầm

Chúc các bạn chơi vui vẻ!

Give Lingot1

121 year ago

Leave a new comment

63 Comments

[deactivated user]

Competitor

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Yes.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Coach

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Correct.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Captain

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Chính xác.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Professional

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Đúng.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
Contest

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413
You're correct!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
Skill

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413
Correct.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
Ahahaha... Tớ sẽ ăn hết lingot của cậu ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413
Bạn cứ trả lời thoải mái :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
League

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413
Chính xác.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
Athlete

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413
Very good!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Team

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Chính xác.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Season

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Đúng :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Defeat

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Yes.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hoaprotrum 25 25 25 25 22 3 458

đề nghị sleep_bug nhường lings cho m.n vs nhé =))))

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

XD tở chết cười

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hoaprotrum 25 25 25 25 22 3 458

haha

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Stadium

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Awesome! You gave 12 correct answers in a row!

0ReplyGive Lingot20•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Tặng lại bạn 20! ủng hộ game.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Cảm ơn bạn nhiều nhé SLEEP_BUG <3

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hoaprotrum 25 25 25 25 22 3 458

sướng z =))

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Referee - trọng tài

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

You're right!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Tournament

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Correct again :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

quanbarca05 21 14 11 5 4 4 4 4

Referee

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Đúng là có từ này nhưng bạn SLEEP_BUG đã trả lời trước rồi nhé quanbarca05.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

quanbarca05 21 14 11 5 4 4 4 4

Sorry tại tui thấy chưa có trên bảng

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hoaprotrum 25 25 25 25 22 3 458

foot (v): nhảy múa đc k ? :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Không được bạn nhá :( Còn 2 từ có 7 chữ cái và 1 từ có 9 chữ cái, bạn cố gắng tìm ra nhé!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hoaprotrum 25 25 25 25 22 3 458

:))

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gotbank 15 13 11 9 5 4 2

dielege

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Autumn_Maple 20 413

Không có từ này nhé bạn gotbank.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

_alien_03 25 11

Còn 3 từ là gì vậy bạn?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

[+] 18 hidden comments

2 "Such skill!"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10097435>

Translation: Zulke vaardigheid!

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

5 Comments

velikolepnyy 10 8 4 3 2

I would rather say "zo knap" than "zulke vaardigheid" never even heard that in my life

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarqFortaleza 25 14 12 11 8 7 6 3

mee eens!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Floris_B 16 12 12 11 11 10 4 3

Of zo'n vaardigheid? Maar zulke vaardigheid is inderdaad veel te letterlijk.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarqFortaleza 25 14 12 11 8 7 6 3

Precies! Of "(Wauw!) Wat een vaardigheid!", mag wat mij betreft ook worden toegevoegd als mogelijkheid.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

velikolepnyy 10 8 4 3 2

idd

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

3 Dialect Bonus Skill—A Suggestion

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9271885>

Bronshtein 25

I first want to pre-empt this by stating that I have no problem at all with Duolingo sticking to one form of a language which is being taught.

Considering this fact, however, why couldn't Duolingo offer another bonus skill(s) in national/regional dialects? There is an opportunity here to highlight some dialectal differences which arise between the chosen standard and others.

For example, there could be a British English option where they offer some common alternatives or clear up confusion (assuming this isn't covered on the tree already). Options here include college vs university, trousers vs pants, etc. Another example is that considering Brazilian Portuguese and Latin American Spanish are taught, there are obvious options there, as well. Additionally, there could be a Canadian French skill offered for French, which I am currently learning. Hopefully you get the idea.

I could imagine that there might be issues in integrating this idea with the current framework of Duolingo, but surely it could be worked around, especially considering that these potential issues would be somewhat reflective of those encountered in real life, as well. It's only a bonus skill, after all; I'm not suggesting that this should be a fundamental part of the tree.

Give Lingot1

281 year ago

Leave a new comment

23 Comments

doktorkampi 15 14 11 10 10 10 9 6 4 4 4 2

I agree! I am a big fan of language diversity, so count on me! I would include at least big dialects groups, such as Portugal Portuguese, Castilian Spanish, Flemish, British English, etcetera.

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bronshtein 25

Indeed. I imagine most languages would have some overseas variation, so it should be possible in essentially all languages offered on Duolingo.

In the case that the language is predominantly spoken in one country, then there should still be sufficient regional variation within that country to merit a bonus skill. For example, Japanese (which I know isn't offered on Duolingo) is predominately spoken in Japan, but there's considerable regional variation. The Osaka dialect, which is spoken by many, is pretty much intelligible with the standard Tokyo dialect, but there are noteworthy aspects of it that differ from the standard. Thus, I think in this case, if Japanese were to be offered on Duolingo, an Osaka dialect bonus skill would please many learners of Japanese.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Soedori 21 10 8 6 4

When the Korean team makes the reverse course, we are considering a possibility of including a dialect lesson (for the record, I can speak dialect ^^)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Trogonidae 19 18 12 8 8 3

Good to know! I wasn't even aware Korean had different dialects. I wish your team good luck with your incubating efforts. :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Soedori 21 10 8 6 4

It has many dialects :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Trogonidae 19 18 12 8 8 3

Yes, I actually found a map with all the different ones. It's amazing how so much variety can be found on one peninsula!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bronshtein 25

This sounds great! I presume this would come towards the end of the tree? As it would be nice relief for learners who are having to grasp some of the more advanced aspects of grammar. I imagine if it were at the start, it could be somewhat overwhelming as well.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Soedori 21 10 8 6 4
Bonus skill

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bronshtein 25

Oh sorry, I misinterpreted your comment. I thought you meant you were including just a general lesson (as I presumed the presence of bonus skills was decided by Duolingo themselves rather than course contributors).

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

globetrotter1013 15 12 4 3
This is an excellent suggestion! I hope it comes to fruition!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Would be difficult to implement in many languages, as not all languages have a written standardization of their dialects.

For example, in Norwegian, dialects stand strong and everyone has their own dialect. But none of these dialects have a written standard, which is why we use Bokmål or Nynorsk in official written communication.

Many, including myself. Will attempt to write in their dialect in unofficial settings, like on social media or when texting with friends/family. But even among family and friends, spelling varies a lot.

On the other hand, anyone wanting to communicate in Norwegian would have to learn to understand dialects, since everyone speaks a dialect. Which is one of the things that makes Norwegian somewhat frustrating for foreigners, according to what I often hear. Many feel they know the language quite well, but hit a wall when they are exposed to dialects that are different from the "Oslo dialect".

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bronshtein 25

I see your point. If anything it suggests to me that it should be covered in the main tree rather than as an optional bonus skill. I have a few questions in response to this:

- 1) How do learners overcome this obstacle of considerable dialectal variation?
- 2) Is it generally required that learners are familiar with both written standards when they reach a certain level in the language?
- 3) What other languages have a lack of written standardization?

This is a very good point by the way.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Q: 1) How do learners overcome this obstacle of considerable dialectal variation?

A: They get some introduction to the bigger dialect groups (dialects are usually divided into 4 major groups), otherwise they will need to learn from exposure - from friends, work and the media.

Q: 2) Is it generally required that learners are familiar with both written standards when they reach a certain level in the language?

A: No, foreigners do not need to learn both Bokmål and Nynorsk. Most will learn Bokmål only, which makes sense because Nynorsk is barely used (somewhere between 5-17% of speakers has it as their main written language, numbers vary a lot depending on the source used).

Q:3) What other languages have a lack of written standardization?

A: No idea, I have no number or statistics on it. But I know most languages seem to use one written standard, and promote one spoken standard - even if they have dialects.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FrankelPopankel 12 5

3) What other languages have a lack of written standardization?

Some dialects of German, such as Plautdietsch and Amish (both of which have regional variations) lack a standardised writing system, as far as I know.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

ray.fordyc 20 20 13 13 11 10 9 7 6 6 4 3 3 3 2 2 175

Based on my own experience, Duolingo can pick up most regional differences. E.G. It picks up me using the British spelling of "colour" as well as the American spelling "color" and still says it's correct. It also accepts if I use "trousers" (british english) instead of "pants" (american english). I don't know if it accepts other languages regional variations. I think, as long as you have the basics of the language, which Duolingo does teach, you'll be understood. Dialects are something to learn separately.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bronshtein 25

I know it accepts spelling or dialectal differences (well at least the ones in English when I am translating French), but it doesn't introduce you to them in your L2 per se.

I agree they are something to learn separately. I hinted at my opinion about that in the final sentence, but so are idioms and flirting, hence why I've suggested it as a bonus skill.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ilmarien 25 25 25 15 14 13 8

Regarding other language regional variations, I've seen that it accepts Castilian and Argentinian Spanish as well as European Portuguese, though not always consistently. I don't know about the French dialects, but I assume it's the same.

Anyway, I'd like to see dialectical or regional slang based bonus skills as well. That would be far more useful than the current bonus skills.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bronshtein 25

I agree—that would be great as well. I considered it when writing my original post, but I didn't want to address the issue of there being some extent of personal preference associated with slang, as that would have been distracting from my main point.

I'm sure some fairly ubiquitous slang could be selected, though.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Trogonidae 19 18 12 8 8 3

This is mostly true, but as Ilmarien said, the courses don't always accept dialects that aren't taught, which can be misleading at times. A bonus skill would be very useful for, say, Castilian Spanish, which has an entire person and verb conjugation (vosotros/os) that is not used in the rest of the Spanish speaking world. It would just be a nice addition to Duolingo's courses.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bronshtein 25

Wow I never knew that about Spanish. A (not so drastic) example I know of with regards to French is that, in Quebec, I believe they informally interchange certain words like asking questions with est-tu instead of est-ce (I think), and using à for possession instead of de.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Trogonidae 19 18 12 8 8 3

I didn't know that about French either haha. As a learner of it myself, the Quebec dialect sounds a bit confusing. Although the Parisian dialect does have the most difficult accent, supposedly. I have a friend from Quebec that speaks French so maybe once I can have a conversation in French we will see some differences!

With regards to dialects, though, I think the one that might take the cake is Arabic. From what I've heard, the Maghrebi Arabic of North Africa is almost incomprehensible to Middle Eastern speakers, and some linguists consider them different languages altogether. Educated speakers learn Modern Standard Arabic to communicate across the Arabic world, but sometimes even that can be considered a different language to certain dialects.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fleurizia 15 11 5

Italy also has dialects (e.g., Sicilian) that are considered separate languages by linguists. I'd love to learn some of those! From my own experience I know that Austrian German has a whole host of dialects; I became fairly fluent in Salzburg dialect twenty years ago but I'm rusty now. The main differences seemed to be vowel shifts and some different vocabulary and pronunciations.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fleurizia 15 11 5

I would LOVE a dialect bonus skill. And I would love even more a whole selection of bonus skills. I'd happily pay for them with lingots. I have 70+ lingots sitting around and nothing to spend them on except the quiz. (I've already long since used the two available skills -- flirting and idioms & proverbs -- and I'm not interested in maintaining or freezing streaks.)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

4 UNOFFICIAL FORUM (whoop, whoop!)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11183487>

izmo.gizmo. 3

Hello fellow dulingoions! This is a forum for all new users or old. English, Dutch, Italian, you name it! UNOFFICIAL FORUM :)

Give Lingot

-51 year ago

Leave a new comment

6 Comments

izmo.gizmo. 3

Learned a new skill in dutch! o(^-^o) o(^-^o) (o^--^o)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

izmo.gizmo. 3

NEW SKILL!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

izmo.gizmo. 3
I MISSED A DAY :(

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

izmo.gizmo. 3
<h1>problems</h1>

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

martinochsaga 10 2

Hi! Who can help? I went to take the progress quiz (25 Lingots), but at the last moment, I decided not to take it. However, they still took my 25 Lingots. I wrote a bug report, but they did not reply and I am still without the Lingots. I don't even want to check the quiz again, as I'm afraid they will take another 25 Lingots. So who can tell me if I will be charged the 25 again if I try to take the quiz now?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

izmo.gizmo. 3
Hello users! RECORD YOUR PROGRESS<LEARN<TEACH! (hate blocked from this)

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

5 Mandarin Chinese for English speakers

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/7159933>

111717 12 2

When can we expect Mandarin to be on Duolingo? :)

Give Lingot
22 years ago

Leave a new comment
10 Comments

Lingophilic 11 10 9 7 6

This is one of the most requested courses on Duolingo and they are trying their hardest to get it on here. :)

The problem is that Duolingo would need a way to teach the characters. Learners would need to remember and recognize thousands of characters. Also, tones would need to be taught somehow, which is a difficult concept to grasp for people that haven't been exposed to it before.

So, to answer your question, nobody really knows right now.

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

CricketTaistelja 10 6 3

I don't think the tones are that hard to teach...?? Just make it the first lesson & use pinyin with the characters after. ?? The characters are tough to reproduce, much easier to recognize... Whatever you do, do NOT make them small. Since they are pictorial I think one's brain (the right side) will remember better if they were STAMPED in with a larger image.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SarahBecraft 15 13 12 5 2

I'm going to be trying the Chinese Skill app now that I know it exists :) It's supposed to be a lot like DL for Mandarin Chinese. If I work on it now I can test the theory when DL's English-to-Chinese course hits beta.

ETA: I pulled my phone out to download it and test it out. I love how involved the panda is with your lesson! I'd say it looks good (though I only did one lesson) but I would DEFINITELY pull out a workbook and make flash-cards of the symbols and learn about writing in your spare time - both the Latin script and Pinyin (I know at least on my computer the Latin script is involved for typing Pinyin, so you should learn both.)

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

111717 12 2

Ooh what is it called? :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SarahBecraft 15 13 12 5 2

Chinese Skill.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

111717 12 2

Thank you :) just downloaded it I will try it now

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jjd1123 16 15 13 8 8 7 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

Eventually. There are two "obstacles" before they can start, though: One, the English course for Mandarin speakers is still in beta. Normally, Duolingo waits until a course graduates from beta before they start the reverse course. And secondly, they have to decide how to teach characters, pinyin and tones, which isn't easy. It is possible that they need to develop new methods etc. in the process, so that it might take a while until Mandarin is released. If you are impatient, already know some basic Mandarin, and don't mind researching a lot on your own, you could try the Mandarin->English course until then.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Trio.Mackey.III 8

We can't expect to have the language here very fast. There is still programming. But I estimate it will probably come late this year. I really want to learn that language too. But I'll have to wait for it to.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

111717 12 2

Yeah. Because it is a tonal language and has a non-Latin alphabet, there needs to be done work done.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

leroychin69 25 25 15 14

For those of who have tried Chinese Skill, please tell me what you think. I also heard of Hello Chinese. Which is the 'standard?' I don't like using my phone so much so if they had something for a desktop, that would be great. Right now, I'm doing the English for Chinese speakers and it's fun. You input the Chinese characters as you normally would if you were using Word or on the internet, that is, the characters come from your computer and not from Duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

6 xp

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1801184>

lululamorg 12

What is xp?

Give Lingot

-23 years ago

4 CommentsThis discussion is locked.

ashiplo 25 22 19 18

It stands for eXperience Points.

4Give Lingot1•3 years ago

amld

Wow, I'd always thought it was eXPerience, like XPerience

0Give Lingot•3 years ago

ALoUSyUseRnaME 25 25 16 9 5 5 4

Skill points.

0Give Lingot•3 years ago

argm0710 5

I think it stands for skill

0Give Lingot•3 years ago

7 "She can receive the newspaper."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3036863>

Translation: Ella puede recibir el periódico.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

17 Comments

Ragg272 13 5 3

What is the difference between el diario el periodico?

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

MichaelBell0 11

If it is any consolation, my resident Spaniard is as puzzled as we are. Newspaper is diario. Magazine is revista. Periodico is something mysterious (or Hispanic) in between.

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Aeronautix 18 17 13 9 5 4 3 169

I'm guessing "diario" can be a diary, whereas "periódico" cannot.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

captbearuk 12

Is 'Ella se puede recibir' incorrect?

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

SamuelBoas 20 14 10 2 330

Why not recibe?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

Bermygirl2017 10 6

she can receive the paper

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ttbaby9 16 8

"Ella puede obtener el periodico" was marked wrong. Is my sentence incorrect?

-2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

WilliamHud8 21 142

yes it was receive so its recibir

-2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

8 skill point

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/28672>

shingrr 3

Give Lingot

04 years ago

Leave a new comment

1 Comment

shingrr 3

how can I count my skill points?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

9 Choose your lesson Type

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/312257>

volleyballDVM16 18 10 4 3

I think it would be cool if you could pick what kind of lesson you want, for example, if someone wats to work more on pronunciation, they would click on something like "Oral lesson." there could be different selections for different lesson types. Just a thought:)

Give Lingot4

464 years ago

Leave a new comment

26 Comments

kristinemc 16 9 7 4 2

Thanks for the idea! This is something we'd be interested in for the future.

12ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

rjchen224

yes,duolingo is interesting!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

angel194462 15 3

I think that would be great, but we should still have this original version too. Without this original version, people might only focus on speaking or spelling and not work on the others because they are not willing to.

7ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

doogerd

...unless you have access to those particular tabs AFTER you have achieved a certain level for each lesson. That way you would need to 'master' each lesson/level prior to honing your pronunciation etc.

7ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

kaicce 18

This would be ideal so reviewing after mastery can be focused on certain areas. I definitely need more translation practice with particular words.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

angel194462 15 3

If you need more translation practice with particular words I think you should go to the vocabulary list and practice your weakest words/ practice certain words.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

lilitm 3

I agree with you. I think we should have the original version... and then 'practice/strengthen'.

4ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

volleyballDVM16 18 10 4 3

Good idea, i guess I didn't think about that part:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

yamato_ua 10 4

That would be great! I would like to be able to spend more time with the types of lessons I feel less confident about. At least in practice mode, after completing the skill.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

volleyballDVM16 18 10 4 3

Exactly!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Kalaifspm
speaking skill

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

torinarg 12 6

I was just thinking the same - for me I do some Spanish lessons on the train to and from work - during which I turn off the microphone, as I don't want to disturb fellow passengers on the train.

Since that is some hours a week that I can't do the pronunciation exercises, it would be good to then have the choice of having a pure pronunciation lesson when I get back home.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

derekalittlewood 13 8 8

I'd just like to log another vote for this idea - I've been using Duolingo daily for about six weeks now and in particular I'm finding that whilst my language reading skills are coming along really well, my listening skills are lagging some way behind. It would be great to be able to go back to strengthen a skill and to be able to specify that I want testing mostly (or entirely) with listening questions.

Along similar lines it would be nice if the listening questions could use a range of voices rather than just the one female voice. I know that because it's generated procedurally the voice isn't going to sound exactly like a real person saying those words, but at least this way your ear might get more attuned to hearing the language in a range of voices.

Great app and website by the way, I really think it has the potential to completely change the way people learn languages!

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

duoderSie 12 3

But if you do the pronunciation only, then you could cheat because you never lose hearts with that type of exercise. So it could be used as strengthening/practice but not for the main progress

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

volleyballDVM16 18 10 4 3

You do have a point.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

noah.jones 10 2

this would be the best ever

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

rjchen224

agree

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

thepkl 11

OMG this is a wonderful idea. I have so many problems with pronouns in Spanish.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

volleyballDVM16 18 10 4 3

I know! Spanish grammar still gets to me even though i speak it often:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Dorido 9 6 3

would be nice if the system allows us to have more margin for error that the student will not be limited to just 5 hearts, and also accumulate mistakes made on another site and then analyze and meet the objective, that does not obstruct that move from unit. user. dorido.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Dorido 9 6 3

Would be nice if the system allows us to have more margin for error that the student will not be limited to just 5 hearts, and also accumulate mistakes made on another site and then analyze and meet the objective, that does not obstruct that move from unit. user. dorido.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

the_realist22 5

yeah that would be cool

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Dorido 9 6 3

JediR2 . . . that would be great!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

[deactivated user]

Yeah! I have trouble pronouncing in French!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

Leli3 18 12 11 11 11 6 3

Duolingo is lacking on its speaking portion of the lessons. Speaking is a very important key of language learning obviously, which is why it needs improvement. I agree with the posts in that we need a better way to strengthen every facet of the language. It really would be a better and more well rounded learning experience.

The monotony of being proficient in only a few areas of a language is frustrating for me. That's not to say that I'm not easily able to understand and complete the reading, writing, speaking and listening parts. I would just like to be better at all of them ESPECIALLY speaking. The lessons right now aren't enough for me, which is why like many others I supplement other things in tangent with Duolingo. I know it's new and all but I'm hopeful that they'll listen to our suggestions.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

GiobiGioGiobiGio 18

I would also like to second this idea. For me, it is very important to be able to speak, so it would be good if, as part of the immersion, I could do speaking exercises (the ones that you have to translate, not the ones where you just have to repeat). I understand that duolingo needs us to translate, and that is fine. The speaking exercises could be a prize to be earned through translation. I would be more than happy to go through with this.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

10 "Η παράσταση ήταν τέλεια χθες. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/18954343>

Translation: The performance yesterday was perfect.

15 months ago

Leave a new comment

5 Comments

PhilSimmonds 23 20 16 15 251

the performance was great yesterday. Perfectly good English. It even gives 'great' as a translation of τέλεια

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

jaye16 25 25 25 13 6 3 2 208

"The performance was great yesterday." Is already in the incubator. Which part of the course did you use it in. The tree, strengthen skill, multiple choice, test out if you can recall it will help us uncover why it was not accepted.

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

PhilSimmonds 23 20 16 15 251

strengthen skill

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

jaye16 25 25 25 13 6 3 2 208

Thank you for your assistance. It's been reported.

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

nauajos 15 8 6 5 5

I think DL's translation is more accurate. I would use "σπουδαία" if I wanted to give the meaning of "great" in this context.

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

11 Holiday Bonus Skills

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/19710275>

HelpfulDuo 6 4

[UPDATE: 12/16/16 Due to performance issues, we'll have to roll these skills back today :( Sorry the Holiday Bonus Skills were so short-lived everyone!]

It's the holiday season, and many of you may be thinking about cookies, presents and snow this time of year.

Check out our seasonal bonus skills in the Lingot Store. Inject some wintery phrases into your Duolingo lessons and learn about holiday traditions in other cultures.

The Holiday Bonus Skill is available for learners of Spanish, Portuguese, French, German, Italian and English for a limited time. While you're there, check out "Flirting" and "Idioms" too!

More surprises coming soon : )

Give Lingot2

794 months ago

Leave a new comment

75 Comments

PotatoSanta 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 21 16 14 13 12 12 12 12 11 11 10 9 7 7 5 15

"More surprises coming soon"? Does that mean you are actually going to make lingots have some use?

37ReplyGive Lingot1•4 months ago

.-_Duolingo_-. 22 17 15 4 3 125

Hopefully...

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

hughcparker 21 19 14 7 468

Does your update mean the Christmas bonus skill is being rolled back for a day or two while you fix the performance issues, or rolled back until next December?

20ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

LinguisticLava 25 5 1

I've been waiting for almost a year to get this third bonus skill and now you're saying that we have to wait another year before we can access it again?

Here's what you should do:

1) Stop restricting it to a limited period around Christmas time and allow people to learn it whenever they want.

2) Go to 1

15ReplyGive Lingot1•4 months ago

RumiByNight 4 2

Next year can we get a Black Friday sale where we buy all three skills for 75 lingots?

13ReplyGive Lingot6•4 months ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

Luscinda 25 25 25 14 11 10 8 7 6 6 5 4 3 3 2 2

I need to delete cookies again?

11ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

hughcparker 21 19 14 7 468

Could you elaborate on what the performance issues were? I bought it during the two days it was available, and it seems to be working fine.

I'm struggling to work out how one skill could put an unacceptable load on the servers, when hundred of others don't.

8ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Rhabarberbarbara 23 19 18 17 9 603

Same for me. I bought the Spanish to English Christmas skill and didn't encounter any problems...

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

SoyHenry 25 25 1215

I have a question.. why this year Duolingo did not make so many changes

7ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

kevinkinsler 25 14 14 10 6 4 3 223

Why only for a limited time?

6ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

lilyflower231 23 3 2 14

Is the Christmas skill going to be available again this year? I missed it and I can't bear having to wait another year.

4ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

hughcparker 21 19 14 7 468

I asked HelpfulDuo this question already three days ago. No answer yet.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

[+] 4 hidden comments

..-_dan_.. 8 2

i dont see it in my lingot store is it only for certain computers?

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

sweet.jesus 3 2

You have to make sure you do enough skills to get the Bonus Skills slot to open up on your tree first.

4ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

br0d4 25 25 21 13 4 599

Is there any chance for more bonus skills? And before that, more slots for more bonus skills?

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

18llesti 9

I can't wait to try that out.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•4 months ago

DavidM541876 10

Been waiting for this! Thanks!

2ReplyGive Lingot2•4 months ago

Alex_Lone_Alone 15 10 9 6 2

I'm so excited for everything that it's to come, but please if you have a plan to bring Christmas bonus skill back, please hurry at least i have lingdots for Spanish and want to collect for Portuguese too if there will be any :D. It will be great during celebration time :) :D

2ReplyGive Lingot100•4 months ago

leeeeeegirl 8 5 1

you got 100 lingots? on this reply?

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Alex_Lone_Alone 15 10 9 6 2

yes i got them, i have now 128 thanks anyway to you if you gave me these or whoever gave them to me :D :D...sorry i have commented on your stream , thought i could delete it and only reply here but i can't, if u want you can delete my comment from there... :/ :/

1ReplyGive Lingot15•4 months ago

BartHumphries 15 5 3

Does this mean you'll be offering the "holiday" skills later than normal, through January, or does it mean not until Dec 2017?

What does this actually mean?

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

hughcparker 21 19 14 7 468

I asked HelpfulDuo this question already three days ago. No answer yet.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

jrikhal 22 18 18 7 6 5 5 5 3 3 3 2 2 2 2

HelpfulDuo,

Have the bonus skills(*) been put back?

(*) at least the non-"time of the year" dependent

[25/01/2017]

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

btiful 2

that sounds cool

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

becky3086 17 14 8 6 3 1

Darn I was trying to get the Spanish one and just made it today to get the slots opened.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

leeeeeegirl 8 5 1

you were lucky! did you get it?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

becky3086 17 14 8 6 3 1

No I did not. It was already gone. But I am glad I read how use it anyway, even if it does not get added to my tree and I am happy with that.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

leeeeegirl 8 5 1

That's nice~!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

FionaScott5 7

Will the Christmas Bonus Skill be coming out before Christmas again? Have 31 lingots that I would like to use a bonus skill, but would hate to use them on Idioms/Flirting and then find that the Christmas skill is back!

Merci!

1ReplyGive Lingot70•4 months ago

hughcparker 21 19 14 7 468

I asked HelpfulDuo this question already three days ago. No answer yet.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

I-love-violin 15

oooohhh christmas skills! and i have enough lingots!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

leeeeegirl 8 5 1

Skill gone!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Alex_Lone_Alone 15 10 9 6 2

i simply can't believe my bad luck..pffffff :/ :(

-1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Lani_Mo 18 9 5 5 2

How do I unequip the bonus skills I have already learned and are there any more bonus skills that are available besides Christmas, Flirting and Idioms?? I keep updating the app to find the same features :/

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

mizinamo 17 16 15 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 702

No, just three bonus skills, and you can't get unequip them, either.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

StrapsOption 23 17 14 14 11 11 8 8 8 6 5 5 3 2 2 2
Good stuff. Il-Milied it-tajjeb lilkom!

Looking forward to the other 'surprises'...

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

leeeeeegirl 8 5 1
Duo, the Christmas bonus skill is gone!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

melicanela 3
I think it's very usefull for my knowledge

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

ottopakai 25 23 17 17 12 12 8 332
Hi everybody! Maybe it's obsolete now, but I had the same curiosity and I've got some solutions here: <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/19888409>

I hope that it helps you at least to feel the atmosphere. :) Happy Holidays!

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

HarsimranKaur12 11
is it possible to delete any of the new skills

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Hermione256 17 13 278
Any chance they will bring back Christmas anyways? I have been patiently waiting since I started using Duolingo in July.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

EthanPE64 4
you should make these more affordable

-15ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

UVBeenDoxd 5
You should do some lessons so you can afford them.

18ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

mizinamo 17 16 15 14 14 14 13 10 9 6 6 6 4 3 2 2 702

Not to mention that the bonus skills are pretty tough if you don't have a fair bit of the language under your belt already anyway.

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

[+] 27 hidden comments

12 "Jij bent mijn licht in de nacht. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4341210>

Translation: You are my light in the night.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

16 Comments

itstheannie 13 10 8 7 6 5 2

Smooth.

88ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rekty 14 14 10 9 8 47

Vlak, net zoals papier.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AlsEenPoffertje 18 17 15 14 14 13 6 5 3

Are you sure this isn't a flirting skill? First "Jij mooie tulp van mij!" but now "Jij bent mijn licht in de nacht." ;)

65ReplyGive Lingot10•2 years ago

DogePamyuPamyu 14 13 12

Let's not forget "Een dag zonder jou is zoals een tuin zonder bloemen"

82ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Dzhocef 16 8 5 5 5

And "Je bent zoet net zoals en aardbei"

14ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BillofKempsey 25 16 15 14 10 6 3 2 549

Does this refer to Saskia?

51ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

jcarlosmjr 25 19 12 12 12 3

Nature skill feat. Flirting skill

23ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TrentNock 14 9

"Light in the dark" is a better translation/meaning in English than "light in the night" right?

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rekty 14 14 10 9 8 47

The word used is "nacht", which is night. The term "dark" hasn't be shown yet.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

BigAl82 14 11

Eurghh!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

grubahilda 18 17 10 10

Cute cute cuuuute

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FinchLA 20 18 17 16 14 14 13 13 11 11 11 10 6 5 5 2

This is awesome (Peter Griffin's voice) :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Saartjeislief 11 5 5

awnser on gustavo: no you cant say that. what you are saying is "you are my son in the darkness" as you can see it is very different from "you are my light in the night". hope this helps you

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Susanne1986 12 11 5 5 3

Lol I like!! So cool that you guys remembered those sentences. I was forgotten about them until I read it here again. Haha

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gusbemache 25 25 12 12 12 11 11 2

Can I say "Jij bent mijn zoon in de donkerte"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

adaitsman 25 13 11 10 57

very romantic...

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

13      *More bonus skills.

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/20872328>

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

I have seen similar discussions to this one, but the people who posted discussions like this never kept track of what other people wanted. So today, I am going to make a list of ALL the bonus skills people want. And can you please upvote this discussion so other people can see it. Thanks!!! P.S. Tell your friends about this, because I want at least 100 people to comment on what new bonus skills they want to see in the lingot store. If you would like to, please add to the list by commenting below and I will add it:)

IanShales, lisha.song2005, IamElijahRenz, SugarPlum36 - Countries with capitals.

iToochPlayer, lisha.song2005 - Halloween.

HUMANCALCULATOR, Bogota76, lisha.song2005, IanShales, IamElijahRenz, SugarPlum36, Sam_The_Best - Games.

ian858, Bogota76, lisha.song2005, IanShales - Easter.

ian858, Bogota76, lisha.song2005, IanShales, IamElijahRenz - Basketball.

ian858, Bogota76, lisha.song2005, IanShales - Valentines

VanillaBee15, lisha.song2005, iToochPlayer, Streak-KingEevee, GnomeMario, Mask Mario, AnIcyGlacion, Klange05, ArianaMoni - Animal Jam.

SamBerg0, IanShales, lisha.song2005, WarriorCleberz, SilentWolf77, Hyllning, SugarPlum36 - Music.

Filosofio, IanShales, SilentWolf77, Jesus_is_Lord, SugarPlum36 - Religion.

Filosofio, IanShales - News.

Filosofio, IanShales - History.

Filosofio, IanShales, ekleo - Medical.

Streak-KingEevee, 803302004 - Pokémon.

Streak-KingEevee, IanShales - Chinese New Year.

JJPAUL0, IanShales, IscoFe, HUMANCALCULATOR, SugarPlum36 - Funny jokes.

GnomeMario, IanShales - Outer space.

KenBookmye - Restaurant menu.

KenBookmye, Klange05 - Physical description.

KenBookmye - Cars.

EdwinQuint434049, WarriorCleberz - Finances.

KarenOwens6, IanShales, SugarPlum36 - Everyday problems.

VanillaBee15, Klange05 - Crime.

Zalomar, IanShales, ekleo, SugarPlum36, lamElijahRenz, HUMANCALCULATOR, Jesus_is_Lord - Sports.

ekleo, IanShales, lamElijahRenz, SugarPlum36 - Hobbies.

WarriorCleberz - Cinema.

DeanG6, IanShales, lamElijahRenz - Survival.

krpw1204, IanShales, lamElijahRenz, CalebAnder18 - Olympics.

krpw1204, IanShales, lamElijahRenz, SugarPlum36, Briton296 - National holidays.

krpw1204 - Subcultures.

SilentWolf77, IanShales, Klange05 - Weapons.

SugarPlum36, IanShales, lamElijahRenz - Candy.

SugarPlum36, IanShales - Names.

QuadraticLingual, krpw1204, CalebAnder18, QuillanShimp, Imswedish69 - Advanced Mathematics.

christianoelke0, IanShales, LoveRussian, lamElijahRenz, SugarPlum36 - Brain teasers.

Espiraden - Emergency phrases.

Espiraden, IanShales, SugarPlum36 - Weather.

Espiraden - Psychology.

Espiraden - Sociology.

Hannah_Harper, IanShales, lamElijahRenz, SugarPlum36 - Books.

Hyllning, IanShales, lamElijahRenz, QuillanShimp - Instruments.

Hyllning - Genres.

Ham-Ham2, IanShales, IamElijahRenz, CalebAnder18 - Chemistry.

IanShales, CalebAnder18 - Movies.

SugarPlum36, IanShales - Famous cartoon characters.

JadenAbbott, IanShales - Tech/electronics.

senerdem, DrifterSheep - Anime.

SineadC - Disney.

Sinead - Japanese geography.

EBuDDe, IanShales - Geography.

ZakkRylle, Briton296 - Funny sayings.

L.Duke, IanShales - Movie quotes.

Briton296 - Collections.

Briton296 - Skill.

Briton296 - Celebrity.

BaroqueKitten, IanShales, SugarPlum36 - Christianity based Christmas.

SugarPlum36, IanShales - Languages.

LanguageCrazey7 - Pop culture.

RoostersFan2017 - Rugby Union.

Briton296, IanShales - NFL.

IanShales - NHL.

IanShales - MLB.

IanShales - MLS.

IanShales - NBA.

Give Lingot70
452 months ago

Leave a new comment

157 Comments

JJPAULO 14 5 5

I WOULD love to se Funny jokes

11ReplyGive Lingot1•2 months ago

EBuDDe 13 2

I agree, that sounds super fun!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

KenBookmye 24 19 12 223

Menu items to order at restaurants, Physical description of people like blond or brunette, Types of vehicles like convertible or sedan

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

EdwinQuint434049 11 3 3 2 2

Finances

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IamElijahRenz 16 10 10 10 7 7 7 6 5 5 4 2

I vote 'countries with capitals,' 'games,' 'basketball,' 'valentines,' 'sports,' 'hobbies,' 'survival,' 'olympics,' 'national holidays,' 'candy,' 'brain teasers,' 'books,' 'instruments,' and 'chemistry.' I can't think of my own, so I'll just join others!

6ReplyGive Lingot1•2 months ago

SamBerg0 10

Music

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Hyllning 25 15

I second Music; instruments and genres.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

KarenOwens6 12 7 6

How about day to day problems, i.e. dealing with making arrangements for workmen to carry out various tasks in the house, or issues with organisations such as banks, taking something back to a shop if it is faulty for example.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
[deleted]

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

KarenOwens6 12 7 6
How about "Everyday problems"

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
[deleted]

2Give Lingot•2 months ago

ekleo 12
I think hobbies would be good. :D Thanks!!

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
[deleted]

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

ekleo 12
OK!! Thank you!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

WarriorCleberz 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 12 13
Finances, cinema and Music!

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
Languages like Spanish English and things like that in different languages like the word Spanish in Hungarian

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IscoFe 13 6
Funny Jokes as Bonus would be cool

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, I'll put it up there:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

iToochPlayer 12 6 6
Halloween and some others.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ian858 14 3 2
Easter, Valentines, and Basketball

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ToDefend 10 8 7 2 2 2 1
Religion, News, History, Medical

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
Candies

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
[deleted]

1Give Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
Thanks!:)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

christianoelke0 8 5
brain teasers

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright, it's up there!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

LanguageLover. 14 10 10 3 118
I would love to see that too!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Okay, you are on the list!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
I also vote sports

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Okay, your on the list!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Espiraden 8 7 5 4 2 209
I'd like to have emergency phrases,Medical (Like mental health) and weather. Also, Psychology and/or Sociology would be amazing!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright, I'll put it up there:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

EvelynOlson0 25 24 10 10 44
Is this for a specific language?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
No:)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

HUMANCALCULATOR 10 2
i would really like sports

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

HUMANCALCULATOR 10 2
and jokes

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

DrifterSheep 15 3

Yes! Please add me to anime :D Anime ftw! I hope that Japanese for English speakers comes out soon :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
YES, DEFINITELY.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ZakkRylle 9
OH YEAH I WOULD LOVE THAT!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

EBuDDe 13 2
Rhymes? It would make things easier to remember.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

EBuDDe 13 2
And funner. ;)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

L.Duke 7
Movie Quotes. I'm big on movies and one of the ways I make friends is by saying something from a movie. If they're a Sherlock fan, I say something like, "The address is 221B Baker Street." or "The game is afoot". It just depends on the context of the conversation. If they're a Lord of the Rings fan, I say, "I'm not short, I'm a Hobbit." or "Po-tat-oes! Boil'em, mash'em, stick'em in a stew!" XD So, yeah, movies quotes. That might have been said already, but...it never hurts to say it twice. :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright, awesome!!! I'll put you on the list ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

L.Duke 7
Danke. I love your profile pic, by the way. :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Thanks :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

L.Duke 7

Anytime. Nip it in the bud! (sorry, I couldn't resist)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Haha!!!

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

L.Duke 7

See? Told ya I used movie quotes... ;D

0Give Lingot•2 months ago

Lol.Me.com.au 15 12 10 104

i want to see Rugby Union

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, you're on the list :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Lol.Me.com.au 15 12 10 104

thanks :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Zalomar 15 8 8 7 7 5 5

Sports

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

DeanG6 20 12 9 2

Spiritual (Religion), Medical and Sports are already standard skills. I'm not sure how they could be bonus skills also.

I like the idea of adding more bonus skills but I'm sorry I can't think of any specific ones at the moment. Conversational survival phrases would be helpful.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

WaterPolyglot 15 6 4 129

Olympics, National Holidays and Subcultures (in Japanese course)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

WaterPolyglot 15 6 4 129
Advanced Mathematics!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright, you are on the list:)

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

WaterPolyglot 15 6 4 129
:)

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

senerdem 11 6 6 2
an "anime" (or "manga") related bonus skill would be nice

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright, you are on the list:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

EBuDDe 13 2
Geography? It would be cool to know what Germans call other countries. Like if you agree, or maybe a lingot

0ReplyGive Lingot8•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
I agree! I will put it on the list:)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

EBuDDe 13 2
Thanks

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ZakkRylle 9
I'm new to this site for having just heard of it through my teachers, and i would love to have a course in japanese. I've wanted to learn it for a while now, just never found a fun way how. . So... I would actually like to see funny sayings, whether common or ancient.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
i vote for "music" "hobbies" and "national holidays"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
and i vote for "Disney"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
I vote for "everyday problems" and "Games"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Briton296 9
I would like the moderators choice skill

Collections skill

Funny sayings skill

holiday skill

skill skill

celebrity skill

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright, you're on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Briton296 9

Thanks (:

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
No problem :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

BaroqueKitten 10 10 10 8 6 5 4 4 3
Christianity-based christmas.

So instead of things like Santa Claus, and Reindeer, words like Manger, 3 kings, Jesus, God, etc.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Alright, you're on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

BaroqueKitten 10 10 10 8 6 5 4 4 3
thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
No problem :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
No problem :)

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

MountainPolyglot 8 5 3
La chimie, les films, et les jeux Olympique Mais les maths advances, ils sont bon aussi. Merci!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Vous êtes sur la liste :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

MountainPolyglot 8 5 3
merci,

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43

can you add "Languages" to the list please and I vote for "Christianity based Christmas"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, you are on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43

thx

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

LanguageCrazy7 12 11 7 5 5

I would love something on pop culture, because while duolingo teaches you the language you don't really learn about things like slang in a different language, which could be quite interesting.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, you're on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

LanguageCrazy7 12 11 7 5 5

Thanks.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

No problem :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Briton296 9

NFL

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, you're on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ArianaMoni 9 2 2 2 2

Animal Jam is on here, cool since I play it

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, you're on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ArianaMoni 9 2 2 2 2

Thx I also would luv a anime bonus skill since I am a huge fan.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Sam_The_Best 15 2 60

I would like to see games :D.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, you're on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

MountainPolyglot 8 5 3

Is Physics up there? or is it not going to be? If it is, put me up there please.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

QuillanShimp 13 6 5 2 2 2 2

instruments

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

QuillanShimp 13 6 5 2 2 2 2

and math

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, you are on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

QuillanShimp 13 6 5 2 2 2 2
thanks :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Imswedish69 6 2
I would love to see advanced mathematics. I am a bit of a math nerd.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Okay, you're on the list :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

SamBerg0 10
Computer science, technology.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

JJPAUL0 14 5 5
what this about

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

AshiraJ.R 7 5
cool

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SilentWolf77 10 1
Religion and Music. And Weapons

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43
Names

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Hannah_Harper 17 2 1
Books.

-1ReplyGive Lingot30•2 months ago

Ham-Ham2 25 9

i'd like chemistry

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, it's on the list!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43

I vote for books, weather, brain teasers, and Capitals

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright, I'll put it up there.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43

K thanks!:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

JadenJJA 12 1

I think they should do one on tech(or electronics).

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

SugarPlum36 8 7 2 43

i vote for "funny jokes" and "religion"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2

Alright :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ekleo 12

I also think sports and medical would be great!!

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
[deleted]

-1Give Lingot•2 months ago

ekleo 12
Thanks!!!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ttbaby9 16 8
[deleted]

-6Give Lingot•2 months ago

IanShales 25 19 13 13 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 9 9 7 6 2
Don't we already have that? Flirting?

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ian858 14 3 2
right we have that

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

14     *Got My German Owl Back!
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11182368>

BrookeLorren 25 22 17 13 13 9 7 7 6 8 10

After a little over a week of intense practice, I got my German owl back!

I found the new tree to be very useful. It's nice that they teach heiße a lot earlier in the tree, rather than literally the 8th lesson (out of 10) in the last skill. I hope to teach a Spanish class next fall, and they have the same problem; while I hope to use Duolingo as a curriculum base, I'm not going to wait to teach their version of heiße, as that is pretty important.

I like the new topics too, especially the Fantasy skill. Who doesn't like dragons and unicorns? Well, maybe not the dragons, but we love to hate them if they're not good dragons.

It would be nice if Duo implements the option of testing out of the easier new lessons, as there are a lot of us that might have finished the Duo tree before, but have German experience outside of Duolingo (or even immersion experience) and don't really need to do all of these lessons again. I spent the first day after getting the German tree testing out of these easier lessons, individually.

Excellent job, German team, redoing this tree! It will be especially helpful for new German learners, and will give more experienced German learners more language experience, so that it will be easier to start using native materials after finishing the tree.

Give Lingot20

291 year ago

Leave a new comment

20 Comments

MaraTwente 18 10 8 8

I am also reclaiming the owl. I tested out on a lot of stuff the first time and I find it very useful now to take the time for each lesson, a good practice indeed. Well done, Duo!

5ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

juliegirl33 12 9 7

Fantasy skill? Awesome!!

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Dooted 9 6

Theres a fantasy skill!?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

juliegirl33 12 9 7

I think so?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Dooted 9 6

Got my 30 lingots! Time to!!!! Get that.... Skill.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lorel90 25 25 22 7 920

Congratulations!! yes i would like DL to have the option to test out skills and they should not take away the owl.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

KnightKittenz 6 5

Me too!

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Clange06 13 3

i got it and it was soooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo much fun

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KnightKittenz 6 5

Good Job!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bvogel1 25 25 11 8 1

I'm still working on making it to the end (again) but hope to be there in a few days. It really is a lot of work, but it's been fun and I'm glad to get all the new material. Congratulations on reclaiming your owl!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bersalon 25 17 4 754

Nice! This really motivated me!! Have 8 lingots!

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

BrookeLorren 25 22 17 13 13 9 7 7 6 810

Danke schön!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bvogel1 25 25 11 8 1

Just got mine back today as well. I missed him! It was a lot of work but very enjoyable; I'm so glad the tree was improved (even though it was pretty scary at first).

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bookwormbeth 5

How do you get the fantasy skill? That sounds fun!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BrookeLorren 25 22 17 13 13 9 7 7 6 810

It's in the new German tree. If you don't have it yet, you'll get it soon, I'm sure.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bookwormbeth 5

Thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

johncale3 16 6 3

I don't know what you mean by you got your owl back. Did Duo fly away?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BrookeLorren 25 22 17 13 13 9 7 7 6 810

Duolingo released a new German tree. Everybody who had a German for English Speakers owl had it taken away. There was a TON of new lessons (I think that it was around 75 or so), so I can see why... although it's not fun to lose a tree you work hard for.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Dooted 9 6

I WOULD GIVE YOU LIGOTS BUT I'M KINDA SAVING UP FOR FLIRTING THOUGH IT WON'T HELP MUCH SO. Yeah. I can give you like, 3 lingots.

0ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

BrookeLorren 25 22 17 13 13 9 7 7 6 8 10

I have plenty of lingots. If you need them for something, definitely keep them.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

15 [UPDATE] Official Norwegian 2.0 Feedback and Suggestion Thread!

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11252272>

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

30 November 2015 UPDATE:

The course now has over 3,100 words and over 100 skills. If it were released today, the new course would be the longest course in Duolingo's history. More details to follow.

Hei, alle sammen!

We have exciting news!

We do now have access to start building a revised Norwegian tree, and we would like to begin collecting feedback regarding how we could improve the course!

Here are some questions to get you started. Feel free to provide feedback on anything in the course.

What do you like about the way Duolingo teaches Norwegian?

What could be improved about the way Duolingo teaches Norwegian?

What grammar or vocabulary topics do you think deserve more attention?

Which topics are introduced too early or too late in the tree?

What skill topic does not yet exist but should?

Things We Cannot Change:

We cannot introduce some skills so early that they lack the vocabulary in order to effectively use the grammar.

We cannot change the audio. We can only disable listening/remove specific words entirely. See: avis.

We cannot change the overall distribution/proportion of (N<->E) translation or speaking exercises.

We cannot add the Words functionality. That's on Pittsburgh's end.

Please help us out with your feedback!

Med vennlig hilsen,

~ Det norske laget

Give Lingot12

531 year ago

Leave a new comment

144 Comments

Mundgeirr 24 14 14 12 11 10 8 6 834

I'd love to see a more specific "gå på tur" skill, with typical animals, trees/plants, placenames, equipment from the Norwegian mountains, for example Trolltunga, eik or bjørk.

A Nordic mythology one would be awesome as well :P

66ReplyGive Lingot9•1 year ago

comeoutcomeout 20 20 15 12 10 7 6 3 512

Love these suggestions!

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

There is a brief mention of a "Norway" bonus skill in another thread... I wonder if it covers these kinds of things? (Someone should tell me what it covers, I can't stand the suspense ;) )

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mundgeirr 24 14 14 12 11 10 8 6 834

Let's see. I have a good feeling the bonus and extra skills will have a very high quality, same as the tree itself. Maybe they can a new one only for nordic mythology, while the "gå på tur" stuff is included in the "Norway" skill. The nynorsk one seems very promising :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

_Odin_ 20 10 10

Had to up vote this one because of the Norse mythology. xD

But I definitely love the "gå på tur" skill suggestion too.

1ReplyGive Lingot4•1 year ago

fukien 6 2 2

it would definilty be awsome to have some mythology in the course :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

I struggle the most with prepositions, but the skills that specifically deal with those are quite short. I'd like that to be expanded, also with more grammar notes - it would probably be most effective later on in the tree though, once we're able to make more complex sentences. Like a Prepositions 2 or something.

Past tense is definitely introduced way too late.

Grammar skills in general could be made longer (more lessons), but in particular the later ones. Also, the length of each lesson in the final portion of the tree (10-15 sentences if one gets all of them correct) is I think the optimal number. Some lessons I've seen go up to 25 or 30 - that's a bit too much, split it up.

50ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

skellious 12 7 7 6 6 6 4 3 3 3 2 2 2

do you mean prepositions? a proposition is an offer.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

Hahaha yes! Thanks for pointing it out :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

claranu 16 14 11 9 1

yes i agree - have always found that prepositions are the trickiest part of Norwegian grammar

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

XD29 25 25 23 23 20 19 18 15 14 14 13 13 13 13 12 12 12 11 11 10 3 2 642

I found the Norwegian tree very enjoyable! A big thank you to the whole team!

What I would love though: bonus skills like some of the other trees have (Idioms / Proverbs, Flirting, Christmas). Maybe also some bonus skills introducing some Nynorsk - implement as bonus skills so people who just want to focus on Bokmål can leave them out and still progress through the whole tree.

40ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Kumatangz 13 10 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 5 5 4 4 3

Agreed.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

claymaml 9 7 6 5

First of all, I like the goofy sentences. The rationale is that if it doesn't actually make sense, but you understand it correctly, it means that you understood the words and are not relying on the context.

Second, I would recommend that some important phrases (like: where is the bathroom?) be included earlier.

38ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

I support goofy sentences. They really bring some humor and lightness into the learning process. Be the opposite of a boring textbook.

30ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

amaratea 25 13 12 11 11 6

Goofy sentences ARE important. 1)it solves the problem of the course being boring and artificial which is important not only for personal, but also for educational reasons - when emotions are involved, any studies are more productive. 2)as mentioned above, it does not let you "guess" or use common sense. It actually makes you translate something - you should be able to understand it. Goofy sentences are a significant psychological support for the course, and I am saying this without any irony.

14ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AngieBojangles 17 11 3 2

Also, the goofy sentences have been one of the reasons I have stuck with Duolingo longer than any other language app. It makes the lessons fun, and the absurdity keeps you on your toes! I have sent many screenshots to friends showing them the new funny phrase I've learned in Norwegian (so in an indirect way, it's also good advertising for Duolingo!).

14ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Daleksaresupreme 11 6 5 3 2

Yes, I had an easier time learning Norwegian with sentences like "Ulven spiser meg"

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Michelle637863 15 14 8 7 5 3 90

You guys are probably right. 😊

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MadWithMusic 18 8 6

I'm not very far in the tree as of yet, but I love that the sentences are 'goofy' and unexpected. I laugh at how many seem almost dark and introspective - "Who am I?" "My wife doesn't love me." "I am cheese.".

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leoboiko 14 9 6

Most difficulties I'm having are with Duolingo itself (i.e. the parts that the team cannot change, such as better audio). The course is great! Keep up the good work! Tusen takk!

Personally, I'd like more notes on etymologies (e.g. edderkopp = poison-cup) and on English cognates (e.g. bord ~ board (which also used to mean "table" in archaic English)). I can't speak for others, but for me, learning about this stuff helps a lot in acquiring the words. Also, I'd like if we always could use archaic or unusual English words in the translations, when they're closer to Norwegian ("hound", "dale", "haven", "dame"). The rationale is that my primary goal is reading Norwegian, not translating to English fluently; so the closer I stick to Norwegian, the sooner I'll think in Norwegian, without the English intermediary.

I'll also add another vote to keep the goofy sentences (add more of them!). They only have advantages:

They reduce guesswork and ensure we're paying attention, which improves acquisition (cf. Schmidt's Noticing Hypothesis).

They're both more memorable and less boring, and thus doubly more effective. (Cf. the literature on mnemonic effects, and Krashen on the importance of positive affect).

A language course shouldn't teach only "useful" sentences, like how to go to the post office or whatever. It should teach ~the language~, which can be used for ~anything~: for fantasy literature, black metal lyrics, indie movies, neopagan liturgies, absurdist comedy sketches... Language can do anything because it's made from words and grammar patterns, not ready-made sentences. Therefore, a language course must do whatever it can to teach us the words and the patterns, not canned phrases. Memorable, creative sentences like "mauren liker edderkoppen" are better at making words and patterns stick. Also they're weird/fun, which improves learning.

33ReplyGive Lingot11•1 year ago

heimaey 25 25 25 19 13 12 11 11 9 7 4 935

I love the ideas your mentioning, especially about cognates and etymologies. I had no idea where edderkopp came from! They would help me remember better.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

Yeah, I get at least a few sentences marked wrong every day because "this translation does not sound natural in English" or something of that sort - I get the point, but not sure if it's all that necessary!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dkahn400 25 25 23 23 669

I've found the team have been very responsive to my suggestions for alternative versions.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

hirzli2 9 9 7 7 6 3 1

Bonus skill on Nynorsk?

27ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

It's coming! Hopefully we can expand it soon.

25ReplyGive Lingot6•1 year ago

wessifer 11 6 1

Because of the fact that Norwegian has three grammatical genders, it would be nice to see what gender a noun is when you click on a word (such as in, say, the French course). This would definitely be helpful since feminine nouns often times first appear as masculine nouns. For a while I though bok was masculine because it was taught as "en bok" and "boken". Wasn't until much later that I learned it was feminine when I saw "boka".

26ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

ByreStraits 15 12 7 7 4

It's not necessary to learn/use/say "ei"; "en" can always be used instead: en jente.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

brittalexism 14 13 13 11 8 6 6 3 2 2 2 40

I think more past tense needs to be added to Duolingo on all courses, and maybe introduced a little earlier. I think that would be very helpful!

19ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ahtess 12 8 6 6 6 5 5 5 5

The language is adorable for me, so does the course. But it requires lot of attention listening to the audio, especially because of the gender and number of a noun. For instance: elefant/elefanten/elefanter/elefantene. I am a fan of short lessons for every course, so I recommend avoiding long and veery demanding lessons in order not to lose much focus.

16ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

sigmacharding 18 17 15 15 14 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 4 4 2

Shorter lesssons- definitely. The new German tree is so much more effective and less frustrating now!

7ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

amaratea 25 13 12 11 11 6

I totally love Norwegian course as it is now, and I understand that certain things are out of your control. However, what might be helpful is having more audio practice (=more examples) with "tricksters" like tjue and sju, det and de, etc. This is twice as challenging knowing that audio is not always perfect. Sometimes it's just not. But still, it would be nice to have.

Apart from that, I think Norwegian course is awesome, it's easy to follow, motivating and fun, and I enjoy every minute I am doing exercises (and I AM a slacker, so that is an achievement). Moreover, it's actually, uhm, teaching :D I find myself able to translate more and more in everyday situations, although I saw some people complaining that course (and DL in general) is far from conversational - not true, at least in this case.

UPD ah! also, maybe more references to Norwegian (or all-Scandinavian) pop-culture? Like all-time favourite on timed practice "Jeg trodde på fremgang, jeg trodde på fred..." - quotes from Norwegian authors, proverbs, references from common culture. C'mon, we need to know more about the glory of Østehøvel :D

16ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

"Jeg trodde på fremgang, jeg trodde på fred..." everyone loves that sentence.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sigmacharding 18 17 15 15 14 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 4 4 2

A feature I found highly effective in the German 2.0 tree- quite simple- restructuring.

NO skill had more than 6 lessons- skills that previous had more than 6 lessons were split and moved to later parts of the tree.

Why did this work?

long skills can be quite frustrating and disheartening.

The language was learned quicker- being able to divide the tree in this manner meant more effective acquisition of grammar- seeing new structures of how the language actually work- Dont believe me- take a look at the new German tree- it is fantastic- I hope the other Duo trees will follow suit.

16ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

FelixGifford 12 2

How about something on some common idioms and colloquialisms—I'm not sure how commonly they are used in Norwegian, but they might not be apparent to someone learning the languages.

Also introduce noun compounding early so people will recognize how the longer words break down and how to make their own. It makes the words like skuespillerinne a bit more stomachable.

13ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

There are idiomatic phrases scattered throughout the various lessons, and I always thought if there could be one place to group all of them (possibly at the end, or the end of each checkpoint), it would be much more effective. So I'm not trying to think in idiom mode while thinking in literal single-word-meaning mode at the same time.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kubelnaby 25 12 12 8 101

There should be more sentences to translate from English to Norwegian rather than the contrary; more sentences related to everyday's life and less bears riding bicycles; introduce more words regarding Norwegian culture and landscape (I liked that one about brunost). And I can't wait to see the bonus lessons.

Other than that, keep up the good work.

12ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

owlvsdove 11 7 4

I sincerely mean not to sound ungrateful, but I agree very much regarding the content of the sentences. My boyfriend is Norwegian and just laughs at the weird sentences that I have to work with. While I do feel like running into them sometimes would be fun, I sometimes find it hinders my progress because I likely would never say these things, or I am thinking "this sentence SOUNDS like 'the bears are eating the table' but it can't be, why would this sentence ever be useful?"

10ReplyGive Lingot6•1 year ago

_Odin_ 20 10 10

"why would this sentence ever be useful?"

The sentence itself probably isn't useful in that form, but the words you learn and how to use them are. It keeps you focused and is a great test to see if you really know the meaning of all words. You simply can't learn every sentence you gonna use in your life anyway. You learn the words, how to use them and eventually build the sentences yourself.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

fveldig 14 13 13 12 11 9 5 5 3

"There should be more sentences to translate from English to Norwegian rather than the contrary"

This is unfortunately beyond our control.

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

comeoutcomeout 20 20 15 12 10 7 6 3 512

A brief skill (in the tree, or as a bonus) on those tag words that follow a verb, like jo, vel, nok, would be good too.

11ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kbowter 13 8

I would love to see numbers introduced earlier in the tree, basic counting is always good to have, same with past tense!

10ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

The numbers 1 - 10 will be taught much, much earlier in the second tree.

The jury is still out on the past tense.

12ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stonesong 9 8 7 5 5

Curious - what's the argument against introducing past tense earlier?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

For most verbs, you should have their present tense mastered before being introduced to the past tense. The present tense is more fundamental to the language.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Michelle637863 15 14 8 7 5 3 90

I agree with the numbers. It seems strange to not learn them in the top half of the tree.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

VitGryfny 14 2 2

I think it would be very cool to get the 'Words' functionality up and running. I have only read about this in regard to other courses and it seems it doesn't work for Norwegian.

In terms of the past tense mentioned in previous replies I also feel like having it a little bit earlier (maybe future tense as well) would be very nice. There is so much things I would like to say (referring to the past) but have no capability :( I think knowing the past/future tense at the beginning would enable learners to understand texts (eg. news) more.

I don't know technical background behind the pronunciation engine but in fact this is very difficult to hear the endings for definite/indefinite nouns or just horrible quality like in case of 'avis' which is simply incorrect I feel. I'd rather like the quality to be consistent rather than the voice that speaks out the words. Probably impossible to change.

The course is super fantastic. I can't imagine anything that could motivate me more. The small portions of words provided by short lessons and followed up by XP gain is just great.

TBC

Cheers!

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sigmacharding 18 17 15 15 14 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 4 4 2

Again- upvoting for shorter lessons!

-1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Mandarkhahaha 15 5

I would really love to do more speaking exercises! Especially in the app! It would be nice to maybe have a male voice thrown in also. Bonus skills would be fantastic! Like Nynorsk or Culture or Flirting, music?

I completely love learning this language!

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BroderUlf 22 16 11 11 8 7 6 5 5 4 4 3 3 2

Yes, a 2nd voice would be good. I've noticed other courses, such as French, have done that.

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

km1 16 15 14 13 11 10 9 8 5 2 2

The course is excellent and I agree with many comments already made. I think you should explain feminine gender more. Also anything that gives more insight into culture is fun and educational.

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BroderUlf 22 16 11 11 8 7 6 5 5 4 4 3 3 2

Yes, it's hard to know which nouns are feminine when we only see them treated as masculine most of the time. Then you get multiple choice questions showing them as both, but it's the first time you've seen that form.

5ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

xX_FjellGeit_Xx 14 7 7 5 2

I really love this course! I have been trying to learn Norwegian for over 9 years now but have found most other courses and books a little "dry". This has been a great addition to my extensive (mostly untouched) library of books! My only addition to this list of improvements already suggested by others is to make the multiple choices a little trickier! I find I am able to recognise the words needed to "guess" the correct sentence, without actually thinking about the structure of the sentence. It would be good to have sentences using the same words but in a different order. This is maybe included in later exercises, but I haven't really come across it so far. Keep up the good work, it's greatly appreciated!

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

claymaml 9 7 6 5

Bonus skill - Norwegian birthday song. You may as well teach the words for "song" and "dance" then, too.

8ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

otsogutxi 25 25 25 22 17 16 16 13 9 4 3 3 2

I like how the course is easy to follow. I tried the Esperanto course and after the first few skills, there was simply too much to take in. I think that there should be a lot more vocabulary that you would really use in everyday life. I don't think there are any unnecessary skills but some of them could be expanded a small bit. If there are any other important aspects (grammar related) you should add them. Once all the grammar is covered, all you have to do is work on vocab. I think about 2,000 words are needed to get by in everyday situations. Maybe there could be a section about 'shopping' or 'in the city/buildings' etc. So you would be more prepared if you go to Norway. I think that the course is the best on Duolingo anyway, so there is not much that you need to do. Maybe you could do a couple of bonus skills. I know that the 'Nynorsk' one is in development, but are there any cool ones you could add. Don't forget to add surprises along the way to keep it interesting!

7ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

comeoutcomeout 20 20 15 12 10 7 6 3 512

Yep, more on prepositions would be good!

Also, I may be forgetful, but I don't there was a Telling Time skill was there? Given that reading a clock is a bit unique in Norwegian, this would be a great skill to add :)

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

owlvsdove 11 7 4

There's a "Time" skill just before the 2nd checkpoint in the tree!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

comeoutcomeout 20 20 15 12 10 7 6 3 512

True i see, but skimming over it I don't think it really teaches you how to tell the time? At least not beyond stating the hour.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

owlvsdove 11 7 4

Oh okay, my apologies. I'm still a couple of lessons away from it so I didn't realize that!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

comeoutcomeout 20 20 15 12 10 7 6 3 512

:)

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ingebj 22 21 17 230

All foreigners coming to Norway, no matter which nationality, do seem to struggle with prepositions, so perhaps strengthen skills teaching those?

Plus time, since we use the 24 hours clock more than in England and also "hav åtte" and similar cannot be translated word by word (it would give the wrong time).

Allowing "ei" for "ikke" does seem to create confusion rather than being a help.

I would also suggest you look into any sentences containing the word "bordene" (the tables) since the voice says it in a way that would be closer to the English word borders (trimmings).

I also find some of the suggested (alternative?) translations of words a bit off compared to our normal way of phrasing things (slow, hard, hunting is a few of the words I remember wondering about).

I am a native speaker of Norwegian, but have relatives and friends who have had to pick up Norwegian as adults. I have only looked at the discussions here and questions about individual sentences, so apologies if much of what I suggest has already been covered in the tree. On the other hand, some questions come up very frequently even if the topic is covered in the lessons.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BroderUlf 22 16 11 11 8 7 6 5 5 4 4 3 3 2

A lot of people seem to hit a spot around the 2nd checkpoint where you've learned so much but it hasn't solidified in your mind. You end up having to just review for a while. I remembered all the rules, but in complex sentences, had trouble applying them all consistently. Before Norwegian, I did Swedish through about 2 and a half checkpoints, and don't remember hitting a wall like that.

I do think the Norwegian course has hit a perfect balance between figurative and literal translations. The preferred English version is always suggestive of the correct form of the Norwegian, when possible. I think that's very helpful.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

StuMunro 11

This is so incredibly accurate! I'm currently in exactly this position myself.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

Dogmatix. 10 5 2 1

I was wondering whether we could have shortcut keys for special letters? The Norwegian course is awesome thanks!

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JenniferDr4 20 18

You can just change you keyboard layout settings. E.g. I have an American/English keyboard and changed the layout in my computer settings to: 'English (USA International, with accent keys)'. Important is the accent keys (or dead keys) part. Then it's easy to write norwegian, german, french etc. special characters by hitting the 'alt' key simultaneously: äåüüöáßøæ ... I guess this should work with all computers and operating systems. At least for Linux it's that simple...

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Dogmatix. 10 5 2 1
Tusen takk!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Erven.R 20 15 14 11 10 2
Why lessen the number of lessons in some skills [my opinion]:

So that we won't be demotivated
So words will not clog in our minds
Easier to remember words
My suggestion is to split some skills and put some parts below or above. ;)

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tattamin 25 21 13 10 4 4 3 555
I support this.
I'd love to have a way to practice the recently learned lessons of a skill (if there are 8 lessons and I have done 4 already, I only can repeat each one individually but not combined/mixed), but as that is not possible, fewer lessons per skill would be a great help/workaround.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

eriicaaa 19 11 7 7 6 6 3 1
One thing I struggle with in Norwegian is discerning between words with similar meanings, such as:
å trenge | å behøve
veldig | ganske | virkelig | kjempe | svært
å jobbe | å arbeide
I know Duolingo accepts many of these words in place of each other since they are so similar, but it would be nice if there was some more information about these words, maybe in the tips and notes section. I think connotations, context, and 'leaning towards' translations (for example: "the meaning of this word is 'to work,' but it leans more towards 'to be employed'") could be some useful information to help teach similar words.
Also, I still don't know the Norwegian word for 'bacon' (although I have not reached the Food 2 skill yet). So..
Overall, I think the Norwegian course is great! Keep up the good work. •_•

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69

"Bacon" is... "bacon". We don't mess with perfection. ;)

For grammar related skills we usually need the Tips and Notes space to explain the grammatical concept. However, we may experiment with using the Tips and Notes sections of the thematic vocabulary skills for explanations regarding the many nuances in meaning.

Thank you for the suggestion - and for the compliment!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Our.Time.Is.Now 21 10

I agree. I'm still not sure of the difference between "å trenge" and "å behøve". :P

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69

"å trenge" and "å behøve" are synonymous when meaning "to need".

"å trenge" has an additional definition which is not used in the course; "to push/press" (through a crowd or similar).

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Our.Time.Is.Now 21 10

Ahh, thank you!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69

Bare hyggelig!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

OsoGegenHest 15 14 12 12 12 12 11 10 8 8 5 3 2 2 10

Forget that "flirting" nonsense that other courses do. Have bonus skills on radical Nynorsk and conservative Riksmål.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

fveldig 14 13 13 12 11 9 5 5 3

"radical Nynorsk" is called "Høgnorsk" and "conservative Riksmål" is redundant, as Riksmål is already conservative (Bokmål).

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

OsoGegenHest 15 14 12 12 12 12 11 10 8 8 5 3 2 2 10

Fantastic. But I was using those adjectives in a non-defining sense, like "the white cliffs of Dover", "the wine-dark sea", or "the absurd lack of standardisation in Norwegian".

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mundgeirr 24 14 14 12 11 10 8 6 834

I like your idea, but I'd prefer having more Nynorsk since it's official. The other two variations are interesting, but it's not necessary at all to know about them in this tree.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

monicalogi 12 11

Hello everybody, I am an Italian learner so ... you know I can improve English and learn another language (that I love since I was a child). Anyway I love this course in every single minute of my daily practice. I'd like more grammar notes or tricks. I wish you could improve the grammar part with a special attention for the listening and sound part too. Thank you all the team! Grazie a tutti e buon lavoro!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

londoncallling 21 18 15 1

My contribution:

I think it would be useful to have an extended prepositions skill designed to really make the differences between English and Norwegian prepositions clear. For example, the way Norwegian 'for' sometimes overlaps with English 'for' but sometimes requires a completely different translation.

In general, it would be nice to see more words from vocab-building skills in later grammar skills and vice versa. That way we could constantly revise old material while learning new stuff, without having to specifically go back to a skill and strengthen it. This would be useful because when you've chosen to strengthen a skill you're expecting certain words, so it's hard to tell how well you really know them, whereas if they just popped up randomly in later skills it would really test whether they had stuck.

I think there could be a more even spread of vocab and grammar. I found it quite hard to motivate myself through the big block of long vocab skills just before the third checkpoint without learning any new grammar to make me feel that I was progressing or that the sentences were becoming more complicated. This might also involve splitting longer skills (upwards of 6 sets) into smaller chunks interspersed with grammar skills. I try (not always successfully) to do two new sets a day on top of keeping all my old skills gold, so even if I hit my target it takes a long time to finish a 9-set skill. There is no pressing reason, come to think of it, for learning all computer-based or travel-based vocab at the same time. It might be easier to retain it by learning one half, then having it practised in a grammar skill, then learning the next half, etc. (see point 2).

This is probably way out of your control, but if there was any way we could have immersion like for the bigger languages, it would be really helpful. Even if Norwegian translation doesn't feature in the Duo business model, just enabling the functionality for trying out translations and having them corrected by more experienced learners would be amazing.

Overall, I love the course and am very grateful to all of you for creating it and for being so helpful in the comments sections!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

user_ken 25 20 11 9 8 7 3 8

Two minor things that I came across that I would have liked to see explained in the lesson notes were:

1.) There were a few irregular adjectives that weren't mentioned (or I possibly missed) and were a little confusing. See "hele" and "halv".

2.) The turning of present participle adjectives into substantives as explained by Deliciae here: <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10480474>

I know having minimal notes is Duo's thing, but I was really confused by these concepts when I encountered them.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fitt3 25 3 520

Maybe you should add little quiz after every lesson. And it should be just to translate words and/or verbs, and to have it like daily reminder.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

We don't have control over things like that.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Fitt3 25 3 520

Oh..

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Trin_Indirekt 21 12 9 6 49

In tests where you pick word from given, don't start one word with capital letter. Start sentence from small letter, that way it is harder to pick correct word. And it is better learning, if it is hard. :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69

I completely agree with you, but that's not something we as course mods can change. We can only suggest it to the programmers.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amaratea 25 13 12 11 11 6

Well probably don't start with the clearly different word? Like, if the sentence starts with "He" and the translation options given start with "Ham", "Vi" and "Jenta", I don't even need to read the sentence to find out the right one. The differences and mistakes are better to be hidden in the middle of the sentence and to be subtle and not so ridiculously obvious at times. If this is within your reach, of course.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69

Those exercises are automatically generated by an algorithm, based on our source sentences which are the ones used in the regular translation exercises and audio exercises.

I think the wrong alternatives are more or less randomly chosen from a pool of words you already know, perhaps with a priority given to those recently learned or or that seem grammatically similar. It's not something we have any direct influence over, I'm afraid.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tattamin 25 21 13 10 4 4 3 555

Yes, this. Alternatively, there could be several capitalised words so a choice has to be made.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

metalbunny 14 9 8

I haven't finished the course, but:

I would like to have all the feminine nouns feminine... you can write an explanation that these can be used as masculine, but I'd like to use boka and not boken... jeg bor jo ikke i Bergen!

Like I just wrote in another post, when you "strengthen skills" in the main button I would like to strengthen several lessons if possible and not one at a time (in German it's possible).

Is there a lesson about time? "Ti på halv sju", "kl. 17" osv?

I find it a bit weird when you have to pick from the 3 sentences, that there are some with just a random word in there... Could you not write a real sentence just that it's not the exact translation? well this is just my opinion.

Maybe some very norwegian sentences (maybe a bonus skill) like harrytur, sykemeldt, mammaperm, taxfree, polet, mcern?

I did laugh at the "dagpenger" sentence, very Norwegian. And also "mannen hans" I don't think you find this in many other courses :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Caitlin2o9 13 7 6 5 5 3 3 13

I'm okay with some of the nonsensical sentences and get the reason they are there.. BUT I would enjoy more sentences I would actually say at a hotel, a coffee bar, an airport, a restaurant, a store, etc. Also maybe the beginning of a conversation. I'd like it to be more mixed between nonsense and super practical down to earth things I would actually say. You feel?

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

claranu 16 14 11 9 1

Love the course! Tusen takk!! My only request would be more vocabulary about politics/current events so I can read Norwegian newspapers! I would like more lessons specifically on prepositions.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mlzza 17 12 6 2

Some exercises or more in depth grammar notes on sentence structures would be really useful for people who start the tree. I used to struggle with the inversion rules a lot. Great job on the tree anyway, fun to learn :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RuthiferR 10 5

First, Duolingo has been one of the best learning platforms for me learning Norwegian and you all have done a great job! Some things I would like to see added to the course: - bonus skills on certain conversational topics so one can learn how to ask directions, order from a menu, meet and greet, etc., to help if one is traveling to Norway and still not very far into the tree. - more information on grammar/new skills built into the app. I don't know if you have control over the app format or if you can forward the feedback to the right people. I primarily use the app because I have tracking issues using the website on my phone/tablet (doesn't always track the lessons I completed) but by primarily using the app, users lose a lot of important info at the beginning of new skills - a skills set, maybe bonus, that shows the different conjugations for certain words (ie, commonly used or odd conjugations) in past, present and future. - introduce past tense earlier - I may not be far enough into the tree yet but a speaking feature would be awesome! The Spanish tree asks the learner to speak some of the sentences and that would be amazing in the Norwegian tree.

Keep up the great work!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EN218 23 16 12 11 7 7 60

I too have been wishing for speaking exercises—by which I mean repeating a phrase into a microphone. (The only speaking exercises I get are "type what you hear.") If they are in the Norwegian course, can someone explain how to set that up on my computer? I am blown away that I can understand so much Norwegian now (thank you, DuoLingo!) but I find I am shy to talk out loud because I know my pronunciation is pretty bad. I would like to be "forced" to speak more. Tusen takk!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amaratea 25 13 12 11 11 6

There are speaking exercises in Norwegian course too. Maybe you disabled them accidentally?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RuthiferR 10 5

Just checked and the speaking exercises are active. When are the speaking exercises introduced in the Norwegian tree?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

claymaml 9 7 6 5

I never get speaking exercises on my phone - only on a computer. I checked the settings on my app, and they should be active.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amaratea 25 13 12 11 11 6

straight from the very first skills, I disabled them around middle of the first set of skills.

UPD right now I turned on the mic exercises, started practice on Basics skill and speaking exercise was the very first I got!

So, another option is a streak of really bad luck. I find app more repetitive than website version. Like for the last three(!) days my practice starts from translation of "a union" from English to Norwegian, and then it also comes 3-5 times during the flow of the practice, wtf is that :D but I guess it's a question to developers, not to course creators.

maybe you should report it to tech support if you never get any.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RuthiferR 10 5

I just used my work computer and got a speaking exercise so yeah I will definitely contact tech support about the speaking exercises in the app! Thanks for troubleshooting this with me!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EmmanuelBouh 24 15 12 11 7 6 4 2 2 862

I know many people say that, but I would love to see some bonus skills (especially Christmas which is my favourite), because I always wait until I finish the tree to do them, so they give me motivation to progress more quickly.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

norsk Norge 6

I'm not sure if this would be possible, but it would be great to have a chart of the conjugated adjectives for the first adjective lesson. This confused me very much at first, and it would've been easier to learn (in my opinion), if I could read the text and see the changes in action without going through the lessons.

Example: Masculine:Stor Feminine:Stor Neuter:Stort Plural:Store

Masculine:Viktig Feminine:Viktig Neuter:Viktig Plural:Viktige

Takk.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago shinseiromeo 21 16 7 446

Using this right now, just hit a 60 day streak today actually.

The only thing that gets me from time to time is that some sentences just don't make sense, they seem to be 'broken English'.

Example: 'du er flink i norsk' --- the correct answer is 'you are good in Norwegian'.

Well Norwegian what? I would assume they were going for 'you speak Norwegian well'.

2ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

skellious 12 7 7 6 6 6 4 3 3 3 2 2 2

its a literal translation. makes it easier to understand the norwegian.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kaisuteknon 8

I wouldn't count on it, knowing Norwegians. I heard someone doing an English major say "I like to see the telly" the other day.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

skellious 12 7 7 6 6 6 4 3 3 3 2 2 2

The norwegians I know speak impeccable english, but of course I realise that's not valid data.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NJG88 25 22 10 9 9 6 4 2

I reckon the course is great, it covers lots of useful stuff and makes you chuckle, but it's great to see version 2 is coming. Here's my 2 cents:

I'd like to have a little more on the passive voice and other s forms of verbs. It's a different way of thinking about verbs (for an english speaker), so I'd like a bit more material to teach it please! And a bit more on the passive participles (and when to use bli or være).

A skill (in the tree, or as a bonus) on particles like: jo, vel, nok, etc. would be handy as well.

Also, I think it would really add to the course's value if some of the concepts of the grammar skills taught later in the tree were incorporated into sentences for the last few vocabulary skills (passive voice, present & passive participles, present and past continuous 'tense', conditional mood, etc.)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

metalbunny 14 9 8

The German course has a percentage of "German Fluency", is it possible to add this?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dkahn400 25 25 23 23 669

It's fairly meaningless in my experience. I am actually reasonably fluent in French and my fluency there shows as a rather insulting 62%. I am a beginner in Italian and could not hold a meaningful conversation with a native speaker. That makes me 52% fluent apparently.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

corvinr 23 18 12 11 4 3

Fully agree. The Duolingo fluency indicator has no correlation to actual fluency. As far as I can tell, it dates from when they wanted to pressure you to do translation for them (which they were planning on monetizing). The easiest way to drive up your fluency measure was to do lots of translation, even though this in fact did not help you learn the language (not the way Duolingo has set it up, anyway), or, in fact produce good translations. Translation is a hard problem not easily solvable like text-recognition.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

That's not up to us.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kumatangz 13 10 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 5 5 4 4 3

I would like to see a Norwegian cultural skill or two and a skill for greetings.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bavarix 22 10 9 6 10

I really like this course, it is more fun and keeps me better motivated than all that i tried so far. Especially the allusions to songs, poems, etc are appreciated. Probably it is on Pittsburgh's end, but a button to mark the words/phrases, which I find difficult to memorize, in order to repeat them more often, would be highly welcome. I'm not so convinced about the respective algorithm. Hurra det norske laget!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

heimaey 25 25 25 19 13 12 11 11 9 7 4 935

FWIW I finished the course a month ago or so and I thought it was really good. I learned a lot - the hardest part I had was the orthography because I studied Swedish first and so I would default to the Swedish spellings sometimes.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Hossam24 11 9 6 1

Bonus skills will be amazing :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kaisuteknon 8

Hei.

I uttaleguiden til de norske bokstavene står det at "å" uttales som "o"-en i "open". Den "o"-en er jo en diftong, og jeg vil derfor foreslå at dere velger et nytt ord. Hva med RP-uttalen av "awkward"?

"Jeg" rimer jo forsåvidt heller ikke på "guy". Her tror jeg bare ren IPA-transkripsjon eller lyder kan illustrere det noe godt. /æ/ finner vi på engelsk i for eksempel GA-uttalen av "after".

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gashyyy 9 5

It would be nice to have some images of actions, or illustrations and to type what is happening, would be very helpful for us visual learners! This course is amazing btw, loving every minute of it!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

novae-lithic 20 12

The course could be much more useful if it had practical examples. That is, longer sentences, less dialogue-type sentences and more of the type of day-to-day Norwegian that one encounters in written form.

For example, my Norwegian study to-date isn't helping as much as I'd like with reading and interpreting signs on the street, catalogues in the shops or letters from the Kommune.

In that way, I think introducing the preteritum and perfektum earlier would be very helpful.

Also, more attention much earlier on to the modal verbs - and particularly the way they modify or omit the main verb - would be handy.

And finally, more practice with the common words with multiple or uncommon meanings, such as what is covered in the amazing Norwegian Grammar Dictionary by Rysst and Sylvester would be fantastic!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Plamsy 8 5 4 4
at least 3000 words in total

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8
This will happen. Easily.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ASkilletFan 12 3
How many words are there in Norwegian?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8
It's extremely hard to say. The course may teach something like 1% of all Norwegian words in the dictionary, but that top 1% covers something like 95% of words you would read in an average newspaper article.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rebeccadriaanse 15 11 9
How many words does the current Norwegian tree count now? I take it the expansion will be huge?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dkahn400 25 25 23 23 669
One thing I find irritating is in the exercises where you have to pick from 1 to 3 correct versions of the answer. Sometimes these include a construction that looks as though it might be valid, but there is something else clearly wrong with the sentence. This leaves the student unsure whether the alternative construction is valid or not. I therefore feel there should rarely be more than one error in the incorrect versions.

I notice these exercises are also used to introduce us to valid constructions that are not in the basic material, which we discover by incorrectly rejecting them. This does not bother me at all. I think it's an effective way of introducing supplementary material. It even has an element of military humour in it, like a drill sergeant shouting: "All those whose leave this afternoon has not been cancelled - dismiss! Jones! Where do you think you're going?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ASkilletFan 12 3
add 'eller' (or)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

We have that...

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ASkilletFan 12 3

Ok, I didn't know that but I had seen some places it should have been.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mindflare 14

About when do y'all see the release date being? I am doing German right now but I'd love to do the Norwegian tree when 2.0 is released.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8
February at the earliest.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Gottesanbeterin 20

I know this has nothing to do with the discussion, but what does sticky mean on the discussion?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8
It means it's not going away until I tell it to!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Gottesanbeterin 20

Ohh... Cool!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kaisuteknor 8

Hi, could you please fix the pronunciation guide for the personal pronouns? It really bugs me that they're so unprecise, and pronouns are pretty important, after all! :^)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LarsPtzk 22 11 8 7 6 5

Grammatical genders should be "correct" (I know m/f are interchangeable; but I think everyone should be able to decide for oneself if he wants to use both or just male)

There are no speaking exercises on mobile devices, would be nice to have them on tablets/smartphones

Norwegian tongue twisters could be a fun bonus lesson (En voksen bokser vasker bukser. Etc.). Especially for speaking exercises very interesting!

You say you can't change the following, but still necessary to enhance. Maybe you have some contacts to Duolingo which you can use.

A real natural voice would be much better. The Irish course for example has a real recorded voice. The fluency percentage indicator is maybe really useless, but it's a nice feature for motivation. Learning on a mobile device without any grammar tips and notes is nonsense. These are necessary to understand what you are learning. The Apps need them desperately. There should be a word/vocabulary list of all learned words. But besides that, you have done great work so far. Thank you!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

garlandfarm 14 8

I am having a hard time with adjectives and which spelling to use. i.e.. Ny, Nye or Nytt. I think that a better explanation could be given.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

StevePeter1 13 2

Excellent course. I first learned Norwegian language some 40 years ago. Many of the lessons are quite easy to review, and I enjoy the variety. I'm curious of the region where the primapeaker is from. The Pronousiation. is different than the Bokmål that I learned in N=Hamarl

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

fukien 6 2 2

we reaaaly need these wordlist and grammar notes ! please please please :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luke_5.1991 22 18 15 14 14 13 12 12 11 9 8 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 8

Grammar notes we have on the website, just like every other course. The world list we have zero control over as contributors. Sorry!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

fukien 6 2 2

ho ok :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

r2p2d2 18 16 2

i think it would be very useful to have the present/past/future tense of the verb in the hint sheets.

I am not sure how people remember new words, but for me if i can say them out as a group, it helps me remember all the forms and use them correctly.

Is it possible to make this? thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

devyvw_ 8 3

it's good so stay super active with the course and keep adding more things

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

dr_puja 18 10 5

Det er sikkert en feil i kursen som det stor nå. For det mest klarer jeg ikke å forsterke kunnskapene mine selv om jeg har prøvde en og en kunnskap og hele kursen også. Det blir ganske irriterende og nesten vanskelig å forsette. Den eneste grunn at jeg skriver på norsk er å si at jeg ikke er så dårlig på norsk at jeg klarer ikke å bestå testene.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Michelle637863 15 14 8 7 5 3 90

I love learning Norwegian! The only thing I would change is taking out some of the goofy sentences, like Bears do not read newspapers. :) I'll have to think about anything else I would change.

-4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ASkilletFan 12 3

The goofy sentences are fun.

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dkahn400 25 25 23 23 669

The oddness also makes them more memorable, along with the points they illustrate. If I just wanted a stock of useful sentences, I would carry a phrasebook. I'm trying to learn a (rather beautiful, as it turns out) language in which I can express and discuss any idea.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

16 "On our scale "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/2117409>

Translation: À notre échelle

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

13 Comments

gege25 22 5

on hour skill??????????????????

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BenYoung84 25 25 25 13 84

Ils sont assez similaires. "our" et "hour" sont prononcés la même. "skill" et "scale" sont similaires en anglais américain. Pour "skill" la voyelle est plus courte, et pour "scale" la voyelle sonnerait comme le "e" français (par ex. allez). Bon courage.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Alainitsmyname 23 22 56

Une échelle d'ascension se traduira aussi par scale ? Merci d'avance

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jackie-dd 25 13 3

Non, le dispositif composé de montants et de barreaux correspond au mot "ladder". Pour trouver la traduction de mots, je vous conseille l'utilisation du dictionnaire anglais/français Larousse:

<http://www.larousse.fr/dictionnaires/francais-anglais/%C3%A9chelle/27304>

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Alainitsmyname 23 22 56

Je retiens mieux avec les leçons des utilisateurs :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jackie-dd 25 13 3

Nous allons donc essayer de vous aider à mémoriser !

0Give Lingot2•1 year ago

Alainitsmyname 23 22 56

I use the links, you give me Thank for your time.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alzone24 25 3 87

Alors comment traduire "sur notre échelle de valeur..."?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Sitesurf 25 25 8 7

On our scale of values.

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

vasyvite 13

Donc traduire par 'sur notre échelle' est correct ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jackie-dd 25 13 3

"Sur notre échelle" est accepté par Duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

whiteaxe 11

la différence entre "scale" et "ladder" ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Alainitsmyname 23 22 56

Ladder échelle d'ascension, scale de données

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

17 "The scale"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10954573>

Translation: L'échelle

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

8 Comments

billy_gibbons 11 8

Ne peut-on pas traduire "scale" par "balance" également?

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pantstheterrible 11 10 6

Si, quand on parle de l'instrument de pesage. Mais si la balance a deux compartiments pour la comparaison, on utilise le pluriel "scales".

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Pititnatole 20 13 8 6 5

Attention, l'échelle sur laquelle on monte se dit "ladder".

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

ChanceMore 10 3

i heard "the skill"!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

noemlbr 10 4

me too haha!

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

zhebrica 20 15 11 2

Pourquoi pas "l'écaille"? "The scale" signifie les deux.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rbarchon 11 7

J'ai entendu "the skill" également ;-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

DinoMMM 15 43

le mot scale est très mal prononcé, on entend quelque chose comme seal....

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

18 Is the Christmas Bonus Skill coming back this year?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12132801>

aspiring_sarge 9 2

So I'd really REALLY like to finally get that 3rd bonus skill, and seemed to notice that the last 2 years, the Christmas bonus skill has been making an appearance, well... every Christmas. I was wondering: is it likely that it will be available this time around as well? Or have I joined the party too late to acquire it? (I hope not :( )

Give Lingot22

131 year ago

Leave a new comment

34 Comments

otsogutxi 25 25 25 22 17 16 16 13 9 4 3 3 2

It's coming.

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2

Thank you :D ! Any idea from when to when it'll be available? A little broke right now, since I spent all my lingos on the other 2 skills, and need to calculate how to start saving up 'em lingos appropriately ;)

1ReplyGive Lingot21•1 year ago

otsogutxi 25 25 25 22 17 16 16 13 9 4 3 3 2

I would say it will be available in the next few days. Here are some lingots to help you:)

5ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2

Thank you ever so much :D

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

bwhd15 7 4

if i knew that i wouldn't have just used all my lingots. i get my double or nothing reward tomorrow so i will have 11. 19 to go! lol

0ReplyGive Lingot20•1 year ago

Ally927000 15

I have lots. Here you go.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bwhd15 7 4

thanks!!!

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

It came on December 14 last year according to some post I found on another website.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2

Oh excellent. Really looking forward to unlocking it :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Prof._Moore 10

It is here now for 30 lingots!!!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2

Huzzah!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lili118 25 13 12 5 700

Have some lingots to buy the skill.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2

Thank you very much :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ninjadog543 5

whats the christmas skill

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2

The Christmas skill is a bonus skill. At present, in the store, only "Idioms" and "Flirting" are available, while your tree shows 3 slots open. The third slot is for the "Christmas" bonus skill.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ninjadog543 5

oh ok

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ninjadog543 5

merci

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Prof._Moore 10

Do you keep the christmas skill year-round after you buy it?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sidearmer 23 15 12 11 6 4 423

Yes you keep it for good once it's purchased, my advice is that if you might be interested in multiple languages, and have the lingots to spend, get the Christmas skill for all your languages when it's available so you can do it when you please. I've gone back and worked on it for all of mine to get into the season

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leeeeeegirl 8 5 1

That's what I like!!!!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

15Alexdickinson 4

so do i

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jpc1017 2
[deleted]

0Give Lingot31•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
How much do you need?

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

ninjadog543 5
im so sad i need some clothes for duo i need 9

0ReplyGive Lingot13•1 year ago

svermont 7 7
How much does the Skill cost?

0ReplyGive Lingot60•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2
It costs 30 Lingots

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Prof._Moore 10
I thought it costed 15 lingots, it did last year..., oh well we will find out!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

aspiring_sarge 9 2
Oh. I'm not quite sure then. I assumed it would be the same cost as all the other skills. :O

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leeeeeegirl 8 5 1
Prices go up you know now! Unfortunately!! Although I wish it did only cost 15 lingots!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

BarryBristow 17 15 522
I am hoping it will only be 15 lingots, as I should just about be able to afford it when it does become available. How long did it stay available for last year?

0ReplyGive Lingot15•1 year ago

sidearmer 23 15 12 11 6 4 423

It'll probably be available through the Christmas season. If you monitor the main duolingo discussion page I'm sure there will be much commotion when it arrives. It's a great skill and fun to do so I'll spread some holiday cheer to help you out! Joyeux Noël!

2ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

BarryBristow 17 15 522

Thank you for my lingots. Looking forward to this

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leeeeeegirl 8 5 1

30!!! lingots! Expensive!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

leeeeeegirl 8 5 1

Hi, Christmas Bonus skill is out and might leave soon!! So get out there for 30 lingots and have yourself a Merry Christmas!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

19 Polish released in beta! Now available to learn!

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12247738>

EricaHarley 11

The Polish course has been released! You can now learn it on Duolingo!

I'd like to say a big thank you to the Polish team for making this possible. :)

In the words of alukasiak, contributor to the Polish course:

"Some of you may have thought that this moment would never come.

But it's happening: you can now use Duolingo to learn Polish.

"The course has just entered Phase 2 (Beta). This means that, although the tree is complete, there may still be some rough edges that we will have to smoothen out. Please bear with us and use the report function to tell us about anything that might need fixing or improving - missing translations and hints, unnatural sentences or unintelligible audio. All kinds of feedback are greatly appreciated. Of course, we will be there to help you out. Feel free to use our Discussion forums to ask questions or simply talk about your experience with learning Polish.

"We would like to thank you for your patience.

"Thanks to all those who supported us and believed in us during this long journey. We did everything we could to release the course as soon as possible without sacrificing its quality. But this is not the end. We are aware that there are still some aspects that we have to work on to make the course as effective and enjoyable as it is possible. We are going add Tips & Notes to more skills during the Beta as well as consider your feedback to improve the learning experience.

"Thanks to everyone who made this possible - above all, to current and former contributors and the entire Duolingo team. Great job!

"There is no better reward for your effort than knowing that people from all around the world can now learn this wonderful language for free.

Dziękujemy! Team Polish"

Give Lingot
251 year ago

Leave a new comment
14 Comments

John_Carroll819 25 25 25
Next is Hungarian , it is at 100%

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EricaHarley 11
I hope it gets released soon!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

John_Carroll819 25 25 25
<h1 style="color:red;">GREAT!!!!!!!!!!!!!! </h1>
4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JeddSherman 10 8 6
So far, so excellent with the first set of skills! Looking good!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ozgogh 25 22 10 9 9 6 5 3 2
The TTS is amazing, I didn't expect such quality. I am pleased with this course.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

magicafan 24 14 8 6 2 2 723
Woo! Completed first skill.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EricaHarley 11

Awesome! So did I! It's so fun and confusing!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

magicafan 24 14 8 6 2 2 723

It is. xD

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EricaHarley 11

Speaking of which, I can't remember a single word from Basics 1. I should go and strengthen it...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

magicafan 24 14 8 6 2 2 723

Same

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lingvarlante 12 10 7 7 4 4 3 2 2

Yay!! Thank you so much!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AlinaK.4 12 11 11 10 10 9 9 8 6 6 4 4

Amazing! :))) Thank you so much for all your efforts, Polish Team. When is it going to be released for mobile versions? As I mostly accomplish my courses using mobile version. Thank you

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ultrahobo 9 6

http://www.koszulkomat.eu/images4/preview/81/8167\_7-0.png

Can't wait to deserve this shirt :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EricaHarley 11

Haha! Good luck, fellow language learner. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

20 How do I get my third bonus topic?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11092469>

googogajooob 13 12 6

I have completed idioms and flirting and need a third bonus skill but can't seem to get it.

Give Lingot1

11 year ago

Leave a new comment

4 Comments

P.Salamander 10

It's Christmas and you only get it during Christmas time.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

googoogajoob 13 12 6

Really? Ok. Thanks!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sannehoo 15 15 12 12 12 11 9 7 4 3 2 695

It's available NOW!

You're lucky: both spanish and french have the christmas skill. o<]:-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jovanuno 14 9 7 4 4 4 3 2 2 2 2

You can get the Christmas skill now for 30 lingots.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

21 Dutch Tree 2.0

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11538360>

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Hoi allemaal!

We are now officially able to build our Tree 2.0! This means that we can edit the existing course and add some brand new words, lessons, and skills! A new voice (!) and bonus skills are coming soon™. We already have some ideas, but we would like to hear your suggestions!

Did you see any strange sentences, words or typos that we should change immediately?
Are there any skills that should appear earlier, need more attention or that are too long/short in your opinion?
Which new grammar/vocabulary skills would you like to see in your future new tree?
Do you need some more ducks? (We know they're important!)
We cannot do everything of course:

Things we cannot do

We can't add a words tab.

We can't add gender labels.
We cannot change the distribution of (NL<->EN) exercises.
Don't hesitate, every (doable) suggestion is welcome!

Groetjes from Team Dutch!

Give Lingot50
1931 year ago

Leave a new comment
405 Comments

Germanger 11 9 9 8 8 6 4 4 1
Alsjeblieft, flirting bonus skills !!!

99ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

kka.anni 12 10 8 3
Some sentences are secretly flirt skills, such as "I see you have a cat" and "Nee, geen broek alsjeblieft."

91ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Germanger 11 9 9 8 8 6 4 4 1
Don't forget De sinnassapel spreek!

20ReplyGive Lingot4•1 year ago

Nick__Torres 7
As well as, Ik ben geen een banaan!

21ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Brijsven 17 13 10 9 7 7 7 6 6 5 4 4 4 4 4 4 3 3 2 2 2 2
Ik ben geen banaan! ;-*

14ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

YYismyLanguage 20 15 5 4 2 590
Maar, Ik ben een banaan.. :(

4Give Lingot•7 months ago

Lolgast 16
Maarja, ik heb geen bananen vandaag!

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

emak02 18 11 10 8 8 8 66
*De sinaasappel spreekt. ^^

4ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

NirRL 18 14 11 6
Haha omg ik lachte eigenlijk een beetje

0ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

gjnelson 15 14 13 10 9 5 260
Based on the ridiculous sentences in other languages, which then turn up occasionally in review, I would strongly suggest NOT to add the flirting "skill".

20ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

michisjourdi 12 11 9 8 8 5 5 4 3 3 3 3 2
They should rename the "flirting" sections to "cheesy pick-up lines". I thought we were going to be learning something useful from those, like "You have beautiful eyes." or "I love your personality." Maybe even "I can't live without you."

Those would be for "flirting." ^_^

30ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Germanger 11 9 9 8 8 6 4 4 1
It's funny tho

28ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

annelieseclare13 10 6 3 2 2 2
I think learning to flirt in Dutch would be fun! If you know it in English, why can't you learn in it Dutch? :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

kebabkerry 10 5 4 3 2
Some cheesy pick up lines would make practise time with dutch friends a lot more interesting...

9ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

ArdeJohnson 12 11 10
If you're lucky, you'll get to get to practice any Dutch at all!

7ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

lemonswag234 18 18 9 7 6 6 3 1
What about "Jij ben mijn licht in de nacht" that is way too romantic :D

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Timo82168 12

Shouldn't it be "Jij bent(!) mijn licht in de nacht" ?

12ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

mmgery 19 10 7

The best translation is actually, for some reason, Je bent mijn licht in de duisternis. I assume this is idiomatic or they have slightly different meanings ;)

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lemonswag234 18 18 9 7 6 6 3 1

It should be :) my mistake, won't edit it cuz i would make you look weird haha

5ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Timo82168 12

:D That's very kind of you

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheSnark 18 18 16 11 7 6 3

You can always steal a few from the duet of Herman Finkers and Brigitte Kaandorp. That should be a scream.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Xanaxandra 7 6

Dijn snavel is de liefste

-1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

NRizel 15 14 13 12 12 11 9 9

Yeah, I agree, but i heard that Dutch men sucks at flirting, just google it, maybe that's why, lol

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Germanger 11 9 9 8 8 6 4 4 1

haha maybe but Ik ben geen Nederlandse en Ik zag jij hebt de mooiste glimlach

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NRizel 15 14 13 12 12 11 9 9

Alstublieft, I don't understand your point's reply to mine and I have no idea whether you are Dutch or not, "The prettiest smile" ?? I'll take it as compliment, Dank

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Germanger 11 9 9 8 8 6 4 4 1

I'm not dutch, and it is a compliment I'm learning them since Duolingo is not teaching 'em, but as you can see they can create a smile in any language!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AngelaBowe1 25 94

Dutch men suck at flirting - A Dutch man sucks at flirting.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Olja. 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 10 10 10 563

I just wanted to say a big Thank You dear Dutch Team! Your course is amazing :) I fell in love with the Dutch language!

52ReplyGive Lingot4•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

93ReplyGive Lingot9•1 year ago

christianOPyeti 11 3 1

i don't no what this means!

could somebody translate it for me?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Mahamantra.108 10

You dont love Netherland, Netherland loves you..

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

christianOPyeti 11 3 1

LOL XD

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

efisgpr 21 18 17 16 14 14 13 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 5 4 2 1

Me too!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

YCW0 17 14 13 10 9 9 6 4

The Dutch course is great. I love the sense of humor. I have not laughed so much, nor reported hilarious sentences to my friends and family in any of the other courses I'm doing.

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62

Definitely more ducks and maybe some rabbits please?

48ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

Sure, but what about the poor rhino's, and don't forget the lawyer love story! And people talking to their beverages of course.

32ReplyGive Lingot6•1 year ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62

Oh yes, more rhinoseroseroseri, the more languages that have them the better. I want to be unable to spell that word in as many languages as possible.

32ReplyGive Lingot4•1 year ago

LucBE 18 17 15 12 10 10 10 8 4 3 2 2 2 2 675

You're out of luck with Dutch then. Rhinoceros = Neushoorn... :-)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Xanaxandra 7 6

I need more ducks to be able to watch Alfred J Kwak in Dutch

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

ketoacidosis 25 25 15 13 9 6 4 1444

I haven't gone through my entire Dutch tree, so I'm not sure if this is covered, but I would love some cycling vocab/ sentences. I always hear about how prominent cycling is in the Netherlands, and I'd love to go do some cycling there.

45ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

I see a beautiful bonus skill :)

155ReplyGive Lingot13•1 year ago

Scarblac 9

Mijn trapper raakte de grond in de bocht. Er zat een slag in mijn wiel. Ik sloeg af voordat de politie zag dat mijn licht stuk was. Die toerist liep op het fietspad. En natuurlijk: mijn fiets was gejat, ik heb een nieuwe gekocht voor een tientje.

29ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

MamaMieke 6 3

I remember biking down the wrong path in Gouda and a woman said to me-indignantly "dit is niet en fietspad mevrouw!"

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheSnark 18 18 16 11 7 6 3

Dit is geen fietspad, mevrouw!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Zmrzlina 14 13 12 10 4

That's so Dutch! I love it!

8ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Middleton27 14 6 5 3

an entire bike skill what is this

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

welleg 10

Where are the bonus skills? I'm not seeing them, but that could just be me being slow (or tired).

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Aki_Nguyen 21 358

Hey David (if I guessed your name correctly)! How to get the bonus skill? I finished the tree but no any bonus skills appeared yet.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Hi Aki! The bonus skills are ready, but we're not able to make them available (yet). Now you know as much as we do. :P

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Words like: fiets, stuur, bel, zadel, reflector, achterband lek, fietsenmaker, slot, gestolen, achterlicht, voorlicht, fietsroutes, racefiets, mountainbike, stadsfiets, OV-fiets, fietspad. Bromfiets, snorfiets, scooter, helm, regenjas, tegenwind. :)

18ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

nikanokoi 14 9 8 7 7 6 2

Gestolen? Does this happen? :(

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

linguafrancesca 13 12 10 243

I live in Germany but very close to the Dutch border, and even where I live bike theft is extremely common. I guess it just comes naturally as a part of the huge bike culture in the Netherlands. I have heard that if you don't double lock your bicycle in Amsterdam, it will almost assuredly be stolen. We have taken to always double locking our bicycles just to be safe, but my husband's bicycle was recently stolen anyways. People from the Netherlands apparently steal them (in Germany too) and resell them in the Netherlands. I think there is something like 2 bikes for every person in the Netherlands now overall.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

nikanokoi 14 9 8 7 7 6 2

Haha, so cute when the Dutch and Germans blame each other for bike theft :3

7ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

linguafrancesca 13 12 10 243

I'm not denying that Germans also steal bikes, but we were specifically talking about Dutch bike theft

1Give Lingot1•1 year ago

YvonneJanssen 17 8 2

As a person who lived in amsterdam, one pro tip, allways remember to not only lock your bike to something fixed, but also lock your front wheel to the rest of your bike! else they will just steal the part that isn't locked and steel the missing part from an other bike!

7ReplyGive Lingot2•11 months ago

courtak 16 9 8 5

waarheid.

0Give Lingot•11 months ago

Martijn350416 14 8 6

You are totally right, but there is another option to prevent theft: Make it look asif it will fall apart as soon as you try to get onto it.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Db243 21 9 9 20

My bike was crap, utter crap chain always fell off, causing my to fall and hit my genitals on the bar. I left it unlocked for a week or so, it finally went away

4Give Lingot1•1 year ago

Nierls 10 8 3 2

Yes, it happens to people who forget to lock their bikes or park them in easy-to-steal-from places, it's not expensive to buy a new bike though, quite a few people sell bikes for €10-€5 in big cities (you can guess where they got those).

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Eleonora188 14 6

I lived in Amsterdam for a few years... my bike got stolen aproximately every six months, so you can imagine I never spent much on bying a new one... To make me feel less bad about it, I always imagined all Amsterdammers were playing an elaborate game of bike tag: I steal your bike, you steal mine etc. it makes the whole thing seem more sweet :P

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

NiaRoberts5 14 13 13 13

(I'm going to try this in Dutch so be gentle with me!) Een keer, jaren geleden, had ik mijn fiets op slot bij het HS station gelaten. Toen ik terugkwam, de fiets bleef daar, maar het slot was gestolen! Ik voelde me erg beledigd!

1Give Lingot•7 months ago

JeffHK 24 19 11 10 6 3 2

Hong Kong is to umbrellas what Amsterdam is to bikes. Years ago when I first moved to the city I spent a lot of time at a university library. There was an umbrella rack, always overflowing with umbrellas, at the entrance. I was always very worried about losing my umbrella until my friend Jon introduced me to the concept of the "universal, infinite umbrella exchange"- you had only to donate one umbrella and you were subsequently guaranteed access to any umbrella for life.

0Give Lingot•1 month ago

DJvdZ 25 25 25 25 25 21 17 16 14 14 13 12 12 11 11 11 10 10 9 9 7 7 7 6 4 659

I second your cycling bonus skill suggestion!

9ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

CapnLee 20 7

One thing I would like is just a lot more variation in the sentences for each lesson. I find that I am able to read just a part of the sentence and simply recall the sentence that it translates to.

For example, "de jongens eet geen rijst" but if sometimes they weren't eating oranges or pork or if sometimes they were old men or girls it would add a lot.

I'm not sure whether the limitations you are coming up against are with how many sentences Duolingo will support per lesson or whether it is just that writing these variations take a lot of time that could be spent better elsewhere, but I would really appreciate simply more variations of sentences.

I am incredibly grateful for the work the Dutch Team has put in to this course, thank you.

40ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

ElinaKock 19 11 10 9 7 6

Yes please! It is better for learning to have to actually read the sentence, than it is to develop a strategy of remembering certain sentences ^^

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SenorDustin 25 25 9 8 7 4 20

After Dutch 2.0, is it too early to bring up Afrikaans for Dutch speakers?

37ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

Lelieblad 4

Haha, this actually makes far more sense than Afrikaans for English speakers. As an English native, I'd love Afrikaans for Dutch speakers! :)

10ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Who knows? (I don't anyway, I'd love it though, for both Dutch and English speakers :D)

5ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

efisgpr 21 18 17 16 14 14 13 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 5 4 2 1

Or Frisian for when I meet Doutzen >: )

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

courtak 16 9 8 5

yes for frisian.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•11 months ago

zekecoma 17 13 3

This is what I would like to see done, too.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15
And maybe "Surinaams"

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

almusinsajo 19 15 11 9 8 8 7 6 5 3
I thought afrikaans is like a dialect of dutch(?)

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Nierls 10 8 3 2
It's a pidgin language derived from mainly Dutch but also several other languages like Malay, Portuguese and tribal languages.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

almusinsajo 19 15 11 9 8 8 7 6 5 3 oh, i didn't know! Thanks! And i didn't expect it had a portuguese part

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Lahure 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 13 12 12 10 1134
I am a native Afrikaans speaker - the language evolved purely from Dutch.

2ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Lahure 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 13 12 12 10 1134
To SenorDustin. Go <http://www.easyafrikaans.com>

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SenorDustin 25 25 9 8 7 4 20
Thanks Lahure, I have recently checked that course out due to another one of your posts. I haven't been able to find a lot of good websites, but if you ever make an official post here are my finest finds (most of which I can't take credit for finding):

<http://www.openlanguages.net/afrikaans>

<https://www.mondlylanguages.com/>

<http://www.memrise.com/courses/english/afrikaans/>

<http://www.easyafrikaans.com/>

<http://www.pronunciator.com/window2.php> (from some libraries)

<http://www.surfacelanguages.com/language/Afrikaans>

As good as all of these resources are, I still would love for Duolingo to jump on board. This course could be out of the incubator in a couple months.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Eleonora188 14 6

That would be awesome!!! I would so do that course! long live krimpvarkie!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

dinnernugget 23 23 22 20 19 12 9 101

One more thing! Some of the vocab and grammar concepts only really get used in the lessons they're introduced in. Probably the main example is 'Feelings' - so many really useful that never get repeated later on in the course.

Anyway, just keep in mind that it'd be great to have an even distribution of words throughout the tree, so they're not only found in one or two lessons!

36ReplyGive Lingot4•1 year ago

JokaKalisvaart 16 14 11 6 4 530

I'm a Dutch native speaker and Dutch-language teacher. I recently tried the Dutch tree to see what it looks like and here are my suggestions for improvement.

In my experience, many students of Dutch especially struggle with word order, and I think this is underrepresented in the current tree. So maybe you can: - Break up the conjunction skill in several parts, separating coordinating and subordinating conjunction. Subordinating clauses are by far the hardest part of grammar, and even my very advanced students keep making many mistakes here. Maybe you can make separate lessons to drill the conjunctions 'omdat', 'dat', 'als' and 'toen', because these are the most important ones. And a lesson to contrast 'want' and 'omdat' (same meaning, different grammar). - Add more information about inversion (first verb/subject swap). This is the other very important rule about Dutch word order and I think it's only mentioned in relation to questions and very slightly in the conjunction skill. But it's also very important if you want to start your sentences with time or place phrases or with words like 'eerst'. I can imagine it's hard to implement this, because you can't force people to start a sentence with a time phrase, but it's an important thing to know about.

Other things: - Use of unstressed pronouns wherever possible. Many sentences sound VERY unnatural with all these jij's and jouw's. - Maybe decrease the size of some huge vocab skills, because I think they are very hard to learn and contain a lot of unnecessarily complex words.

Keep up the good work. It's great to know that you are working on Dutch 2.0!

28ReplyGive Lingot11•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Thanks a lot for the feedback, Joke! Those are all great suggestions and many of them are already planned. Some things, like skills focusing on word order, are indeed hard to implement, since Duolingo wasn't really designed for that. We've been discussing how to make an inversion skill, but haven't come up with a good enough solution yet.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JokaKalisvaart 16 14 11 6 4 530

Thanks for the quick answer. I saw that your post was already two months old, so I was afraid my comments would be too late to matter. I think other have great ideas for extra vocab, so I only focus on grammar here.

As for inversion, you're right, that's really hard to implement. I can't think of a good solution either, other than something like "in this skill, we want you to start with..." but that's very unusual and pretty impossible in the app where you can't read the tips (that's something that should change too! but not a Dutch problem). I guess it's not possible to have translation exercises where the first word is already given?

I think subclause order is easier, as all sentences with omdat or als, or Ik denk dat/ik vind dat/ik hoop dat automatically force you to use this order. I think it's good to stress in the hintstips that in these cases ALL VERBS go to the end (but the first one should still be conjugated for the subject at the beginning of the clause) and also give an example with two verbs.

Furthermore, I think the skills on modal verbs and gaan+inf. are good ones to point out the fact that the second verb in the sentence goes to the end. I also think it would be good to have the modal verbs skill (and maybe also the basic numbers) higher up in the tree.

And yeah, the Dutch TTS sounds like Queen Beatrix with a severe cold...

Edit: And nobody ever says 'You look like a poffertje'. Duo has a lot of weird sentences, but the last two skills have too many, if you ask me.... :p

6ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

lucasbrusa 16 5

"jij speelde als een poffertje zonder suiker" is hilarious :D and I have been trying to add it to my Dutch conversations :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JokaKalisvaart 16 14 11 6 4 530

You're probably aware of this, but I recently got an exercise where I had to put the words of the translation in the right order, where the first word was already given. I never saw that before. That might be an interesting type of exercise for practicing inversion. Provided that you can choose the kind of exercises that are used in a certain skill, of course. I have no idea how much influence you have on these kind of things.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Great, I didn't know that! Unfortunately we cannot pick those kind of exercises by hand, the mysterious algorithm does all of that. It would indeed be very nice for Inversion practice.

Right now our solution is to have two parallel skills, one lesson each, that contain the same sentences with a different word order. We will have some people alpha-test it before we launch the new tree, to see if it works.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JokaKalisvaart 16 14 11 6 4 530

That's probably the best solution right now... Great to know that you are including inversion!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Marius 23 22 8 4

Your observations are spot on! As someone who doesn't speak Dutch natively, the word order is a bit tricky, especially at the end of the tree. I had to read other materials before fully understanding what's going on. The difference between the first half and the last half of the tree is quite huge when it comes to word ordering.

Also, the audio part needs a change. At the end of the tree it loses its clarity.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

We've been trying to get better audio for well over a year now, but the tech guys are not very cooperative on this front.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AngelaBowe1 25 94

Are you a Dutch native speaker or a native Dutch speaker? Word order is confusing in all languages.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

jcarlosmjr 25 19 12 12 12 3

Maybe a lesson regarding separable words could be very helpful. I had quite the trouble until I figured out how words like "waarvoor" and "waarin" worked.

26ReplyGive Lingot6•1 year ago

DavidRober898124 19 5

Separable verbs are the curse of learning Dutch. You can hear one part and by the time its partner arrives part one is forgotten! There is a case for providing a different section solely to tackle this.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

agl.learning 20 16

I'd like to see more daily life vocabulary. Vocabulary that perhaps a recent immigrant would find immediately useful; finding a dwelling, things about the dwelling, using public transport, finding a job, things about the job, shopping, etc...

22ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Volkewin 22 19 19 18 17 17 15 14 5 563

I'm only halfway up the tree, but I would suggest breaking down some sentences (like counting 11-20) into smaller ones.

17ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

That's added to our to-do list! :)

9ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

SenorDustin 25 25 9 8 7 4 20

Yes the paragraph exercises are killers when I'm doing timed practice. Breaking them down would be great.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

The longer sentences could be added in bonus lessons or move down the tree to the more advanced levels. But longer sentences are fun. Like this one: "Eindelijk stopte Jasper Cillessen vrijdag in de oefeninterland tegen Wales eens een strafschop, maar de doelman van Oranje kon daar amper van genieten. "

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheSnark 18 18 16 11 7 6 3

Sure, but these sentences ruin time practice.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheQueenZerelda 7 7 7 6 6 3

screams internally for several minutes unhelpfully adds Yeah! Whoo! WHooo!!!

16ReplyGive Lingot4•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

Whoo! Hooo!'s are never unhelpful! Your contribution is greatly appreciated.

13ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheQueenZerelda 7 7 7 6 6 3

Ha ha, glad to hear it!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ori_ka 16 14 11 9 8 5 5 4

I am not even halfway through my tree, so the only really frustrating thing is the Numbers skills with those super long sentences "twenty five is more than twenty four and twenty four is less than twenty seven and twenty seven is more than twenty two". :) Really boring to write them and really frustrating to get it wrong due to omitting some important letters. :) Otherwise I am truly in love with your tree - it is perfectly structured, the sentences are interesting, the skill's material is well covered the lessons. The sentences are not too easy what I find to be a rare thing on Duolingo, I hope you keep it this way. German tree which I was a bit more than a half through was too simplified and now, after the update, this first half has become totally tasteless. I tried to go through and make it gold again but writing "He says no" and "She says no" ten times in a row made me just delete the whole German course and add it again taking the placement test. Considering how really difficult the German sentences are in "real life" making the course so easy for at least half the tree is a time waste for the students. Just my opinion, but I really hope that Dutch won't make the same. Also making the skills shorter must be taken carefully. While it might be useful for skills with 10 lessons, don't make all of them just 1-3 lessons long, it makes the tree too long for no reason. Good luck to you with your work! Hope a truly awesome Dutch tree will become even better! :)

15ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

The Numbers skills

I understand that this skill can be quite... frustrating. ;) We'll try to make that skill more attractive with new sentences!

Also making the skills shorter must be taken carefully. While it might be useful for skills with 10 lessons, don't make all of them just 1-3 lessons long, it makes the tree too long for no reason.

Don't worry, the longest skills will have 6 lessons. :)

Hope a truly awesome Dutch tree will become even better!

We'll try! :D

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

You might consider doing simple math skills, requiring us to answer. Gerti has 23 ducks. She gives Freek 18 ducks. How many ducks does Gerti have now?

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mmgery 19 10 7

Yes! This is a very good idea. I've been thinking about this for a while--also maybe some math vocabulary beyond the numbers, like plus and minus, etc.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JeffHK 24 19 11 10 6 3 2

Agree that the numbers unit is somewhat tedious- the long lists of numbers is especially so!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

iwc2ufan 25 25 23 21 19 17 17 17 15 14 13 10 10 9 9 9 8 7 7 5 9 4 6

Yes, no more long lists of anything actually. They really hamper doing speed drills, which is my favorite way to review.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

lostneedle 12

I may try to hold off on numbers until they have finished then, frustrating is not fun.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SirFurboy 25 22 22 20 20 12 6 3 6 20

One thing that the French tree did that you don't have in the Dutch tree (at least not as far as I have gone with it) is tests where you are asked to select ALL correct answers and more than one is right. There are two types of sentence where this could happen. You could have a formal and informal solution, and you could have a singular and plural solution when translating from English "you".

15ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Katzenperson 15 10 9 9 8 7 5 5 4 4 3 9

I agree! This would be very useful to have.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

degua 15 9 6 5 2

Really looking forward to the new tree. Do you know approximately how long it will take? I want to redo my tree but I'm not sure if it makes sense to start now or to wait it out.

Anyway, the skills I had trouble with were conjunctions, adjectives (for some reason I couldn't and still can't remember them all), te + inf., reflexives, and education. Anything above 5 or 6 lessons is too long of a skill in my opinion. As for new lessons, I think Dutch has a unique position in that it's spoken over a small geographical area, so this tree really has the ability to also teach parts of Dutch culture and issues. I'd love to see some skills for migration, the environment, bikes (as someone mentioned), Eurovision (Nederland, twaalf punten!), Flemish, etc.

12ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JohnGalt2001 13 4 4

Yes, I go to Belgium regularly so Flemish bonus skills would be very nice.

17ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

castironowl 16 12 12 9 9 616

I would also be interested in Flemish bonus skills, as Belgian relatives are the reason I'm learning Dutch in the first place.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pam270596 7

Yes, I agree. This would be a great addition.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BenBenBenBe 22 6 2

maybe something on modal particles?

<http://www.dutchgrammar.com/forum/viewforum.php?f=41>

10ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

We've discussed this, but in the end we decided that Duolingo is not the right platform to learn these. For most modal particles, it's really impossible to properly convey the meaning without explanation, intonation or context.

10ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Can we have an economy lesson or a few, with words like: Economie - economy Verdienen - earn / make Betaalwijze - payment method Consument - consumer online aankopen - online purchases werkloosheid - unemployment brouwer - brewer groei - growth Staking - strike banen schrappen - cut jobs Moederbedrijf - Owner Autoriteit Consument & Markt (ACM) - bewuster gaan kiezen - De toezichthouder is een campagne gestart om het bewustzijn te vergroten. (De toezichthouder = ) Twee miljoen mensen hebben inbox op MijnOverheid (inbox op MijnOverheid = ) Daarmee kan onder meer met de Belastingdienst worden gecorrespondeerd. (onder meer = ) ... en de allerlaatste blauwe envelop bij de fiscus de deur uitgaat. (de allerlaatste = the very last) (blauwe envelop = blue envelope) (fiscus = tax authority) De prijs is daarbij de belangrijkste drijfveer. (drijfveer = Motivator) (daarbij = ) * De ACM heeft naar eigen zeggen de afgelopen tijd veel aandacht besteed aan een goede informatievoorziening (naar eigen zeggen = ), (de afgelopen tijd = ) (een goede informatievoorziening = )

10ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SwagDutchy 13 6 5

Would it be possible to add specific bonus skills like Idioms Phrases, but also incredibly specific things like Car Parts, Internet Slang, Incredibly Long Words (As a bit of a goof!), and maybe even some.. Swear Words?

10ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Skills that won't appear as part of the tree, unless we chose to go down that path. Or it could be a side trip to read an essay about something and answer questions.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ppelk 19 16 13 13 278

I would like to see a bit more drills with verbs for the past tense(s). Adjectives are also really important, can't have too much of them. On the other hand, I don't think you need two 'NL' skills - one would be enough. I bit of humour here and there is good, but 1-2 duck jokes is enough for me :-)

9ReplyGive Lingot11•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Ziektes

Menselijk lichaam

kruisband, meniscus, heup, navelstreng, nageboorte, sperma, bloed, spuug, slijm, tranen.

Analyse / kwaal (wat scheelt eraan)

Lichamelijk.

zwak, ziek, misselijk, moe, pijn, gevoelig, koorts, rillerig, slaperig, geeuwen, overgeven, flauwvallen, struikelen, verkoudheid, rokershoestje, spierpijn, (sport)blesure, schaafwond, hoofdpijn, bloeditstorting, blauwe plek, snijwond, breuk, breken, gebroken, gekneusd, uit de kom, diaree, hersenbloeding, beroerte, TIA, hart ritme storing, hartaanval, hartstilstand,

Geestelijk Humeurig, huilerig, overspannen, burn-out, psychisch (depressie, angsten, fobiën, ADHD, autisme, aggressief, passief), kanker, (borstkanker, maagkanker, longkanker)

TBC, de pest, Aids,

hartaanval,

stabiliseren, kijkoperatie, eerste hulp

sterfhulpbegeleiding, euthanasie. Abortus, menstruatie, vrouwenkwaaltje, ouderdomsgebreken, bijziend, verziend. alcoholisme,

Bestrijding stretchen, warming-up, cooling down, preventie, correctie, laxatie, bye-pass operatie, ziekenhuis, nabehandeling, straling, chemokuur, rolstoel, hart-longmachine, kunstmatige beademing, rolstoel, looprek, verband

Medicijnen Placebo, pijnstillers, kalmeringsmiddelen, zetpil, oraal, anaal, infuus

Mee leren leven, Fysiotherapie

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

YCW0 17 14 13 10 9 9 6 4

I would like to see some of the "practice saying it" exercises on the Mobile version. All of the other courses I am doing have that, but I haven't seen it a single time in the Dutch course. Not that it's all that valuable, as Duolingo can't really tell if you're saying it correctly or not. It's nice for the variety, though.

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

That's unfortunately something we can't change.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MickeytheGreat 20 18 18 16 14 14 12 11 10 5 5 2 2

Aw you can't change it? I don't even think we need speech recognition, the main thing I would want is to have an exercise where I speak it and it just marks me right, if that makes sense. I want to be reminded to speak ;)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Timo82168 12

I simply try to repeat every dutch sentence that gets thrown at me in practice

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

welleg 10

I need to start doing that more. Irish is the only one of my languages I do that with regularly because I wouldn't remember how to pronounce anything otherwise with that crazy alphabet.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sigmacharding 18 17 15 15 14 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 4 4 2

Tree rearrangement as with the German tree.

Limit skill length to 6 skills- splitting longer skills and hence learned the verb tenses sooner.

It would be great if each lesson could have a vocabulary and grammar point (Esperanto does this a little- very useful)

8ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Limit skill length to 6 skills

Planned! :)

It would be great if each lesson could have a vocabulary and grammar point (Esperanto does this a little- very useful)

This could be very confusing for some learners, so I'll ask the others about it :)

3ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

HappyEvilSlosh 25 23 22 20 13 11 10 9 8 7 4 2 2

Limit skill length to 6 skills

Planned! :)

Awesome. That was the suggestion I came here to make too.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Neptunium 16 12 11 7 6 6 4 3 3

I haven't completed the tree yet. I hope you don't mind if I make a few comparisons with the German tree because a) it's the only tree I've completed and b) grammatically, it's pretty similar to Dutch.

It'd be great to have more verbs in various tenses. One problem I've had with the German tree is that you learn a lot of verbs throughout the tree in the present tense, but you only learn a small selection of them in the various other tenses.

This lesson really should be split into at least three: <https://www.duolingo.com/skill/dn/Te-%2B-infinite-verbs>

A lot of new topics are introduced in that lesson with little or no explanation in the Tips and Notes e.g. the use of "om", the difference between "hangen", "liggen", "lopen", "staan" and "zitten" in the continuous, what exactly a 'verbable' and how it is formed (this is especially frustrating - it so so different from English and the translations are paraphrased so differently that it's extremely difficult to figure out how it works) etc. Since I haven't completed the tree yet I cannot be sure that this hasn't already been done, but it would also be helpful if those sentence structures were spread elsewhere throughout the tree - they're so different to anything in English that they require a lot of practice.

Does Dutch have anything like the special subjunctive? Even after the revision, the German tree only teaches the general subjunctive, and doesn't mention the special subjunctive at all.

One thing I noticed from reading the English-for-Dutch-speakers-course forums, a lot of people complained that either a) Duolingo's sentence didn't sound 'native' Dutch, or b) their sentence (which they believed to be the most natural) wasn't accepted, to which someone replied that their sentence was a dialect. Would it be possible to have a mention of "In some dialects, ___ is also used; although it's considered substandard" in the notes? Even if you only plan to speak standard Dutch, knowing the substandard variants and knowing exactly how widespread or accepted they are is still extremely useful information.

Thanks for all the hard work! I may be moving to the Netherlands very soon, so I'll have to try to finish the tree before you update it!

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

I am a dutch native speaker. Actually there are not so many dutch local languages (dialects) , with their own words, but some dutch sentences in this course are very strange, i agree. I suspect that they are either written by a computer or by a non-native dutch speaker. But talking about dutch dialects, lately i worked in Belgium and i noticed that there, in the flemish dialect, the word order is often surprising to me. In Belgium, they also have a few words that are typical flemish, so a lesson or two with typical flemish things / sentences, is appreciated

10ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

It'd be great to have more verbs in various tenses

I agree!

Te

We know the te skill is a hard one, we'll try to improve that one.

Subjunctive

There was a subjunctive form in the Dutch language, but now it is only used in some set phrases. It's not as important as in other languages.

Dialect

The non-accepted translations are mostly Flemish, and we're working on that too :)

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

legalskier 16 8 3 19

I may be very late to the game here, but it would be helpful to have a lesson(s) exclusively on idioms - primarily so I can know the difference between a saying, and a weird duolingo sentence (e.g. opa is een schaap).

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jrider99 15 9 9 7 7 6 5

Maybe a bonus skill for Flemish? I know the course says (Netherlands), but it might be cool to have a little bonus skill for Flemish

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

silverthornfire 20 19 18 16 15 10 9 9 8 8 2 977

That is only for the android version apparently. They fixed this on the PC several months ago and also on the iphone version. I had an update for android today but still it's not fixed. sigh.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mateus_Sann 15 15 14 11 9 7 7

Agree on that! We could have at least a lesson showing the most common misunderstood expressions.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BartiBar 20 14 8 8 5 4 3

Heel veel succes met uw nieuwe boom versie! Ik wacht op het! =D

5ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

SvenDK 23 16 6 4

Ik kijk er naar uit.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Dank u! Wij wachten ook op jullie boom, die zal echt geweldig zijn! =D

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lostneedle 12

Hmm, not sure if this would change the distribution of nl to en exercises but a little less point to the picture bits and a little more having to write words in dutch both from written and spoken form, some of them are a bit unbalanced with certain words, I still haven't learned breakfast :/

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

silverthornfire 20 19 18 16 15 10 9 9 8 8 2 977

I also see 'aan de hand' a lot in subtitles on TV and haven't come across it at all on Duo yet. It means 'What's the matter?' Seems to be quite a useful sentence to know...??

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LuffyKappa 10 8 7 5 3 2

It means: What's going on or What's the matter. Most dutch say it this way: Wat is er aan de hand ?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

silverthornfire 20 19 18 16 15 10 9 9 8 8 2 977

Yes, but what I'm saying is that it's not been in the course as yet.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Wh1skers 17

Ooh, new voice? Sweet. Looking forward to hearing it. :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

That something that is not linked to the Tree 2.0 and is something we're also desperately waiting for. Apparently we're in the queue for getting a new voice, but I expect this to take a while.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Wh1skers 17

That's alright, it's nice to know that it's somewhere on the horizon at least. :D The current voice is mostly ok, though there have been a few sentences / words where it's been very difficult (or even impossible) to tell for sure what was being said.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

And there are some more annoying things, for instance the odd accent of the voice (there are way more natural text to speech voices around, such as our candidate to replace the current one). Also with the current voice it's often hard to hear the difference between the marked and unmarked pronouns (e.g. je vs. jij) which is not really the case with human speakers. In Duolingo this last thing is not so crucial, but in everyday life it is (in general emphasis is more important to determine what people actually mean, compared to Duolingo). So it's better to prepare Duolinguists with being able to properly recognise the difference between the two.

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Wh1skers 17

Yeah, that makes sense - I have noticed that a lot of the time it's impossible to tell whether the voice is saying 'je' or 'jij' in normal speed, and only becomes noticeable in slow speed.

Oh well. You guys can only do what you can do. You're doing a great job so far anyway - I've had access to Rosetta Stone's course on Dutch before and can honestly say I've found this course to be much better. :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nikanokoi 14 9 8 7 7 6 2

And listening to the duo voice I had no idea the -en endings and most of the "e" and "ij" in unstressed syllables are pronounced like [ə]. I'd be so happy if that is possible to fix.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sheeniejay 19

I agree. Last night, and on other occasions, I've found it really hard to work out what the voice is saying - nothing to do with not knowing the word or knowing how it's pronounced, simply the result of an automated voice making the word stilted or unclear. A real voice would solve this.

0Give Lingot1•1 year ago

Ggcfromgermany 23 23 20 20 18 290

It would be very nice if you could add the fluency percentage like for Spanish, French and German. Those help to motivate me!

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

HoneyBadger1016 10 6 5

Wow, is it like Update-A-Duolingo-Tree day? Irish also got updated!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

(Maybe we got ours three days ago and we didn't find any time to make this post ;) )

13ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

(Maybe Irish also got updated three days ago and Alex posted it in the Irish FB group but Alex forgot to post it in the forums and now Alex is questioning his use of the third person when referring to himself :P Sorry for the late updates everyone!)

20ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

AlexinNotTurkey 18 18 15 14 14 13 13 12 11 10 8 7 7 6 5 4 3 64

Unless you are talking about me, in which case it is fine, Alex :D

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

HoneyBadger1016 10 6 5

:D

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Zmrzlina 14 13 12 10 4

And us Swedes got it too. Seems like Duolingo readied several courses for 2.0 at once. :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rederu 25 15 14 14 12 9 7 6 6 5 4 3

maybe more casual and more tips and notes

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

What exactly do you mean with "more casual"?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rederu 25 15 14 14 12 9 7 6 6 5 4 3

I mean "more colloquial words" and more realistic sentences. I'm sorry :)

8ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

WordFitlySpoken 16 9 8 6 6 4 2

Hmmm...the modals? (I think that's what they're called anyway, the "toch," "wel" and all that) I don't know if you could do that, but it'd be super helpful.

More word order exercises would be awesome, too. I don't know if there's a way you could do a specific word order skill, towards the end of the tree, with just a focus on arranging all those words we've learned, but that'd be cool.

I may think of more ideas soon...but thanks so much!

EDIT: I just noticed above about the modals. Sorry.

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

WordFitlySpoken 16 9 8 6 6 4 2

Okay, looking over the tree and trying to remember what I found difficult and etc.:

The education skill gave me the most trouble. So many big words I just could not seem to remember, and so many lessons in the skill, too...maybe breaking this up a bit?

Objects and government were other ones that were really long with a lot of new nouns to remember.

The "te + infinitive" section with all the "hij loopt te zingen" and when to use or not use "om te ____" and etc. was really confusing to me as well.

The "er" skill was hard to understand as well, but I don't know that you guys could really make it any clearer, haha. I actually just went back to review it this week and fairly flew through the timed practice--and all that "muscular comfort" with it was just from reading a lot of Dutch.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

Thanks, very useful feedback. The education skill is a known problematic skill, it's on our to-do list to improve it. And regarding er that will always be a pain point for anyone learning Dutch, but we can definitely put some extra effort in that skill, see if we can find a way to make it just a bit less hard.

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dinnernugget 23 23 22 20 19 12 9 101

WOOO!! And two things!

One: I think the course would benefit from more "around the house" things and a better overview/more usage of the "er" words (erin, hierdoor, etc). Both are really important to know, and especially the latter kind of gets lost in the noise.

And two: For what it's worth, the Dutch course has the best TTS out of the courses I've used! Never had issues understanding anything despite zero real prior experience with the language. I have no problems with a new one if it's good, but make sure it's worth it to swap - the current one has been nothing but great for me!

Tot de nieuwe Nederlandse boom!

EDIT: While I'm here might as well add this. No idea why this happens, but my Dutch "badge" on comments always displays a level three levels lower than what it actually is. Any reason why?

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

"Around the house" things

Several new "Around the house" things are coming!

"er"

We are trying to revamp the er skill, the Pronominal Adverbs (erin, hierdoor, etc.) included.

TTS

The current TTS is understandable, but there are many mistakes that should not be made. :)

Dutch "badge"

That's something we can't change, it has been so since the course was released. :/

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dinnernugget 23 23 22 20 19 12 9 101

Thank you for the update! Looking forward to Dutch 2.0...hopefully in enough time that I can finish Russian first though.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Olga451165 17 14 11 4

Lieve hulp!!!! Dios mio!!! Is it Christmas or my birthday??? Because this is what i've been hoping for!!! Yes! New tree!! Not that i don't love the current one.. But I'm almost done and i want to learn more on duo!! So yes COULD NOT BE HAPPIER!!

I'll think about what i can suggest more tomorrow, but at the top of my head, the thing that is most missing for me (unless its in the last 2 skills that i haven't reached yet) is some slang, phrases that don't make sense unless a native explains them (like "laat maar" ="let but " some how means "never mind", maybe a whole skill for the word " maar" lol) AND most I'm missing a skill for all those magical words that have no meaning on their own but i seem to see them everywhere (like: toch, wel,nou,mee,even,hoor) i might be able to understand sometimes that they stress something.. But no idea when and where to use them on my own.

4ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Olga451165 17 14 11 4

Ok, I looked at the current tree and here's where I had difficulties-

Skill "Feelings". In my opinion this should have been in one of the first 10 skills. I didnt know how to say " happy" for few months until i got to it. I was looking the most to getting to that skill, and when i did it was kinda too late, i learned so many words that it was hard to remember the words in that skill.. They all sounded kinda the same to me and didn't stand out enough to be easily memorable.. So i still don't remember 70% of that skill. If it was one of the firsts i think it'd have been easier to remmember.

The "conjunctions" skill - it is super important and i think it should be bigger and more focus on the word order, some words trigger order change, some don't..

More verbs please in present and past.. I just stambled upon the word "deed" and didn't know it.. And it's kinda basic.

Skill for breakable verbs. Sometimes when reading text and coming across such case it's hard to translate that sentence because it's hard to guess that 2 words make 1 word. For exmple " hou je je vast aan me" i couldn't figure out how all these words cone together until Charlotte told me it's from "vasthouden"

And finally, this is a long shot, but i wish there were some kind of random skill/test where you get random sentences from all the skills you passed. Some people said the have it in "strenght skills" but from my personal experience it just plays the first skill that isn't gold, so maybe there is an option to add such a thing.

And maybe a super fun skill of "het of de" muhaha

Super greatful for your effort!!! It means the world!

8ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

MoRBmM 14 11 7 3

First of all thanks for the great work and effort so far, it really made me enjoy my first steps.

My wishes for the course might be centered around my reason for starting to learn the language, going on holiday to the Netherlands, but I think the following skills would be very helpful and interesting:

Smalltalk, really just some phrases bundled like, "I'm from x/Y years old. Pleased to met you..."

Shopping "How much is this.", "Do you have Z.", names of shops and products

Restaurant, just the proper phrases to ask politely for food, drinks, opening times or the bathroom.

Transport that evolves a bit more around phrases for buying tickets, switching transport, timetables.

More vocab around food and cooking.

I've been able to extract most of the information during the course, but it sometimes was a bit frustrating, since I found them very far down the tree and had to "extract" them without having the chance to train it in context.

Also often I was left wondering if it would really be the proper and polite way to phrase it.

When I finally went to the Netherlands I really enjoyed being able to understand many things, but also quite lost regarding my basic touristy needs and general conversation.

Luckily the Dutch were very nice and most of the time happily communicated in English and German. I just wish I wouldn't have to rely on it so much.

Mo

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

azevedof 20 13 10 10 10

I think Tree 2.0 should have a unit to distinguish words in single vowel and words in double vowel. It is hard to identify and learn how to pronounce properly if we don't learn these kind of words side by side. Words like: man/maan, zon/zoon, mand/maand...etc

4ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Kumatangz 13 10 8 8 7 7 6 6 6 5 5 4 4 3

More ducks and more diverse skills.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Een les over de tuin, met woorden als:

Tuinieren Grasmaaien, bloembollen planten, bladeren opruimen, snoeien, overplanten, bijknippen,

Overige activiteiten zonnen, luieren, barbequeen, kampvuur, kamperen,

Tuinmeubilair hekwerk, plantenbak, zandbak, borders, composthoop, vijver, schommel, klimrek, glijbaan, paardenbak, tuinkabouter, frutsels, parasol, tuinhuisje, schep, laarzen, snoeimes

Planten in de tuin Onkruid, planten, struiken, bomen, gras, onkruid, mos, kastanjeboom, perenboom, bloembollen, voorjaarsplanten, winterharde planten, heg, varens, rozen, dorens, klimplanten, brandnetels, paardenbloemen, zonnebloemen, boterbloemen, madeliefjes, vergeetmenietjes, kamperfoelie, takken, bladeren

Dieren in de tuin: ongedierte, wormen, insecten, bijen, wespen, muggen, vliegen, spinnen, wespennest, sprinkhaan, lieveheerstbeestje,

Zoogdieren eekhoorn, muizen, ratten, mol, molshoop, steenmarter, boommarter, konijn, geit, schaap, paard, pony, lama, hamster vogels in de tuin, ekster, roofvogel, zangvogel, roodborstje, vink, lijster, merel, spreeuw, (huis)mus, meeuw, reiger, ooievaar, kraai

Vijver karper, witvissen, baars, paling, kikker, salamander

Overige woorden hekwerk, slachten, voer, tuinman, mest, lawaaioverlast, burenruzie, zonlicht, schaduw, vochtig, nat, kleuren en geuren,

3ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

tastysquidgey 18 8 5

Can I just ask why you can't add a words tab? Is it really long to do or something?

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kai_E. 25 23 20 12 4 3

The volunteers who work on the content (words, lessons, skills) in courses created in the Incubator are not developers for Duolingo and do not and cannot work on website features.

This includes the words tab, immersion, creating new types of exercises, etc. We also have nothing to do with adding new languages to the Incubator (we can suggest them ourselves, but in the end it's up to Duolingo).

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Db243 21 9 9 20

Maybe a moderator can tell us what the organizational hierarchy is and how it works? Simius alludes to this a bit, but only mentions moderators and Duolingo and the engineers.

Who is at the top, their responsibilities and so on and so forth? Are volunteers also moderators? I have been confused by comments in this thread as to what can be done by who and what can not be done.

I see in the OP's comment there is a new voice coming, I have also read this is not so in a comment in another thread.

I still see no difference in my Dutch Tree either, is there a date for this change?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kai_E. 25 23 20 12 4 3

I don't know too much about the internal hierarchy at Duolingo, just that there are multiple teams working on different aspects of it. For example, there's an Incubator team, a web app team, a mobile app team, community team and a few more I think.

I believe there are only three staff members working on the Incubator developer team? In any case, this means that they don't have the capacity to do everything that gets requested in addition to maintaining and improving the Incubator.

Then there are Incubator and forum moderator volunteers. The Incubator volunteers all applied to be either contributors or course moderators. Course contributors help out with maintaining or building a course, that's it. Course moderators do the same and are kind of the team leaders for the course, but it's nothing strict. They can invite new contributors and make certain changes to the courses that regular contributors cannot.

The forum moderators are also volunteers as I said above. They work towards maintaining a positive atmosphere in the general Duolingo community by keeping the forums on topic and free of anything that goes against the community guidelines.

Note that all contributors are also forum moderators in their respective forums. This post is in the Dutch forum, so all of us Dutch course contributors have the green moderator badges.

Regarding the new voice: a new voice is somewhere down the line. We have no guarantees as to when it will be implemented. It might be before the new tree is released, or it might be after. That's up to the people I mentioned in the second paragraph.

The new Dutch tree is being worked on. I would give it at least three or four months before it's released in an A/B test.

Hope my explanation was helpful! :)

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Db243 21 9 9 20

Thanks for the reply, I understand now that the 2.0 Tree is a work in progress and not ready now(the OP got my hopes up), pity about the voice coming later than sooner ;-{

Being an IT guy myself, I understand the logistics of a project like this, but was wondering more about the decision making process/hierarchy.

Again, thanks for the explanation!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Also, in the About page, you can see all of the Duolingo staff.

As course contributors, we are only in direct contact with the community team, and with the incubator team. It's very hard for us to get in touch with the people who, for example, work on the website or on the mobile apps. That means that a lot of the time, we know as little as anyone else about upcoming changes or the internal decision-making process of Duolingo.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

tastysquidgey 18 8 5

Okay, thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EmmanuelBouh 24 15 12 11 7 6 4 2 2 862

I've actually only started the course today, so I don't know what bonus skills are there (or if there are bonus skills at all), but I would love a Christmas bonus skill!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Science_Yay 9

There aren't any so far

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Oudemans 24 17 1

Thank you so much for filling up every spare minute of my day. When you say "We cannot change the distribution of (NL-EN) exercises" Does that mean you are not able to put a question out there (in Dutch) with a multiple choice answer(in Dutch)? I mean, maybe after the last check point or something. Every once in a while. You could ask a question written in Dutch and we would have to choose an answer written in Dutch. Something simple like "Welke kleuren staan op de Nederlandse vlag?" or something. I don't know. It might help train the brain to think in Dutch a little more instead of just translating all the time.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

El2theK 25 18 11 11 10 7 5 4 3

It means that we as moderators have no influence on what exercises you get. We only take care of the sentences and their translations, as well as some support on the forum.

So for example, if you get 10 exercises we have no control how many of those are listening, translate to English, translate to Dutch, speaking, multiple choice.

I like your idea of answering questions. However, that again is not something we as moderators have any control over.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

filipferdi 12 10 7

Hoi! greeting from Indonesia (also known as Nederlands-Indie LOL). i'm a new user for the dutch course. I find it very useful. I hope there will be more words covered. 3000 words in the future maybe?

I want to suggest skills, cultural things about Indos (since there are a lot of Indos there) such as rijstafel, etc. Everyday objects like windshield, etc., Shopping, Emergency situations, Swearing , Cooking Transportation, Academics,

I want to thank the team for this great course. In the future i expect to speak dutch with my old relatives who in fact still speaks Dutch here!

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Taxes, words related to taxes. Lots of english speaking people here are expats who have to pay dutch taxes. The dutch "Belastingdienst" uses formal language, but they try to make it as easy as possible (gemakkelijker kunnen we het niet maken). But the call center they use (de belastingtelefoon) only speaks dutch. So to be able to understand these tax people some dutch words are needed. Words like: kosten, opbrengsten, aftrekposten, belastinginspecteur, BTW, vrijstellingen, vermogen, kinderbijslag, alimentatie, kilometerkostenvergoeding, bezwaarschrift. etc.

Belastingen. Woorden die je nodig hebt een om Nederlands belastingbiljet te begrijpen en in het Nederlands in te vullen.

Maybe as a bonus skill.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FloortjeNED 9 6 4

Nederlandse spreekwoorden are always a good one to throw in there as a bonus skill

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

That bonus skill is planned, but it will take a while, because the team is currently focussing on tree version 2.0.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

ja, spreekwoorden en uitdrukkingen zoals: na regen komt zonneschijn. Zoete broodjes bakken. Van heinde en verre, op z'n elf en dertigst. Door weer en wind. Zonder slag of stoot, met twee vingers in z'n neus. Iemand een poot uittrekken. Of gewoon voor het lapje houden. Maak dat de kat wijs. Het over een andere boeg gooien, uit een ander vaatje tappen. Vechten tegen de bierkaai.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NickKoop16 19 3 3 211

As its been around a year since the original post, I am just wondering how far away from completion are we? Not heard much in terms of BETA, could be my mistake, or has the Dutch 2.0 been shelved?

Would appreciate an update. Thanks for all your efforts :)

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 months ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Hi Nick, we're pretty close to launching the new tree, probably in a couple of weeks. Then it will first be A/B tested among a random group of users, to see how it measures up to the old version.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

NickKoop16 19 3 3 211

Thanks for the update, I'm looking forward to it!

Good luck with the testing.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ggrefen 13 12 11 10 8 6 2 160

This is good news. I finished the first branch about a week ago, and then met an old friend who is Dutch, but the only thing I could think of to say to him when prompted to show-off what I had learned was "Mijn neushoorn heeft mijn shildpad gegeten"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ryannichols7 17 17 13 11 11 10 9 7 7 5 5 3 3 3 90

nice!!! a new 2.0 tree on duolingo is always an exciting thing

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

ryannichols7 17 17 13 11 11 10 9 7 7 5 5 3 3 3 90

what are the skill/lesson expansion numbers looking like?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

FirstTiger 16 13 13 10 10 10 3

Just about to finish the tree, only thing I still have trouble with is the would/should/could/must verb forms; I think some of the "vocabulary" lessons later in the tree could also review that stuff.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sid-the-squid 11 10 8 6 2 2

Less ambiguous pictures for the match word to picture questions? Some of skirt and dress ones are so similar it's impossible to tell them apart!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nikkesen 19 7 3 3

I see that a few people have suggested everyday vocabulary. It would be good if it was it divided into more specialized sections, such as "house", "outdoors", maybe more tech stuff. More everyday verbs would be awesome too! Thanks for replying to my last suggestion!

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Ikbenmirre 13 8 48

There's going to be a new voice right? I am Dutch myself but I have a friend who is learning Dutch here on Duolingo and I noticed that the audio voice is horrible. What is it going to sound like?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Yes, there will be one eventually. We've asked for Ruben, from IVONA.

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Thomas_More77 25 15 14 11 10 8

Please add Dutch immersion when you can. Thank you! :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sheeniejay 19

Maybe a chapter on tricky Dutch things like 'wel' and verbs with prepositions such as 'smaken naar' 'hopen op' enz I love Duolingo as it helps me to keep going over previously learned knowledge and learn things which traditional teachers didn't tell me. Manageable for the working people like me! Will you expand it to more advanced Dutch - sorry, I'm quite passionate/obsessive about Dutch - it's a tough language but I'm determined to be advanced as soon as I can (ik ben niet geduldig, helaas!). Maybe, a few years in the future, even bilingual???

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

MickeytheGreat 20 18 18 16 14 14 12 11 10 5 5 2 2

I don't think you guys can add this, but I don't know where else I would suggest this. I really think you should bring back the challenges, where you can compete against another person in your language. It was the best thing, and it was a really good way to encourage the friends that you are forcing to learn on Duolingo ;) I think something kind of like the app QuizUp would be amazing.

Thank you!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tomlingner 22 14 5 3 577

I just want to say that I LOVED the Dutch tree, and I have confidence that if the same people are working on the 2.0 tree, it will also be good. I have gone from absolute beginner to knowing how to say many things in Dutch. It's amazing - daily practice helps learning! :)

Also, I did the French tree and found it to be utterly humorless and filled with egregious mistakes. It was horrible. In comparison, the Dutch tree was like an addicting game, and I'm looking forward to learning even more, but a part of me will really miss the growling way the voice on my iPad says "mijn." I will forever hear the word that way in my head, and will probably try to pronounce it that way when next I travel to the Netherlands. Ha!

Thanks for making language learning fun! (And free!)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lahure 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 13 12 12 10 1134

Can you possibly show my Dutch level as being permanently at 25 perhaps? It varies between 24 and 25 very often. Yet I had the owl and well over 30 000 XP. Of all the courses I have done yours has been the most enjoyable by a long way, without doubt! Took a lot of work to get there and am not sure that anybody has done so yet according to Kai's HOF.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

welleg 10

Apologies if this has already been asked, but is there any possibility of adding a fluency score, like the one for French? I feel like in the long run, it would be more helpful than levels. I'm also a math/science person that likes ways of having everything quantified.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SvenDK 23 16 6 4

Iets meer aandacht bij de keuze van woorden om typisch noord Nederlands te vermijden. Geef toe, wat is de kans dat er een Nederlands(Vlaanderen) komt.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Typisch noord-Nederlands is natuurlijk ook fout, gewoon melden zou ik zeggen. En ik heb begrepen dat er meer aandacht besteed gaat worden aan belgisch - vlaams. Welke woorden of uitdrukkingen stel je voor?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SvenDK 23 16 6 4

David, weet je of er plannen zijn voor Nederlands <=> Duits? Kan jij dat op de duolingo incubator agenda laten zetten?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Ik ben er ook sterk voor om een Nederlands - Duitse cursus te maken. Ik leer nu Duits via Engels en daardoor leer ik ook veel Engels natuurlijk, kan ook geen kwaad, maar toch Nederlands - Duits en omgekeerd Duits - Nederlands natuurlijk, maar vooruitlopend daarop kun je wel alvast alle woorden in het Nederlands opnemen die nu al in de cursus "I want to learn German" zitten. Of uit de cursus : Ich will Englisch lernen". Dat zijn vaak veel gebruikte woorden zoals uit de categorie dieren "vlinder, kever, giraf" etc Verder veel gebruikte woorden die je bijvoorbeeld tegen komt op een site als NU.nl <http://www.nu.nl/> Woorden als Doping, vertrouwen, hervormingen, "aan te pakken", Fractieiders, lek, aanhoudingen, hoger beroep, Chronologie, nablussen. Etc. dat zou eentueel in een bonusles "Nieuws" opgenomen kunnen worden. Doel zou moeten zijn dat de cursisten na afloop in staat zouden moeten zijn om eigenlijk alles te kunnen lezen van nu.nl. Voor de hogereniveau's kun je dan kijken bij de Volkskrant. <http://www.volkskrant.nl/> met woorden als: "een voormalig militair" (of zou het voormaligE moeten zijn), nertsen, asielzoeker, eenkindpolitiek, zwager, onethisch handelen, bedrijf, inschakelen, verbouwing, bouwbedrijf, "gang van zaken"

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Hierover weet ik jammer genoeg even weinig als jullie :/

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SenorDustin 25 25 9 8 7 4 20

Great news! I have been awaiting a new announcement on the 2.0 tree. Thanks a ton Dutch team!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JeffHK 24 19 11 10 6 3 2

Can't wait to hear the new voice!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Hi,

I noticed that Belgium and Flanders is almost out of scope in this course and that is a pity because there is so much culture there and they also speak dutch so maybe a few lessons can be made with words related to Belgium.

Ik merk dat dit wel een beetje een Hollands feestje is, met woorden als Waddeneilanden, Overijssel. Misschien zou een les over Belgie / Vlaanderen toegevoegd kunnen worden. Met woorden als:

Vlaanderen, Wallonië, Brussel, Antwerpen, Luik, Bastenaken, Namen, Gent, Hasselt, Charleroi, Brugge, Eerste wereldoorlog, gemeenschappen, taalgrens, begijnhoven, Art Nouveau, Manneke Pis, Zinnen als: * Ook de scheepsliften bij La Louvière zijn werelderfgoed.

Bekende Belgische folklore, zoals de Gilles van Binche, het Ros Beiaard van Dendermonde, de Heilig-Bloedprocessie van Brugge of de Ommegang van reuzen te Antwerpen, trekt ook veel toeristen. Foto's kunnen uit de wikipedia worden toegevoegd, dat is licence free.

Voor meer inspiratie kan hier gekeken worden: <https://nl.wikipedia.org/wiki/Belgi%C3%AB>

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kai_E. 25 23 20 12 4 3

We are already in the process of adding more Belgium related vocabulary.

7ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

GeorgeMaxw3 20 11 9 5 4

Turtles were a big amusement through my earlier experience with the course... they sort of disappeared after a while though... so more turtles too!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Don6740 16 11 11 11 2

Oh, no!!! let's have more useful vocabulary.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Science_Yay 9

Meer schildpadden!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

no100per 16 13 4

meer zinnen, meer zinnen en meer zinnen. It is very annoying when you get the same sentence again and again in a single run. Why does the american always wear white, red and blue but not the spaniard sometimes red and yellow. Just a little more variance would improve (at least my) motivation enourmously.

And further: no more vocabulary since what is there is already enough to understand a sentence structure. When I read dutch text I obviously sometimes miss a single word but thats what dictionaries are for, does not need the course for that. Rather more cross-linking between skills.

One more thing: please make things like wij/we, zij/ze and so on equivalent in the hearing excises, at least under the current voice there is not much audible difference and its just an annoiance to get it wrong although it is not really wrong.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leeohny 13 8

Hi, I love the Dutch tree, it is so much fun! Can't wait for the improvements though :) I agree with most people on adding a little bit more variety in each skill, so to not have to repeat the same sentence again and again. Also, it would be awesome to have to translate mostly from english to dutch to improve writing practice. I feel like most times I'm typing in the english translation. More speaking exercises would also be appreciated! Keep up the great work!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nodkoti 10 10 8

some exercises to differentiate "Het" from "De" would be nice :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

That is vocabulary. You will get more exercises if you make mistakes.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ikbenmirre 13 8 48

The problem with that is there is no rule for that. You simply have to learn the words with the article. So exercise and practise will do the job. I'd also recommend talking to/ chatting with a native speaker.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MickeytheGreat 20 18 18 16 14 14 12 11 10 5 5 2 2

One suggestion: please don't add those matching exercises that French and Spanish have, they aren't helpful. Unless you only did nouns with those ;)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

silverthornfire 20 19 18 16 15 10 9 9 8 8 2 977

These are available with the iphone version of the mobile app in Dutch but not android. I actually find them extremely useful and helpful for learning new vocabulary.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MickeytheGreat 20 18 18 16 14 14 12 11 10 5 5 2 2

I think they would be fine if they were correct. In Spanish, all of the past tense words get matched up with present tense English words! Kind of annoying. Also, it doesn't say who you should conjugate it for.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

silverthornfire 20 19 18 16 15 10 9 9 8 8 2 977

I have pairs with French, Spanish, German, Danish, Italian, Swedish and Turkish. They aren't always nouns, but verbs and adjectives and also phrases too. Not sure what you mean about past tense words matching with present tense English, but could be that I've not reached your level yet.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Stanbeard 14

I've seen comments saying that immersion used to be available in the Dutch course. What happened? Is it done for good or is it just in testing?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CapnLee 20 7

Duolingo have put a hold on Immersion as it exists for other languages and existed in beta for Dutch. It may be reimplemented later with changes at a later point but Duolingo found it wasn't being used in the way that they had hoped.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

It's probably also got some copyright permission issues that make it a pain for Duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LianeBond 12 10

I love the sound of Immersion...really hope it makes a come-back so that I can have a play!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Famous song lyrics could also be great like: Yesterday, all my troubles were so far away. Of "Papa, loop toch niet zo snel"

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Is Mens Durf Te Leven in the common domain yet?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

I really want the new Dutch tree to come out because I really need the new voice. The voice that's on the Dutch tree now is really difficult to understand. When is the new Dutch tree available?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

The new voice is not really related to the new tree, they will probably not come at the same time. We have been asking Duolingo for a new voice for well over a year now, so who know how much longer it is going to take. Last summer they told me "soon", but that doesn't mean much.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DiMo28 18 18 3 106

So just curious why the course doesn't start with the alphabet? How to pronounce the letters and different vowels sounds since they are different from English. I had to get that info from a different site. It just seems an important foundation that is skipped over. Listening to the robot isn't always helpful as many words are hard to understand.

Also to help learn the vocabulary, it would be nice if the vocabulary words and meanings were listed somewhere (maybe in tips and notes area or have it as a mouse over). This would be a good preview to the lesson and to be able to go back and review the words without having going through the lesson again. BTW, I've gone through several lessons that don't use all of the vocabulary words listed for it. That is frustrating as I feel I haven't fully learned that lesson even though I've completed it.

I've found it quite difficult to remember all of the prepositions and conjunctions. There are a ton! I've had to list them out on a piece of paper to sit down and memorize them.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

El2theK 25 18 11 11 10 7 5 4 3

Regarding the alphabet, it is the same in Dutch as in English. Yes there are different sounds in Dutch but in that regard the alphabet wouldn't be sufficient since the sound can depend on a combination of letters.

In my opinion it is hence better to learn as you go. Unless you wanted to start with a massive lesson on short and long a, e, i, o and u, an then also oe, ooi, ui, eu, eeu, ij, ei, ie, eau, etc which only includes vowel sounds.

Also, while perhaps useful, you more than likely still wouldn't be able to pronounce them correctly as it takes a lot of people a long time to get the hang of it since some sounds are so different to what they're used to.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Not to mention that we cannot actually add a lesson that focuses on pronunciation. We have no control over the exercises that are offered, and the majority will always be translation-based.

BTW, I've gone through several lessons that don't use all of the vocabulary words listed for it. That is frustrating as I feel I haven't fully learned that lesson even though I've completed it.

We are reducing the number of new words per lesson, in the new version. Hopefully that will help.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kebabkerry 10 5 4 3 2

I'd kinda like to see past tense come up a little earlier. Maybe a little bonus lesson on some idioms (I know this may not be possible for all of them because translations and stuff) A little flirting skill like they have for some of the other courses on here would be nice ;) I don't know how to describe this, but verbs like voorlezen or aanraken, where they have a preposition. I have struggled a bit with word order when it comes to separating them.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

howk_tomo 25 17 8 8 57

Here's your first Dutch idiom for today, and very current:

"kijken alsof je het in Keulen hoort donderen"

Genootschap onze taal

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nikkesen 19 7 3 3

So, I learned that "dat meen je niet" is close to "you're kidding no", which would be a good type of colloquial expression to learn under idioms more conversational-level language. I'd love to see this as a bonus skill. That and swearing - that way I can get away with it around my monolingual inlaws. Flirting seems kind of "meh".

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Germanger 11 9 9 8 8 6 4 4 1

I vote for flirting but that should work!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AshleighLe3 15 9 8 6 6 5 5 5 2

Bonus skill idea: cheesey jokes, bikes, idioms, birthday/Christmas/local traditions, art & music. But mostly bikes and cheesey jokes.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JeffHK 24 19 11 10 6 3 2

De eenden waren heel opgewonden. I have been very disciplined about not hounding the very busy, very hardworking, very wonderful Dutch team..... but I'm bursting to get news about the 2.0 update. Any developments? Happy Saturday!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Axedrez 7

I know it's somewhat off topic but would it be possible to consider having a Dutch (Belgium) version? The accent and many expressions and words are so different.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JohanVanderbalij 23 22 16 10

When we put the cursor over a word, for example 'salt', instead of just showing us the direct translation 'zout', that would be great to see '(het) zout' so we would easier to learn the proper article for each word. Thank you guys for the great Dutch tree anyway!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 76

I hope it's not too late for a suggestion? I've only just got to the point where I have 4 skills left in the tree and they're all vocabulary focused, so I wanted to take a moment to comment on the grammar skills Gerunds and Relative Pronouns.

I believe these skills need a few more lessons and in the case of the Gerund skill, a Tips Notes section.

Focusing on the Gerunds skill first, I can say that I greatly appreciate that you felt it necessary to have a specific skill for this point of grammar. This is something I wish the German tree had done in their Tree 2.0 update as I've run into a bit of a problem where I'm not quite sure how to construct Gerund Phrases in the language in all cases (this now goes for Dutch as well).

In the simplest case, the Gerund Phrase is being used as a subject. For example: Naar school gaan is soms noodzakelijk. These constructions are more straightforward and are addressed in the skill. However, this is the limit of where the skill goes in terms of complexity of the Gerund Phrase.

In English, at least for me, I tend to use Gerund Phrases a lot and not just as the subject of a clause. Here are a few example sentences demonstrating the complexity I use in everyday speech:

I usually avoid eating food in the classroom.

Would you consider buying a new house?

He denies having ever seen her.

Thanks for helping me with this.

He decided to lose weight by exercising for two hours every day.

Becoming a sponsor is a great alternative to giving us a donation.

Of course even more complex examples can be made, but I wanted to stick to what I would likely say myself in everyday conversation. Here one can see the use of Gerund Phrases as direct objects of transitive verbs (i.e. "I usually avoid eating food in the classroom"), and as objects of prepositions (i.e. "...by exercising for two hours every day.") The Gerund skill does not appear to cover these topics and I cannot say that I would have any idea on how to construct these sentences.

Next up is the Relative Pronouns skill. I don't know if my case was just an odd one, but the lesson was rather short and I never got any sentences that made me use wat or wie as a relative pronoun. I'd really like to see this skill expanded to give more examples of this as well as to go over the different kinds of Relative Clauses that can arise with each relative pronoun as the head and with question words not explicitly defined as relative pronouns as the head.

Lastly, I'd just like to say I really appreciate this course and all the time and effort you guys have put into it. It's easily been my favorite course thus far and I can't wait to see the Tree 2.0 when it comes out. I'm just glad I'll have the chance to finish the tree before then (just a few more days, should finish by this Sunday).

Here's to a great deal more Dutch learning! :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 76

I know you guys are hard at work on this and probably have everything you want already in motion, but I've just thought of one last little thing I'd at least like to mention in the hopes that it at least gets seen.

This is something that won't really be beneficial to all learners, which is why I doubt you'll do it, but still want to give it a shot. As someone who has gone through the German tree to completion, I can honestly say that I would understand a lot more of the things taught in the Dutch tree if there were one or two paragraphs in the Tips & Notes of certain skills that made direct comparisons to similar concepts from German.

For example, when you first start to mention the importance of V2 word order, a small paragraph mentioning that word order is mostly the same as in German, with a few key differences, would go a long way toward helping me focus more on what I don't already know. It would also allow you to emphasize the differences between German and Dutch even better so those of us that know German are less likely to fall into traps German speakers/learners encounter with Dutch.

Another area this would come in handy for is the "Er" skill, in which one or two paragraphs explaining how er is similar to German's use of da, but again with some key differences, would make that skill much easier to understand in the long run. Other skills I see this being good for are Passive Voice, Gerunds, and maybe Relative Pronouns.

(( Oh, and before I forget, perhaps some explanation of the equivalent English words would help in the "Er" skill too. It was incredibly helpful to realize my use of words like "whereby", "thereon", and "thereof" was pretty much exactly how the er-words work. ))

Once again, this is more "I kinda wish there was a Dutch for German speakers tree" than "things that would improve the Dutch learning experience overall", but I still wanted to voice this idea, even if just to hear your thoughts on it and have it ultimately shot down.

Thank you for everything you've done so far! I dare say the Dutch tree has been my favorite on Duolingo so far, and I can't wait for the second version, however long that takes.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

What is the time schedule for delivering version 2.0? Do you have a yearly release, so this will be the 2016 version and next year 2017. Or is this the final version? Or do you have an agile/scrum approach where you have sprints of weeks or months and new functionality released after every sprint? I see no progress lately. I actually prefer an agile approach with a constant flow of improvements, new lessons etc.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Hi Freek, it looks like we might done with the new version in May. All of us are volunteers, who are working on the incubator in our spare time, beside actual jobs and studies. There has been a steady (but fairly slow) progress so far.

We cannot continuously release new material at the moment, because of the way that the incubator works. However, this is going to change in the future. Although even then, each new version of tree must go through an A/B test, to see whether it performs better.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

I appreciate your efforts, no question about that. And i do see some progress. There are less DUO answers that i think are wrong. I am just eager to continue and get to the 100% score.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

While we're focusing on the new tree version, you will indeed see very little improvement in the version that is currently live.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

What is an A/B test?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

louis.vang 25 21 19 17 15 13 11 10 7 7 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 2 2

A new version is released for some students. During the A/B test there will be a research of the group with the new version have better results than the group with the old version. Only when the new version have better results than the old one, it will be released to all the students. There are many A/B tests. Students don't know in which A/B tests they are working in.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

substate 23 22 10 8 13

Hi Simius, any update on the timeline? Very excited to continue learning.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

dhanly 12 9 5

I feel impeded by the lack of past tense at the moment; I'm nearing half way through the tree, feeling pretty confident with Dutch and I know no past tense at the moment. This is the only thing I'd like moved, if possible.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lucasbrusa 16 5

Hello Team Dutch,

Thanks a lot for the nice work you have been doing.
I completed the dutch tree and have learned a lot.

How will we current duolingo dutch learners access the dutch tree 2.0? Will the new skills appear (as empty) on the current (complete) tree?

Thanks Lucas

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lucasbrusa 16 5

In Dutch 2.0, please keep improving the grammar lessons: past and future tenses, passive, modals, conditionals, adverbs, er (and its tens of variations), imperative, comparatives, negations.

The power of duolingo is to enable learning grammar in an easy way, without memorizing rules, practicing with full sentences. For instance: negation, past tense, conditionals, all the types of inversions, are difficult Dutch grammar for which duolingo really helps a lot.

To learn/memorize vocabulary, especially specific words in certain subjects, there are better methods. To learn about bikes, one can read a few texts on the web about bikes, paying attention to the new words. <http://www.readlang.com> is great for this. Anki too.
The goal should not be to add a lot of words, but to practice grammar and sentence construction.
That's where duolingo shines.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

substate 23 22 10 8 13

More things on separable verbs, idiomatic phrases, split up "er" into multiple lessons, more "om te" examples are suggestions of the top of my head.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

All of those are in the works!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mmgery 19 10 7

Do you know if we can get a tentative release date?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheGrahamCable 10 10 9 7 2

I've just started the Dutch tree, and most most of the issues that I see with it are in common with the other two courses that I'm already further along with (Spanish and Italian), but I'll write them here as I see you are asking for feedback.

The order of what we learn is sometimes very strange. Why learn names of exotic animals before we can count to five? Or learning every item of female clothing before the question words such as why, what, how etc?

I think that either:

the lessons should be broken into smaller groups, ie. animals1,2,3, with other topics in between.

or more mixing of different topics into one lesson, ie. learning one noun, one verb, one adjective, one adverb, one connector, and one preposition word all in the same lesson, instead of learning dozens of the same kind of word in a row.

or we should be able to learn things in a different order and skip ahead to other lessons without being forced to sit through lessons we find irrelevant. So if I want to learn 'table' and 'chair' before 'duck' and 'tortoise' I should be allowed. Or if I want to learn 'with' 'but' or 'because', before 'sandwiches' and 'strawberries' I should be able to do that too.

The order in which we have to learn things on Duo, and the inflexibility of it is my main gripe. Sure, if I want to speak like a native then I need to know all that vocabulary eventually, but I would rather have basic knowledge of several languages than be highly fluent in just one. So that means I'd rather learn the most essential and most commonly used words first before getting into rarely used vocabulary.

Also, for words that I have used many times before, I no longer want to practise spelling them correctly in English, but rather to practise spelling them correctly in the target language. It's much easier to recognise a foreign word again and translate it into my native language, than it is to translate my native language correctly into the foreign language. Therefore it would be great if when I review a lesson that the harder skills are worked on more than the easier ones, such as clicking on the picture of the thing.

Sometimes it would be great to be able to read a bit more of an explanation in the tips and notes section before starting the lesson, rather than having to go to the discussion part about the sentences that I don't understand in the hope that an expert has already gone through the beginners exercises to answer other people's queries.

All that being said, I am still enjoying my Duolingo experience and will definitely be continuing with it! Thanks guys, I appreciate all the hard work that's gone into this site.

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Lucie_Sovova 9

hey guys, not sure if anybody still reads this but I have a question/request - I keep getting the same sentences over and over again in my practice (even if I get them right) and it's a bit annoying. like now I've just had the sentence "ik ben sterk doordat ik zwem" 4 times in one practice round! so I probably won't forget that one easily... is there something that could be done about this? is it maybe that there are not enough sentences to pick from in this section?

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 7 6

Strengthening is usually based off of whichever words are the weakest. If you strengthen a skill but it only has one or two weak words, you'll only really get exercises for those words. Furthermore, the algorithm that decides what to give you for practice is not something controlled by any course contributors as it is programming related. The people who make the course are not the ones that code the program, and therefore anything that would likely require coding to implement, cannot be done by the course contributors. So there isn't a way for them to fix this at all. My advice is to only strengthen a specific skill if it has three bars or less, or to redo lessons in order to practice.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Lucie_Sovova 9

it actually happens when I'm doing the general practice and I do have plenty of weak words to choose from. I am aware that the Dutch team can't do anything about the algorithm but I thought maybe they could simply add more sentences to have a bigger diversity. but you're right that it might be more of a programming issue.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

El2theK 25 18 11 11 10 7 5 4 3

There is a large amount of different sentences in the system that include doordat, sterk, any form of zwemmen, or (obviously) any other combination of words. Hence there are plenty of diverse sentences in the system that can be used during a general practice.

I don't know why you happen to get one sentence a lot, but a lack of different sentences/diversity is not the reason.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Joelson00 15

It would be good to have a lesson with sayings and famous quotations (from literature and film). Het zou goed zijn, ook een les met spreekwoorden (bv. Pieter Bruegel) en citaten te hebben.

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

anno 15 13 7 6

How is the progress going on this?

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

azevedof 20 13 10 10 10

Here are my list of some words that could be added in the Dutch Tree 2.0:

-FEELINGS: ontsteld (upset), paniek (panic), wakker (awake), angst (fear), huilen (to cry).

-FAMILY/PEOPLE: een menigte (a crowd), een lid (a member), een afstammeling (a descendant), een voorouder (an ancestor), een tweeling (a twin), een stel (a couple), a bruiloft (a wedding), verwanten (relatives), een schoonzus (a sister-in-law), een schoonmoeder (a mother-in-law), een schoonvader (a father-in-law), een stiefmoeder (a stepmother), een stiefvader (a stepfather), stiefouders (step parents), een gaast (a guest), een maat (a fellow), liegen (to lie), een leugen (a lie), de waarheid (the truth), buurman (neighbor), cadeau (gift), kussen (to kiss), kamergenoot (roommate), voornaam (first name), achternaam (last name).

-NATURE: het meer (the lake), de hemel (the sky).

-EDUCATION: schooljaar (school year), semester (semester), middelbare school (high school), basisschol (primary school), printer (printer), toetsenbord (keyboard), een cijfer (a grade), rekenmachine (calculador), economie (economy), klasgenoot (classmate), min (minus), plus (plus), optelling (addition), aftrekking (subtraction), vermenigvuldiging (multiplication), deling (division), tekenen (to draw), oplossen (to solve).

-PLACES/TRAVEL: uitgang (exit), ingang (entrance), stadion (stadium), enkele reis (one way ticket), voetganger (pedestrian), stoep (sidewalk), passagier (passanger), snelweg (highway), bestuurder (driver), bushalte (bus stop), kruising (intersection), onderzeeër (submarine), kaartje (ticket), parkeren (to park), een band (a tire), benzine (gasoline), een veiligheidsgorgel (a safety belt), een sleepwagen (a tow truck), een slot (a lock), een fooi (a tip), nationaliteit (nationality), vluchteling (refugee), buitenlander (foreigner), opnemen (to withdraw), munt (coin), wisselgeld (change), kruidenierswinkel (grocery store), slagerij (butcher shop), winkelcentrum (mall).

-CLOTHING: korte broek (shorts), bril (eyeglasses), spijkerbroek (jeans), regenjas (raincoat), handschoenen (gloves), sokken (socks), sjaaltje (scarf), gympen (sneakers), orbel (earring), stropdas (tie), pak (suit), riem (belt), laarzen (boots), zak (pocket), gestreept (striped), gestippeld (dotted), geruit (chequered), vies (dirty), pet (cap), kleermaker (tailor), mouw (sleeve), portefeuille (wallet), knoop (button), bruidsjurk (wedding dress).

-FOOD: taart (pie), cake (cake), ijs (ice cram), snoepje (candy), paddestoel (mushroom), boter (butter), aardappel (potato), erwt (pea), ui (onion), meloen (melon), watermeloen (watermelon), perzik (peach), ananas (pineapple), braambes (blackberry), kers (cherry), komkommer (cucumber), pompoen (pumpkin), wortel (carrot), patat (french fries), spinazie (spinach), knoflook (garlic), zalm (salmon), pannenkoek (pancake), saus (sauce), kalkoen (turkey).

-ANIMALS: een huisdier (a pet), huiselijk (dometisc), een bij (a bee), een zwaan (a swan), een mug (a mosquito), een kikker (a frog), een slang (a snake), een vlieg (a fly), een vlinder (a butterfly), een dolfijn (a dolphin), een haai (a shark), een pinguïn (a penguin), een kameel (a camel), een krokodil (a crocodile), een mannetje (a male), een vrouwtje (a female), een zoogdier (a mammal), een vleugel (a wing).

-OBJECTS: kussen (pillow), vaas (vase), tapijt (carpet), kaars (candle), koelkast (refrigerator).

-NUMBERS: cijfer (digit), rangtelwoord (ordinal).

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Aling14 25 21 15 9 9 4 2 651

I'm not sure I understand what Tree 2.0 means. Is it a new version of the introductory course which has been in use until whenever 2.0 is released, or is it a follow-on/sequel to the material already available?

In any event, I have enjoyed tremendously the course materials that you have previously prepared, and I believe it has helped me a lot in learning een beetje Nederlands. One thing that I have noticed now that I am working my way through the English for Dutch speakers version is that there are quite a number of Dutch words in the exercises which were never mentioned in the Dutch for English speaker version. Perhaps some or all of these could migrate into the new tree?

I also have noticed that there are three classes of words for me, which are progressively more difficult to learn and remember: (1) words which are the same or nearly so in English (that is, cognates), such as school, model, appel, actrice, directeur, ingenieur, (2) words which have some sort of cognate for me, such as samenleving (together living - society), halfmond (half round - hemisphere), even verbetering (for better - improvement), and (3) the rest, for which I seem to need much more practice to make them familiar, such as verslag, oefening, betrekking, doorgaans, ontvang, heen, huid. I suppose Duo must have statistics for which words take longer for most learners to learn. If there is a way to emphasize these, especially after one progresses past the initial lessons, they're definitely ones which I need to practice quite a bit more than the others, and I suspect perhaps other students may find this also -- in order to have any significant degree of mastery, some fraction of the material really requires much more practice than the rest.

I would also like to second the comments elsewhere here about having difficulty putting the verb at the end of a subordinate clause. This feels very unlike English, Spanish, and French, and I'm sure it will take substantially more practice before it even remotely begins to feel natural and automatic for me. If there could be much more material for this topic, I believe it would be helpful; I know I would certainly benefit.

Thanks again for all your work. Your course has been incredibly useful in becoming a little familiar with het Nederlands!

(Edited to improve wording.)

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Floris_B 16 12 12 11 11 10 4 3

School and apple are not French loanwords but just Germanic cognates.

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

thales361 16 11

More turtles! Alsjeblieft, Ik hou van schildpadden!

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

codygelb 18 14 12 9 5

It's been 11 months since this post was created. We have a new voice already... but how is the progress on the new skills ect.?

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

courtak 16 9 8 5

I was wondering too...

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

ChrisAshton0 14 8 7 3 3 3 2 1

I'd like to see word matching / vocabulary exercises. The French tree does a nice job with this. Right now I'm mostly using the cell phone app where you select the correct words and put them in order. It hasn't been very good for learning and retaining vocabulary. Exercises devoted specifically to vocabulary would be very helpful.

Thanks.

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 76

They have no control over the types and frequency of exercises you get, especially on the mobile app. Anything that requires programming can't be done. They are just volunteers, not Duolingo staff.

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

DogePamyuPamyu 14 13 12

YAYYAYAYAYAYAYAAAAAYYYYAAYAYAYAYAYYYYAAAAAAAYYYY IM SO HEPPYYYY

When do you think this will be done by tho because I needa finish Swedish first :O

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

._.Polyglot._. 17 4

I did do Dutch for a bit, but I would say I thought the language was fun and beautiful, it was difficult, I think you all should add more skills that will make it easier for us to get introduced to the Dutch language.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

legibe 16 11 6 4

i love weird sentences, it makes learning german more fun, which is a good thing for such a hard language! yesterday i had to translate "die bären lesen eine zeitung" and found that very cool! :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Science_Yay 9

Though in German you should pay attention to capitals. I don't know if the sentence you gave would be considered correct by duolingo since I haven't taken the course but am a native speaker. The correct version of your sentence is "Die Bären lesen eine Zeitung". Ignoring the capitals is okay in online chats or in SMS etc but basically nowhere else.

Viel Erfolg und viel Spaß =)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

legibe 16 11 6 4

actually it don't considerate it as an error, it passes, though each words with a missing capital is noticed with a comment like "nouns starts by a capital letter in german". this, only on the web browser version of duolingo, the iphone app says nothing. but yeah, i know that i will have to add capitals if one day (every hopes are allowed) i'm able to write a complete sentence in german by myself, haha! ;- ) danke schön :))

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Db243 21 9 9 20

I have traversed the tree two times now, and have even flipped my languages around. Saying I speak Dutch and want to learn English. I have looked for Dutch Immersion, and have found it does not exist. Is this something coming soon?

I thought Duo was an Owl? Where are the ducks coming from.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Immersion is also a feature we can't implement ourselves :/

Ah the ducks... I don't exactly know where they come from, but they are certainly very important!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

legibe 16 11 6 4

i suggest you to google "find a penpal" and seek for one, there are some great websites for this. that helped me a lot to learn english and help some others with french. :)

that could even been an idea of evolution for duolingo... the possibility to connect people who wants to talk to learn languages!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15
Try facebook.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Blackbeart 22 11 7 7 6 6 1

Wow! That's great. I'm so excited! My brother was is doing German and I was jealous when the German tree was updated. I'll try to finish the tree before it is updated then, I'm coming near to the end. I would say to add for text below the lessons for more skills (especially the more complicated skills). It can can get quite confusing for subjects that are very different from English with little or no explanation. I am taking a Dutch Grammar course besides Duolingo, which helps a lot. learndutch.org is the course I'm doing. I'm not sure if it is possible, it may fall under the category of gender labels, I don't know: can you - when you get a hint for a noun - add a label that says whether it is a 'de' or a 'het' word. That would be really helpful. Out of curiosity, why isn't it possible to add those features?

Thanks so much Dutch team! Duolingo is awesome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

The Dutch Team consists of volunteers, who build the course using the incubator platform (which is created by Duolingo). So we get to choose which words to teach and in what order, and we make and translate the sentence that are used for exercises. Things like adding labels or new types of exercises are currently not supported by the incubator platform; one of Duolingo's overworked engineers would have to find the time to make this possible. It doesn't seem to be a high priority for them at the moment, so it's better not to hold your breath...

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

zekecoma 17 13 3

Can we get an astronomy skill, computer terminology, car terminology, etc.?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3
Astronomy skill

There are a lot of astronomy-related words in the Nature skill.

Computer

Great idea! :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

zekecoma 17 13 3

I develop computer software and it'd be nice to be able to translate it to Dutch and also, when I get good enough. I can switch to the dutch version for example.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mistypoison 15 7 5

Not sure if this is available, but the German course also has an immersion tab where you can read German news/wiki articles and translate them. Will the Dutch course ever have that?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

vytah 14 13 12 12 12 11 10 10 9 3 619

The course moderators can't do anything about it, and it looks like the Duolingo itself isn't willing to add immersion to more courses. So I'd say no.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LianeBond 12 10

Not everyone has the immersion tab :( I'm also doing German and I don't have it...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Plamsy 8 5 4 4

I think there should be at least 3000 words, after editing the tree. Vocabulary is the most important

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Blackbeart 22 11 7 7 6 6 1

The basics of the language is the most important. A course with only vocabulary wouldn't be very good. You need the basics of the language first (which they have already done very well). So yes, now more vocabulary.

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

I have read somewhere that if you understand the 2000 most common words that you can understand a language. That are probably the words used on news sites like: <http://www.nu.nl/> You can also check what words are used learning other languages. The germans (Ich will Englisch lernen) now have 1791 words: <https://www.duolingo.com/words> so one could copy those words and teach them as well in the dutch courses "I want to learn English (Ik ken Nederlands)" and "Ik wil Nederlands leren (I know English)" The less common words could be added in a Bonussection. So words like "fiets" en "regen" would be in the common section and words like "tegenwind" and "slagregen" could pop up in a bonus section

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

More words / vocabulary in the lessons of news, travel, vacation, geography culture. Actually the 10 countries of the world that are most in the news, all the countries of Europe, all the European capitals, the main rivers so:

Main countries in the news USA, Russia, China, Japan, India, Brazil, Spain, Germany, Mexico, Portugal, Greece, Italy

European countries Nederland, België, Luxemburg, Duitsland, Frankrijk, Spanje, Italië, Griekenland, Oekraïne, Rusland, Noorwegen, Zweden, IJsland, Groenland, Denemarken, Esland, Letland, Litouwen, Polen, Tsjechië, Slovenië, Slowakije, Albanië

European capitals Amsterdam, Brussel, Londen, Parijs, Berlijn, Moskou, Praag, Rome, Athene, Lissabon, Madrid

Other towns Milaan, Napels, Florence, Venetië, Bratislava, Riga, Stockholm, New York, Kaapstad, Oslo, Bagdad,

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Beach words. Just for the halibut.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Marius 23 22 8 4

I'm really excited for the new voice! I hope it will be more limpid than the existing one.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MattC957 18 2 2

Flirting bonus skill please!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

williamparadise 12 10 10 8 8 5 5 3 75 add a lot of content please, a lot :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DPP1ENG 24 22 17 14 13 12 12

Hoi!

verwachte release datum?

:))

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5
Sometime this spring!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DPP1ENG 24 22 17 14 13 12 12
thanks man. can't wait

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Science_Yay 9
I have not finished the tree so I don't really know what else will be covered, but I would love a science skill. Just basic sciences terms such as element, chemistry, biology, analysis, laboratory, experiment and so on. I've seen that there is a nature skill and I hope that it includes ocean related words. I'm looking for beach, sand, ship, octopus, plankton, wave, ocean current, dolphin, jellyfish, island and so on. That would be really great!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bobjanova 11 9
There is a science skill in the last section.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Repelsteeltje 25 25 25 25 24 22 22 22 21 21 14 11 11 7 7 7 5 5 5 2 167
Ik heb het meest gelachen met de Dutch course, maar sommige zinnen kunnen wel minder onzinnig. Hoewel... een oma die haar kleinzoon een frikandel voorschoteld zou ik ook aangeven bij het meldpunt kindermishandeling. Misschien nog meer zinnen over Hollandse cultuur als verzuiling en verdraagzaamheid, lange afstands wandelpaden en dijklichamen?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

_Peyton22 15 31
I would love a course about different countries and languages. Similar to like they have in the Esperanto course. It is just something fun and teaches you more about the world we live in.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

iwc2ufan 25 25 23 21 19 17 17 17 15 14 13 10 10 9 9 9 8 7 7 5 946
I still struggle with the lessons on passive and te + inf. I have been very slowly doing the Dutch tree since day one of its release and I have 14 skills remaining. I keep my tree fully gilded, so I have done the review lessons a lot, and those two just never really stuck for me. Every time they lose some gold, I find them nearly as difficult as I did the first time around.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kev1512 14 13 10 7 6 5 5 4

I think the first lessons should be "hello""how are you?" "what's your name" "thank you" like the most language textbooks. I learned Dutch for some days, but I think that I still cannot start a talk with anyone.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3

Those things are taught in the Phrases skill, a skill in the second row of the tree, so basically at the beginning.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LuffyKappa 10 8 7 5 3 2

It would also be awesome if there were some older words like "dikwijls" what basicly means often and maybe some others. Even tho they aren't used alot in the dutch languaghe cus it most of the time gets replaced with "vaak".

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Axedrez 7

"dikwijls" is commonly used in Belgium.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

A bonus course!! It is difficult to come up with some examples though. I guess i would have to read an old book first to get some ideas. But the dutch language is changing fast so theoretically it should not be that difficult. For instance one of the best dutch books: Multatuli.

<http://www.gutenberg.org/cache/epub/11024/pg11024.html> Words that catch my eye are:

aangelegd, zeer, Mensch, integendeel, edel, voer dien man weg, aantevangen, gij, ik in zaken ben, waartoe, ge.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nikkesen 19 7 3 3

Are you able to add anything on punctuation? I'm unsure if the rules follow the same structure as English. Particularly with regard to the use of the Oxford comma, or is that strictly an English language notation?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

That's not something that fits easily in the tree (as punctuation is ignored by the checking mechanism). But we could potentially add it to the explanation posts:

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3732817>

The Oxford comma is something English, the Dutch standard is not to type/write a comma when you type/write en. Also see: <http://taaladvies.net/taal/advies/vraag/468>

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nikkesen 19 7 3 3

An explanation post would be super as well! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Anne Frank. Words you need to be able to read the famous dutch book of Anne Frank in dutch.

https://nl.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anne\_Frank Anne Frank was 14 years when she wrote the biggest part of her diary, so her words should be simple common dutch words. Words like: Geschiedenis, Duitsland, oorlog, tweede wereldoorlog, Nederland, Amsterdam, Prinsengracht, onderduiken, dagboek, schriften, Radio Oranje, bezetting, joden, duiters, achterhuis, boekenkast, angst, ruzie, natuur, kastanjeboom.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

twrist 21 12 8 8

I learnt all the words you listed by completing the current Dutch tree, and have been working my way through Het Achterhuis without too much trouble at the moment? Do you mean all these words should be in a single lesson?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

I am a dutch native speaker and i was upset by the fact that i saw in this course dutch words that were very uncommon, like abdicatie. I am in favor of starting with the simple words of a young girl. And maybe just add in a few lessons the the less common words related to that book and that situation. I don't know how many words can be learned in one lesson. Maybe 10. Good that you had no problem reading this book. I just read a few pages and already noticed that i expected simple words, i came across less common words or constructions like: "uitzonderlijke omstandigheden", "in beroering", mondaine sfeer, placht, een geëxalteerde omgeving, onafwendbare toekomst, roem, "in de greep van", liegen of poseren, but that was the long introduction. Anne Frank uses words like: nieuwsgierig, een broche, pret, dagboek, gewaarwording, ontboezemingen, er op aan komen, mijn hart te luchten, geduldiger, lamlendigheid etc. actually more difficult words than i expected. My conclusion is that this young girl Anne Frank, was visiting a gymnasium (grammar school) and was reading a lot so she used more than only simple words.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Is it available as an e-book yet? It's almost impossible to get, or very expensive, as a printed book here in the USA in het nederlands.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Try this link, they say it is free. <http://ebooksgratis.nl/ebook/het-achterhuis-anne-frank/> i tested it and you get a PDF document.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dennie54 25 22 17 16 15 13 9 442

Thx for the link.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TuomasNL 19 9 7 6

Why not add some dialect bonus skills like Limburgs or Achterhoeks?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Susande 17 13 12 11 287

That would be impossible to do as there are too many Dutch dialects. Also because of the dialect continuum, in most cases it's impossible to determine where one dialect starts and where another ends. And next to that, there is not any standardisation in the vast majority of dialects. People speak dialects, but there are no writing systems or spelling. For instance in my own dialect I have no idea how to write things, in the rare case I write it down, I just pick something that looks like it would sound correct, but there are often many other ways to write the exact same thing, none of these particularly better than any of the others. And to top things off there are too many vowel sounds, no idea which characters to use for those.

I'm pretty sure Duolingo will stick to standardised languages.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NeilDowdal 11

Can you add (or is there somewhere) a percentage complete counter for specific trees (e.g NL)?. I estimate that I am approx 15% complete. It is hard to gauge one's progress within a tree like structure, even with the addition of owl's and such like. I feel confident that within the Lingot financial structure, this allows me to be so bold as to offer the princely sum of 30 Lingots (Tax Free) for a percentage bar type thing. Thanks very much.....erm hold on. Got another one. Random challenge other users for XP over X period of time, or even teams. This could be country or whatever grouping, the main thing is you dont want to be the one who lets down the team, who is then cast out.... Competitive type things are good for things like this, maybe ? All good so far on the course, doing OK.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

psieger 15 13 11 11 10

I like the female voice! She speaks the queen's Dutch, in fact I suspect her to be a member of the royal family...?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

zulawski 23 18 16 16 15 9 8 5 5 3 1

I really like the current voice too! It should only be changed if truly necessary.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

howk_tomo 25 17 8 8 57

Ik vind de vraag voor terugkoppeling raar aangezien er een mooie terugkoppelingsknop onder aan iedere opdracht staat.

Had ik dit geweten dan had ik een hele mooie lijst gepresenteerd.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Die knop is om commentaar te geven op specifieke zinnen of oefeningen. We kijken regelmatig naar die meldingen en gebruiken ze om nieuwe vertalingen toe te voegen. Maar nu hebben we voor het eerst de kans om de hele structuur van de cursus te verbeteren, nieuwe woorden en vaardigheden toe te voegen, enzovoort. Daarom vragen we hier om suggesties voor de verbetering van de cursus als geheel.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

olivierATW 11 3

Hello.

(Sorry for not having combed through the 240+ comments and therefore this idea might have been mentionned before)

I feel the feature "discuss a phrase" is of great help, but do you think it might be a good idea to have some sort of "sticky" summary comment on each answer?

For instance lots of people have questions on the "-e" ending on adjectives and de/het rules for adjectives. I've seen these through-out the current course and the Dutch team does a great job at answering those questions, always pointing to the relevant page in the grammar section.

If there was a possibility for admins to create a "sticky" post at the top of a phrase discussion, with the most common questions/answers, then it would: (a) give the admins more time to do something else instead of answering the same question over and over again (b) help learners to quickly understand the "ins and outs" of a particular expression/construction without reading all the comments.

That being said, I don't know what is feasible in terms of pure duolingo "implementation"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

olivierATW 11 3

ok forget it. i was using the android phone app earlier. on the browser application i just show there are some "tips & notes" per question, which is exactly the feature i was thinking of. I guess one could argue that it'd be nice to have the tips & notes available also on the phone app

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JeffHK 24 19 11 10 6 3 2

I'm amazed by how many people care so much about the Dutch Duo program and learning Dutch- oh happy day!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

peterfish 12

I would love to see the tips/notes sections filled out for all lessons. Thanks so much for your hard and tireless work!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MaxieBlueFirefly 8 8 6

I would love some more questions like, "Can I have..." or "Can I go..." because they could come in useful!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

clubdancer 15 12 10 9 8 7 4

Hoi Team Dutch plaats alsjeblieft d en t kofschip, fokschaap alphabet en medeklinker oefeningen in de nederlandse cursus. Zodat we correct kunnen spreken en schrijven.

Dear Team Dutch please do proper d and t, alphabet and vowels pronouncing exercises in the dutch course! So we speak native. Cause you forget after a few practises and start to speak the languages as a foreign speaker unused. Alphabet and vowels it should retun in all the languages on duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Some people that come from outside the EU and want to stay in Holland have to do a dutch exam, That is part of the inburgeringsexamen.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Integration\_law\_for\_immigrants\_to\_the\_Netherlands It would be nice if Duolinge would help in that, failitate it. That can be done in several ways. First of all by delivering the necessary dutch lessons / knowledge and secondly by offering test exams, Maybe for lingo's, It would be fun to do the tests.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Db243 21 9 9 20

Hi Freek,

I'm a looong time resident of The Netherlands, I've only recently taken a Dutch beginner's class with in the past 4 months, 1-2 hr week max. I started Duolingo for Dutch last March, so 9-10 months ago. I hammered Duo in the beginning for few months and then I kept up daily. I felt totally intimidated by the mock tests on the inburgering website. I went for some of tests just a few weeks ago, and passed 3 of the 4 modules I took, and one still to be scored.

Vocabulary learned here helped. Daily exposure to Duolingo lessons helped. Talking to a "few" Dutch co-workers in Dutch helped. Most Dutch colleagues prefer English, so it's a greased pole to climb.

Your requests sound great, but the DUO frown upon anything about the test being public, except what they publish. I had to sign an NDA concerning the content. Who knows, maybe I've already said too much?

Here is a write up in English by Dutchnews.nl it is part one of a three part series. I'd say happy reading...

<http://www.dutchnews.nl/features/2016/01/how-to-be-a-good-citizen-the-past-present-and-future-of-inburgeren/>

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

your way of expressing yourself is already quite dutch. I just want this Duolingo to be helpfull to people like you. To offer a free course to people who are willing to integrate. To say "welcome", "good that you are trying", Holland can be great, but also horrible, but we like to help sometimes. And at some point, i don't know exactly where in the tree. But at some point you are ready for the first, second, third or fourth exam. If you pass this level at Duolingo that is about it. Like if you passed this level at Duolingo, 70% of the people also passed the inburgeringstest A,B, C, or whatever their names are. Duo actually only needs feedback from people like you who tell at what Duolingo level you can do an inburgeringscursus. That could be useful information for your followers. So apparently you are at level 18 which is good enough for inburgeringsexamen 3. Did you already try 4? Please report back when you got nr. 4 =and tell what Duolingo you had then.

Maybe Duolingo is already good enough, the only addition could be that they offer at some level a test called "Duo Inburgeringstest 1" 2, 3 etc giving a hint to people like you that they are ready for it. Thanks for your feedback.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

And Duolingo could also add some "Kennis Nederlandse Samenleving" in its courses. It can be creative and playfull. I am a dutch native, but i don't know anything about this "Kennis Nederlandse Samenleving". My idea is that it is probably a tekst of so many sentences. Every sentence can be put in Duolingo and translated into English (that is the only foreign language we have at the moment) . Or parts of the sentences if they are too long. In that way people both learn Dutch and get "Kennis over de Nederlandse samenleving". Ze zeggen bijvoorbeeld: "Nederland is een democratie" Duolingo can use that sentence and ask for a translation: "The Netherlands is a democracy" etc. "Kennis Nederlandse samenleving"= "Knowledge about the dutch society". It could be a bonus lesson because it is mainly a repetition of words already known and maybe partly new words coming out of this course. My idea is that being nice is something you do.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SailorWeeb 9 7

More Flirting, apples and shoes.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

biauwaz 15 15 14 13 12 9 9 7 2 86

Hey, I've just seen the post. Could you tell why exactly it's impossible to add a words tab? I've noticed that it's present only in the premade courses (fr, de, es, pt, it) - it is just impossible for the community made courses by default?

Thanks for answering!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

It's impossible for us to add it. It's part of the back-end that we, as voluntary contributors, don't have access to. There is nothing stopping the developers from giving us a Words Tab, except for an ever-growing list of things with higher priority.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lewons7 13 6 4 4

This is more to do with Duolingo in general, but a lot of the learning is trial and error with in a test like format. It would be great to have a short video before the skills. Even if it was just one per category. I find there are a few skills that I never really can get the hang of and it's basically guess work. Like I get confused with tense. So maybe have a few separate levels to focus on specific grammar skills like word order, rather than words would help with that. None of this is probably doable at all but I figure I may as well say it. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TrueAngelBeats 14 7 6 5

Although I didn't go through this course but I will some day and conquer this language but I suggest you put skills in technology or electronics maybe disaster such as tornado tsunami and etc.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Maybe some fairy tales (Sprookjes). These fairy tales are for children so use simple words. Try to read the next fairy tale: https://nl.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hans\_en\_Grietje and add the first ten new words in a (bonus) lesson called "Hans en Grietje -1", something like that. Words like: stiefmoeder, (Stepmother), aan de rand (at the border), Houthakker (woodcutter), arm (poor), echtpaar (couple), kieselstenen (rocks), jaszak (pocket of his coat), treuzelt (lingers), schoorsteen (Chimney), een spoor van kieselstenen ( a trace of rocks). ten words already :) enough material for a few lessons.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Sometimes there are more than one or two answers accepted by Duolingo. It would be nice if Duolingo in that case shows all or more accepted (good) answers, maybe ordered with on top the best translation and down the lesser one's.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

I also do the german tree (I want to learn German) and there i see more feedback explaining why my answer is not accetable / accepted. Feedback is very helpful. Please add feedback starting with the most common errors / mistakes. I know it is a lot of work and i appreciate what you are doing. Keep up the good work.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Golden_Owl 13 11 10 8 4 2

add some slang,please

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

merryvz 17 7 3

I would love to learn more medical conversation. I am a nurse, and would like to have more conversational skills for assessments, history, physical, and every day needs. Medical terminology is the tab I am hoping for. Thanks for all your hard work. I do love this course.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lewons7 13 6 4 4

Do you think the tree will eventually have the full 20 000 to 35 000 words that the other speaker knows? Although if it did there probably should be a way to skip certain skills because it gets to the point where order doesn't matter. Or perhaps have users be able to make their own courses like in memrise so they can use the duolingo platform to continue furthering their skills.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

legalskier 16 8 3 19

On the android app - you don't get the tips/helpful information when learning a new skill. Having gone back and re-done some of them on the computer, I had no idea what I was missing. If possible, putting those into the app would be extremely helpful!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 7 6

I don't believe this is something the Dutch team has under their control. That definitely sounds like something Duolingo would have to implement.

A good rule of thumb is that if it involves programming, then the team can't do anything about it.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DeoTheGreat 15 15 2 19

I think instruments should be a skill :P

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarahBz 12 8 5 3

Pleaaaaase bonus skills and speaking exercises that go directly from english to dutch! bedankt :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 76

Your second request falls under the category of "Things they cannot do". There will likely be more bonus skills though.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

ajpthree 16 15 15 15 15 14 13 13 12 10 10 6 6 6 5 5 5 5 3 3 2 2 1043

I'm so excited to get back into dutch!! been a while since I finished the original tree. I have a bunch of screencaps from every course I'm doing, I'll look through the dutch ones soon and let your team know suggestions I might have - thank you team Dutch!! <3 <3 <3

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DPP1ENG 24 22 17 14 13 12 12

can't wait

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lahure 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 13 12 12 10 1134

To Team Dutch. Have sixteen trees here and yours has been the most enjoyable by far! Loved the food section at the end of the course. Strange though that my Dutch level will reflect as 24 one day and as the correct level 25 the next day!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RobinOberg 10

As I work as a professional anthropologist, I would love to see one or two Social Science classes. You know, stuff like: how to use and conjugate terms like "discourse", "gender", "paradigm", "ontology", "epistemology", "functionalism", "world systems theory", "research", "power (as in force)", "power (to control)", "multilateral trade agreement", and so on. :) rolling my thumbs

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

supercool72 20 13 6 4 3 2

Hey Guys, As an English speaker, I would more Dutch words. I would also like to be able to access the grammar lessons better on my phone. I would also like to be able to practice my pronunciation in Dutch. They have this feature for English speakers learning Spanish and German. I would also like longer sentences with multiple verbs and clauses.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Frazer_WM 23 8

I know expressions and idioms are particularly common in spoken Dutch, so maybe a few lessons on those would be good?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lewons7 13 6 4 4

will there be a word list with strength like in German?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

louis.vang 25 21 19 17 15 13 11 10 7 7 7 5 5 5 4 4 4 3 3 2 2

Hoi moderators,

Is it possible to tell something about what will be changed /added with Dutch Tree 2.00?

Kan er een tipje van de sluier gelicht worden? :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

TheGrahamCable 10 10 9 7 2

It would be really good to have the verb conjugation tables that Spanish and Italian have, where you hover over any word then click conjugate. They are really helpful for learning the general patterns early on, and for reviewing the other forms of the verb applicable to other people or tenses, without having to wait until that particular form of the question comes up, or using other sources or the notes I made on paper. It is especially useful for the irregular verbs.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

NickKoop16 19 3 3 211

I'd like a bit more on transport such as how to buy tickets etc. Also a bit on famous Dutch festivals such as Keukenhof, Sinterklass, Koningsdag. I also watch a lot of Dutch football, so anything you can get on the Eredivisie would be great, especially Feyenoord :p.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

lucasbrusa 16 5

Hello Dutch team,

What are the plans for the Dutch tree 2.0?

Thank you for the great work you guys have been doing. Lucas

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Hi there! We're still working on it. Most of the work is creating new sentences for all of the words that we've added. The first half of the new tree is now pretty much done, and we've invited our first alpha testers to try it out.

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

lucasbrusa 16 5

Hi Simius,

I finalized the Dutch tree some time ago and have ~80% gold. I would be very glad to be alpha tester.

Thank you the Dutch course Lucas

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Simius 19 10 5 5

Great! Please submit an application in the incubator: <https://incubator.duolingo.com/>

It's the same form as for applying as contributor, so make sure to state that you want to be an alpha tester.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

azevedof 20 13 10 10 10

In the "Map" section I feel that it should have Latin America countries too. Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Colombia, Cuba..and others.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Floris_B 16 12 12 11 11 10 4 3

Argentinië, Brazilië, Mexico, Colombia, Cuba, Ecuador, Guyana, Suriname? ... I don't think that would be very useful. Yes, Dutch is the language of Suriname but well the Dutch names of South-America are very similar to the English ones. While Frankrijk, Duitsland, Rusland ... are way more different from their English counterparts

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

azevedof 20 13 10 10 10

If you see the map section, you'll see that the countries shown are subdivided into continents. Polen, Roemenië, Hongarije, Tsjechië, Rusland, Oekraïne making Eastern Europe; Schotland, Ierland, Noorwegen, Zweden, Denemarken making Northern Europe; and so on.. I didn't see any countries from the American continent in that list. A unit in the Map section with American countries would be a great addition. No offense, but in my view, countries like Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, are more important than Vietnam, Thailand, Hungary...

-1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

BOOIII 11 7
Add bonus skills

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 76
They already have some planned (as explained elsewhere in this comment section).

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Floris_B 16 12 12 11 11 10 4 3
Misschien een onbenulligheidje maar waarom heeft deze les een blauwe achtergrond? Zovele talen in de app hebben al een blauw kleurtje. Waarom niet oranje? :D En ja ik ben een Vlaming. :P Turks heeft ook het rood van de Turkse vlag etc...

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

davidvdb 14 12 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3
Daar kunnen wij niets aan doen, we zijn niet verantwoordelijk voor het design van de website, enkel voor de inhoud van de cursus. :) (PS. Ik ben ook een Vlaming. :P)

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Jane-Chan20th 10 6 2
Just keep up the subtle sub-plots like the guy who's indecisive with how much elephants he wants and all the food-related dysphoria.

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Baran557921 14 2
For God's sake, please fix the word "nederland" being voiced as "Nederlands". It is such a simple mistake...

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Simius 19 10 5 5
We can't change the (mis)pronunciation of individual words, unfortunately.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

phyoung 15 14 8 8 2 2

First off, thanks for all your effort! It's been fun learning Dutch through Duolingo. I just wanted to mention that I think the te + infinitive lesson has a bug. No matter how much I practice this lesson, I can't seem to get it to full strength :-{.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

dennislysenko 16 15 14 13 12 9 9 8 6 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 2

Ik wil zeggen dat deze cursus de allerbeste is dat ik heb ooit gebruikt op Duolingo, zelfs zonder "Immersion"-tab. Dankjewel, echt. (Ik heb zojuist de Duitse tree voltooid en het was niet zo goed als de Nederlandse tree ;) maar dat is natuurlijk geen verrassing van een land zonder stroopwaffels!)

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

beechaw 19 12 11 11 11 55

Hoi! Goedenavond :) I have already finished my Spanish, Portuguese, English and French tree, and I can see that Dutch will take me a long time... but if I get there sometime, it would be great to have a "Music skill", such as instruments, the notes, which words you can use when you go to a show, buy a ticket, play a song, share with somebody your preferences...etc! Ps. Sorry for my english, I am from Argentina. trying to learn English and Dutch at the same time, sometimes I get confused xD

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

ggrefen 13 12 11 10 8 6 2 160

Add "-op" to <https://www.duolingo.com/skill/dn/Adverbs>

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Elton595481 16 14 5 2 126

Grote werk en dank u wel! Could you include a 'progress shield' that is attachable to LinkedIn? I have this option for both French & Spanish. Alsjeblieft.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

XamDourou 12 11 10 10 8 6 6 4 4 91

Nice! I'm ready to help you ;-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

christianOPyeti 11 3 1

What do groetjes and hoi allemaal mean?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

JosephT.Madawela 24 23 22 19 19 665

good way of improving our vocabulary skills

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

HoaTran0901 5

Hi everybody . i'm Hoa. i live in Viet Nam. i going to Nederland next year . i really want to learn dutch. please help me. thanks everyone

-1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

BOOIII 11 7

Add a grammer skill

-2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

LupoMikti 20 16 14 11 10 9 9 7 5 5 5 4 3 3 3 3 3 2 2 7 6

The entire course is your grammar skill. Grammar is not an individual skill. If anything, they may be able to do a syntax skill to teach word order, but I see little point to that since the conjunctions skill already takes care of this (as word order changes most often in subordinate clauses, introduced by subordinating conjunctions).

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

MaxMonk89 9 9

Please get rid of Goededag, sap

-2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

More words / sports / soccer: Try to read this <http://www.nu.nl/voetbal> The plan is to know / learn / add all these words. Words like: Voetbal, voetballen, winnen, verliezen, scoren, doelpunt, goal, treffer, elftal, Nederlands, oefenwedstrijd, slotfase, basisplaats, nationale ploeg, blessure, debuut, leiden, lijden, bijzonder moment, middenvelder, doelman, spits, strompelen, scheidsrechter, buitenspel, rode kaart, spreekkoor, veld, hamstringblessure, genieten, incasseren etc. eventueel gedeeltelijk in bonuslessen. Ook spelen met verschillende tijden, toekomst, verleden en heden, voorbeschouwing, nabeschouwing en wedstrijdverslag.

-6ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Olga451165 17 14 11 4

Hi freek, in my personal opinion it's not helpful to try and add all possible words in every subject. Of course i want to know more words in the subject that i am interested in reading.. But duo gives good base and from there every person can expand where he wants to know more.

Adding too many words in subject that has no interest for somebody can make it hard on that person to go further up the tree.

Sport was one of the subject i enjoyed the less.. I can't imagine if it had even more words. Also learning names of every country is kinda a waste of time i think, since all the names are so similar to english that you can guess very easily.

I hope duo's new tree will be light and fun to climb.. The best part about dou is that it's fun and easy which makes it addictive and therefore people don't give up half way and actually finish it.

13ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

Olga, i understand what you are saying. I agree with you that the basic words should be learned in the beginning of the tree. Lets take sports as an example. We could have the lesson sport1 with words like: sports, game, winning, losing, scoring, goal, points, in, out, start, finish, up, down, left, right, slow, fast (basic sport terms) Than a lesson Sport2 (much later in the tree) with words like: Competition, Soccer, Tennis, Korfbal, basketball, soccer, running, dance, chess, checkers, cards, tired, exhausting, injury, rain, wind, sailing, preparation, condition, shape, position. And maybe a bonuslesson Soccer1 with words like: argument, red card, sliding, keeper, defender, trainer, referee, corner, decision, offside, free kick, penalty. So up the tree more words and you can stop anytime. Finishing the tree is not necessary. Participating is already having fun.

-4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DJvdZ 25 25 25 25 25 21 17 16 14 14 13 12 12 11 11 11 10 10 9 9 7 7 7 6 4 659

Freek, it is probably possible to learn the whole language using only sport related phrases and exercises. But I am glad Duolingo decided to use other topics as well. Otherwise, I would definitely not have used the program, eventhough I love languages. It's also possible to learn the same language using only sentences and exercises related to either history, or politics, or philosophy, or art, or science. In either one of those cases I definitely would have been interested - however I imagine other people might not have liked that. Because different people have different interests - and that's fine.

Maybe in the future is will be possible for Duolingo to offer an 'adaptive tree', which offers everyone the opportunity to learn the entire structure of any language only using phrases and exercises related to the topic[s] that interest[s] the individual user/student. (Of course it would be a lot of work compiling all the needed sentences, but that's another matter.) However for the moment it is a good thing the tree uses sentences related to different topics, so it can offer something to everyboby, no matter what his/her interest might be. And it is also a good thing the 'skills' are not too long so you don't get stuck on a topic you don't really like, but which you have to pass to figure out the included grammar and to get to the topic you really do love. (because that is the way the Duolingo systems works at this moment, you have to do the skills in a predetermined order.)

Maybe a more short term solution would be a different kind of tree: not a longer tree but a shorter tree that only deals with the grammar (syntax, morphology) using only a couple of basic words. And in addition to that short tree trunk seperate (long) branches relating to different topics. For example your sport branch with offshoots for different sports. In that case the development team could just add more branches as they go along, and you could learn a language without doing all the branches. You could just pick the branches relating to your own interests. (And for example skip the whole sport branch.) And in that case it would also be possible to accomodate all the words you scatter around all over this discussion page like 'pepernoten' (to add my own word that incidentally relates to the current season). But as for now, that kind of tree is just part of my imagination and it is not the way the Duolingo tree works in reality. So, please stop adding your lists of words to this page, because it is not useful (unless of course Duolingo decides to change the tree and we can add all kinds of branches including your suggestions).

Thank you.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FreekVerkerk 25 25 25 6 15

I had the same imagination of a tree with different branches for different interest groups, like a sports branch, a biology / medial branch, an art and culture branch, A transport branch with cars, bikes, airplanes and trains, a work branch, a home branch, a food branch, a clothing branch etc. And a tree that does NOT require you to follow all branches.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DJvdZ 25 25 25 25 25 21 17 16 14 14 13 12 12 11 11 11 10 10 9 9 7 7 7 6 4 659

In your last sentence I think you meant to write "a tree that does NOT require you to follow all branches." Otherwise it would not quite be the same imagination. (...)

2Give Lingot1•1 year ago

CapnLee 20 7

I'm very interested in a food branch of the tree

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

Olga451165 17 14 11 4

it might not be necessary to finish the tree.. but it's something most serious learners are determined to do, it'd be a shame to get stock halfway through for a silly reason.. but all the words you gave in your example are not just related to soccer, so all of them would be nice to know. I just meant that a skill with 6 lessons about technical words that are used only in soccer might be too much.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

22 the strength bar

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4889141>

Bluekirby2000 8 2 2

you know the strength bar that's blue why doesn't it turn gold like the other things when you have all the bars full?

Give Lingot

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

Bluekirby2000 8 2 2

The strengthen skill bar.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bwanna379 11 9 3
why does it matter?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

23 "Han är en man. "
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5901502>
Translation: He is a man.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment
20 Comments

firebrand0135
I remember that han is masculine because it rhymes with man.

63ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

mattwhiskers 23 15 10 8 9
Also Han Solo is a man, and he's very masculine. Just ask Leia...

31ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

hpen2 2 2 2 2
Great memorizing skill! Thanks

13ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

joanna6h 11 7 4 3
Thank you!!!! now, thanks to you I will not make the same mistake over and over again.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PatricioGtz 8
Why is the "är" not pronounced?

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Lundgren8 12 10 9 9 9 7 6 6 3
Är is usually just pronounced as e so it's more like han e en man which might be why you're not hearing it.

44ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

XoooOverdose 18

Tack!

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

PatricioGtz 8

Thank you! :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

NaijaMexic 7 6 5 3 3 2

Tx so much, make me get it more clear

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

skalpadda 6 5

Perhaps worth mentioning here that it is never "wrong" to pronounce letters that are commonly dropped in in Swedish speech, so if in doubt pronounce everything - Swedes will just take it as you trying to speak clearly.

11ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KevinJean0 9 7 7 7 5 5 4

So if I pronounce everything they will understand ? because the pronunciation is so weird

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

skalpadda 6 5

Yes, it may sound as if you're over-enunciating or speaking exaggeratedly clearly, but comprehension will not be a problem. When we Swedes slow down we tend to do this as well (saying är instead of e or och instead of å, for example).

Note that this doesn't apply to letter combinations that are always to form a combined and distinct sound, such as the sj-sounds (skjorta, sked, charmig station, stjärna, for example) or the various spellings of j (hjul, ljus, etc.). Those should never be pronounced as individual letters but always the sound they represent. You would still be understood, but it would sound rather strange.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tF4H3 4 2

I always confuse han with hon because I think of the o as a masculine letter and a as a feminine so I get confused often.

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

NicoClone 2

Han ma len ma.. this is what I heard.. does it only me hearing like this?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 22 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 145

It sounds pretty ok to me. Keep listening and it will get clearer!

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

mickylee 6 5 3

I can't quite hear. .. is the /h/ pronounced in hon and han?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

skalpadda 6 5

Yes it is.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NicoClone 2

What do skjorta, sked, charmig, stjärna mean? Station is station right?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Betina.Costa 15 10 6 2 2

The Swedish ä has the same sound of the German ä??

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Zmrzlina 14 13 12 10 4

Yes, more or less. I'm not familiar with whether short long E and Ä differ in German, but they do differ in Swedish.

0ReplyGive Lingot•23 hours ago

24 "It is a question of scale."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4150231>

Translation: Jest to kwestia skali.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

KrzysztofRosada 10

czy ktoś jeszcze słyszy na końcu skill ?

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KrzysztofKo 19 4

ja tez słyszałem skill

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sandmike88 18 7 5 2 2

Czy poprawnie jest: It is an issue of scale.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

25 levele up

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/14872780>

15Spidey15 4

I got level up so pleased

Give Lingot

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

10 Comments

Manoehs 13 5

Congratulations :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

15Spidey15 4

thank you are to kind

0ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

; ) well done

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

15Spidey15 4

thanks for the smiley face lol

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

you're welcome. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

15Spidey15 4

lerned a new skill

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Well done! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

15Spidey15 4

oh by the way how do you get a pitcher like you've got an owl pitcher how do I get a pitcher do you have to unlock something

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

i'll post how to get a picture on your stream :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

15Spidey15 4

can every on be nice in this studio and don't say mean things I saw in other studios people say upsetting things so just be nice you wont like it is someone picks on you so why pick on them

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

26 "The wheel "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6627583>

Translation: Cái bánh xe

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

7 Comments

Bonqt 9

A

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

An-Adorable-Fish 12 11

"a wheel" là "một chiếc bánh xe" nhé :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

E-IsMyPassion 25 840

The wheel spins around.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KhanhLinhkitty 15
dịch cái bánh xe chạy vòng quanh

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KhanhLinhkitty 15
jj

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KhanhLinhkitty 15
pro skill dued

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KhanhLinhkitty 15
jj

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

27 Can I remove my skills that I bought?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12496856>

Bob20020 24 20 11 7 7 6 79

I bought the Idioms and Flirting skills for German. It is Christmas time, so I bought the Christmas skill. But I realized, can I delete the ones to fit room for others, like Easter, and others? I think I should remove Flirting, because Idioms are a Must-Have. Is it possible?

Give Lingot20
41 year ago

Leave a new comment
13 Comments

Hohenems 25 25 18 14 13 12 11 11 8 7

There has only ever been 3 bonus skills. If they ever added more to the "store", they would add more spaces in your tree.
And as others have said, no, you can't delete them.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bob20020 24 20 11 7 7 6 79
Good thinking!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lingotgiver 15 11 11 10 10 9 8 3
Merry christmas! Have 20 lingots.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bob20020 24 20 11 7 7 6 79

Thanks for the lingots! Merry Christmas to you too!

0ReplyGive Lingot30•1 year ago

lingotgiver 15 11 11 10 10 9 8 3

Here have more Lingots.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Turtwigpo 21

there's an easter skill?????

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Wolf_Isaac 25 13 12 12 12 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 8 8

No

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bob20020 24 20 11 7 7 6 79

There could be one for Easter when it rolls around.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Shady_Hazem 15 12 10 10 10 7 6 5 5 5 4 4 4 3 2 2

No, I think you can't, you can buy but you can't remove :(

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

annie1258 17 7 2

You can't remove them, but those 3 bonus skills are the only ones, so you don't have to worry about making room for others. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jimnicholson 23 22 14 14 2 754

There is a user script called Refund Store Items by alexstewartja.

It allows users to cancel store item purchases and regain spent lingots.

I haven't used it myself but here it is at the top of this table:

http://duolingo.wikia.com/wiki/Duolingo\_Userscripts

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Arcticwolfpup 25 13 12 12 11 4 3 826

Right now for German there are only three skills. They cannot be removed once purchased.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Turtwigpo 21

Flirting is the MOST IMPORTANT!!! It's hilarious and You can be a total forever alone! like me!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

28 Jokes as a Bonus Skill?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3542607>

Dogely 13

Bonus skills can be bought from the Lingot store and you can have up to 3 active at a time. However, I only see 2 available skills (currently) from the German store so far: flirting and idioms. There is also a Christmas-themed skill available only during the holiday. It would be nice to see jokes there someday.

Give Lingot35

2062 years ago

Leave a new comment

52 Comments

-Katrina.- 22 13 10 9 9 9 8 6 2 874

I definitely agree, as long as they are good jokes. It would be so cool to go to Germany (or any other place) and speak jokes to the natives in their language.

25ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Skapata 13 13 12 8 6 4 4 2 12

Swearing as a bonus skill. o/

17ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Honore 22 18 14 13 7

It'd be useful for watching foreign TV and films. : ) Or anything similar to the Dirty <insert language> : Everyday Slang series. It tends to be hilarious stuff.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KatieHomeschool 9 6

:P no thanks :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

douglasannjodie 10

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=965wksBvFTY> This gave me a good chuckle

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

myopic_owl22 12

Made my day. Vielen Dank!

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

TwoWholeWorms 20 8 7 6 6 4 3 3 2 2

There's a fantastic song by Jeroen van Meerwijk which is great for examples of creative uses of Dutch profanities. :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Carissa.N 11 7 7 6 5 4 3 3

Yes Jokes! For all languages! :D I was also thinking, how 'bout songs as a bonus skill? :D

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2

The 3rd is Christmas and only available during Christmastime.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dogely 13

Ah, I made my account 9 months ago but never saw or knew about the Christmas skill. Thank you for your input on this.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2

Neither did I. I just know from other people, and I've seen the 'circle' of it. Santa Claus. :)

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

TwoTridents 7 5

It'd be nice if they had a Bonus for Holidays specific to the regions that speak the language. Like a Day of the Dead bonus skill for Spanish.

16ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wstockall 25 20 17 14 3 3 1122

Maybe actually varying the contents based on time of year? It would be nice not to see exactly the same stuff every time. Of course, that would require a lot of work on someone's part.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2

That would be cool. :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Griffin.cz 11 5 4 3 2

What about sports phrases???

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TimothyGeek 8 2

Definitely! I strongly agree! That would be so cool! I'd be willing to pay a lot of lingots for a bonus skill like that! (partly because I have so many anyway...)

Not only would it be fun, but we would also learn something about their culture.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dogely 13

I would too! I'm glad you also look forward to it!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Diggabyte 22 12 8 6 6 5 2

jokes would be awesome :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

Great idea! The excellent French-produced Assimil language learning series had a lot of clean jokes and humorous material well-integrated into the lessons. It definitely helped to keep up the motivation to complete the thorough but lengthy course! A typical example: Frage: Wer hat Sie hier erlaubt zu fischen?! Antwort: Dumme Frage--meine Frau, natürlich!

1ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

mohrchen 17 6 6

One correction: "Wer hat Ihnen erlaubt, hier zu fischen?" And one addition: usually you would say "angeln" when you are using a fishing rod (german: die Angel). You usually use fishing for fishing with nets.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

"Wer hat Ihnen erlaubt, hier zu fischen?" ist genau der originale Satz aus Assimil. Danke für die Berichtigung! Und auch für Ihre Erklärung, als Erläuterung, von wie und wann man das Wort "angeln" benutzen soll. Es freut mich immer, etwas neu und interessant über der deutschen Sprache zu entdecken! Aber vielleicht in Frankreich, jagte man damals immer Fische mit Netze! :^)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dogely 13

I had a good laugh. That's pretty funny!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

If you can find an old copy of the Assimil "Deutsch ohne Mühe" course, I highly recommend it! It contains a lot of that kind of Gallic humor. :^)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dogely 13

Thanks! I'll look it up!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

Gern geschehen! Übrigens, danke für das (den, die?!) Lingot!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mohrchen 17 6 6

@Dogely: I can't replay you directly, but you don't say "du bist willkommen" in those situations. You say "gerne geschehen" (as a short form for "Das habe ich gerne gemacht") or "keine Ursache".

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

@mohrchen: I cannot respond here to you directly, but one does not say "I can't replay you directly"; one says, "I can't reply to you directly". Thanks again for your earlier correction; I thought you might appreciate one in return! :^)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

condor888 14 12 8 8 5 5 2 2 2

there's only 2 skills available for all language, while there are 3 active skills slots, so I agree I'd like so see great jokes skills for all languages

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Severinbt 11 5

The third slot is a Christmas/holiday skill slot that can only be purchased around that time.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cinovor 13 11

How about this joke?: "Wenn ist das Nunstück geht und Slotermeyer? Ja! Beiherhund das oder die Flipperwaldt gesput!".

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

eulad 11 5

Hahahah, thank you, I never knew how that was spelled !

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ACatterpillar 14 6 4 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2

Translation please?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cinovor 13 11

It is a Monty Python joke. Check it out!: <http://youtu.be/8l3zCQzZx68>

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ACatterpillar 14 6 4 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2

I still don't get it...

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cinovor 13 11

It's the "german" version of the killer joke in that Monty Python sketch I just shared with you. It doesn't mean anything (outside the sketch, that is).

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ACatterpillar 14 6 4 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2

Oh, ok. Thanks!

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

beekysky 9 6 5

There should definitely be jokes in all the languages. Nothing impresses an audience more than a language learner who can recite a quick small joke. And it's a great cultural 'in' as well, because humour can vary (and yet be the same) throughout different cultures. Puns in particular are difficult to learn, but can be very rewarding. I would LOVE to see joke units.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Davix13317 7 5

yes i hope so too

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FallingSoSlow 4 3 2
I agree!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

nopah 4
i would love jokes:3

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Creepered007 7 7 2
Jokes as a bonus skill?YES!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ramseyschool 8 6 2 2
I agree. And maybe they could also add something along the lines of vocabulary. Something to make us sound really smart.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Lachym15 11 7 6 5 3
insert Thor meme here "I like it!"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kayleeqaz 9
That would be totally awesome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

prinkipissa 10 9
That would be great! Honestly the bonus skills offered rn aren't even that interesting, more variety would be welcome

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KaterCheek 22 7 2
I think that's an excellent idea.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

EijiAhad 8
I agree. Although flirting and idioms are useful,the best way to be social is to know a joke or two.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

NATALIADIAZ3 6
YO LO QUIERO MUCHO

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

icecheetah2 20 17 6 31
I support jokes or more slang like languages skills too. And if the staff read this they are more likely to ask coursemakers?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Morrighann 12 8 6
it is the same for french, jokes is diffidently a good suggestion.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gc49k 12 6
are there any popular german comedians?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

brandy.d.s 15 7
I definitely agree that there should be more bonus skills available for all the languages. Jokes. Local Holidays (Christmas, Halloween, Nation's Independence Day if they have one, etc). Slang. Pop culture. Music. Cooking. All sorts of stuff I wouldn't mind learning how to say.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

29 DuoGames: Extra Points for Round 2 (Updated, at least so far...)
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4088340>

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2

AlexisLingust: leveled up in French: 500 completed three skills: 300

melissapleasance: leveled up: 1500, completed 2 skills: 200

Lahure: leveled up: 2200

azureskye: leveled up: 500

Mr.Aaren: level up: need to know which level completed skills; 200

AnnikaJM: 900 + 200

anthgrl: 100

knittinggirl: 1200 + 400 + 1800 + 300

bookrabbit: 400 + 2800

Lupus_bakalov: 900 + 700 + 600 + 300

Give Lingot
42 years ago

Leave a new comment
43 Comments

Lahure 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 13 12 12 10 1134
Have the games started again?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2
yes.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ALoUSyUseRnaME 25 25 16 9 5 5 4
I leveled up in Dutch and learned two skills.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2
Which level? Your dutch thing isn't showing right now.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ALoUSyUseRnaME 25 25 16 9 5 5 4
Level 2, it says on my profile.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AnnikaJM 20 11 9 8 6 2 2
I leveled up twice in Dutch. Levels 4 and 5. And I also learned a French skill.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AnnikaJM 20 11 9 8 6 2 2
I learned a Dutch skill.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

anthgrl 25 15 13
I also learned a French skill today.

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

knittinggirl 25 25 21 19 15 12 11 10 7 6 4 2 1274
I'm up to level 12 in English.

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

knittinggirl 25 25 21 19 15 12 11 10 7 6 4 2 1274
Now I've learned 1 German skill, 2 English for German skills, and 1 English for French. I also seem to have achieved level 18 in French again (?) when I was in French for German speakers. I don't know exactly how that happened or if it counts.

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

knittinggirl 25 25 21 19 15 12 11 10 7 6 4 2 1274
And now I have translation tier 3 in French!

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

knittinggirl 25 25 21 19 15 12 11 10 7 6 4 2 1274
And 11 English for German skills plus level 5 in English for German. I've also reached my 300 day streak, but I don't think that counts for anything.

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

knittinggirl 25 25 21 19 15 12 11 10 7 6 4 2 1274
Now I have a Dutch skill and level 7 in Dutch. I hope this isn't too late :)

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62
I learned 3 Spanish skills and 1 German skill and leveled up to 14 in German.

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62
And leveled up to 14 in French

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62
I have done 2 more Spanish skills since the above

OReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62
And another two Spanish skills and leveled up to 14 in Spanish

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62
And another German skill

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bookrabbit 22 22 20 20 19 17 16 16 16 16 16 15 15 14 13 13 12 8 7 6 62
My extra points for round two were 900 for skills and 4200 for leveling up, a total of 5100.

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Lahure 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 13 12 12 10 1134
This must be an administrative nightmare, but we really appreciate all your efforts!

South Africa (Lahure) - level 22 a few minutes ago.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Gump_lawl 11 9 8
leveled up in spanish german italian portuguese

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

masynk 22 6 5 3 2
:)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

melissapleasance 23 6
Levelled up to level 15 in French

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

melissapleasance 23 6
Completed Verbs: Present 1 French

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

melissapleasance 23 6
Completed Questions in French

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

melissapleasance 23 6
August 14th Reached level 16 in French

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Jobs in Dutch.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Family in Dutch.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Continuous in Dutch.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Present Verbs 2 in Dutch.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Medical in Dutch.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Adverbs in Dutch.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Objects in Dutch.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Te + infinitives in Dutch.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

ThatOneKidJosh 25 10 9 7 3
Holy cow! That's a LOT!

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

ThatOneKidJosh 25 10 9 7 3
No duh.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Demonstrative Pronouns in Dutch.

You two are funny.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

ThatOneKidJosh 25 10 9 7 3
Thanks! I added you as a friend. Plus, join us in our discussion(once you friend me and JustPlainMusic)

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Verbs: The Imperative in Dutch.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12
Completed Modal Verbs in Dutch.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

LilPeterPan 11
Joshua: Alexis has the Dutch Curse. She can't stop ;)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

-Katrina.- 22 13 10 9 9 9 8 6 2 874
Wow..... Are you sure you don't secretly know Dutch? ;)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

AnIsAPandah 6 2 2
The days when I was JustPlainMusic ;)

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

30     *Strengthening Skills question
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4238745>

erinfouraker 17 9 8 6 6 5 4 3 2 1

When you strengthen skills in a particular category, does it pull questions from the whole category or from a particular lesson/section? Just curious.

Give Lingot

12 years ago

Leave a new comment

1 Comment

ThatOneKidJosh 25 10 9 7 3

It strengthens the whole skill.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages

943 - 973

[accessed April 25, 2017]

943-973 [1-30] from search for term: "choice"

1 "What do you choose?"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/838747>

Translation: Qual você escolhe?

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

67 Comments

jefferson.dalp 15

Qual você prefere sugere que tem mais de uma opção, sendo assim o certo nao seria usar o "which"?

30ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

guilhermenarbona 15

vi uma resposta do pacabra e ele disse que poderia ser "which one" nesse caso

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

emeyr 25 25

Which do you choose? // Which one do you choose? Tanto faz.

33ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

miria4051 11

pelo o que eu sei, o which você usa quando se tem uma ideia das opções.Mas não sei se poderia ser usado nessa frase.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

emeyr 25 25

Usa-se which no inglês certo e formal. Em uma ambiente muito informal, pode-se ouvir "what".

28ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

luizvitorio 22 18 17 16 13 13 875

Vamos reportar para mudar.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

mpasqual21 16 12 7 3

"qual voce escolhe" e "qual a sua escolha" me parecem ter o mesmo sentido

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

roh_angela 12 10 7 4 3 3
Pra mim tbm

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

digoo0605 12
verdade mas nessa frase pra ser "qual a sua escolha" deveria ter o pronome possessivo "your"

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Phelippe06 12
Choose nao é preferir, vcs tao viajando

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Claudio_Resende 25 16 14 143
Nao seja radical: escolher, selecionar, optar, eleger, preferir, resolver:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jiAhiu6UqXQ&list=RDB7UcickFdvA&index=12>

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago
[+] 2 hidden comments

pedrolerzundi 9 2
O que você prefere?

4ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

luiz.calheiros 18 8 8 2
what do you prefer?

9ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Ajfcardoso 13
Tudo bem, desde que eles não colocassem "prefere" como uma das traduções possíveis quando você posiciona o mouse sobre a palavra para saber o que significa. Erro grosseiro!

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

DouglasMar710394 15
Corrijam-me se eu estiver errado. O "choose" é o verbo e "choice" é o sbstantivo? Seria o mesmo que "trip" e "travel"?

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

emeyr 25 25

You can choose to travel to Brazil. -- to choose/to travel (escolher/viajar)

I made a choice and took a trip to Brazil. -- choice/trip (escolha/viagem)

11ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SuellenBas 11

O que voce prefere ?!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

rafaelsantosx 14 8 4

Traduziu como 'qual você prefere'. Não poderia ser 'o que você prefere'?

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

syros4 10

Qual voce escolhe deveria ser .... witch e nao what ?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FelipePere45966 24 10 3

Eu escrevi.Qual sua escolha? Não é a mesma coisa?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gilcerri 21 4 1

Qual sua escolha? Pode ser igual a qual você escolhe?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ingrid533617 11

Eu aprendi no Duolingo o "which" é "qual" e o "what" é "que". Eu fiquei na duvida agr.

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

TatianaA3 11 7 5 2

Mais uma vez, em Portugal diz-se Qual é que você escolhe

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

PamelaSous4 11 2 2

Choose e change qual a diferença?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AnaEspadin 11 10 6 6 2

Choose é escolher, change é mudar por exemplo "Which outfit will you choose?" (Que visual/ roupa/ etc. voce vai escolher?) e "I need a change of clothes." (Preciso de uma mudanca de roupa), são bastante diferentes

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jefersonso14 17 7

"Qual a sua escolha ?" Está errado?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CarlosCamp559146 16

Escrevi Qual a sua escolha, e foi errado. Analisei todas as discussões e continuo achando que eu nao errei.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jlfalves 16 16

Qual a sua escolha não estaria correto?

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

ralozaga 15

Qual você escolhe?

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

fernandohbcunha 12 11

o que você escolher? está certo assim?

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

gquezid 20 12 156

Se eu disser "Qual é sua escolha?", está errado?

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

CarlosFerr284936 15 8

Esta frase deveria ser traduzida como "O que você escolhe"!

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

DeadGui1200 14 9 7 6 2 3

Eu escolho o charmander e vocês?

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

GILSONBATI14 15

Eu coloquei (qual voce escolhe ) , repostada certa ,mas o Duo deu errado.....ai ja nao entendo!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

[deactivated user]

Hihihi tradução livre:qual faz você escolher?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

GabrielSil92 13 5

"I choose violence!" Disse Cersey

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

tiagonmna 9 9 2

Em pt/pt é "O que é que escolhes?".

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

NeniF. 11

Estas perguntas não estão feitas para português de Portugal: assim seria "O que é que tu escolhes?". É um pouco difícil responder corretamente porque muitas das expressões são diferentes em Portugal...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Daniel239803 10 4

"O que você decide?" não cabe aí?

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 days ago

GarcMan 20 6 5

Creio que o DUOLINGO VAI TER QUE FAZER UMA RESPOSTA PARA CADA CHUTADOR. QUAL VOCÊ ESCOLHE E O QUE VOCE PREFERE TEM UMA DIFERENÇA DO TAMANHO DO BRASIL. NÃO SABE NEM APRENDER DESISTA!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Felipe_m4 18 3

Garciaej relaxa ae. Você nao nasceu sabendo. Fica de boas. Essa atitude não o faz melhor que ninguém. Mas acho que você sabe disso, afinal você é um cara inteligente. Certo?

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GarcMan 20 6 5

Passei aqui depois de um ano, pq o duolingo foi muito importante para mim, como pontapé inicial, se você me entende. Não se trata de saber, nascer sabendo, arrogancia, etc, etc. Então vou te dar uma dica e se duvidar fale com algum conhecido que more fora do país. Inglês, como lingua anglo saxonica, não tem tradução literal para o português, mas sim, a palavra, frase portuguesa que mais se aproxima do que o inglês quer dizer. O que está bem claro acima e não é ofensa, é que "qual você escolhe" e "o que você prefere", são como água e óleo. Qual você escolhe é uma pergunta objetiva.. faça a sua escolha? "O que você prefere", é uma pergunta subjetiva... O que você prefere? Ou você prefere o quê?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Claudio_Resende 25 16 14 143

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jiAhiu6UqXQ&list=RDB7UcickFdvA&index=12>

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

OBS54 22 84

qual e sua escolha. esta errado?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

anaCarolin472600 17 1

Gente por favor vcs poderiam me informar quando e onde devemos inserir o "do"?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

luizvitorio 22 18 17 16 13 13 875

Usa-se em perguntas e negações no presente, quando não tem o verbo "to be". Usamos também para enfatizar uma afirmação.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

wbrione 10

"Qual a sua escolha ?" está errado !? Por quê ?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

digo0605 12

nesse caso seria "what is your choose ?"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AnaEspadin 11 10 6 6 2

*choice

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AnaEspadin 11 10 6 6 2

Nesse caso seria "What is your choice?"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MaxVictos 13 11 8

pra mim "what do you choose" ta mais pra "o que você escolhe" pq "qual você escolhe" ta mais pra "which one do you choose"

mais uma vez o duolingo deixando a desejar

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ThiagoPast4 14

"Qual voce escolhe" é a mesma coisa do que "Qual tu escolhes"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FilipeRevival 25 13 7 5 48

Poderia ser "O que você prefere?" Pq "What" e qual né?...

Thanks... :)

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheTrueFalafel 9

"O que é que tu escolhes?"

-1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

GabrielFer359333 16 3

Vai pikachu eu escolho vc

-1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

JoanaPrata2 10

Só permitem traduções em PT-BR, o que complica a vida a todos os falantes de PT-PT.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

aishameriane 12 9 9 8 6

Achei estranho no português falar "Qual você escolhe". Eu falaria "Qual você quer?", mas como achei que daria errado, traduzi como " Qual você prefere?" pois o próprio duolingo deixou prefere como uma das opções para choose. Aí me deu errado. Grr.

-2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

OBS54 22 84

QUAL E SUA ESCOLHA ( ESTA ERRADO ? )

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AnaEspadin 11 10 6 6 2

Qual é a sua escolha seria "What is your choice?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

2 "Han dricker inte olja. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5531492>

Translation: He does not drink oil.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

54 Comments

Voyta 20 12 11 8 7 6 4 2 501

Eww. Someone actually drinks oil?

229ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 22 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 145

In several other Duo courses, there's a man who does. So we decided ours wouldn't.

668ReplyGive Lingot112•2 years ago

Voyta 20 12 11 8 7 6 4 2 501

That was a wise decision. Have a lingot for it.

213ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

darren8221 18 12 8 6 5 4 3 3 2 1

Some Spanish cats won't drink water so maybe...

85ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

m.aster 19 9

Break out the cervezas!

57ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DannyTD 7 6

Dude there are swedish dogs that eat cats

17ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

shawnvamp 5

Good choice.. good choice...

30ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Hop-all-the-way 17 6
yeah. in the Irish course, he does drink oil, but it's with a cat.

78ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

gabrielarangel 14 8 8 4
my mom taught me that if it's with a cat, than it's okay to drink oil.

81ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

derangedlinguist 15 14 13 9 9 8 8 8 6 6 6 4 4 4 4 2 5
Totally normal, I assume I'll see all you guys at Ireland's annual oil drinking with a cat festival 2016.
Looking forward to it! ;)

37ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LanguageLe435356 13 8 6 6 6 4 4 4
O man, now I've got to take Irish.

21ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Landskoldpadda 15 12
You'd think that in the Irish course, they'd talk more about drinking öl than oil. =)

16ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago
[+] 1 hidden comment

RikSha 18 17 13 13 13 13 12 11 11 11 10 9
Would it be correct to comment: Vad kloka ni är! (How wise of you)

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

littlegrids 10 8
yes that's korrekt

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EstaFortal 6 4 4
could it be referring to the infamous cod oil? my mom remembers being forced to drink it after every meal :(

18ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

walent 7 4 4 3
I drink black cumin oil for health reasons so i didn't find this weird :D

14ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bersemees 9 4

George W. Bush does. It makes him younger (or so he thinks)

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

supu1 21 8 7 4 49

In south Europe there are people who taste wine and people who taste oil. It is their job. Sometimes i have done too; just a bit but only if it is good quality one which you can find for instance in Greece, Spain, Italy

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mumblemee 22 11 11 9 32

It's not as uncommon as you may think. Some singers do, to help their voice, some people do for health reasons and then there's some of the people who live here, who drink a shot of pumpkin seed oil before partying, so they will be able to drink more without getting drunk too fast and those that drink it because it's supposed to work as a aphrodisiac and help with stamina.

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pandaman212 6 4

I put olive oil into my protine shakes, you cant taste it at all but it will still help bring your calories up.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GianluigiM172541 10 9 9 8 7 6

I do it sometimes. With a teaspoon.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ChocolateFondue 6 5 4

Me too, I like the taste of sunflower oil Jk I did it just once for a dare. But I did like it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

thebagofsalt 9

Good for him. Wise decision.

29ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

attis765 18 15 11 4

Who can blame him really?

25ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

LukeMay2 6 2

The cool kids (men) in other languages did it, this man's boring!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rjvrtiska 8 2

This sounded absurd at first. Then I realized that, due to the very short late Fall days, I have started to drink fish oil. He should definitely drink oil!

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BlueRazor71 8 5 2

O.O

Dat sentence doe..

I remember my dad telling me stories of when he was a kid. He had to drink Castrol oil every month..

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RAlberdi 21 12 12 11 10 6 4 3 2 24

I prefer Mobil

14ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

NevilleJam 13

Castrol GTX-2 1999 vintage

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RAlberdi 21 12 12 11 10 6 4 3 2 24

With a shade of angostura. Shaken, not stirred...

10ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

supu1 21 8 7 4 49

"Castrol" oil is for car motors

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

arielkangaroo 21 13 13 10 7 5

Maybe his dad is a car! You don't know this! :D

5ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

ViArSkoldpaddor 15 10 8 5 5 2

Maybe he kept eating too much chocolate. (Castor oil is a laxative)

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BlueRazor71 8 5 2

Nope.. He said it was a regular treatment that him and his siblings had to do.. I do think you were right about him taking it as a laxative though..

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Kornellier 16 11 11 8 8 5 4

Is olja used just to refer to edible oil or also in the english sense (like for petrol, gas and energetical stuff)?

Thanks! =)

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

originalnamehere 12 2 63

it is used for both

7ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kornellier 16 11 11 8 8 5 4

Thank you very much!! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AgustnSeja 5 2

So...you use 'inte' when you want to deny something?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 22 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 145

To negate a verb, like you use not in English. dricker inte = does not drink

To negate nouns, you use ingen/inget/inga, like you use no in English. ingen olja = no oil

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BurstingPotato 3

Finally, the oil drinking days are over. .. Or are they..?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AlecHirsch1 17 6

is this the correct pronunciation? All the words sound extremely blended together.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Zmrzlina 14 13 12 10 4

Yes, it's good.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

thorr18 15 5 5 5 324

I agree that it's tricky, because I only hear 3 syllables like "intolja" while my ear expected 4. This sample pronunciation seems to do the same and more; I can only hope it's an extreme example :).

https://forvo.com/phrase/det\_bryr\_jag\_mig\_inte\_om./#sv

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

SupremusSwaggus 9 6 5 3 2

So... putting inte after a verb is turning it negative? Interesting.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

santeriboy1 6 15

That is problem.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

angel_XD 6 4 4 4 4 2

Porque no se pone la "s" en drink

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 22 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 145

The s ends up on does instead, compare:

I drink – I do not drink

He drinks – He does not drink

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

miguelangel.. 13 13 13 12 12 12 8 426

Thanks

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

N2003n 11 6 5 4

dricker can be used for does, and does not? I don't understand Please help me with this. thank you

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Anass90 6 7

"Dricker" (means drink/drinks) is a verb, and you add "inte" to have a negative form, like so:

Han dricker... - He drinks...

Han dricker inte... - He does not drink...

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

VilleDing 9

Does not flag the answer correct despite the exact spelling

-2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Maria369964 4

Well, I'd hope for anyone's sake that they don't drink oil...

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

TomFreeman2 10 5

"He drinks no oil "

-4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Arnauti 25 25 25 22 20 18 16 12 11 11 11 9 9 6 2 2 145

... would be Han dricker ingen olja in Swedish.

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

3 South Slavic languages (Јужнословенски јазици) and a list of Macedonian lessons
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10068881>

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

What of South Slavic languages are you most interested in? Macedonian, Serbian, Bulgarian, Bosnian, Croatian or Slovenian? What language will be the first contributed, what do you think? ) My native language is Macedonian and I speak Serbian well and I can understand Croatian and Bulgarian but Slovenian a little difficult while Bosnian is mostly mix between Serbian and Croatian. I recommend you my Macedonian because it is the easiest and has no cases but it is your choice! )

These are links for the lessons of my Macedonian

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10084808> (1st lesson = phrases)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10103211> (2nd lesson = alphabet)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10117014> (3rd lesson = numbers)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10638200> (4th lesson = plural)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11494233> (5th lesson = animals)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11558156> (6th lesson = verbs "to be" and "to have")

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11646122> (7th lesson = the negation and the interrogation of "to be" and "to have")

Јас очекувам вашите одговори, поздрав од Македонија ))

Give Lingot7

441 year ago

Leave a new comment

53 Comments

Antibiodic 21 10 8 5 5 2

Hmm... Bulgarian !

16ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

RhydianDavies 11 6 6 5 5 4 2

Now you can search for "Intro to Bulgarian" and "Basic Bulgarian" in the Duolingo forum, and you'll see a few beginner lessons, if you're still interested!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

Okay, not a bad choice ) Macedonian and Bulgarian are very similar and they are able to understand each other but Macedonian is certainly easier for reading and writing. Trust me )

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Szczepanovich 20 17 15 13 12 11 11 8 8 8 8 7 7 5 5 2

Definitely Bulgarian! My girlfriend is Bulgarian and I would love to learn her language.

11ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

It is awesome and respect! )

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sable_Feathers 11 10 8 8 7 6 6 4 3 2

Honestly I would love to learn them all, but I would say Serbian for me.

8ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

It is good choice! ) Serbian and Macedonian are similar and have many of the same words but their grammar is a little different. Macedonian is easy, there are no cases but there are definite members (articles) as in Bulgarian, and Serbian has seven cases as Ukrainian and Russian )

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

HebrewLearner 4 4 2

Judging by this I think I might want to choose Macedonian. Based on what I actually kind of want, Croatian.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kyrstie2 7 6 3 2

Probably Bulgarian or Macedonian, but if one of them was offered, I'd be satisfied with any of them.

7ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

I am very glad )

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tokelau 10 3 3 210

Bosnian!

7ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

What is reason? Better Serbian or Croatian )

0ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

Tokelau 10 3 3 210

Oh, I read a book about the Bosnian War and it was good and moving.. And also I really like Bosnia the country itself and it's on my list of places to visit c:

2ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

It is so awesome. I was there, it is very beautifull and I think all the best ) Bosnian is just a mixture of Serbian and Croatian language. It depends where you go. In the north and the east of Bosnia speaks Serbian, while in the south and the west Croatian

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tokelau 10 3 3 210

Yeah, I know about that, I really want to visit Mostar and Sarajevo

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JTGruver 9 9 6 5 2

Bulgarian!

7ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2
Good choice )

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

grey236 14 11 8 7 7 7 6 6 5 2
I might do Russian because Ukrainian and Russian are very similar, but a language with no cases?!
It's the break I need... I do like Serbian too because of different letters and Cyrillic/Latin alphabet are interchangeable.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2
Ukrainian is very beautiful and melodic, I learn it and soon Russian but I know enough ) I seriously say, Macedonian has no cases ^^ Therefore, it is the lightest of all Slavic languages ) Yes, Serbian is also very beautiful but it is difficult as Russian although it has lighter pronunciation and its phonetic is 100%.. Cyrillic is law, and I do not know very well Serbian Latin alphabet

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Monsieur_Bovary 17 16 16 15 12 12 12 16
I'd say Slovenian or Croatian, due to geographical proximity ;-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2
As you wish, your choice ) Easier for you to learn if you do not know the Cyrillic alphabet because Macedonian, Serbian and Bulgarian are used the Cyrillic

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Monsieur_Bovary 17 16 16 15 12 12 12 16
You're right, but I do know the Cyrillic alphabet :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

34890234890i3905 17 17 199
If you are interested in Slovenian, here is a link to the Slovene duolingo page

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11160209>

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

miacomet 22 16 13 13 12 10 9 8 8 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 3
I'm learning Croatian right now, but I intend to branch out into all of them. Bosnian, Serbian, and Montenegrin (if you can even count that...) are all just about the same language, so I can understand them all as well as I can Croatian, even though Cyrillic isn't as natural for me yet as Latin is.

Does Macedonian really have no cases? It's interesting that it's so closely related to languages with seven-case, three-number systems but its only suffixes are for definiteness.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

Nice, i am so glad you learn some language of South Slavic ) I do not like Montenegrin because it is fictional and they tried to distinguish a phonology of Serbian so only Montenegro accepts its own language! Serbian and Croatian have a difference although they are understood but Croatia and Serbia have their own official language and they consider separate languages, and not dialects... They have more and more different words ) eg.

Ja krenem da spavam, устаћу ујутру у осам сати да идем код лекара зато што ме боли кичма и имам кијавицу (Serbian)

Ja krenem spavat, ustat ću ujutro u osam sati da idem k liječniku zato što me boli kralježnica i imam hunjavicu (Croatian) etc

Yes, Macedonian have no cases (in some parts of Macedonia used vocative, depends on the dialect but in standard Macedonian is not used), it is easy, right? But have definite articles (English "the"): от, та, то; човекот = the man (masculine gender), девојката = the girl (f.g.), дрвото = the tree (n.g.) but мојот човек = "the" my man etc. човек, девојка and дрво are Serbian loanwords )

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

miacomet 22 16 13 13 12 10 9 8 8 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 3

Nice example sentences. Hope you feel better soon. :D

I agree with you in Montenegrin... It's nationalism at its worst. They even invented the letters ś and ź to try to make themselves unique. Macedonian seems interesting, and I'm planning to get around to all of the Balkan languages.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Budvu

I have to say it is quite comical that you do not like Montenegrin because it is "fictional" when your "Macedonian language" (there is in nothing real Macedonian about you nor your language) was created 70 years ago in the exact same way taking a Bulgarian dialect and making a standard language out of it. // Sincerely, a Montenegrin

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

w1ndh0ek 12 11 11 11 10 7 6 90

If someone would like to learn Bulgarian, send me a message and I can help you :)

P.S That's a great idea, I hope they add South Slavic languages in the near future.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Szczepanovich 20 17 15 13 12 11 11 8 8 8 8 7 7 5 5 2

Please apply to be a course contributor, if you haven't already! :)

<https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply>

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

w1ndh0ek 12 11 11 11 10 7 6 90

I applied, we'll see what happens :)

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

AzraGradin 8 6 3

I would like to contribute to Bosnian (for German and English speakers :) My mother tongue is Bosnian, my boyfriend is Austrian and English seems to be the right choice :)

3ReplyGive Lingot6•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

It is nice ) Good luck! )

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

flootzavut 18 17 17 16 13 12 12 12 11 8 7 6 5 5 5 5 4 2 2

Croatian = because I studied it in college for a year and wish I'd kept it up!

Bulgarian = because it's so different from all the other Slavic languages I've been exposed to, and also a good friend of mine is a native speaker.

Slovenian = dual number, because apparently I'm a glutton for punishment, and also I just think it's purty.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

It is interesting ) I speak very well Croatian, and Bulgarian something understand while Slovenian bad so I would like to learn it )

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

UneJamKuqEZi 15 12 12 11 7 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

I wish for Serbo-Croatian (Serbian, Croatian, Bosnian, and Montenegrin all into one language) the most, but secondly, I want either Macedonian or Bulgarian. Mostly because my dad speaks Albanian, Serbo-Croatian and Macedonian (and some Bulgarian) because he was raised in Macedonia.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

It is very interesting! ) I speak a little Albanian, and Serbian fluently because my boyfriend is a Serb and there are many Serbs here with which communicate ) Sorry, I would like to be a separate course referring to Serbian, Croatian and Bosnian

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

UneJamKuqEZi 15 12 12 11 7 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

But that would make little to no sense, since Serbian, Croatian, and Bosnian are 99% mutually intelligible, if not the same languages with different names. Their only differences are that in Serbian, they use -e- instead of -ije- or -je-, and don't pronounce the h sometimes in words, but pronounce it as j, v, or don't pronounce it at all. Examples:

Wind: Vetar in Serbian, Vjetar in Croatian and Bosnian.

Fly (bug): Muva in Serbian, Muha in Croatian and Bosnian.

Also many more words. Click here for more differences.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lennonmacca 23 12 10 6 5 4 2

It would be good if they could be made together... but how would you do that with the differences that in fact do exist? I mean even if, for example, vetar and vjetar are definitely mutually intelligible (as the majority of the words) there are still different systems... and you would have to settle with one system, otherwise it would be very confusing for the learner I think? These languages are of course very similar, one could call them dialects I suppose, and I understand that people might think that it's "ridiculous" to build different courses... but in the end it is what it is, and you would have to choose one language/dialect to create a course from.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

UneJamKuqEZi 15 12 12 11 7 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

Well, maybe they could have several forms that they teach/accept, just like American/British/Australian English. Actually, that's how you can describe the comparison between the three languages, exactly like the different English dialects. They each have differences, one is more different than the others (American/Serbian) and the other two are more closely related than to the other one (British and Australian/Croatian and Bosnian).

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

lennonmacca 23 12 10 6 5 4 2

They could definitely accept different answers for an English sentence, but when they write the sentence in the target language they would have to stick to one version in my opinion. I've read that before and I definitely get the point... But still, this is just another situation than English... much more complicated. Anyway, I don't think it's really necessary to make them all into one single course.

I mean anyone who seriously wants to learn one of these knows that if you want to learn Serbian you could definitely do a Croatian tree or the reversed, and then work on the details... So if for example Croatian came, I think people would still see it as "Croatian (Serbian, Bosnian, Montenegrin)" in a way if that makes sense. So then it's just up to Duolingo which one that should come, and be the "name" for all of these languages (because if one of them comes I don't think they'll exactly hurry to get the others out? Who knows). Sometimes I think one will never be put up because Duolingo just doesn't know where to stand in this debate haha.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

MuhdRafi7 21 8 7 5 5 3 85

I love Slavic languages, the sound of it are very unique and different. I even taught myself Cyrillic because it looks beautiful and looks like a secret code :) I also want to know how to pronounce the words. It isn't that hard to learn the Cyrillic that's maybe the easiest part, but to pronounce it is another story because it almost sounds like tongue twisters to me. But I still love it. I personally never heard Macedonian language before, but after hearing it like it sounds beautiful and unique. I would love to know all the Slavic languages but I'm actually interested in Russian, the first Slavic language that I know, but I'm also interested in Bulgarian, and you also sparks my interest in Macedonian :) I would love to learn it with other Slavic languages.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

Wow, beautiful words of you! ) I also love Slavic languages. Macedonian is one of the most beautiful and melodic as well as easiest, so i hope that you will really learn Macedonian in addition to Russian and some. I am glad you have learned the Cyrillic alphabet. ) Greetings!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MuhdRafi7 21 8 7 5 5 3 85

Thanks :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Felicity979537 12 5 4 3 2

Bulgarian!

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

lennonmacca 23 12 10 6 5 4 2

Croatian is the one I would like to see the absolute most, but I don't really care that much honestly. Bosnian, Serbian or Montenegrin would all be amazing too!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RhydianDavies 11 6 6 5 5 4 2

Oh sweet! I didn't know you were creating lessons as well! Looks like they are generating attention - I hope that continues!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

I also hope! )

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

paraos 3 2

I am learning Croatian on my own at this time, and I would love to see it on Duolingo as well. Though I will probably be beyond the level of Duolingo when such a course would be ready for public use..

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mnedelkovska 6 3 2 2 2 2

Yes ) I hope they will contribute to Croatian, Serbian, Macedonian and Bulgarian soon on Duolingo

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JDW2666 17 16 2

Bosnian for me. The culture is enchanting.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Peter513630 5

I would love to see Macedonian added to Duolingo! Slovenian (Slovene) would be my 2nd choice, followed by Serbo-Croatian for 3rd!

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

JosipFranjic 12 3 2

Croatian,Serbian,Bosnian and Montenegrin are 99% the same,it's true that Serbs prefer cyrilic script more than latin but it's all the same language and most ethnic Montenegrin's declare Serbian as mother language because Montenegrin language didn't exist untill 2000's. Day will come when those 4 languages will unite in 1 language,the only problem is the name of that language... I myself think it should be called "Yugoslav language" with 4 dialects.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

het_aapje 25 23 11 11 10 9 7 6 20

Since this is a discussion about Јужнословенски језици (in Serbian :D) here is a link to the "Српски Директоријум" :))

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

4 Who wants to speak with me now???

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10630557>

sarah0598 12 12 4

celui qui veut parler avec moi en anglais !* People are invited to discuss here:!!!!

Give Lingot

31 year ago

Leave a new comment

49 Comments

jewulz 11 5 4 2

Hello, Sarah. How are you today?

My name is Tira, and I'm a 15 year old girl from America. I would love to help you practice your English, and you are free to leave a message on my profile at anytime.

I hope that you are having a lovely day!!!

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

cool you are so nice!! i want to speak it's possible now?when do you go to sleep? i want you know that i speak english well!! but i have to learn the expressions of the life!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jewulz 11 5 4 2

Thank you!! I can speak now because it is only the afternoon where I live. I don't go to sleep until around 9PM.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

oh yeah!! you are right

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

francillon1 6

ok cool but i think when you have time we can talk each other what are you thinking

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

i'm thinking about what?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

this thursday i 'am free all the day to talk!!!

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4
yes i'm fine thank you!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jewulz 11 5 4 2
I'm glad to hear that you are fine. You're welcome!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4
can we speak on skype it's easier for the connexion!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sidalimeflah 5
ok give me your skype

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sidalimeflah 5
my skype: dalisidalif

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Meili.C 6 6
I am from Canada and I would love to have some positive conversations. I don't know very much French but I am fluent in English. I would also love to help you in any way I can to help you improve your English.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sidalimeflah 5
welcome

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4
you have to say " i can help you for improving your english" !!! thank you very much!! what is fluent??? okay so we can speak about the society!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Meili.C 6 6
Fluent in English, means that I am able to express myself easily and articulately in English. It is my first language after all.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

great!!! so we can argue about society!!!! tell me a subject !!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Meili.C 6 6

hmm... well. How about we talk about the hidden power of smiling? Or maybe about how common threats can make common political ground? Here is a great TED talk about it the last suggestion. It is very informative.

https://www.ted.com/talks/jonathan\_haidt\_how\_common\_threats\_can\_make\_common\_political\_ground#t-329038

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

wow !! i feel well the idea of smiling!! my choice is made!! the smiling have a hidden face!!!

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

Meili.C 6 6

Good choice.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

francillon1 6

hello everyone

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

hi!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

francillon1 6

hello

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

francillon1 6

ithink we can help each other

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

yes

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MehdiChakiri 4

Hi , I m new here ^^ And I want to learning english language, Can you help me :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

sure!!! everybody is new here so don't worry! we can help you!!!! but to this way, we have to discuss about a subject!! who can say a good subject to talk about it??

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MehdiChakiri 4

thanks Sarah0598 Im so happy for this :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

great!! so what about the restaurant?? waitress is it a good job?? cook ??

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

(it's an idea about subject)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

nanobiby 2

hello i want to speak with you but i don't know who are you so.....

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

okay!! firstly, you needn't to know who i am to talk with me!!! just for information, i'm 16 i'm in the last format in high school!!! i'm sarah!!!! i don't know you and them and i can speak with you!!!! okay you can introduce you !!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tutur042 5

i want speak with you to progress

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

nice!! so introduce you to me!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

hi everybody!! write some interesting subjects we can discuss and we'll choice together the best !!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Noussak2000 7 5

Bjr sara je veux bienparler en anglais avec yoi dans l'intention de maitriser la langue Si t'as un compte fb sera tant mieux Merci et bonne chance

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

je n'ai pas fb désolé!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Noussak2000 7 5

Ok c 'est pas grave :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TayThermal 5

Hello. I can talk with you.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

okay great!! so tell me about your life!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TayThermal 5

Uh, I like languages. I want to learn Romanian, and am taking Latin as a class in school :) What about you?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

wow so impressive!! i lke the languages too!!! i speak english in classroom!! i learnt italian alone on duolingo!! and i know a little bit some languages!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sidalimeflah 5

hh i want to learn some english

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

great!!!! what can you tell me about your hobbies?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tiniata10 10

Hi ! From Tahiti :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sarah0598 12 12 4

nice to meet you!!!! how old are you? what do you do in life??

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sidalimeflah 5

hello from algeria

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kalleca 21 10 6 4 3 572

Me, always looking for girl to talk to.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

francillon1 6

hello how are you guys

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

5 "Hvilket barn valgte hun? "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10480719>

Translation: Which child did she choose?

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

8 Comments

londoncallling 21 18 15 1

Sophie's Choice :(

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Vallet13 16 9 6

Could this also mean "Which child chose her?" And the meaning depends on the situation or does there have to be a certain order for the words?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

fveldig 14 13 13 12 11 9 5 5 3

That would've been "Hvilket barn valgte henne"

10ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Vallet13 16 9 6

Oh, of course. My bad. Thank you!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

justinskadi 14 11 10 7 5 4 4 4 3

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

vukmisovic 16 4

Jeg tenker at det er en referanse på Sophie's Choice.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

igor348314 18 2 1

Don't you see, such a weird frases are deliberately made to stick in your mind! And if you feel them sad or twisted... Well, everyone notices around himself only the things that he's already got inside. Personal negative experience? )))

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Gzeebzee 19 11 11 5 3 3 2 2

Thought Dou would have quoted Sophies World more readily than Sophies Choice as thats one of the few originally Norwegian novels english speakers may have read. Must be some odd phases in that due to the context?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

6 My Duolingo Goals

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11572287>

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2

I have always asked myself "What are your Duolingo goals?" I decided to make a discussion about it and here's my answer!:

To get LOTS of translation tiers in spanish.

Earn plenty of lingots without cheating for them.

Be very nice to Duolingo users and help make Duolingo users active (
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11364558> )

Invite all my friends to Duolingo.

Help other Duolingo users.

Become level 9 on Spanish by the end of the year. (Spanish is my favorite language, and 9 is my favorite number)

What are your Duolingo goals? Please let me know.

Give Lingot7

101 year ago

Leave a new comment

21 Comments

notdeadluna 18 12 8 6 6 2 2 2

Finish my Russian tree before the end of the year.

Keep my Russian tree gold.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2

Nice!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

-Sapphira- 25 16 11 8 6 6 6 2 43

Awesome, I hope you accomplish all of your goals!! Here are my goals:

Learn every language on Duolingo

Finish my German tree by the end of the year

Reach a translation tier of 1,00 in French (somewhere in the far future! XD)

Reach Level 7 in Russian by the end of the year

Reach a 100-day streak

Make a new friend every week

Be on Duolingo for 10 years!!!

Get 1,000 followers! :D

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2

AWESOME!!!!!!!!!! I HOPE YOU ACCOMPLISH THESE!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

-Sapphira- 25 16 11 8 6 6 2 43
Thanks, me too!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CosmoKaiza 17 14 5
I love those kind of discussions :D ! So here are my Duolingo goals

- 1) Finish the Dutch tree before Christmas
- 2) Re-Gold my German tree and reach level 25
- 3) Finish the Turkish tree next year
- 4) Finish the Romanian tree when it is available

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2
You're goals are awesome!!!!!! :D

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tattamin 25 21 13 10 4 4 3 555
Finish French tree
Keep French tree golden and go for level 25 in French while progressing in Norwegian tree and starting on Russian tree in earnest
After finishing the Norwegian tree I hope to finally find the time for properly learning Esperanto
1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

- Liebert_ 25 25 25 19 14 13 239
- 1 Finish my French tree and reach the level 25 at French course
  - 2 Finish at least half of the German tree
  - 3 Maybe learn Danish after I have finished my French tree.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2
Awesome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Here4SchoolOnly 19
mine is to one day become a Mod, and also possibly figure out how to create a spam/swear filter to add to this site.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Here4SchoolOnly 19
also to finish French before the New Year

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2
Awesome Choice!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

brittalexism 14 13 13 11 8 6 6 3 2 2 2 40
Right now, my goals are to finish the German, Spanish, and Swedish trees by the new year. I am almost at the halfway mark on each tree, I would say! Then, once that happens, I want to try to keep those golden and reach level 25 while trying to complete the Norwegian and Portuguese trees within a 6 months period. I may decide to complete Danish, Dutch, Italian, and probably Welsh and Swahili when they come out. I hope to reach level 25 in all languages I want to study within 2-3 years.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2
Cool!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EoghanBostock 17 8 5 5 2
Finish German tree

Finish Russian tree

Get back to French (I learned it in school)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2
Gave you an upvote!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago gingerninja3148 25 20 16 13

Reach level 25 in German.

Make my Esperanto tree all gold.

Finish all my trees that I haven't finished yet by the end of the year (except Russian which will take a lot longer).

Get my family and more of my friends onto Duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jarcher77 9 8 6 4 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

I have purely language goals.

Finish the French tree sometime in the new year.

Finish the Spanish tree by the middle of next year.

Finish the German tree by the middle of next year.

Work on Irish, Norwegian, and Russian after those three.

Learn every language on Duolingo eventually.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kaka4444 14 4 4 2

My goal is just to learn Italian level by level. I'm not in hurry!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ddestroyer 13 10 9 8 7 6 6 4 4 2

Finish my German Tree and keep it golden

Be on a 100 day streak

Reach level 10 in all the languages I'm currently learning

Finish the Polish tree when it's available

Finish my Swedish tree and keep it golden

Work more on my French, Irish, Norwegian, Italian, Dutch and Ukrainian trees

Practice everything I learnt/am learning here and improve my skills

Invite my friends to Duolingo, to show them how funny it can be to learn a new language

Start studying spanish. I had classes on school a few years ago, but forgot almost everything and now I just speak something like a "portunhol".

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

7 Favourite German Films

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9570098>

Ali_RL 11 9 4

What are your favourite German films? I haven't seen many, so I'd like to see some favourites/recommendations - we can make some kind of master list of must see films :)

Edit: Thank you for all of the recommendations! Keep them coming :P

Give Lingot

41 year ago

Leave a new comment

15 Comments

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Das Leben der Anderen.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Patrick_Irish 17 12 12 12 11 10 9 8 7 7 6 3 3 3 3 23

"Miracle of Bern" & "Goodbye Lenin"

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ali_RL 11 9 4

I love Goodbye Lenin! Daniel Bruehl is great in everything :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Monsieur_Bovary 17 16 16 15 12 12 12 16

I really liked "Christiane F. - Wir Kinder von Bahnhof Zoo"... I hope I will be able to watch it in German soon... now, I'm reading the book in German (I've already read it in my native language a couple years ago)... schwer zu lesen, aber es lohnt sich :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lorel90 25 25 22 7 920

Lola Run

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kattorn 20 7 6 5 3 2 1

I would recommend you to watch films by Haneke, he is Austrian, but it is still German! Das weiße Band is probably my favourite one, and also it takes place in Germany.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Monsieur_Bovary 17 16 16 15 12 12 12 16

I watched "The Piano Teacher"... I also read the book by Elfriede Jelinek... I hope I will be able to watch the movie/read the novel in German soon :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

HappyEvilSlosh 25 23 22 20 13 11 10 9 8 7 4 2 2
Die Welle.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mr_Eyl 13 12 7 2 2
Great choice.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mr_Eyl 13 12 7 2 2
I like 'Nirgendwo in Afrika', 'Der Baader-Meinhof Complex', 'Der Untergang', and 'Nosferatu: Phantom der Nacht'. Family drama, two historical dramas and horror respectively.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ali_RL 11 9 4
I love 'Der Untergang', Bruno Ganz is fantastic! It seems to be the only German film, apart from 'Das Boot', that is ever on TV in the UK :) Speaking of Nosferatu, the director's skull was stolen from his grave yesterday/a few days ago :S. I shall have a look at the others you have mentioned.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kathnette 15 14 13 12 12 11 9 9 9 8 7 7 7 6 5 4 3 2 2 205
Try "Die fetten Jahre sind vorbei". One of my all-time favorites!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

smilljas 25 21 21 15 3 27
"Wir sind die Nacht" (3 female vampires introduce a newbie to the darker side of Berlin nightlife, but then...), Das Leben ist nichts für Feiglinge (Husband, daughter and mother-in-law learn how to cope with life after a woman's unexpected death. Sounds depressing, but it's not), "Barbara" (What to choose: one's dreams and freedom or love and security?)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Slydiad 25 25 25 19 675
If you're into horror, I really enjoyed Ich Seh Ich Seh (English title: Goodnight Mommy).

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stannie322 7 5
Wo ist Fred?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

8 "You hide your millions."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/9137641>

Translation: Tu caches tes millions.

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

6 Comments

iagox86 24 2 307

First world problems

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

illegalChantel 13 6 5

Okay so could someone explain the difference between "tes" and "ton" and the right placement of each?

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

sean.mullen 18 14 14 11 9 6 3 39

Ton is used when the noun is masculine singular or when the noun is feminine singular beginning with a vowel or mute-h. Ta is used for all other feminine singular nouns. Tes is used when the noun is plural, whether it's masculine or feminine. All three of them come before the noun.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

raphstern 21 3

BWAAAHHHAAA!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RosariaGar 14 13 2

Well done bro

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bobjobbley 18

Smart choice

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

9 have lingots i need some

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11017016>

LoveThePianoGuys 15 3

could somebody give me lingots

Give Lingot20

-61 year ago

Leave a new comment

4 Comments

Mulch_Diggums 12 9 9 8 8

What do you need lingots for? Just a heads up: You need to earn yourself lingots, not ask for them. I understand if you want a skill or something from the lingot store, but you gotta earn them. Happy learning. :D

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

LoveThePianoGuys 15 3

ok i will try to earn them myself but i was trying to buy a new skill

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mulch_Diggums 12 9 9 8 8

Maybe you could start a new language to get more lingots. How many do you need?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LoveThePianoGuys 15 3

your choice

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

10 Croatian For English Speakers

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3447199>

Terrapod 13 8 5 2 1

As the title says...

What do you guys think of doing a Croatian for English speakers? Anyone here willing to make it?

Give Lingot286

3642 years ago

Leave a new comment

373 Comments

kriskross4 22 16 15 12 11 8 8 7 6

I am willing to make it.; I am just wondering about the general interest for the course. Few months ago I applied for creating the course but still haven't received any feedback. Hoping that will change.

118ReplyGive Lingot32•2 years ago

drkameleon 24 15 9 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 3

I am interested. I love your culture, the people, the places, and the language - although I've never made it to seriously study it. (I still have a little bosnian/serbo-croatian -> english dictionary though, since the last time I've been there... :-) )

So, I'm with you guys,

Cheers from Greece! ;-)

34ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

SanJunipero13 9 3 3 2 2 2 1

I love so much the Balkans and countries from ex Yu, the language is so beautiful, it's like a slavic italian, people is so nice there too, and many things to do

6ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

pamajq 19 2

I want to learn Croatian!

29ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

Famolvfox 21 14 13 12 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 9 9 9 8 6 6 5 16 want it so bad!!

14ReplyGive Lingot2•9 months ago

OwITalons 25 25 7

I'd also be very interested. I'm 1/4 Croatian, and would love to learn more of the language my grandmother grew up with . She was born and raised in Rijeka.

DUOLINGO - Make this happen!

26ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

RanGaoning 7 5 2

Ya know whats sad, being half Croatian, being born in the capital, being raised there for a good 3 years, being fluent in the language, then going to Canada and forgetting the language completely. I'm pretty ashamed.

10ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

gabestar789 2

My mom is 100% Croatian but moved to the US during the war and forgot the language too. She becomes fluent when surrounded by the language though so try and it might work for you

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kristmas99 8 4 2

I really hope Croatian course is made!

17ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JinxLeRai 20 18 13 12 10 9 9 6 6 5 5 5 4 3 2 2 2 2

I would be SO excited for a Croatian course! This is my favorite language, but sadly there are not a lot of good free resources out there for learning it.

13ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

ThomasHickey 9 2 2

Hey, I spent a year in Germany and most of my non-German friends were croatians and serbians. Had such a fantastic time and went to Serbia and Croatia to visit. I'm trying to learn Croatian-Serbian but it's difficult to get motivated when I'm not around them! I would really appreciate a duolingo addition..I will learn one way or the other but it would be a great motivator haha. Hvala!

12ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

MCJD123 11 7 6 4 2 2 2

I am interested in learning Croatian. Would be very grateful if you made the course.

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

stronk1 17 15 7 7 8

I would be very interested in learning croatian with duolingo!

11ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

paraos 3 2

I can also add here that I am VERY interested. Reading a lot about Croatian right now, but nothing beats the immersion of actually answering questions and learning by doing :)

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Neptunium 16 12 11 7 6 6 4 3 3

Any word on this? I'm not optimistic given that this was written three months ago.

If you combined with the people applying to make a Serbian course, you could make one Serbo-Croatian course which would spread out the workload more while getting more interest than each course individually. The main problem I see is deciding which alphabet and accent to use.

As long as you're still willing of course :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kriskross4 22 16 15 12 11 8 8 7 6

No reply received. Sorry. I guess we'll just have to patient for some time. If there won't be any reply, I think that we'll have to get a bit more serious about it. Send more applications - a lot more applications. On a weekly basis - mwahahaha.

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

Croatian is a separate language from Serbian.Only foreigners call it Serbo-Croatian because they generally can't differentiate between the two.But it's kind of like Swedish vs Norwegian,or Norwegian vs Danish maybe ?

Croatian uses standard latin alphabet,with some additional sounds,and Serbians mostly use Cyrillic.The difference between Croatian and serbian is not really about accent.Also,Croatian is recognised in European Union,whilst Serbian isn't yet i believe.

-2ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

adis1618 13 12 10 9

That's the thinking I'm hoping of foreigners. Our languages are tightly interrelated but are still not the same - as a speaker of all of them I can assure everyone of that. Nevertheless, learning one of the languages would mean that one does not need learn the other three in order to get into conversation with the speakers of them.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

Correct,while grammar may be next to identical,the vocabulary can leave you confused and make you feel like you don't understand a single word.It also depends which part of the country you're from,the borders are really not the best indicator of language.Meaning Croats that live on border with Serbia might use a vocabulary somewhat more Serbian than Croatian,or they'll simply have a better understanding of Serbian.

And the speech of Croats in Dalmatia greatly differs to that of a Croat in the area of the capital Zagreb for example.For foreigners that's a big thing,because even if you learn the standardized language it doesn't mean you won't have difficulty understanding different accents and dialects.Naturally,everyone will understand you if you use the standardized language,but not vice versa.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

Exactly, I'm a native speaker of Croatian and while if you know Croatian you can relatively understand Serbian, it's not always the case. And also, younger generations can't read cyrillic script, so this is also a written language barrier. Example: "We have to go to the cinema." Croatian: Moramo ići u kino. Serbian: Морамо да идемо у биоскоп. (Moramo da idemo u bioskop.)

Also, Croatia has so many dialects that, for example, people from Zagreb can't understand the heavy dialect in Međimurje.

Also, I'm willing to help translate this course (though I'm doubtful of it ever becoming a course because Croatian isn't spoken by a lot of people), because I'm a native speaker of Croatian and my CEFR English level is C2 (I have a Cambridge CPE which I took in 11th grade)

12Give Lingot•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9

It's the same in all languages.... Some people from Germany don't understand the Swiss or Austrian dialect - but that is all the German language.

10Give Lingot•1 year ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

No...I just said it... Foreigners think we just have "some different words" but that is far from the truth. Croatian and Serbian have different grammar rules. What is correct in Serbian, is not correct in Croatian. Croatians (mostly) understand what Serbians want to say, but considering Croatian grammar rules - Serbians don't make much sense. All English variants go by the same rules, as far as I'm aware. Croatian and Serbian do not. Well, Portuguese is one language, yet we have "Brazilian Portuguese" as a separate course. My point was - learning Serbian and Croatian in one course would be extra complicated and frustrating. Both languages, dialects - call them as you wish - are complicated on their own. Learning stuff from both at the same time would just make you hate them.

7Give Lingot2•1 year ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

Here's the thing with Croatian/Serbian and potential Serbo-Croatian course. Ok, people can argue that even not all Croatians speak the same as they have different dialects to support the Serbo-Croatian kind of course. But you have to understand that there is only one Croatian standard language. Serbian standard language is different from Croatian standard, so if you want a "Serbo-Croatian" course - which standard to use, Croatian or Serbian? You can't teach both. Those standards are complicated individually, imagine the confusion of putting them together... :S Croatian: "Moram ici", Serbian: "Moram da idem." So they use "da" as a conjunction here, but that is not allowed in Croatian. We have different vocalization rules (when "i" becomes "o"), etc. Serbian and Croatian look very similar just on the surface, but more in-depth look in grammar tells another story.

6Give Lingot1•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

@Argentea79 as per my example, not everyone who speak Croatian understand Serbian. Heck, I'm Croatian and I can't even understand people with Međimurje accent. here you can find the differences:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Comparison\_of\_standard\_Bosnian,\_Croatian\_and\_Serbian#Vocabulary Bosnian is similar to Croatian, but you can hear the difference in accent when people speak it, different parts of the words are stressed than in Croatian

4Give Lingot•1 year ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

@Argentea79 Generally i can agree, but it's not always the case. Being from Dalmatia, i can have trouble understanding people from Lika. It helps if they speak more standardized version of the language. Sometimes you understand it perfectly, and sometimes through combination of dialect and different vocabulary it might as well be Slovenian for all i know.

Same thing for Serbian, it all depends where you're from. Some Serbians speak more of a standardized language which is much closer to our standardized and is mutually intelligible, and some of them speak god knows what language, it might be strange to you, but that's the reality.

A good comparison would be relation of Danish v Norwegian v Swedish.

3Give Lingot•1 year ago

adis1618 13 12 10 9

True enough. And because there are multiple of dialect standards shared by and among the languages, one may be led to believe that some countryside Croatians actually speak Slovenian.

2Give Lingot1•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

Argentea79- "kom med mig" - Swedish or Danish? You can find examples like this for any two similar languages

2Give Lingot1•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9

Everyone who speaks Croatian, understands perfectly Serbian and Bosnian.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

meSanti 12 3

To call Serbian and Croatian different languages just because "some" words are not the same makes no sense whatsoever. Following that exact same logic, the people from England, Ireland, Wales, Scotland, USA, Canada, South Africa, Australia, etc, etc they all speak different languages. The same goes for the 20 countries where Spanish is an official language, they all speak different languages. It's absurd. The root of the "Serbian, Croatian and Bosnian are different languages" is purely political and has no basis in linguistics. They are simply dialects of the same language, i.e. varieties of a language that is a characteristic of a particular group of the language's speakers. Regardless of the name you wish to use, it would be a waste of resources to create 2 or 3 separate courses, one for each dialect of the same language.

0Give Lingot4•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9

RogueTanuki - "Na kojem je jeziku napisana ova rečenica?" Is this Croatian, Bosnian or Serbian?....
Come on!

-2Give Lingot•1 year ago

Scotty.G
I would love to take your course!

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Marissa668473 8
I would LOVE a Croation. My best friend has Croation roots and parents, I would love to speak it!

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Aemi7 15 99
I am interested too. Already started learning Croatian from a book, but it is not as handy as Duolingo. After I discovered Duolingo and started learnind Danish, I wish I could continue my Croatian learning via Duolingo too :) I love spending time in Croatia and I wish I could speak the language to better communicate :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

AndrasFizil 11 2
I am very interested. :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leebarguss 8 3
<https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply> !!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MatoMajor 7 5 4 2
Me too

3ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

JulianSunde 17 111
I would really love a Croatian course! Hvala!

3ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

oo0olegendoo0o 7 6 1
please make it ill contribute $1

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

LydMilam 6

I want to learn it super badly!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

IAmBrave16 16 2 17

use: <https://www.memrise.com/courses/english/croatian/> XD

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

Knoxienne 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 21 19 18 17 17 17 15 15 13 12 10 1316

Would love Croatian! We have Polish and Russian in the incubator, so why not? We have multiple Germanic tongues and Latin languages. We need multiple Slavic languages in the incubator as well!

24ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

kriskross4 22 16 15 12 11 8 8 7 6

Awesome! So the interest does exist.

18ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

pamajq 19 2

yes!

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MarquiseLee 9 7 4

I would sign up! From Montreal Canada~ Living in Beijing :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

petr0petr0 13 11 9 7 5 4 3

I would sign up too, cheers from Argentina

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Anjita2409 3

Hi people, I am a Croatian language teacher, specialized in teaching Croatian as a foreign, willing to make a course. Any tips to whom should I talk about it? I've just runned at this discussion by some random search...

15ReplyGive Lingot5•2 years ago

lennonmacca 23 12 10 6 5 4 2

Apply to the incubator! <http://incubator.duolingo.com/> :)))

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Anjita2409 3

I just did, keep fingers crossed :)

6ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

I applied, but it doesn't seem likely to start any time soon.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Asfodela 16 15 12 9 9 8 8 8 7 6 3 3 3 2 49

I'd love to learn Croatian, I'm from Peru and I don't know why but I love Croatian language, I even started chatting with people from there when I was a kid, I learnt some words but nothing fluent but at least I got to practice my English :, so good luck with this course, I can't wait to see Croatian in the incubator! Bendiciones :)

11ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

secondguess 15 13 7 6 4 3

I want to learn Croatian badly! I know it's silly to say, but I saw Croatia on the Amazing Race years and years ago, and ever since then, I've been obsessed!

11ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

I thought about applying, but searching through some old discussions I found posts from people who had applied 8 months ago (when the Incubator was first launched) - I looked up their later posts and found that after all these months they never received any kind of reply. Not even a "No, thanks." Very discouraging. :/

10ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

OzrenIllic 25 15 11 11 5 4 2 1

It is nice to see there are people who want to learn Croatian language.

10ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2

With the people here who know it, I know I'm interested in learning it. :)

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

velan 11 7 7 3

I would love to have it.

As a native speaker, but who left Croatia at an early age, I know the language instinctively but am often lacking some vocabulary. I was just chatting with my mother and often have to use English or French words, when speaking or writing, to describe more complex concepts.

It would be great if I could practice regularly!

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kriskross4 22 16 15 12 11 8 8 7 6

For you, I think that the course would be very helpful. You could use it as a tool for remembering some forgotten basics. Also you could build upon the already existing knowledge.

5ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

velan 11 7 7 3

In my childhood, I was speaking it at home and I used to go back to Croatia every summer for 2 months, but since I left Europe a while ago, it's getting difficult to keep up. Last time I went to Croatia, a couple of years ago, I was shocked by how much I was choking on every other word. Fortunately it comes back quickly.

I'll be happy when Duolingo gets it and grateful to the people dedicating their time to make it happen. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

GrgoCroatia 21 16 12 11 6 6 5 5 4 2

Honestly, I'm interested to hear your Croatian! If you have some time once we could talk over skype. You can find me on Youtube (Learn Croatian / Grgo) or on Facebook.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

I think it could be an interesting course, but would it start out with English for Croatian speakers? I know Irish, Danish and Swedish didn't start that way, but apparently there isn't demand for the reverse of those courses (there's definitely no demand for EngGa course). Would there be more immediate demand for a course teaching English?

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

It probably would, seeing as Czech and Ukrainian are doing it that way... Personally, I'd rather see it start with Croatian for English speakers.

I feel like there would be a lot more interest in that considering the population of Croatia, and the fact that English is an obligatory subject at school. There can't be that many people desperate to learn English through this app...

And while I don't know exactly what goes into creating the whole course, I get the impression that creating a reverse course would be much easier if Croatian for English was done first..

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

I would think an English course for Croatian would be easier because that way, the team would not have to create their own tree and they could just use the template given to them :) I think many people would find it very surprising how little two courses with the same language pair have in common. I have talked a lot with the Dutch team and they have said that having a reverse course already finished helped very little.

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kriskross4 22 16 15 12 11 8 8 7 6

Good point there. Seeing as the English is obligatory in school, kids start to learn it as soon as in kindergarten. Another thing is that it's the language of today, rather you talk about surfing the internet, watching TV or listening to music. English is the language of pop-culture and we're constantly in touch with it. Croatian is not that popular (yet) and I think many people would benefit from the course.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

And we have language schools on every corner. I've got, like, three of them withing a 5 minute walk from my home. Most people who don't speak English are the older generation that had things like French and Russian at school, but considering their age, if they were serious about learning the language, they would probably look for real language courses at one of those schools.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

Croatians generally speak English well,i don't there's a big interest in that.We do learn through school from first grade now i think

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

eeepapillon 13 8 4 1

I'm interested. My boyfriend's family are from a Croatian background and some of his family members are more confident in Croatian than English - I'd be interested with Croatian for English speakers with the knowledge it maybe become a reverse course in the future. I've actually been silently waiting for it to slowly become added to the incubator one day... So yeah! Definitely would be interested!

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kriskross4 22 16 15 12 11 8 8 7 6

People, feel free to up-vote Croatian here on this language poll
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> If you've already done it, awesome.

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

titocuculic 10 5

Although it wouldn't have the same popularity as other languages, I personally believe it would be really constructive. I really like Croatian (My grandfather was croatian). So here you have another person interested in it. Keep trying to create Croatian for English speakers!

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Knoxienne 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 21 19 18 17 17 17 15 15 13 12 10 1316

So true! Things don't have to be popular in order to be valuable. I have a Basic Croatian lessons book from the seventies that is falling apart, but I keep its binding and pages in plastic bag. It's a neat little book, full of the raw grammar that you don't see anymore with the colorful new books that are out today. I got a Croatian dictionary at a white elephant Christmas party once. I would love to see a Croatian course and imagine it's a very helpful language to learn in order to study Russian!

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Terrapod 13 8 5 2 1

Seeing the amount of people here, I think Croatian has potential to be slightly more popular then Romanian. And there isn't many free sources for Croatian as with a couple of the other languages here; That might bring in a few learners

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

Croatia is a very popular touristic destination nowadays,i'd imagine there is a growing interest to at least master the basics

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Owain78 24 11 10 9 8 6 3 2 2 2 141

I would love to learn Croatian, Serbian or Bosnian on Duo. I've been trying to learn Croatian since 2008, took classes, tried Pimsleur, teach yourself, Colloquial and other text books, visited Croatia 3 times (am going again next May) and also tried the polyglot site, but found it hard. I start well nd build up a good vocab but when I get to the cases it's like a mental block. Je ljepa kao jezik ali je vrlo težak! So I'd love to learn Croatian on duo, its my favourite language!!

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kingthatcher 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 5 4 3 3 2

If I had good enough Croatian I would apply, but my croatian is not good enough yet.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kriskross4 22 16 15 12 11 8 8 7 6

Would you be interested in taking the Croatian course?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kingthatcher 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 5 4 3 3 2

Yes, I would. It would give me vocabulary in the main area that I lack -- everyday objects.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

chefdecouscous 13

Would love to see this. Moving to Croatia in April possibly.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wraithia 15 14 10 7 7

I would also add my interest! I really hope this gets going!

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

azureskye 14 10 9 5 4 3 3 2 2

That would be cool. :) I couldn't make it because I'm not fluent in Croatian, though.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kingthatcher 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 5 4 3 3 2

Same situation with me. If I were fluent I would contribute.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Terrapod 13 8 5 2 1

Ok, something I found that may interest you guys. This dude's name is Grgo Petrov, he is on youtube and explains Croatian grammar cases very well.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tSmx4HeenTE>

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fpHP7wEYX\_o

4ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

GrgoCroatia 21 16 12 11 6 6 5 5 4 2

Thanks a lot :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GrgoCroatia 21 16 12 11 6 6 5 5 4 2

I was thinking to create simulation of some categories from Duolingo what it would look like if there was Croatian. Though you all must have noticed that it's not going to be so easy to set all the rules from the beginning like for languages with much simpler grammar. I'd like to see what other Slavic language courses look like, if there's any possibility.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

especially when you consider palatalization, iotation, sibilization, fleeting A, etc.
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Serbo-Croatian\_phonology#Morphophonemic\_alternations

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

vizler 11 6 5 5 4 3 3 2
vrijeme je da se krene, da citiramo Bareta

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

frle10 19 1

I'm Croatian and I have a friend who would really like to learn it. :) I was thinking of making the course myself as I didn't see it listed on Duolingo website, and now I found this discussion. I will apply on the Incubator, maybe I'll have some luck. I'm happy to see that there are so many people wanting to learn Croatian :D And that there are other Croatians interested in making the course alive! I'm sure we can do it together! :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

EloiseGreen 16 8 6 6

I would be very interested in Croatian for English speakers I am Australian and I know many Australians who would want to learn due to their families in Croatia!!

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

seeker20 23 17 17 13 12 8 2

Dunno if anyone of the staff would read this, but come on, guys - I mean, I'm not acquainted with the applications quality, but I seriously doubt that there aren't any capable people on the list. Also, there's a Klingon course in the preparatory phase and an Esperanto one in Beta, and that's fine, but why not then to allow those who are motivated to learn a language of a country one could visit and talk to the native speakers? Didn't mean to put on any pressure; it's just bewildering in a way.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Awesome737 10 6 5 5 4 4 4 57

I'm making a new discussion, I'm going to try to get moderators and admin's attention, if you want show support on the new discussion, lets win this thing!

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 month ago

miff_ana 9 7 7 7

link to the new one here!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Awesome737 10 6 5 5 4 4 4 57

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3447199>

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

kristmas99 8 4 2

Please make this happen!!

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

I am Croatian native speaker and in any time if you decide to make Croatian course for learning then let me know because I would love to contribute :D I have friends in Ireland that are interested in learning Croatian.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mariakatija 15 10 3 2 4

I am a native speaker of Croatian and would love to contribute!

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

jpscholtanus 8 2

That's great! You can apply for incubator. <http://incubator.duolingo.com/>

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

I applied as well, even willing to admin. We'll just have to wait and see

3ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

leebarguss 8 3

I've spent 3 months in Croatia this summer, and I've spent some of the time learning basic conversational skills and phrases. It's hard to self-teach a language, so it would be amazing to learn more efficiently from a platform such as Duolingo - writing from Hrvatski to Engleski, vice versa, listening, and speaking!

There are a tonne of people from different countries visiting here throughout the year, so it would be great to see somewhere where everyone can breach the language barrier before visiting, learn a life skill, and contribute to web translation!

Molim te Duolingo, molim te!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

uyduur 10 10

any progress? As native speaker I would also like to contribute!

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ivy1029 8 2 2

yeah i speak Croatian so i would be willing to help

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leeberguss 8 3

<https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply> :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mrmagentile 8

I keep checking all the time to see if croatian is added, please make a course. My parents come from a place in Italy that speaks a very old dialect of croatian which I also speak, I would really like to be able to learn the current croatian spoken as our languages are very similar. Thanks

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

paraos 3 2

I would recommend you to check "Easy Croatian" which is a very good blog that introduces Croatian to a pretty good degree. It is pedagogical and a good place to start :

<http://www.easy-croatian.com/>

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

flootzavut 18 17 17 16 13 12 12 12 11 8 7 6 5 5 5 4 2 2

Thank you!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mrmagentile 8

Thank you. Great website

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RichardWeinel

My wife is Croatian and willing to make major contributions to the course.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9

I could help, I am Croatian! :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NikolinaNi5 21 15 14 13 13 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 6 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3 2 2 4
I have applied to help making Croatian course! :) No news so far.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mr.Simpatico 15 5 6
I am willing to help. Croatian is my native language.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bubaaa 21 6 4 444
I'm also willing to help making it.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Parvinkica 17
I would be glad to contribute in making it :) I think there are things in croatian culture that you simply have to understand the language to understand it compleatly, and think duolingo is a great way to bring our language and culture closer to other people

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Nektarije 16 4
I have to correct you, Euterpa, "moram ići/moram da idem" as we in Serbia, well at least in Belgrade, where I live, use both of them equally without any preference for either of them.

Furthermore, I've been to Croatia many times and I never had a single one "misunderstanding" or whatsoever, doesn't matter if I was in Zagreb, Rijeka or Šibenik and yes, "Serbian language" made a lots of sense to them. :) So your second argument falls short of a reason, too.

To put it in a different perspective, more independent, a Belgium friend of mine after having graduated in serbo-croatistics at university in Bruxelles had left for Montenegro as a part of his postgraduate studies. He was offered by his university to do it in Novi Sad or Kragujevac (cities in Serbia) or Nikšić (a city in Montenegro) after he opted for the third option. After having mastered it there for one year, at the Montenegrin university, he went to travel all around ex-Yugoslavia. He told me a story of a Croatian guy who had lauded his "perfect Croatian" after which my friend thanked him saying that he "learned it in Montenegro". He knew that "a lots of bad things happened in ex-Yugoslavia", as foreigners like to put it, but he also added that he never expected for people to be so heavily political, especially in Bosnia, Croatia, Montenegro and Serbia.

The only true confusion that may arise is making choice of learning it either on latin or cyrillic, but then again, with all the programing possibilities we have today, that shouldn't pose a big problem. I am sorry and sometimes truly embarrassed when I realize how much we, in ex-Yugoslavia, are political and brainwashed and all of it to our own damage.

I see no reason why should anyone, who is of healthy mind and spirit, hate "Serbo-Croatian"? I met a lots of people who doesn't like French because of its heavy grammar full of exceptions and complicated pronunciation, but I never met a single one person who doesn't like it because French spoken in Quebec or in Alsace is different to standard one taught worldwide. You either have an affinity for a certain language or not.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

I don't hate Serbo-Croatian, I've never said that. I said that it would be complicated to learn. It's not just a matter of script. For example, you are mentioning Belgrade. Now, notice how in Serbian, it is called "Beograd". Now, that is a matter of a sound change that happens, it's called "L-vocalization". It means that l becomes o, in some situations. Serbians vocalize "l" when they want to say "white". White city = beo grad, Beograd. Croats have l-vocalization, but they don't vocalize the word "white". So, while in Serbian it is "beo grad", even in Croatian ekavian it is "beli grad". "L" stays, no vocalization. It's easy to Croats and Serbians to know which rule belongs to which language, but I think if foreigners are to learn these rules simultaneously, they will speak some weird mix of Serbian and Croatian. Every learner will speak it differently, depending on which rule he remembered or chose to remember for the same thing. :D

And that was my main point, I didn't say anything about hating or not hating Serbo-Croatian. But while we're at it, I know that the issue is political. But while everyone else is also aware that the issue is political, they look at it the wrong way. Yes, modern Croatian and modern Serbian are very much alike. But, we don't have Croatian as a separate language because we are independent so we want to have our own language to distance ourselves from Yugoslav period. Everyone is talking about modern era and 1990s when talking about Croatian/Serbian/Serbo-Croatian, but the issue is old several centuries. Croatian and Serbian were separate languages for a long time, Croatian was a language long before any political connection with Serbians and Serbian language. But - politicians eventually wanted the two languages to be one, to make them more 'alike'. Old Croatian was in fact more similar to modern Slovenian than it was to Serbian. Reforms had been done. And reforms had been done because of politics. Politics didn't separate the two languages, it had been trying to unite them since 19th century for the sake of "Yugoslavia" in whatever form it appeared throughout history. In 19th century, they were actually tries to forbid, erase from dictionaries every difference Croatian had comparing to Serbian. It didn't fit their idea of unity, they were seeing different languages as something that separates nations. Croatian as we have it now is a result of these efforts to minimize the differences. So Croatian language has been for a long time a victim of some ideology. I'm not brainwashed, it's history. But after we got our independence, changes have been made to return some Croatian words, put them in use again instead of Serbian words.

Plus, there is a difference between what is standard and what is in use. If we are thinking about what is in use, then we might as well say that Slovenian is also not a separate language, because there are people in Croatia that speak more like Slovenians.

Here is an example when Serbians don't make any sense to us: "Mrzi me da idem..." That sentence means absolutely nothing in Croatian while Serbians use it to say they don't feel like going somewhere.

4ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

sblazina 9 2

Please, check out the comment I just posted regarding the Serbo-Croatian and why I'm against it.

TL;DR? Sociolinguistics.

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

louisatufek 11 9 3 2

I have a house at the Croatian seaside where I have been going every summer since I was born. All my summers have been spent there and continuing but still I haven't learned how to speak the language because it is hard to learn. During the years I have made some wonderful friends which I have to talk to in English because I don't know Croatian. I also have relatives who don't know English that well and I can't talk to them either. All my life I have wished to speak Croatian because it is such a beautiful language to me and it would tremendously help me in my life. I have searched a lot over the internet for a good course and I've come across a lot of different options but none seem to help me that much. On this site I have learned some languages and this site is the best one I've come across. For 2 years, I have wished for Duolingo to add a Croatian course. I am very happy to see that so many people would like it as well and are willing to help making one. I don't see a reason to why Duolingo would not add a Croatian course since it would help a lot of people like me. I really hope that one day, I will see a Croatian course on here and finally be able to learn the language.

3ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Princess192498

Hi. I actually have the same idea! A Croatian course would be perfect!

3ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

KakashiFNGRL 10 5 5 4 4

I just returned from a week in Croatia, and completely fell in love! Already making plans on going back next year, and would love to be able to holiday there without having to resort to English or German all the time. I don't mind, but not a lot of people I met there spoke either. Was surprised to see there's no course yet, hope it'll be fine soon. Can't wait to start learning! Even bought two English-Croatian dictionary/phrase books while I was there.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

miff_ana 9 7 7 7

If you want to make this happen, do the following: 1. give this thread a lingot or 10 or a 100 2. vote up this thread 3. write a comment in the thread 4. go here: <https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply> scroll to the bottom of the languages, and pick "Enter Other" and enter Croatian. Then write a passionate plea as to why Croatian should be included and how awesome your contributions will be. Thanks!

3ReplyGive Lingot1•3 months ago

SamCiceroni 20 8 8 7 3

As someone who is learning Macedonian with a strong Serbian influence I would love to expand my knowledge and learn some Croatian!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

vote here for Croatian Hrvatski <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916>

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

Macedonian today is really just a cross between Serbian and Bulgarian. Although us Croats can understand them for the most part, it's a bit like with Nordic countries. Maybe Norway vs Sweden would be a good comparison.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarquiseLee 9 7 4

Yes~ Please someone make one, and I'll sign up!!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here for Croatian

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mcirak 11 6

I've been waiting for this ever since I discovered Duolingo! I'm a beginner in Croatian, but if there's anyway I can assist, let me know!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

LHodak 10 10 10 8 7 2

Very much interested!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

edelaquess 13 6 5

I've been wanting to learn Croatian since I lived there for three months last year. Started learning it there but I'm back in the States and I really like using Duolingo.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

vote here <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916>

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

bkangas2 9 8 2

Croatian please!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MatijaFenrich 8

let's start :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

LaRoyTurne

Absolutely! My wife is Croatian and it is time I learn how to talk to my IN-Laws... even if I don't want to }P

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

IvyAyna 5

i would love it!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MKVMA 12

Yes! I am Croatian, and fluent in english, so yeah, that would be amazing!!!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

araruney 14 13 8 7 6 6 3 2 2 2 2 2

I applied to contribute, but it doesn't look likely to get started. If anyone has suggestions for alternative way to help out please do tell! Or if you are intersted i could help you personally, only English speaking people tho, as i am not fluent in other languages

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MissScarletta 4

I would LOVE a Croatian course. My dad is Croatian but I have never learned it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rob866329 21 17 5

i would definitely be interested in doing this course, my girlfriend is Croatian and I'd love to be able to communicate with her family in there mother tongue =) I really hope someone makes it soon!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jalinn22 18 15

PLEASE add croatian! i need something as duolingo to improve

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

louisatufek 11 9 3 2

I've been wanting to learn Croatian forever and I would be so happy if there was a Croatian course :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GrumpyOwl7 13

Here! I want - and need to - learn Croatian very much! :)

2ReplyGive Lingot3•1 year ago

1972juanita51 5

We have close friends in Croatia. Would love to learn the language so we can visit with them!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PedroMarti48 4

I would be interested in learning Croatian.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Nicthestick 9 6 2

I would love to re learn, was my first language but i have since forgotten it as i haven't lived in Croatia nor have i spoken it for over 12 (i am 18 now)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ninnoooo 13 7 7 7 6 6 2

i am from croatia and i can help

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BeastlySweet 5

I would LOVE it!! I have Croatian roots and haven't spoken the language in so long I forgot it, so I would LOVE that!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jjsperling 7

I am Croatian but can't speak it. And I would love to be able to. If someone is debating on making one or not, I strongly encourage you to.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

VictoriaRo883474 13 11 7 7 6 5 5 4 3 2 511

I'd love to learn it! :D

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Im from Crioatia and I would LOVE to see a cratian course happen. Lots of love fron Zadar (´ε` )♡

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KrekovicIvana 12

Any news on getting Croatian on here?

Thanks!!!

Ivana

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NatalieDierene0 11

Already applied, but for Bosnian, though Croatian, Bosnian and Serbian are awfully similar

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

examples of songs in Croatian (good songs are a rarity)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PVQDkTXJQro> (the medley includes: Jacques Houdek - Stotinama godina, Tony Cetinski - Blago onom tko te ima, Vatra - Tremolo, Colonia - Svijet voli pobjednike)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7sGVI5LSonE>

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9

Good Croatian songs are NOT a rarity! Tutti Frutti Band
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SPnatV11-bw> Parni Valjak
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=p\_6F5K\_xP6Q Opća Opasnost
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MP1l-t3uLDc> Film
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RSEV2zoVZv0> Neno Belan
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ct2T2\_u5LSc

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

And Opća opasnost lead singer is a conservative Christian and I dislike that type of people

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9

Guess what: I am not conservative, I am not religious - but I like the band and the song! :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

I liked few of their songs but stopped listening to them out of principle because they were vocal about being against marriage equality in the 2013 referendum

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Croatian\_constitutional\_referendum,\_2013

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ivicalazich91 4

I know a person in real life who said something similar and does not listen to the band anymore, so your comments intrigued me. I even checked to see if you are her, but then I saw that you cannot possibly be her. Funny...

2Give Lingot•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9

I know about that, but still - their songs are beautiful. Prljavo Kazalište has also beautiful songs, but I really don't like any of the band members.

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

Well, they are if you like pop/rock songs and hate cajke and folk music.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

uburei 12 10 10 7 6 3

they are definitely not rarity here are some of my favorites:

<http://lyricstranslate.com/en/translations/16/0/none/none/Nilson>

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9
Great choice! :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3
What's interesting, you'll notice most of those songs (like 90%) are about love. It's always interesting how English bands have various topics, whereas most Croatian songs are more of the same about love. It becomes boring after a while, really.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9
Love is never boring! If you think so, I feel pity for you!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3
No, I think songs about love become boring after a while. Just like if you ate the same meal over and over again you'd be sick of it after a while.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3
Also, Moja štikla is your favourite? You can't be serious...

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Argentea79 17 13 5 3 9
Of all the songs, you saw that one?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Asfodela 16 15 12 9 9 8 8 8 7 6 3 3 3 2 49
Thanks, I really enjoyed the Nina Kraljić's song :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ursulafadic 10 7
Could be awesome. There are a lot of croatian diaspora around the world who will like to learn and improve the language. I'm one of them.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Pau_De 13 8 5
there are some news about the Croatian course?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jjsperling1 3 2

Do it! PLEASE!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Cigat 9 5 4

Well, I'd be willing to do it. I have a friend who teaches Croatian who'd be willing to co-operate. But then again, I don't know if it's gonna work out that well.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Pau_De 13 8 5

What do you mean? All tools to learn will be welcome! Not matter if they are perfect or not at the beginning, always can be improved. And, of course, you will have a lot of beta testers to give you inputs and suggestions. I will do my best to collaborate this way.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Cigat 9 5 4

IDK, maybe it happens. I too, am busy at the moment, but I'll really think hard about contributing, i.e. if I get approved to start making the course.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AidanHanlo 8 6

That would be awesome. I would definitely take it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jjsperling1 3 2

Someone should definitely make it

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jjsperling1 3 2

I would be very very great full if someone made a Croatian course.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Natalie_spaans 8

Yes, please! I'm half croatian, speak the language but would love to improve it, as I don't live in Croatia, but half of my family is living there.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

purger23 22 15 8 4 2 51
i think it would be very useful

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Conexus 2
Yes! I would love this. I am 1/2 croatian and my mother came from the Vranik valley.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KlausPire 13 13 9 5 2
I want to learn a few croatian phrases :) There's esperanto, klingon and greek, why not Croatian?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

marbella002 18 14 9 9 7 6
I want to learn Croatian in the future:-) too I hope there will be duolingo for Croatian.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dpizarrom 20 4
I really need this course! It would be really great to have it

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

brendolinif 17 12 12 9 4 3 3
I hope dearly that they do create a croatian course. I have always wanted to be able to call my Baka and talk to her in her native tongue.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

stronk1 17 15 7 78
I am also eager to see a croatian course appearing on duolingo! I am constantly waiting for it and checking the website! Duolingo would just be the best way to learn it! Thank you!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

meSanti 12 3
I would like to take Croatian. I've been struggling to find a good course online, and a duolingo course would be great!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

xManda 13 2
I'd really like to have a Croatian course.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Nektarije 16 4

I would be very happy for Serbo-Croatian to appear one day. My wife is native French and she has a great interest in learning it. I am sure Duolingo course would make it easier. I am coming from a Serbian part of the language and I am willing a lot to contribute.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

LenSat 11

I would love to learn croatian! Its my mothers tongue but I don't know much.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JessicaMic581075 10 7 6

I'd love to learn Croatian!!!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

craaash80 18 12 11 11 11 11 9 6 6 6 5 5 5 3 3 3 1

I am interested at many levels, being an etymology freak.

I've always thought that Croatian was just a "bastardized version of Russian without cyrillic".

A closer look tells another story, Croatian is often one of the purest language in respect to indoeuropean origins, having many forgotten word stems in common with Sanskrit.

(And thanks to @Euterpa for having let me know this beautiful language :)))

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

Except I'm Euterpa here :P But I accept it ^_^ You're welcome. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

craaash80 18 12 11 11 11 11 9 6 6 6 5 5 5 3 3 3 1

Yep, I had already edited it before reading this :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

Hahah then I read the email and replied here too fast :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BurcuSelinnlsan 9

i am also interested in !! definitely they should add serbian crotian and bosnian

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jessica495443 7 6

I would absolutely love to have a Croatian course for English speakers! Kind of surprised there isn't one yet, actually ... especially after reading some of this thread. There seem to be plenty of willing contributors!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

purger23 22 15 8 4 2 51

I also support doing Croatian for English speaker...we have an interesting history and culture :) and it would be useful not just for the people who are interested because of the language itself, but also for Croatian diaspora :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

imuzio 7 3 2

I would love to learn Croatian! I go there often and have tried form books, but it would be far more fun on this site! I look forward to seeing a Croatian course created soon!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gabestar789 2

I really need this to be a course since then I could communicate with my mom's side of my family. Also itd be able to speak to my ill grandmother in her native tongue

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GlennSmith15 11

It would be really helpful, and great, if there was a Croatian DuoLingo course. I spent a year or so in Croatia as a kid and learned a little of the language. I visited Croatia as an adult one time, and after a couple of days on the Dalmatian coast, my Croatian came back. It would be REALLY helpful to learn the grammar of the language properly. Also, before I visit it would be helpful to refresh the language. I am also looking into business trips to Croatia (as I am a professor). I know several other people who would welcome a DuoLingo course on Croatian. -Glenn

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

kbogovic 16 13 7 7 6 5 4 2 2

New free portal for online Croatian learning launched <http://www.croatiaweek.com/new-free-portal-for-online-croatian-learning-launched/>

It's not Duolingo but it's a good start until we get the course! :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

lunapersephone 20 8 4 3 2 2 2

I am definitely interested in learning!

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Sierra835846 14

I am One quarter croatian and would love to be able to learn another language from my heritage!!!!!!!!!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Dunja_Huncutarek 15 3 5

I'm willing to contribute. Got some things I need to take care of first, but I will most probably apply as contributor soon.

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

SaneHelle 13 9 7

I could also contribute. I studied the language and I've lived in Croatia for 4 years now.

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Sarah_MacDonald_ 4

Is there Croatian???? I can't find it - please add it! My boyfriend is part and his dad is full and I'd like to learn the language. I really love this program, please add Croatian to Duolingo.

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

KhadeejaJoy1 7 4

go for it. i can do some study and help if you want

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Greatscotteh 10 6

This would be cool as. I love seeing more Slavic languages and it'd be cool to learn. Also I know a lot of people who would love to learn the language as well.

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

irispark 12 12 11 10 7 7 6 5 5 2

I NEED this course!!!! Molim!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

RichardSnijders 13 12 10 3

I would really like to learn and contribute to a Croatian course either from English or Dutch.

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

MayaSuljag 7 4 2

I would love this course to happen! My parents are Croatian and I would love to make them proud by learning it!

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Greatscotteh 10 6

Oh that's so awesome! I've always wanted to meet someone who's from the same kind of part of Europe. Do you know any bits of Croatian or are you like me with my second language (Polish) and can't really say or translate anything useful? :P

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Tanitaaa_ 11 3 2

yes! is this gonna happen?

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

dlrian 10 9 7 6 4 3 2

I'd be super happy if Duolingo made a Croatian course! Love the language!

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

majaja85 14 9 4 2

I am Croatian native speaker, already sign in incubator, but no response yet. If anyone needs help with learning croatian, I would be glad to help.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•10 months ago

Frnjokula 19

I would love to help you guys. I am Croatian, but I've been living in Norway past 10 months. I have Norwegian girlfriend and she would love to learn it, also I know plenty of foreigners who own a vacation house, but they don't speak any Croatian, due to poor courses.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•10 months ago

harrygranqvist 8

Yes please create this course!

2ReplyGive Lingot1•9 months ago

themandithomas 15 10 8 2

I'm 1/2 Croatian and pretty new to Duolingo and I would love to learn the language!

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

swelang2 2

I am very very intrested in learning Croatia. I cant describe how badly I wanna learn it. I became a member on duolingo just to learn Croatian but I cant chose the language :( PLEASE can someone make this happen? This thread have been up for 2 years, there are plenty of interest from the user but yet there is no Croatian Course? Why? Can someone please tell me what the admins have said about it? How can I know if there will be a croatian course in the nera future? if there will not be one in the nearest week or so then I will unsubscribe to this site and start searching for another site with a croatian course. But the thing is its very hard to find one.

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Walker_Tim 5

I've visited Croatia three times, and hope to return there soon. My first visit there was in 1990, when it was a republic within Yugoslavia. I think that with the growing number of English-speaking tourists visiting there, this would be a very popular language for Duolingo to take on.

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

AxellMarche 12 8 2

I am interested for making it. Ok - help to make it :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

El.cat 24 17 10 8 2 3

yes please, I would love to learn it! I'm learning Croatian right now and it's so hard without Duo...it would really help me

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Jezajay 6 6

My boyfriend is part Croatian and hes always saying little things to me that he wont translate. I'd love to know what they are. Please this would be great!

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Walker_Tim 5

Maybe you don't want to know what he's saying! :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Jezajay 6 6

I know he says Slatka which means cute or sweet.

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

RedzB 9 6 3 3

Ja zelim :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

drlargepan 8

Please can we make this happen !

Hvala!

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

ida_01 12 7 5

Hi, native Croatian here! The idea sounds really great to me. You can count on me, and if you need any help, feel free to ask :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

GlennSmith15 11

Hello Idah, thanks for your interest..

I am an American. I speak a little Croatian. I think we need someone to take the lead on this, a native speaker, to contact the Duolingo folks..

=> Would you be willing to get the course started? Croatian, for English speakers.

You do it at the incubator site: <https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply>

How many native speakers do have at this point? I think it would be best to have native speaker take the initiative here.

-Glenn

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

ida_01 12 7 5

Hello Glenn, I did it already 2-3 weeks ago and I didn't receive any response from Duolingo so I think I should do it again.. And yes, I totally agree with you that it's the best that some native speaker take the initiative!

Greetings, Ida :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

tajana.tusek 10 7 2

Hi, I'm a native Croatian speaker as well and would like to help :D

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

GlennSmith15 11

Tajana, I appreciate your willingness to help.

Could you take the initiative to apply for a Croatian course? If you did that, we could get a small team of people to contribute. I would also contribute, although my knowledge is not great. My brother Dana, although American is actually fluent in Croatian. He might contribute..

We do need someone to "apply" to set up a Croatian course, at this url: :
<https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply>

-Glenn

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

tajana.tusek 10 7 2

Hi Glenn, I've just applied for the Croatian course. I don't think I would be able to be a moderator though, I don't think I would have enough time.

3ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

GlennSmith15 11

Tajana,

Thanks.. I appreciate it. Maybe we can also get some other native speakers involved.

-Glenn

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Inness5 10 2

I wanna learn!

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Cheryl4070 6 4 1

I want to learn Croatian! I work directly with a lot of Croatians and it would be so helpful to speak at least some of the language for when I visit.

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Senanryan 17 16 16 12 10 269

I would love to speak and understand even a little Croatian. I've been visiting Medjugorje since 1995 and still find it hard to say even the simplest words. Would dearly love to study this language on Duolingo. Hvala!

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Inness5 10 2

I fly out to Croatia every year for festival season in Pula! I love croatia!

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

edwinmagni 16 11 3
I would love to learn it!

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

dxm300 25 12 9 6 2
Me too!

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Ekaterina609275 11 10 3
I really need to learn Croatian and I would be really happy if there was a Duolingo course to help me!

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

ida_01 12 7 5
I'm a native speaker so I can help you with the basics of the language, if you want :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

LornaSlane 12 7 4 3
I really hope this is made: I'm already learning. For now I've made some decks on TinyCards and soon and am gonna go through them with my native-speaker teacher to check if I've made any mistakes (my native language is English, using vocab and phrases taken from Croatian - German books to make Croatian - English cards).

2ReplyGive Lingot1•7 months ago

PikaPunkt 20 17 7 5 5 3 2
Croatian, yes please! I need more practice to stop pronouncing it like a typical Slovenian.

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

estebanenfermo 10 5 2
I think that would be awesome! Since I am about 1/5th Croatian I am really enthusiastic about learning it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

perolegenda 8 6
If Duolingo starts doing this course, which standard do you think we should use? I'd opt for "Hrvatski školski pravopis" by Babić, Ham, Moguš since it has been in use for the longest time and was (I think is still recommended by ministry of education). This question is important since those standards vary a lot.

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

sblazina 9 2

I can see there are ideas that suggest the integration of the Croatian and the Serbian course into a Serbo-Croatian course. I am against it. I have to say that it is nothing political, but simply because I think that the idea is a complete nonsense. Despite all the similarities, Croatian and Serbian are two separate (living) languages. It's important to keep the social component of a language in mind, the component which allows the people of Serbia and Croatia to identify themselves as Serbians, that is, Croats. Furthermore, that component allows them to identify the language they're speaking as their own - Serbian, that is, Croatian. The integration of those two makes as much sense as the integration of Swedish and Norwegian, perhaps. Lastly, the languages have far too many vocabulary, grammar and orthography differences to be integrated into one course. I am willing to contribute to a Croatian language course, but no, I won't contribute to a Serbo-Croatian concept course.

2ReplyGive Lingot2•7 months ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

This user, meSanti, said it perfectly.

"To call Serbian and Croatian different languages just because "some" words are not the same makes no sense whatsoever. Following that exact same logic, the people from England, Ireland, Wales, Scotland, USA, Canada, South Africa, Australia, etc, etc they all speak different languages. The same goes for the 20 countries where Spanish is an official language, they all speak different languages. It's absurd. The root of the "Serbian, Croatian and Bosnian are different languages" is purely political and has no basis in linguistics. They are simply dialects of the same language, i.e. varieties of a language that is a characteristic of a particular group of the language's speakers. Regardless of the name you wish to use, it would be a waste of resources to create 2 or 3 separate courses, one for each dialect of the same language."

So your statement was purely political whether stated consciously or not.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

docmint 11 9 5

I also applied and sent a request to start the "incubation" process. I'd be more than happy to help with this course, and also have friends who use duolingo who're also very motivated to develop the course. However, we received no feedback.

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Tzartist 10

Here's the letter I emailed to Duolingo some time ago:

"I'm currently using Duolingo to learn Russian. It's very good but there are slight inaccuracies here and there... I'm native Croatian speaker but my English level is somewhere between C1 and C2. I have a friend (also Croatian) who works as a professional English translator and has C2 certificate. Recently he married some girl in Kenya and they live here in Croatia now. We thought it would be awesome if Duolingo had a Croatian course so she could use it to learn the language better and faster...

Croatian is very similar to Russian - they are Slavic cousin languages. But Croatian uses Latin script instead of Cyrillic and has a rule of writing letters and words in the same way they are pronounced, so it's actually a bit easier to learn. So once you know the alphabet - you already know how to read and pronounce words (although your accent will probably be slightly wrong)! I think that existing Russian course would be a very good base for making a Croatian course - it only needs little modifying. I have free time to spare and I'm willing to do it. I have some basic knowledge of coding and programming (HTML5, CSS, JS, Python, Ruby, PHP, SQL...) that I picked up at codecademy.com few years ago. I believe I could manage creating a simple course (Duolingo was made with Python)... My friend will also help of course with his certified translation skills.

So if you provide me with the proper tools and documentation - I would be happy to create this course for you! Croatia doesn't have large population but it's one of the top tourist destinations, so I believe that people would be interested in Duolingo course if they plan to spend their vacation here..."

Sadly, I never recieved any reply from anyone. But now I discovered this topic and I see that I'm not alone. However the subject is already 2 years old and still there's no progress. People offer to do the dirty work for free and no one's intersted! How unfortunate...

2ReplyGive Lingot1•7 months ago

Ekaterina609275 11 10 3

Thank you very much for your initiative ! I am really waiting for this course, I am Russian and my boyfriend is Croatian and I would love to have such a tool as Duolingo to learn the language faster and be able to communicate with his friends and family. I go to Croatia every year for almost 20 years and I see that people travel to Croatia more and more and I am sure that there will be the demand for this Course from people who want to discover this beautiful country ! Let's hope Duolingo will help you with your initiative - it will be highly appreciated !

3ReplyGive Lingot1•7 months ago

weirdodude 17 12 11 10 6

looking forward to a Croatian course!

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Dazza3500 9

Where is the Croatian course?? I am waiting for 3 years now!! Come on Duolingo!!

2ReplyGive Lingot1•7 months ago

JanTatouse 12 11 11 10 6 4

I would love to be able to learn Croatian on Duolingo. I am afraid that it may take ages for it to be admitted to the incubator, because the Finnish course is even more in demand and they have been waiting for a while now. But I wish you good luck!

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

kylebailey1 12 10 9 5 5 4 3

I see that this post is quite old, but I'd be very interested in a Croatian course. Any recent news?

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4
Unfortunately, no :(

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

kylebailey1 12 10 9 5 5 4 3

That is unfortunate. This is one of the few things I do not like about Duolingo. If qualified people are excited to make a course, they should be allowed to. It seems like Duolingo cares more about the amount of people they can get to learn a language than the languages themselves.

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

dxm300 25 12 9 6 2

Does anyone know any other free resources for studying Croatian, since Duolingo has been dragging their feet on this one for two years now...?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

I'm Croatian and I've tried several apps that claim they teach Croatian in search for something I could recommend to foreigners, but almost all of them have many flaws (including Memrise). So far, I found only one website/app that is very good and that is "Mondly". Their way of teaching is very similar to Duolingo's.

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

dxm300 25 12 9 6 2

I'll look at that one. Thanks!

1Give Lingot•6 months ago

DBO689991 12 9 9 2 156

Yes! Please add it!! My cousin works in Croatia and I love to visit! :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

frle10 19 1

This has to become a thing! Croatian is a beautiful, rich language. I am myself a native speaker and I have some friends abroad who would really want to learn it. It's incredible how Duolingo doesn't reply to anything on this 2-year old topic. I'm really disappointed by that fact. It really looks like they only watch out for their own self interest. Yes, I agree that allowing a mass number of languages to suddenly appear on Duolingo is a reducing factor of the website's quality. But that is not the way it should be done anyway.

What if they gave the community an ability to build their own courses and then hand them in when the courses are done? And then Duolingo can review each request, each course, and decide what still needs to be done in order to fulfil the quality requirements of average Duolingo courses. When the course is polished after Duolingo's initial reviews, they could easily publish it, without losing any resources or money.

Is that so hard Duolingo? It sounds like I am ungrateful for what this website already did for people, but now that we have this, why not be more ambitious and make the thing even bigger and more helpful than ever?

I hope someone from Duolingo staff sees this. Thank you. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

MinecraftM20 9

Is the discussion still ongoing? I noticed the replies here are over a year ago.

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

112cube 7 6 2

I also want Croatian course to be on Duolingo. Lots of people wants it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

amoutomo 6 4 2

I would definitely be interesrested. Učim hrvatski!

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Nikola3us 9 6

I'm willing to make it to, but i'm more interested in vice versa!

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Ashley744248 7 5 3

I realise this is an old post, however, I would love to learn Croatian! I used to know it quite well as I had a Croatian friend however she moved away and my Croatian now is almost non existent ):

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

azzgarcia 14 12 12 10

Yes, I want to learn Croatian. I am waiting for sooooo long. Duolingo, make this happen soon!

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

MartinHans257826 3

I am super interested and would love this!

Unfortunately it seems there are a lot of threads regarding Croatian on here and Reddit but still no course approved.. :(

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

KatherineLucas0 7 5

DuoLingo, please look into starting Croatian! A course on here would be really great, so far I'm using a textbook but there aren't many and they are quite limited, hopefully there seems to be a lot of interest so I'll keep an eye out for a new course :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

mynaimisaliya 11 11

yes! I am learning independently/have some heritage knowledge but would LOVE to see this in duolingo!

2ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

rorypaw 7 7 5 3

Yeah why not. If anyone needs help,I could team up and make English to Croatian or Croatian to English.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

azzgarcia 14 12 12 10

Hrvatski jezik, please Duolingo!

2ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

chrishrv 12

This course would make my day...week...month...and the rest of the time I was working on Croatian. Molim Duolingo.....make this happen.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

teabaggs 11 8 4 1

Yes please. I need to learn this to convince the parents of the woman I'm in love with that I am not a loser. Thanks in advance.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•5 months ago

evalia 14 10 5

I want one too.

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

AneiSinead 11 9 9 2 1

I hope so much the Croatian course will be created! This is such a beautiful language and having the chance to learn it on Duolingo would be awesome!

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

catherinezic 7

That's a great idea! I would be willing to make it, but I don't think I know enough Croatian to create a course. My grandparents are Croatian and my dad is fluent in Croatian. I feel so left out because everyone in my family knows Croatian!!!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

tigerlily3000 8 3

I would love to see this added as a language! I'm sure there is a ton of interest, and enough native speakers that would be willing to help contribute.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

catherinezic 7

Volim Hrvatski!!!! :) )

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Splair 7 6

I am very interested in a Croatian course, in fact I stopped using duolingo because there was no Croatian. There are very poor resources to learn it elsewhere online so it would be very much appreciated! :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

missmadison1991 7

I was just looking for this class! Yes please!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

AHenrica 12 7 5 5

i would really like to learn Croatian.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

PTICURINA 6

It is already more than year and noone called or answerd for course and i was like 1 week after wondering why no news so i amde new acc and tried to find even how to call myself to go there to enter clue on my otehrrs acc,but nothing...

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Jacqueline1822 14 6

That would be great!

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

ReneLasswe 21 4 86

Been waiting forever for this course! Please do approve and make it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

KarenBrown974571 9

I would be interested in a Croatian language course.

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

AneiSinead 11 9 9 2 1

Croatian is a wonderful language...I would love to have the possibility to learn it through Duolingo!

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

NicolasCortinas 23 16

Hey, I am willing to help with this course!

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

marcellusalf 12 10 10 3 3 2 2

El croata pa' cuando @Duolingo

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

madmaxcro 6

I am native Croatian speaker, and if the course sets off, I would gladly help to make it happen.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

mlovrich 16 5 5 211

Please add this course. I would love to take it!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Sarita129866 12 11 9 9 6

I am very interested, I lived there for a year and I graduated in Croatian language and literature. Since I moved back to Italy I'm afraid I will forget this beautiful language.. Let's make a course together! :D

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Awesome737 10 6 5 5 4 4 4 57

Please someone make it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

MargaretHa959853 5

Hi, I'd love to be part of a Croatian course. I have a beginners book/workbook and have done 2 beginners courses in Zadar University. Duo would be a great learning facility! Any takers to help put it together?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

DoKo7 15 10 8 8 91

I would like to help make it.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

miff_ana 9 7 7 7

If you want to make this happen, do the following: 1. give this thread a lingot or 10 or a 100 2. vote up this thread 3. write a comment in the thread 4. go here: <https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply> scroll to the bottom of the languages, and pick "Enter Other" and enter Croatian. Then write a passionate plea as to why Croatian should be included and how awesome your contributions will be. Thanks!

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Awesome737 10 6 5 5 4 4 4 57

I sent an application four days ago, I will help.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 months ago

DamonMarx 7 6 1

Would love for this to be a thing, if it's still under consideration. Been wanting to impress my cousins with a little Serbo-Croat.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Guardy 11 8 7 5 1

Just wanted to mention that I'd be super happy about a Croatian course - I've spent quite a few summer holidays there but still don't speak more than half a dozen words at most, which is quite frankly embarrassing. Alas, courses that aren't solely text-based are pretty hard to come by. Especially, y'know, for free, as I'm a pretty broke university student.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

rorypaw 7 7 5 3

Hmm, for some reason I cannot find my previous comment anymore. Well anyways, I am a native Croatian speaker and I'd love to help (I also entered the incubator).

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

AneiSinead 11 9 9 2 1
HVALA <3

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

ChocolatePeanut 5 4
Just applied for the Croatian course and I already see that a lot of people have applied too but they didn't get any feedback. Makes me sad yet I hope that that will change

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Pau_De 13 8 5
there is some croatian lessons here? i'm leaving in zagreb and i need it

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mago1981 14 6
I would like to start creating an english course for croatian speakers. How do I start?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

emmamar7 14
I really hope someone makes it.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8
vote here for Croatian <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Terrapod 13 8 5 2 1
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4401515>

New language want poll; remember to write for Croatian

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AugustoF87 14 13 12 10 5 4 3 2
Thumbs up for this

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

McKinzey 14 8 7 4 2 2
I've only just started my second year in studying the language, but I'd be interested in helping out as much as possible if this course ever became a reality.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

becca.ivans 8 6 2
YES!!!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jpscholtanus 8 2
i'm just looking on the internet to learn Croatian. It would be great if Duolingo offers the course!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

filip.kis 16 27
My girlfriend wants it too and I want it for her!!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BeckiNewel 8 8 2
Hopefully the more demand this gets the more likely it will be developed. Would love to learn

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

fnazeeri 22
I am interested! Would love to learn Croatian with Duolingo. I could use this for work...I'm sure there would be 10-20 people at my work who would also use it.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mcirak 11 6
Very, very, very interested!!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tobosaur 17 8
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3451916> vote here

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

simaetha 9 6 6 5

I am very interested in Croatian!! My great-grandfather was Croatian and I think it is a beautiful language, but it was not passed on to me. I would be so happy to see a course on here!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Spanishlearne 9 3

We need to add: Serbian,Croatian,Latin,Finnish,Belorussian

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

m.mikolasevic 7

I am Croatian too, how can I help you?

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

skyrim27 8 5

Yes! Croatian!

Half of my family lives in Croatia. Whenever my dad is on Skype with them, he's always talking to them in Croatian. They always want to talk to me, but they know very little English just like I know very little Croatian. If Duolingo made a Croatian course, I would take it in a heartbeat! I would finally be able to talk to my family over in Croatia!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TheFrin 11 9

I would love to do Croatian. My mother is Croatian, but my father is British. My British family actually stopped my siblings and I from learning serbo-croat and as an adult I would love to interact with my Croatian family.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarijaBuljat 6 4 2

I am from Croatia.I willing to make it because Croatian launguage coverse Bosnia and Hecegovina,Serbia...

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Scotty.G

Someone please do this course, I would love to take it!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ivy1029 8 2 2

awesome

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MatoMajor 7 5 4 2

I will try

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Krekoviclvana 12

Yes, Yes & yes :).. would love to see Croatian on Duolingo. Please make it happen..

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

RogueTanuki 20 7 3

Croatian folk song in The Witcher 3 lyrics:

Bura mi je ziparinka bila, Zipjuć me je va morje stavjala. Mornari me va mrižu lovili Prodali me biloj Katarini. x2

Oj, divojko, jabuko rumena, Parim da te, ma, naranča rodila. Nije mene naranča rodila, Za goru me je mat moja rodila.

Katarina dobra žena bila Ka je mene ma bilu odgojila.

Z bilim kruhom i crljenim vinom.x2 translation (some words are very dialectal, as in, I, as a native speaker, don't know what they mean, so I'm gonna guess what they meant to say):

Bora was my wet nurse Rocking me, she put me in the sea The sailors caught me in the net They sold me to white Katarina

Oi, girl, you rosy apple, It seems to me that you were born by an orange I wasn't born from an orange, Beyond the mountain my mother gave birth to me

Katarina was a good wife Which raised, oh, the white me

On white bread and red wine.x2

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ellebi09 13 11 11 10 10 9 9 6 6 5 2

I would like to learn Croatian!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jjsperling1 3 2

Yeah they should make either Croatian or Serbian. Because if you do one than it works for the rest.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Acosta21_ 11 5 8

and for spanish speakers too! <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/16088793>

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

TheCroatianPiano 8 8

[deleted]

1Give Lingot•10 months ago

Neptunium 16 12 11 7 6 6 4 3 3

If Croatian is your native language or you're fluent in it, you can apply here:

<https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply>

Keep in mind that it may take considerable time to get a response - you're essentially waiting until Duolingo decides they want to make a Croatian course (which may be years from now), and then they have to look at all the applications they've had over the years (of course, they'd be more likely to pick someone who is actively using Duolingo rather than someone who applied years before and hasn't been back since).

If you're a really interested in volunteering, and you're a native speaker, I have a proposal for you (the same offer extends to any other native Croatian speakers who may be listening). I strongly believe that the best way to pick up a language is to try listening and speaking it, but of course a native speaker isn't always available when you want to study, and when you're a beginner no one's likely to be patient enough to repeat sentences back to you multiple times, especially when you want to study for hours on end.

Without good resources, it's hard to bridge the gap from studying from a textbook to being able to practise your speaking and listening without boring who you're speaking to to death. Watching movies or listening to the radio is the traditional way to bridge this gap, and least for listening, but I've found an even more efficient way is to make each sentence an mp3 and to put it into a digital flash card. The transcription of the text and the translation would be on the other side.

For example, I have an Anki deck with 10 000 German sentences in it (which I download from Memrise and converted into an Anki deck using software). When I study, all I'm given is an audio file, which I listen to and try to figure out what it says. On the back of the flashcard it then might say "Wir geben ihm den Apfel: We give him the apple". The advantage of this is that I can repeat a sentence as many times as I want until I understand it (give up), both before and after I check the transcription. I'll then hear the same sentence a few days later and repeat the process. When you have a large enough of a sample size, I've found this a really good way to quickly build your listening skills (when I'm at home I also try to practise the pronunciation, but usually I study when I'm taking public transport). I've actually started learning French from near scratch this way. I took a few Duolingo lessons (just the first few) to get the gist of the grammar, and since then I've been making flashcards with French audio I've cut from the French FSI course.

Let me get to the point: my grandparents come from Croatia, and my cousin visited our extended family there earlier this year. He had already been studying Croatian for a few months before visiting, which was lucky since he discovered they don't speak a word of English (he said standard Croatian was already effectively a second language to them, since their dialect was very different to it). I'm hoping to visit some time - maybe at the end of this year or early next year. Before I go I intend to study some Croatian so I can at least have a basic conversation with them.

It's easy to find written Croatian materials, but unfortunately audio materials are very hard to find. The only thing I've found is the FSI Serbo-Croatian course. While it's useful, the quality isn't too great (I've found that the quality of the audio differs greatly between different FSI courses), and it's very time consuming to have to find each sentence in the audio file and cut it out.

All I ask from you is for you to record some audio, and maybe write a translation. In the time span of a solid afternoon I could write about a thousand English sentences (I would structure it like a course, starting off with simply phrases but gradually making the sentences more complicated), and I could also generate Croatian translations using Google Translate. How many sentences the deck ends up having depends on how much you're willing to help. All I need a native speaker to do is a) record themselves saying each sentence, and b) check that Google's translation is correct and natural. We would then provide the deck to the public through AnkiWeb.

What do you say?

7ReplyGive Lingot2•10 months ago

urzoa 11 10 6 6 6 2

Hello! Native Croatian speaker here. Your proposal sounds like a great idea - you can count me in!

5ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

docmint 11 9 5

That's a very good idea. I wasn't able to find any free Croatian courses on the internet that had any kind of audio recordings, and honestly: Serbo-croatian sounds different than regular Croatian (of course, it depends on the speaker, but from my experience, it always had something different). I'm also a native and would love to help, but I don't have any experience with recording and the only microphone I do have is the one in my macbook, so I hope you, urzoa and/or rorypaw managed to figure something out.

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

rorypaw 7 7 5 3

Great idea! If you still need a hand, let me know :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Neptunium 16 12 11 7 6 6 4 3 3

Hi Rorypaw, I created a deck with 4000 sentences, which I tried to structure like a Duolingo/FSI course, and then I generated Croatian sentences from these with Google Translate.

Unfortunately I haven't heard from Urzoa in some time; but if you're willing to help, I could send you the Anki deck to check (I don't exactly trust Google Translate) and to record audio for the sentences. How does that sound?

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

smarinov 19 18 17 11 10 8 8 8 8 6 4 87

You can try the Anki add-on AwesomeTTS and record manually only if the generated audio sounds completely unnatural, or even wrong. This way the native speaker would just have to correct mistakes and not record all sentences from scratch, which could potentially be really tedious.

2ReplyGive Lingot10•5 months ago

Neptunium 16 12 11 7 6 6 4 3 3

Thanks for the recommendation.

I downloaded AwesomeTTS and the only Croatian voice I can find is the Google Translate one, which sounds VERY robotic. The documentation says eSpeak also includes a Croatian voice, but I can't see eSpeak as an option in AwesomeTTS.

Thanks for the resource though - it looks like a very useful tool.

2Give Lingot•5 months ago

Tzartist 10

WTF?! Why was my comment deleted?!

1ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

What was your comment?

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

HessianGirl_1776 11 6 6 145

I don't speak it. However, I would love to learn it. This course should be created. the technology is perfect. Croatian has it's roots in Czechoslovakian language historically. If you know Czech, you can pretty much carry over to Croatian.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

MelitaLajt 12 10 8

I am also very much wiling to make it :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

miff_ana 9 7 7 7

If you want to make this happen, do the following: 1. give this thread a lingot or 10 or a 100 2. vote up this thread 3. write a comment in the thread 4. go here: <https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply> scroll to the bottom of the languages, and pick "Enter Other" and enter Croatian. Then write a passionate plea as to why Croatian should be included and how awesome your contributions will be. Thanks!

6ReplyGive Lingot4•2 months ago

Awesome737 10 6 5 5 4 4 4 57

I leveled up to level 8 in Spanish, but I heard that Czech is similar to Croatian, but not the same, lets try to get moderators to see this and keep fighting to get Croatian on Duolingo!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Jacktheawesome7 6 5
PLZ PLZ PLZ

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

[deactivated user]

Having a Croatian course would be amazing! I am half Croatian and this course will give me extra source of me being taught after my mom teaching me. Duolingo and creators please make this happen i would appreciate it so much and everyone liking and commenting will love it! I could contribute on some parts!

1ReplyGive Lingot1•3 weeks ago

JarkoRab 25 13 12 180
I'd love to have a course of Croatian!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

LydMilam 6
i would absolutely love to learn it

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

MariaDreams 9 9
I would love for there to be a Croatian course!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 days ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

As one user, Druden, stated, "I feel like there is tension in the incubator as far as which language (Serbian/Croatian/Bosnian/ Montenegrin) to teach. I hope the Duolingo enthusiasts from the four former Yugoslav republics can put their political differences aside and let the artist formerly known as Serbo-Croatian stand up! I'd like to start reading Milorad Pavic, so for that reason I'm looking forward to learning Serbian!"

Thank you so much. I totally agree with you. If all the Duo users and enthusiasts were to merge together and collaborate on putting the technical, political terminology of the language aside, it would become popular, easier to contribute, and more likely to go into incubator. In my opinion, I would hate to see people make a big fuss on what the language should be called (such as Serbian, Croatian, Bosnian, Montenegrin). I think a better, fair way to title this language can be (Serbo-Croat-Bosnian or Yugoslavic or Slavic) which I prefer since it correlates to all four sub-dialect. One issue is, however, what alphabets will it be in. Majority of Croatia, Bosnia use Latin alphabet while Majority of Serbia uses Cyrillic alphabet. I understand this should be a conflict of interest. Aside from the alphabet question, I believe there should be no other conflicts of interest. Again, my main point here is that they should be all be merged together as one language rather than separate sub-dialect languages.. They may all be different dialects, but it doesn't make it a different language. All the dialects could be included as there is always more than one way to say something. Can't wait for this to be solved and done. GO SLAVIC. HAJMO SLAVIC.

Another user, meSanti, stated this below perfectly so don't give those "It's two different language" excuses. No where is that ever stated from a unbiased, linguistic viewpoint. You only see these excuses from biased, and purely political viewpoints.

To call Serbian and Croatian different languages just because "some" words are not the same makes no sense whatsoever. Following that exact same logic, the people from England, Ireland, Wales, Scotland, USA, Canada, South Africa, Australia, etc, etc they all speak different languages. The same goes for the 20 countries where Spanish is an official language, they all speak different languages. It's absurd. The root of the "Serbian, Croatian and Bosnian are different languages" is purely political and has no basis in linguistics. They are simply dialects of the same language, i.e. varieties of a language that is a characteristic of a particular group of the language's speakers. Regardless of the name you wish to use, it would a waste of resources to create 2 or 3 separate courses, one for each dialect of the same language.

OReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

Politics and how is a language, or how are the languages called - that is not the real issue. The thing is - you can't make a Serbo-Croatian course, just like you can't make a Catalan-Spanish Course or American-British-Australian English course. Also, people who think only alphabets and e/ije/je are what makes difference between those languages/dialects are very wrong. Duolingo has a Brazilian Portuguese as an individual course, so I don't think it's likely that they want to merge Serbian, Croatian, Bosnian and Montenegrin. I as a Croatian have nothing against Serbs or Serbian language, it's just that even if we agree that Serbian and Croatian are one language - Serbo-Croatian, we also have to agree that there is no such thing as spoken/written Serbo-Croatian. Each person, Serb or Croat, uses just one version - Serbian OR Croatian, so merging doesn't make sense. Serbs will say "hljeb", Croats will say "kruh", both of them are "bread". Serbs will say "pantalone", Croats will say "hlače", both are "pants". Serbs will say "hoću da igram", Croats will say "hoću/želim plesati", meaning - "I want to dance". When Croats say "hoću/želim igrati", they are saying that they want to play (a game), not dance. I would just like for everyone to stop thinking about politics and making their judgment based of political divisions. We are all here to learn languages and we should do more research on real differences between the languages/dialects and then decide based on them. I personally think Serbo-Croatian is too much trouble and doesn't make any sense. I have no vision of how should such a course look like, so logically, I'm not feeling capable of making such a course.

3ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

While I understand each region has their own dialect and way of saying things, I agree that it can be very difficult to merge them all. However, I still believe that it is possible. Again, you are using terrible examples to compare. Catalan-Spanish is not a thing as Catalan is an entirely different language separate from Spanish. They are also, ethnically, different. And as with English (USA/UK/Australia), we don't have this issue. While each speak with a different dialect, it is still accepted and acknowledge as ONE LANGUAGE and nothing is politicized at all in this language. Brazilian Portuguese and Portugal Portuguese may be two different dialects, but again are still ONE language. I disagree with you, but I admire your enthusiasm for language learning and linguistics.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

I used those examples on purpose. To you Catalan-Spanish is not a thing, and for many people Serbo-Croatian is not a thing. You might not agree with them, but each to their own. English I used because you claim that Serbian, Croatian, Bosnian and Montenegrin should be merged in one course because they're one language, I'm just pointing out that no one does that with different dialects of English. If no one is trying to or even wants to merge different dialects of English into one course, then why is it sooooo important with Serbian, Croatian, Montenegrin and Bosnian?

4ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

Again, you are using and seeing different dialects as different languages. No one is doing this in English because no one is being political or biased which is not the case in Slavic. You don't hear anyone saying "I speak American, British, or Austrian" for English. or "I speak Mexican, Colombian, Venezuelan, or Uruguayan" for Spanish. or "I speak Brazilian" for Portuguese. Why do you not hear that? Because that sounds very stupid and ignorant. Everyone knows that the language is English, Spanish, or Portuguese no matter how many dialects there are or how different they are. But you hear this incorrect, biased "multiple separate languages" in Serbian, Croatian, Bosnian, Montenegrin (all Slavic). That is why it is important with Slavic.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

The only person that sounds stupid and ignorant is you. 1st - It's Australian, not Austrian. 2nd - I wasn't saying those are different languages, but that it is much, much more complicated to merge them into one course than you think. 3rd - British colonized America and that's why Americans speak English. Spanish conquests in South America made most of the continent speak Spanish. There is no such history with Croatia and Serbia and comparison you're making is, well...ignorant. Croatian as a language existed before, it is first mentioned as a language in a document from 1275, and the document is written in a Croatian script called "glagoljica". Not latin script, not cyrillic. Croatian glagoljica. Look it up. The reason why Croatian and Serbian are so similar now is because of politicians who couldn't stand the differences between those languages in a country called Yugoslavia. They saw differences in our languages as a barrier between people living in the country and even a threat to unified Yugoslavia. So they made a big effort to make those differences disappear. That's how Serbo-Croatian was created. It was a made-up language, based on 2 existing languages and introduced in schools across the country. We're not blinded by politics. We know our history. Croatian and Serbian may be considered one language now, but there were not always the same language and there was never such thing as Serbo-Croatian.

3Give Lingot•6 months ago

seeker20 23 17 17 13 12 8 2

@Hovhannes16: You're just completely missing the point. Aside with obvious miss in naming a part of the basis of difference between Catalan and Spanish an ethnical one (as if Croats and Serbs actually are of the same ethnicity. But then again, whence do we derive these terms? Politics? Right, hh) The point is, nagging about those differences being simply political while at the same time claiming it is possible to really create a Serbo-Croatian course is actually jumping in one's own mouth because it is precisely the so-called Serbo-Croatian that's a political term. Because - as Euterpa clearly put it - no one ever spoke that language. Period. It was just an illusion, a product of certain agendas, etc. And I am saying this as someone who would (knowing about diasystem, continuum, etc.) for general purposes basically say that Croatian, Serbian, etc. are the same language. Lemme tell you what's ignorant: naming those languages of which we're talking about "Slavic" as if there's isn't a distinction (pretty big one) between e.g. Polish and Czech on one hand and Croatian and Serbian, on the other hand. The former are of Northern Slavic group, the latter of "South Slavic", one almost totally unintelligible to one another. So what we get here is that you pretty much don't know what you're talking about. Right, English, tell 'em!

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

@Seeker20 If you say so, then I can be very political and say "I speak American, British, and Australian" for English, In Spanish, I speak over 20 languages that "like" Spanish, but different. I speak Portuguese AND Brazilian. Oh and also, I don't just speak German, I also speak Austrian and Swiss. Wow. I speak almost 30+ languages. You know what I mean?

I could say all that what I wrote above all I want. But everyone, including you, should know that this is not true nor correct in linguistic terms. I hope you understood my point.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

seeker20 23 17 17 13 12 8 2

Yes, I get your point. You amaze me. Just read what I've said.

2Give Lingot•6 months ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

Lighten up Seeker. You are right that Serbo-Croatian in that it was never a living linguistic entity. Yes, the correct terminology is not Serbo-Croatian. I believe it would work as CCS, as you mentioned, or "Slavic, South Slavic, or Yugoslavic". I am not for specifically merging these two as Serbo-Croat, but even this incorrect term is better than 4 separate "languages" term as Serbian, Croatian, Bosnian, Montenegrin. Also, I enjoyed reading your points written above. Take care.

1Give Lingot•6 months ago

Hovhannes16 19 15 9 7 5 422

Seeker. Must be that anglosaxon-superiority-and the-rest-of-the-world-inferiority complex. I don't what that is about, but ok. I did read what you said. There are distinctions between Serbian, Croatian, Bosnian, but those are dialect distinctions, not distinctions as a different language. I agree Serbo-Croatian was created as a political term. I believe the correct terminology, void of politics and solely linguistic, would be "Yugoslavic" or Slavic or something. Bosnian was not a language back then, Bosnian was not even an ethnicity in the 19th century. But now, they are Muslims (which is now considered as a ethnicity in Bosnia & Herzegovina). I find Muslim as a ethnicity very laughable. The majority of the population there were Serbs/Croats and converted to Islam due to Ottoman influence. Maybe in another 100 years, there might be more artificial languages in the former Yugoslavic nations. People need to look back to the origin. Yes, it is possible that over time, hundreds of years, they may break away and become separate. But this is not in South Slavic. How is it that a Serb/Croat/Bosnian/Montenegrin all understand each other very well without any trouble? The answer is obvious.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

seeker20 23 17 17 13 12 8 2

Okay, I'll sum it up for you, Hovhannes16: First, I never tried to disproof your point that Croats, Serbs, etc. don't understand each other - as the matter of fact, I just happen to claim it myself, as you can read it in my previous posts. All I'm saying (that's the second point) - and that's what you previously failed to understand, although now claiming that you know that's so - is that Serbo-Croatian was never a living linguistic entity, i.e. no one ever spoke it, so therefore it is a fail to insist on making the same named course. You cannot simply merge by mere liking of aspects. On Duo we have Spanish spoken in Mexico, Portuguese spoken in Brazil, etc. An individual spoke Croatian or Serbian. Therefore, we could have - to roughly put it - "Central South Slavic spoken in Croatia" or "CSS spoken in Serbia", but not a mix of the two. Voila. I entered this discussion hoping everyone's humble enough to admit their own mistakes, but, okay... Now say whatever you want to, I'm outta here. Farewell.

3Give Lingot•6 months ago

HessianGirl_1776 11 6 6 145

I would love to have this language created. I don't know any of it, so I can't contribute to making it available. but for those that can please do.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Awesome737 10 6 5 5 4 4 4 57

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/21647886>, this will help you be motivated to learn more on Duolingo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

robbyzg 13

please do it, my girlfriend is spanish-english speaking and i really need it LOL

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Margarita18488 12

Has this been created?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

20jminor 3

I'm starting to lose hope in this course. This discussion is over two years old, and many people have claimed to apply for the incubator, but it seems that it's not going to be a thing anytime soon. I am very interested in learning Croatian, and there aren't that many recourses out there. It would mean the world to me if Croatian got a course.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

How come you're so interested in learning Croatian, I'm curious? :) Indeed, there aren't that many resources for learning Croatian and most that exist aren't even correct (for example, even Memrise's Croatian courses have a lot of flaws). There's a Croatian course on Mondly and that one is the best out there by far. Maybe it's not fair to promote another app on Duolingo, but what can one do... :D So...here's their website <https://www.mondlylanguages.com>, and also Android and iPhone apps are available. If you need any help or want someone to practice conversation with, just contact me on my profile feed. :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

AneiSinead 11 9 9 2 1

this is a stupid question but...where can I find the Croatian course on Mondly? I cannot find it :(

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

I was taking a Croatian course for English speakers, I know it's also available for Italian and Spanish speakers (I haven't checked the availability for other languages). On the home screen, you should be given a choice: "I speak ____", "I want to learn ____", from there you should be able to choose that you want to learn Croatian.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

AneiSinead 11 9 9 2 1

that is exactly what I did :( ok, I'll check another time... hvala <3

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

I don't know, it worked for me. :( Hope you make it! :) Nema na čemu :) <3

1Give Lingot1•4 weeks ago

mstanwyck 16 13 6 6 1

It's there! I just started. For some reason I missed it the first time I went through the list. Check again!

1Give Lingot•2 weeks ago

Euterpa 22 16 14 11 7 6 4

@mstanwyck I don't remember this happened to me on the mobile (android) app, but I've recently started the course again, from zero via desktop version, and didn't get very far. After only a few lessons they asked me to pay to practice further. :( I will try to go through some Memrise courses again, and see if there's anything good there! I'll let you all know if I succeed! Fingers crossed! :D :)

0Give Lingot•2 weeks ago

11 "De boeken of de meisjes?"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6527698>

Translation: The books or the girls?

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

11 Comments

brettfell 7

Every nerd's dilemma

131ReplyGive Lingot5•2 years ago

Pat295304 15 9 8 7 6 2 7

not really.. Girls are most often not an available option ;]

20ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

americanu197 16 16 16 15 10 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6

college all over again

77ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

allie.mimi 9

Tough choice.

39ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Jaime95 13 10 10 7 5 4 4 3 3 3

Damn, am I being robbed or something?

12ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sally-Sally 14 9 7 6 5

Why does they use (de) instead of (het) when they say (de meisjes)?!.....

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MajdArab1 5 5

Because all words in plural come with de

12ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

roferretti 14 7

Some words in dutch use "de" and some use "het" but it has same meaning. You should google "duolingo dutch grammar overview" and look for "het vs de" section to read more about it

6ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Sally-Sally 14 9 7 6 5

Thanks

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

dindo.salas 8

Use de for plural.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Neo537265 9

Lifestyle? :3

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

12 Il whisky gli fa tornare la vista che aveva perso bevendo vodka

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6384979>

Luigi.MCMLXXIV 25 25 25 79

Give Lingot

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

jaye16 25 25 25 13 6 3 2 208

There doesn't seem any indication of exaggeration so I thought it might be "drink too much" or "overindulge."

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

rljones 25 25 9 9 7

Better choice.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

rljones 25 25 9 9 7

I still like the opposition of "incredulous" but "nevertheless pleased," but I don't insist. Let's see how other people react.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

13 Movies and music

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5903775>

pesches16 13

Hello everyone! I'm new to Duolingo! Wanted to invite you all to share some good songs and movies in Portuguese you might know. I believe those are also good tools that can help us learn and improve Portuguese. Some artist I would recommend are: Nando Reis, Marisa Monte, Ana Carolina and Maria Rita. The good movies I saw are: "O Auto da Compadecida", "Tapete Vermelho" and "Cidade de Deus" The newer ones are really funny: De Pernas Pro Ar 1 & 2, A Dona da Historia, A Mulher Invisível, Se Eu Fosse Você 1 & 2, Qualquer Gato Vira Lata. Hope you also have some good movies and songs to share :)

Give Lingot2

82 years ago

Leave a new comment

23 Comments

Diogo.D 25 25 25 22 12 5 5 3

I chose some songs for you...

(Adriana Calcanhoto)

1 - http://youtu.be/qX\_DROpkDgA

2- <http://youtu.be/GgIWWP8nrpU>

3 - <http://youtu.be/SxslVLpzBuo>

(Jorge Vercílio)

4- <http://youtu.be/h9gDIK5L9Y0>

(Djavan)

5- <http://youtu.be/myz15GzT74Q>

(Tiê)

6- http://youtu.be/fDeq\_pl1WgU

This last is a Portuguese version from Italian music "La Notte - Arisa" :)

Enjoy!

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

pesches16 13

muito legal! obrigada! I'll listen to those! :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Diogo.D 25 25 25 22 12 5 5 3

After listen, tell me what you thought :)

.....But you will tell me in Portuguese, combined!?

You already started very well with "obrigada" ;-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

pesches16 13

oi! ja ouvi todas! amo muito "Que Nem Mare" de Jorge. Hope I got some of it right :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RichardLop11 13 10

If you like Brazilian jazz (Bossa Nova) one of my favorites is Agua de Beber by Antonio Carlos Jobim

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

_lusofono_ 25 19 18 13 6 9

I'll recommend the early records of Clube da Esquina, the band that Lo Borges and Milton Nascimento started in the 60s. And if your tastes, like mine, run to the garish and tacky, I'd also recommend Gaby Amarantos, the queen of the genre known as "brega."

Os Mutantes have some good songs too.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jcarlosmjr 25 19 12 12 12 3

Movies:

Central do Brasil (Nominated for the Academy Awards of Best Foreign Language Film and Best Actress)

Lisbela e o Prisioneiro

O Palhaço

O Auto da Compadecida

Music (different genres):

Adriana Calcanhoto - Fico Assim Sem Você <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=iojYDSjKK00>

Alceu Valença - Girassol <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QlEnH7cQNqs>

Maria Cecília e Rodolfo - Você de Volta https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=\_JSy0nI0rb4

A Banda Mais Bonita da Cidade - Oração <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QW0i1U4u0KE>

Clarice Falcão - Eu Esqueci Você https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zrgl\_f1kjaA

Gonzaguinha - Maravida https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5AXRsG2n1\_k

Chico Buarque e Nara Leão - João e Maria <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5tQdqepsLOs>

César Menotti e Fabiano - Ciumenta <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UmhUcyegExA>

Agridoce - Dançando <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vOL-AvxD9w4> (the female singer is most notably known by her solo career with the name "Pitty")

Lulu Santos - Sereia <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PaGKPM3g9Ts>

Cássia Eller - Por Enquanto <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lyfq5vARrVw>

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

girlylittleanna 17 12 10 9 5 2

I like to watch cartoons in portuguese! And every interview with Neymar kkkkkk

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

pesches16 13

kkkk, sounds like a good idea! obrigada :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

annemuth 19 11

Porta dos Fundos on youtube is great. Filmwise I enjoyed: Apenas do fim, Como esquecer, Central do Brasil (and Rio Sex Comedy although its multilingual but good fun to watch). Singer I also like Clarice Falcao.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

emegele 16 8 6

Lisbela e o prisioneiro - the actors speak quite fast so it's good to train listening. O filme é ótimo também!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

CamisaBlanca 11 10 10 9 7

Sepultura - Ratamahatta probably not everyone's type of music but it inspired me to learn Portuguese and to learn more about Brazil ^^

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sfranc_duo 21

Good choice.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

CamisaBlanca 11 10 10 9 7

and some Soufly songs which contain Portuguese lyrics.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

hrelinho 23 10 6

Thaeme e Thiago :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

pesches16 13

Muzika ili film? :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sfranc_duo 21

It is music.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

blvckoshea 11 5

Alexandre Carlo, 3030, Projota, Natiruts is a good group, songs like Me Namora, Beija Flor, Quero ser feliz também or Você me encantou demais are good. Mulher by Projota is kinda good too, i like the cover of Me Namora and Mulher by Sofia Oliveira, she's fine.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Wallace_Rodrigo 25 23

Filmes: "Era uma vez.." e "lisbela e o prisioneiro" e indicaria "o auto da compadecida" mas você já assistiu.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

EmMegan 9 7 5 1

In my portuguese class I recently watched Bossa Nova. It is a pretty good romantic comedy (not too cheesy).

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

as-arabella 12 6 4

I recommend Engenheiros do Hawaii, Los Hermanos and 5 a seco. They're songs are amazing, have a simple language, some slangs, I think is perfect for practice. Also try Validuaté, it's a small band from my city, but I think they're great too. I hope I have helped, sorry for any grammar mistakes haha

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

pvictorjardim 16 2

Hello, I'm Brazilian and I'm studying english. I'm looking for native english speaker who are studying portuguese for add me on skype (pvictorjardim) for we can practice conversation (something very important, but the duolingo doesn't have this system of chat yet).

About your topic, there is this website: <http://www.vagalume.com.br/>

The vagalume has a lot of songs with the subtitles. I use a lot this site to improve my vocabulary and listening.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gabrielmumbach 15 14 8 2 2

Embora - Renato Teixeira & Sérgio Reis <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n6Cpg4tr7cU>

"A gente aprende que há um mundo lá fora, minha vida depende de saber ir embora. Tudo tem hora, é assim minha sina. O amor não termina mas eu tenho que ir embora"

A few hours ago during a trip, I paid attention to this music and..... repeat repeat again again again repeat "ad eternum"

Enjoy!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

14 "Yo no tenía alternativa."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/798772>

Translation: I had no alternative.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

57 Comments

NiceAutumn 13

por qué no esta bien decir "I did not have alternative" ?

22ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

AlejandroR666 24 11 10 6 5 3

para decir que no se tiene nada de nada se agrega o el articulo a,an; o la palabra any, o la palabra despues del verbo... I didn't have any alternative, I didnt have an alternative, I had no alternative

93ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

NiceAutumn 13

Gracias Alejandro :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

RogerManti 16 10 7 3

Caaaapo! Ahora me quedó claro.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Federico_Failla 15 11 9 8 7

y por qué no "i had not"?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JoseFiguei2 22 8

Porque para preguntar y para negar el pasado se utiliza el auxiliar did y el verbo en infinitivo. - I did not have an/any alternative, en donde NOT niega al verbo. Otra posibilidad sería con el verbo en pasado así: - I had no alternative, donde NO niega al sustantivo (alternative)

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Lcurso 23 86

Thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

sarjentocuch 20 17

Ok gracias. Ha ver si lo recuerdo ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Lcurso 23 86

Thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Matias_gti 12 9 4

Podria ser "I was no choice" O "i had no choice"?

-3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlejandroR666 24 11 10 6 5 3

-I was no choice- sería "Yo no fui opción/elección". I had no choice traduce: No tuve elección/opción.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

marcoleon3 25 9

For me is ok

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

JREAC 10 7

Me corrige y me pone "an choice". Por que an y no "a"

15ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

val3val 11 10 10 9

debe ser a choice or any choice. An choice esta mal.

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

adrianakos 25 25 25 25 25 11 475

"an choice" es un error, ya lo reporté (1/1/2015). Se utiliza "an" en lugar de "a" si la palabra siguiente comienza con "a".

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

matu37 14 11

Se utiliza "an" si la palabra siguiente comienza con una vocal: an option, an exit, an idea...etc

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

adrianakos 25 25 25 25 25 11 475

Gracias, matu37, me equivoqué, quise poner vocal y puse a.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

matu37 14 11

Me imagine, quise aclararlo para que no genere confusión, saludos!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gglezo 10 7

Que mal que todavía no se corrige después de más de 2 meses.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FlorPrez 11 10 5 5

A mi igual e.e

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sergioisaz 15

Por qué no: I had not alternative?

10ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Tusito 14 7 6 6

En general piensa que si puedes poner 'not a' o 'not any' entonces puedes utilizar el 'no'

Salu2.

Tomado de <http://www.bbc.co.uk/worldservice/learningenglish/grammar/learnit/learnitv44.shtml>

No is a determiner expressing quantity like 'all', 'every', 'many', 'some', 'any', 'each', 'either', 'one', 'another' and is used before singular and plural nouns. It is similar in meaning to 'not a' or 'not any' and is often our preferred choice if we want to give emphasis to what we are saying. Compare: 'I have no idea what he is referring to.' (more emphatic) 'I don't have any idea what he is referring to.' (less emphatic) 'No students from the secondary school in New Town achieved the highest grades in their end-of-year exam.' (more emphatic) 'There weren't any students from the secondary school in New Town who achieved the highest grades in their end-of-year exam.' (less emphatic) 'I'm sorry. I've got no time for that this afternoon.' (more emphatic) 'I'm sorry. I haven't any time for that this afternoon.' (less emphatic) Not is used to make a clause or sentence negative and usually combines with the verb 'to be' and with adjectives, adverbs, noun groups or prepositional phrases. Very is often used after not to moderate the negative aspect of the clause. Thus, we have: 'It was not difficult to understand why she was in love with him.' 'It is not always true that people who are in love like the same things.' 'He swims well, but not very evenly.' 'It was not a huge meal, but enough for two people.' 'I know I'll probably fail my driving test, but I'm not in the least bit nervous about it.' 'Good' is probably unique as an adjective in that it can combine with no and any and also with not, although there are sometimes subtle distinctions in usage or meaning. Compare: 'Is the milk good?' 'No, it's not good.' (The discussion here is about how fresh the milk is and not for me would be the preferred negative) 'Was the play any good?' 'It was no good at all. The acting was poor and the direction was terrible.' (Here, no good in the answer reflects any good in the question.) 'It's no good. I can't see how we can repair this fence. We shall have to buy a new one. (Here, 'It's no good' could be replaced by 'It's no use'.) Note that good, like use or point is often used with -ing: 'It's no good trying to apologise. You have really offended me.' 'It's no use complaining about the service in this hotel. It will never improve.' 'There was no point (in) carrying on with this. We decided to end the investigation. Remember to use 'there's' with 'no point' and 'it's' with 'no good/no use'.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jorivero1 8

¿Por qué no está bien decir "I did not have a choice"?

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

amendozal 9

Misma pregunta

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

AlejandroR666 24 11 10 6 5 3

Choice es opción, elección. Si, son sinonimos pero recuerden que duolingo toma la traducción casi literal de todo.

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

marcogarsia 21 13 5 5

Alternativa no es lo mismo que Elección de forma literal, aunque se entiende

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jvdiana 21 15 15 8 8 100

si, es correcto. Repórtalo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

pekellamuez 24 17 4

Me gustaria que me digan por que se usa la palabra no y no, el not

4ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

CREAMER_ELIAS 15 4

Amigos aquí les dejo un pequeño aporte, mi hermano es una parlante del ingles Britanico y el ingles de aca de América por lo consiguiente el me dio una informacion. Cuando vamos a hablar sobre la ausencia de algo debemos usar "No" por ejemplo: "No tengo gatos"= I have no cats" en las demas ocasiones podemos usar don't pero mi hermano segun me dijo a mi debemos usar "No" cuando hablas de algo que hizo falta como la oración lo dijo

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

isabel1385 10

Cuando usar el not y el no.....alguien que me ayude please

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

samuelponce78 14

por que aqui no utilizan la negacion no como not.

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

conchamaestre123 19 11

eso en castellano se traduciría por: Yo no tenía una alternativa - No creo que sea necesario decir: UNA, en castellano no se usa a no ser que haya más alternativas

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

danielanio10 9

por que es necesario el articulo an si en español no esta???

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

maru.pasini 23 18 5

Es un error considerar an choice como correcta. Por favor corregir.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sergioisaz 15

Por qué no: I had not alternative?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jvdiana 21 15 15 8 8 100

Watch this link: <http://www.engvid.com/how-to-use-no-not-in-english/>

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

albertfa 14

Cuando debo utilizar el no o el not

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MalenaDidi 9

Me sugiere "AN choice"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mismo_11 11 2

porqué no vale "I haven't got choice"??

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ConchiCast2 17 2 2 5

AN choice?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Juanituri 9 3

Esta mal corregida ! toma como correcto AN CHOICE, cuando realmente se utiliza A. Cualquiera esto.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

frajarita 12

Me sale incorrecto al usar "a choice" y propone como correcto "AN choice", esta mal hasta donde tengo entendido.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FlorPrez 11 10 5 5

DICEN QUE LO CORRECTO ES: I DONT HAVE AN CHOICE._.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GyamKarlo 21 11 8 7 5 2 13

Gracias CREAMER_ELIAS

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

greeyeer 14 6

Para corregir, I did not have alternative, tambien es correcta

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

selp26 21 16 12

Por que lleva "no" en vez de "not"??

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Ociteb 20 17

Por qué no usar auxiliar?: I didn't have alternative.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gglezo 10 7

puse I did not have a choice y salió mal... que porque debería ser "an choice" jajaj primer error que veo en duolingo pero pésimo.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

amjjchucho 14

Me corrigen: a choice.. Por: an choice.. What??????????

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Flacopalucho 8
I had no choise, :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

belchap 13 6 2
Puse "I didn't have a choice" y me pone mal, es "an choice". Choice empieza con consonante, en todo caso es "a choice". Duolingo chanta.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JennyYino 12 9 9 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 3
Podría ser "had not" o "hadn't"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Cringy 22 14 5 10
"I hadn't any alternative" es bueno, pero no redacción común.

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

BrayanMahecha1 14 6 4 2 2
I hadn't alternative.. me la dio por mala

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rosamigon 25 1
????¿????????????

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JoseM.Madr 6
porque no esta bien i hadn't

-2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

CREAMER_ELIAS 15 4
Hola amigo Jose, mira esta mal por que si vienes a ver ahí en la opcion correcta allí te dice "I had no alternative" ok ahora voy a explicarte Usas "No" cuando estas hablando de la ausencia de algo como lo explique en mi comentario anterior

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

15 "Antes de hacer nada al respecto"
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/7660985>

MattMurrell 22 13
Hi,

I'm reading (well, using the few words I know to try to guess what's happening) some of the Discworld books in Spanish and came across this phrase: "antes de hacer nada al respecto".

The meaning is "before doing anything about it" .

Can anyone tell me why "nada" is used? Is it common to use "nothing" where we'd use "anything" in English - or is this just an idiomatic expression that can't be literally translated?

Gracias!

Give Lingot1

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

10 Comments

wildfood 25 18 17 37

I think you are correct in saying it is common to use "nothing" where we would say "anything".
Another one: "mas que nada"= "more than anything".

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

MattMurrell 22 13

Thanks. And now I have another Spanish phrase to add to my list.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sebastosiano 11 9 3

You are right.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Adina_atl 25

I have nothing useful to say about your question, but the idea of reading Discworld in Spanish is brilliant! Thank you and have a lingot.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MattMurrell 22 13

I stumbled across one on Amazon by accident - now I have a small collection of them. :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Adina_atl 25

I just bought "Dioses Menores".

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MattMurrell 22 13

Good choice

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Adina_atl 25

Small Gods has always been one of my favorite Discworld books. I figured one of the "stand alone" books would be better to start with.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sebastosiano 11 9 3

Its an idiomatic expression. You could replace it with: "Antes de hacer algo al respecto"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

loboblancodav 10

Well to be completely honest with you, is a bad use of the language that many native speakers do, especially the ones from Mexico. We use for example: no tenga nada que hacer; no quiero hacer nada the correct ones would be : no tengo algo que hacer; no quiero hacer algo, . However many of us will understand what you are trying to say. But from the reading , it can trick you.

Regards.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

16 ¿Va para la playa esta Semana Santa? Preste atención y evite que su comida se contamine de bacterias

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/7802694>

Adina_atl 25

Give Lingot

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

3 Comments

Adina_atl 25

I uploaded this to Holidays and Events because I thought people might be interested in Costa Rica's tradition of Easter as a major beach holiday.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

vwlj 25 12 7 6 27

Good choice!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Adina_atl 25

Glad you like it. For a nominally Catholic country, Costa Rica loves their two big beach holidays, Christmas and Easter.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

17 Awards

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6282750>

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

If you have done any of these, please comment below and which. If you don't know what I'm talking about, go to https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6268072?comment\_id=6268113 Comment if you have or are... Learning 2 languages on Duolingo (1 Lingot) Note: You have to reach level 2 first.

Reached level 10 in at least 1 language (2 Lingots) Note: This cannot be rewarded for multiple languages

Having a 50 Day Streak (3 Lingots)

Helping to incubate a language in the Duolingo Incubator? (5 Lingots) Note: Please state which course so I can check.

Learned 3000 words in total (10 Lingots)

If any staff members can put an achievement page or add one in Duolingo, I would be especially thankful.

Feel free to give me lingots, I need as much as I can get for the awarded people. And please upvote this discussion so it will go to the "Popular" section and maybe the Duolingo staff would see it and make an Achievement page! Also, feel free to award the people themselves!

Give Lingot270

132 years ago

Leave a new comment

127 Comments

ValiantTiger 25 15 11 11 9 7 7 8

Level 10 I have reached in Spanish.

50-day streak I have achieved as well.

Thankful for these Lingot Awards I am. Much to be said of your kindness there is.

9ReplyGive Lingot11•2 years ago

Stormshad0 8 5 3 3 2

How do you paste pictures?!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Stormshad0 8 5 3 3 2

Is it just copy paste?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

asawp 6 6 6 5 5 5 4

Someone compiled a list of all the formatting codes on Duolingo here

4ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

SUPMASTer654321

im still on level one in both. I just started

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Yup, please read the awards. I changed it so people can't cheat.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Stormshad0 8 5 3 3 2

should I ask my friends to vote up?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Your choice!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Stormshad0 8 5 3 3 2

at least one of them would like to so far

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Good!

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

SUPMASTer654321

im learning 2 languages

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Um, did you just start in 2 languages? That doesn't count.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SUPMASTer654321

french and italian

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

no.name.42 25 25 25 14 13 10 10 8 7 7 5 4 3 3 957

I'm learning several languages. I've reached level ten and my streak is over fifty days. I'm sorry to say that I'm not contributing to the incubator.

3ReplyGive Lingot6•2 years ago

TrioLinguist 25 12 8 7

I don't really need lingots but I'll participate anyway.

I have passed level 10 in German.

My streak is greater than 50.

3ReplyGive Lingot5•2 years ago

Ivanka_ps 24 12 12 11 11 6 4 4 3

Great idea! My accomplishments are:

Learning more than 2 languages

Having a +50 day streak

Already achieved level 10 in more than one language

+3000 words learned in total (Fr/Sp: 1704, En/Sp: 1418, Pt/Sp:1557)

3ReplyGive Lingot16•2 years ago

IvanIsLearning 24 14 10

I have reached level 10 in Italian and I'm studying Italian and Spanish on Duolingo

3ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

brycemasterson 5

i have not met any of these achievements but here is a few lingots

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

brycemasterson 5

can i friend u???

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

brycemasterson 5
oh well i gave u alot

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
um, i had 106 before.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
but its still useful, thanks anyways!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mofo35 25 11 2 892
Howdy,

I've reached a 91 day streak and level 16 in Spanish. I've reached level 11 in French. Will start Italian soon...

Thanks

3ReplyGive Lingot6•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
6 lingots...

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mofo35 25 11 2 892
Muchas Gracias !

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]
I am learning 2 languages (French and Spanish) and I have reached level 10 in Spanish

2ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
OK, thats 3...

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]
Thanks so much!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

no problem, just upvoted this thing so Luis or staff would see this and make achievements

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cleeent 25 16 4 1323

I have:

Finished the tree in two languages.

A streak of 484 days, as of today.

Have learned 3011 words:

Spanish: 1586 English: 1397 French: 28

Thanks :)

2ReplyGive Lingot15•2 years ago

hellerm 25 17 11 8 8 7 4 3

Wow! Congrats on the streak! It is quite impressive! You might want to consider looking at some of the halls of fame! :D

here

3ReplyGive Lingot6•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Aha! More than 2 languages, that's a lingot.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cleeent 25 16 4 1323

Thanks for the lingots, ILS :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Cleeent 25 16 4 1323

Thanks :) I am in a couple of the HoF threads (streak and golden owls).

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SebastianMolin 22 11 2 2

I'm learning more than two languages.. (IT. SP. PO.)

I am level 17 in Italian.
Finished the Spanish Tree :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
Thats 3. Sorry, I don't count finishing trees.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SebastianMolin 22 11 2 2
I know! - I just felt like putting it in there :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
lol

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TatianaBoshenka 25 12 8 2
I'm level 17 in Spanish and have an 83 day streak.

2ReplyGive Lingot5•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
Good!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TatianaBoshenka 25 12 8 2
Hey, thanks for the lingots!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
Welcome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rozzie 16 11 10 8 7
I have reach level ten in Spanish

2ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

DougB123 17 8 7 7 7 7 6 6 3 2 2 2
congrats!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rozzie 16 11 10 8 7

Gracias

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Sundaes 11 10 10 7 7 5 5 2

I'm learning several languages and have at least level 10 in four of them. I've learned....6429 words across all of my learned languages! That's words in Dutch, Portuguese, Italian, Swedish, Spanish, and English.

2ReplyGive Lingot12•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

Reached Level 10. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

DougB123 17 8 7 7 7 7 6 6 3 2 2 2

Way to go!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

I'm learning 2 languages and I'm over level ten in German.

2ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

jona8918 14 8 7 7 6 6 3

im learning over 2 languages over level 2:)

2ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

nice reaching level 10! i awarded you for that.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DougB123 17 8 7 7 7 7 6 6 3 2 2 2

I'm earning two languages here so far. :)

(Just sent you enough lingots to make you have at least 176)

2ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

Thandibandi 18 7 6 2

Yay me! two languages. 1 lingot :)

2ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

OK! Good!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

And 2 more. Congrats to getting your French to level 10!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Thandibandi 18 7 6 2

Merci beaucoup :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DetErMinNavn 25 14 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 7 7 6 6

I am learning more thirteen languages. (six lingots)

I am level ten or above in eight languages (French, Danish, German, Swedish, Spanish, and Italian) (2 lingots)

I have a 50 day streak (3 lingots)

2ReplyGive Lingot11•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

11 lingots are awarded! Congratulations!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DetErMinNavn 25 14 10 10 10 10 10 10 9 9 7 7 6 6

Thank you very much!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

You're welcome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

erennert20 12 10 10 8

I have reached level 10 in Spanish

I had a 52 day streak until the 2nd of January

1ReplyGive Lingot5•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

OK... I don't know about the streak...but you are rewarded for the levels.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Fine I'll give you the lingots for the streak.

1ReplyGive Lingot10•2 years ago

GrandApple 11 9 5 4 3 2 15

I'm learning/learnt 2 languages on Duolingo and have level 20 in French.

1ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

zakblak 22 7 6 1

When I recommended this I didn't realize it would drive you to give away your hard earned lingots!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Nah, people are giving me lingots like CRAZY! I have 132 lingots now.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

zakblak 22 7 6 1

I know you can do whatever you want with them, but i recommend you keep track of them and make sure you save those given to this post as rewards.

1ReplyGive Lingot40•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

OK, nice suggestion.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

I'll give you 40 lingots for the idea.

0ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

degua 15 9 6 5 2

Level 14 in Portuguese (and 10 in Dutch as of a minute ago!), two languages, and a 136-day streak. This is a great idea and a very generous thing that you're doing!

1ReplyGive Lingot7•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Nice!

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

deguo 15 9 6 5 2

Thanks for the lingots!

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

No Problem, I just hope Duolingo's Staff takes a look at this and makes achievements!

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

DougB123 17 8 7 7 7 7 6 6 3 2 2 2

Congrats!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

connorhay12 7 6 6 5 5 3 2 2 2

I'm doing more than one language, and I have reached level 14 in Spanish. I'm glad to see what you are doing to help the Duolingo community.

1ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

CarloEdoar 11 11 9 6 4

How many lingots do i deserve? :P

1ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

i see you reached level 11 in italian and you are learning more than one language, so i say 3, have you learnt 3000 words or are you incubating a language?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

CarloEdoar 11 11 9 6 4

no i don't really think i learnt more than 3000 words on duolingo, but i'm trying to incubate the spanish from italian course :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

good!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

sorry, you do not appear in the course.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

CarloEdoar 11 11 9 6 4

by "i'm trying to" i mean that i'm still not into it but i want to help in the future, sorry it was my mistake!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

ok! good!

2Give Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Oh no, only 99 lingots now. :-|

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ravalentis 25 7 5

level 10 - Spanish

1ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

And more than on one language

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ravalentis 25 7 5

um, what?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SebastianMolin 22 11 2 2

If you are learning 2 or more languages, that's another lingot! - Therefor
2 Lingots for level 10 (25) & 1 lingot for progressing in more than one language :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ravalentis 25 7 5

ahaha I get it :) I think the "on one" threw me off... sorry. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

brycemasterson 5

there i got u up to 170 lingots

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
no i am at 109 lingots just upvoted it

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SparklieSpeak 21 7 6 4
I'm on level 12 in Spanish.

Applied for incubator Hebrew for English... fingers crossed :)

1ReplyGive Lingot7•2 years ago

DougB123 17 8 7 7 7 7 6 6 3 2 2 2
Congrats!

1ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
Aha! more than one language, that's a lingot.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

DougB123 17 8 7 7 7 7 6 6 3 2 2 2
Thanks!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3
no problem

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Stormshad0 8 5 3 3 2
what is the incubator?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DasEinhorn 25 25 25 18 17 14 12 12 10 8 7 4 3
1500-some words in Spanish + 1700-some in German = more than 3,000 (I'm so good at math)

Level 10: Español

50 days: done

2 different languages: Any combination of German, Spanish, French, Italian, Dutch, Portuguese, and Swedish

1ReplyGive Lingot16•2 years ago

Ryan8202 13 10 6 2

Learning 2 languages, French and Italian. Level 10 in Italian.

1ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

fr224 20 16 10 6 5 4

I'm level 11 for both French and Irish.

1ReplyGive Lingot3•2 years ago

BaconChomper 21 19 13 9 8 8 6 2

I am doing 7 languages

Level 10 in 2 languages.

112 day streak.

Well over 3000 words.

1ReplyGive Lingot6•2 years ago

-Sapphira- 25 16 11 8 6 6 6 2 43

I'm learning at least 2 languages, all above level 2

I'm at least level 10 in a language

I used to have a 83-day streak, if that counts

I learned 3198 words

1ReplyGive Lingot16•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Nice 16 lingots you got!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

-Sapphira- 25 16 11 8 6 6 6 2 43

Thank you very much! I think it is really kind that you are giving away your lingots to community members who have reached these specific milestones. ;)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Thanks! My dream would be for the Duolingo team to make these, or similar achievements and A/B test it!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Here4SchoolOnly 19

I am new, so I've only done the reached level 10 in French. What I like to do with my extra lingots is have people post funny jokes on a discussion I put up, and then I give them lingots for them. BUT ONLY APPROPRIATE ONES. I am hoping that the next time I have over 100 lingots, I can do that again!

1ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

2 lingots, along with the other people that commented.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jrg635 25 10 9 6 5 557

50 day streak Level 10+ in Spanish

1ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

5 lingots, along with the other people that commented.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

buck72 25 25 23 15 14 10 9 5 2 125

252-day streak, level 25 in German.

1ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

5 lingots, along with the other people that commented.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

buck72 25 25 23 15 14 10 9 5 2 125

Thank you.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

You're welcome.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NurseStephi 23 14

Learning Spanish. 75 day streak. Reached level 17 as of yesterday!

1ReplyGive Lingot5•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

5 lingots. Congrats!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NurseStephi 23 14

Thank you!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

You're welcome!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Down to 77 lingots :-(

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

QQJoy 7 7 5

I reached level 10 in at French and German. I have a 156 day streak. (15 lingots, I think). Thank you!

0ReplyGive Lingot6•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

6 lingots. Have you learned 3000+ words in total?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

QQJoy 7 7 5

I wish.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PolyglotCiro 25 25 25 25 14 13 13 12 12 11 11 4 17

I wanna get lingots!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

State your accomplishments.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PIEV9000 8 7 6

This seems like a good investment opportunity. I looked in the comments and I saw that people just listed what they did for the award.

I am above level two in Spanish and Italian as of now.

however, I am still left with a few questions. when I get a new achievement do i have to post it to get it? And also, how often do you give out these awards? I have as of now given one lingot on this post. And just to anyone how can you make a bullet list on here I see people doing it here but I don't know how.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

Yes, you do have to re-post to get lingots if you have completed another achievement as there are many comments here and I can't just flip through them every day. I give out the awards as soon as I see the comment and verify it, and I do not know how to make a bullet list here. Have you posted before?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PIEV9000 8 7 6

Yes I have posted before but I saw people making bullet lists a couple of different ways so I was wondering how, mostly so you can see the accomplishments better. Now I look and it seems that people hit enter twice. I will try that and if I get another accomplishment i will edit my post.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jnr951 15 3

Level 14 in Spanish, and i completed my tree today :) however the tree tops out at 2225 words for me.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilovescience 14 3 3 3 3

3 lingots. Good job and good dedication to one language!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

18 "I love them a lot."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/332516>

Translation: A ellas las quiero mucho.

14 years ago

Leave a new comment

115 Comments

tobilingo 14

why should it be "a ellos los quiero mucho" and not "los quiero mucho a ellos"?

44ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

rocko2012 25 7 3 1496

I think it is optional. Was it counted wrong?

10ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

alinasue 14 9 8 8 7

yeah, i had the same problem with "las quiero mucho a ellas"

24ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

SusannaEDavis420 25 179

Rocko2012, "Los quiero mucho a ellos" was counted wrong. Do you know why?

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ayePete 24 12 8 7 6 5 3 3

ditto

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[+] 4 hidden comments

jdukelinguo 13

Sometimes I can use les and sometimes I have to use los or las.... I understand using los/las when the object is known but if you only say "them"..... what is wrong with les?

22ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

rocko2012 25 7 3 1496

"Les" is the plural indirect object pronoun and "las"/"los" are the the plural direct object pronouns. An indirect example is "Yo les escribo un libro" = "I write them a book". The action is preform on the book for them. The loving someone is direct to them.

115ReplyGive Lingot12•4 years ago

PniB 16 10 3 2

Thanks! Simple and clear explanation that really helped me.

7ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

tonibolland 15

Thanks, Great!

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JaydenMartens 15

Muchas Gracias para esto!

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sandeepa2 15 14 14 12 8 6 771

Muchas gracias por la explicación

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

bmoraga 18

I do not understand why the personal "a ellos" cannot be added at the end of the sentence. What am I missing?

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

ellinata 10 8

It can, I am not sure why DL won't accept it. I have looked it up on other sites and with latino friends.

9ReplyGive Lingot1•3 years ago

Muhamed_Helal 11 10 4

"a ellos" is considered only a clarifier. whether or not you choose to use this term, you still must use the object pronoun

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

But it marks "Los quiero mucho a ellos" wrong, and says it should be "A ellas las quiero mucho". From other comments, it also marks "Las quiero mucho a ellas" wrong, so it's the position of the "a ellos" that it doesn't like, not the presence of it.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

angela_aime 16 5 5 2

"Los quiero mucho a ellos" was marked wrong. Is that a glitch?

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

emonhir 25 14 12 6 4 3 3 4

can you use encantarse (as in: "a mi me encantan a ellos") instead of querer?

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jakedrae 13 6 2

I was wondering the same thing.

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7

"Encantar" is used more for things, activities, and not so much for people. When it's used for people, in general it's for qualities about them. For instance, you could say "me encanta esa obra", "I love that play"; "me encanta su personalidad", "I love his/her personality".

And what says emonhir would be "(a mí) me encantan ellos".

Greetings.

9ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

jakedrae 13 6 2

Thanks much nacho_haller :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

telstarr54 21 7

There is no indication in the English sentence that "them" refers to people.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

B4ttleCat 11

I was marked wrong with "Les quiero mucho" when the answer is "Las quiero mucho". Why are we to assume it's female receiving the love?

4ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

ellinata 10 8

Les is an indirect object pronoun, you have to use Los or Las for direct object pronouns. Admittedly latinos use Les a lot for both, but it is not correct.

7ReplyGive Lingot1•3 years ago

expatmaddy 14 4

I was marked wrong with los as well.

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

mam0sh 12

Very hard to understand this :(

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

gregoryrobert1 12

los amo mucho was much easier to construct!

4ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7

I agree with you. "Los/las amo/quiero mucho" could or should be the alternatives.

Greetings.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Ranavalar 10 4

I said "Los quiero mucho" but was marked wrong. I cannot really understand why since the only correction given was that it should have been "Las quiero much"

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jfGor 16 2 2

You must of had a different sentence because mine said 'a ellos' not 'a ellas'; but I don't understand why 'muchos' doesn't work.

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

suziec333 14 11 4

because mucho is clarifying how much you love them; it's not related to the plurality of the people loved

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

jakedrae 13 6 2

What's wrong with "me encantan mucho"?

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7

I gave you an explanation in other thread.

Greetings.

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

sparrowtree 11

Yo los quiero mucho a ellos is wrong for some reason

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Kparcell 21 4

Yo los quiero mucho is accepted, but the object precedes the verb.

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

seanbastard 19
why doesn't 'les' work here?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

The indirect object pronoun is "les", and the direct object pronouns are "los/las".

For me, remembering the object pronoun to use is possibly even more difficult than ser/estar and por/para. Partly because I sometimes find it hard to tell whether it's direct or indirect, and partly because I don't have a good way to remember which set of pronouns is which.

The pronoun lessons and quizzes here <http://www.spanishdict.com/grammar> are really useful. It's time for me to do all the quizzes again.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

BobSSP 19 5 2

Regarding this statement:

"For me, remembering the object pronoun to use is possibly even more difficult than ser/estar and por/para. Partly because I sometimes find it hard to tell whether it's direct or indirect, and partly because I don't have a good way to remember which set of pronouns is which."

The following video is an excellent way to learn the difference between DO and IO, in fact, you do not need to know the difference. You will learn how to easily define what an object is and then when to use DO or IO pronouns.

<http://www.esaudio.net/grammar/direct-indirect-object-pronouns-2/>

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

Thanks! That's a great lesson. Also lesson 4 and the related exercises.
<http://www.esaudio.net/grammar/>

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

seanbastard 19
thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

55_dogfish 20

Why is this only femenin, ie ELLAS instead of ellos?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

walbergb 20 2
Author's choice?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Tembree 11
The infinitive of TO LOVE is "amor". Quiero (I want) is drawn from "querer" which means TO WANT.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25
When the object of "querer" is a person, it means "to love".
<http://forum.wordreference.com/threads/amar-querer.51/>

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

hypnotiqu3 10
Me encanta ellas muchas?

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7
No, because the order is wrong. "Me encantan" (with n, because you are talking about them).
"Mucho" works here as an adverb, and in Spanish doesn't change in number either gender (when it's adverb, any adverb).

So, you could say "(ellos/ellas) me encantan mucho". You could avoid ellos/ellas, because it's implicit in the conjugation of the verb.

Ahh, and "encantar" isn't the best verb in this context. Search an explanation that I gave to "jakedrae"

Greetings.

3ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

EikoLucifer 23 10 6 496
Why cant I use me gusta mucho?

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7
Because "me gusta" is "I like". Here we have "I love", and in Spanish it could be "quiero", "amo"

Greetings.

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Sahran_ 15

Me gusta ellos mucho. ¿Por qué es incorrecto?

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

BobSSP 19 5 2

Gusta is singular, the sentence is plural, you would need to use "gustan". Also, the sentence would mean "I like them a lot." not "I love them a lot" but I guess that could be debatable.

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Sahran_ 15

Yes, plural gustan directed towards the object ellos. Still confusing me. Thank you, I'll get it. I learn my Spanish from bachata lyrics. Me gustas mucho is I love you a lot. Debatable, as you say.

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

MatheuRoux 15

Why not "ellas muchas"?

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

'Cuz then "muchas" is qualifying them, rather than qualifying the love, that is:

You love a lot of them.

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Gloria20221 18

why not "me encanta ellos mucho"? I find it as such in various translation programs.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7

Because the order of the words is wrong.

What you say doesn't have sense. "Ellos me encantan mucho" is the right way.

The verb "encantar" is like the verb "to like" in English vs Spanish. For instance for "I like you/him/her/them", while in English you conjugate the verb for the 1st person, in Spanish you must conjugate according to the direct complement (you, him, them); therefore, it would be "me gustas tú" (I like you); "me gusta él/ella" (I like him/her); "me gustan ellos" (I like them).

For the verb "encantar" is the same. The complement is them, so the conjugation is "me encantan".

I know it's complicated. For Spanish speakers too is difficult these verbs, because they don't follow the same logic for the conjugation.

Greetings.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104
Ah, got it (I think).

Like "gustar", the typical subject/object relationship is reversed.

Rather than, "I like cheese." it's "Cheese pleases me." (Me gusta queso.)

So, instead of "I love them." it's "They enchant me." (Me encantan.)

So, the verb is conjugated on the actual subject....but that subject is what English speakers would typically think of as the object. Thus....

"gustar" is conjugated 3rd person singular for 'cheese' (NOT "gusto" for "I")

"encantar" is conjugated 3rd person plural for 'they' (NOT "encanta" nor "encanto")

3ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7
Excelent explanation, much better than mine :) Yes, it's typical subject/object reversed relationship.

Greetings.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104
Gracias. Me gusta ayudar. :-)

It is selfish, though. Trying to explain something clearly for others REALLY helps me understand things myself.

I also prefer more direct translations since I find them easier to understand and remember (e.g. gustar = to please). It's MUCH easier to paraphrase that with a more common English phrasing afterwards ( "to like" ).

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

karla550396 15
How would you even know its people and not things!?

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7

In plural, you don't know. It's only by context, and in this case there isn't.

Greetings.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Johnnyespaniol77 17 124

Why would we assume that speaking about girls

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

'Cuz girls are awesome.

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Johnnyespaniol77 17 124

They really are. Especially when they are not being mean like my wife.

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Noyac 15 9 9 9 2 1

I don't get it even after reading the comments.

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

gb33 19 11 11

is A ellos los quiero mucho correct

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

doris614462 15 6 3 92

"Yo los amo mucho" was accepted

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

Chrisjuw 14 13 11 10

What about 'me los encantan muchos' it doesn't say whether it's about people or animals or...

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

nacho_haller 11 7

Yes, it could be even things...

However, it's "(ellos/as) me encantan mucho" o "me encantan mucho (ellos/as)".

Greetings.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

yermishkina 12 10 8 8 6 4 3 5

Error message says "you missed the article los", but it's not an article, it's a pronoun, right?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 days ago

nacho_haller 11 7

Yes.

"Los/las" could be an article or a pronoun. In this case, it has a function of pronoun.

Greetings.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 days ago

Mr_Munn 16

Does anybody know why " me encantan a ellos muchos" not accepted? :s

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Dare3966 19 9 7 6 4 4 2 60

I can say "me encantan mucho" was marked wrong. I guess I left them out.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

SiSpringer 8

I cannot understand why "me encanta ellos muchos" is not accepted.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

The subject of "me encanta ellos" is "ellos", so the verb has to be plural, "me encantan ellos". Also, "mucho" is an adverb, so it doesn't get an 's' added.

2ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

[deactivated user]

The hover hints for "I love them a lot".said "Me encanta mucho." So that's what I put as an answer, forgetting that I needed to include "them." But...the answer I should have given, apparently, was "A ellas las quiero mucho." The verb wasn't even the same! And there was no "me" in the correct answer! So why did Duolingo tell me to do the wrong thing?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

I think by using "muchos", it's not an adverb but rather an adjective modifying "ellos"....

In other words, "You love many of them."

-1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

That would be "muchos de ellos".

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Nicholas.Brooks 15

why is a ellas in the front? does it matter the placement (beginning or end)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

I clicked all 3 answers and said it was incorrect. But they said correct options were A ellos or A ellas

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

adriennesls 14 14 10

Why is it not "A ellas las quiero mucha"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

Here, "mucho" is an adverb (for "quiero"). Adverbs don't change their endings.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

Though (I think) it could be "muchas" (You love a lot of them.)

-1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

No, that would be "muchas de ellas"

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

Okay. I stand corrected. Thanks.

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

BelenColli2 12 4

I love them a lot could be referring to some object. So, los quiero demasiado. Los amo (love) mucho.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

KrystalDove 17 12 2 2 294

I read this sentence as relating to objects rather than people and used the verb encantar. I feel like that should have been an option since the sentence didn't really specify.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

jaydahatte 13 6 4 2

I put "me encantan mucho". Why is that wrong?

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

BeccaCowell647 23 10 4 8

Why can't I use me encantan?

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

The_Almanac 13

This is messed up. I used "me encanta". UGH!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

nannycoleman 24 3

What if i were talking about a pair of shoes. I put "Me encanta mucha".

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Jake588055 8

Me los gusto mucho. Apparently it is wrong. Program it better people. Without context there are a half dozen ways to say this correctly.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

Yes, "Me los gusto mucho" is wrong. It doesn't make sense.

"Me gusto mucho" I like myself a lot. [Me I please a lot.]

"Me gustó mucho" I liked it a lot. [Me he/she/it pleased a lot.]

"Les gusto mucho" They like me a lot. [Them I please a lot.]

"Me gusta mucho" I like it a lot. [Me he/she/it pleases a lot.]

Doesn't seem that "gusto" is actually used much (as a verb), but it is the first person singular conjugation of "gustar". It can be confusing since in English we "like" things, but in Spanish we "are pleased" by things. The Spanish really makes more sense. "to like" something isn't really the activity, but rather the RESULT of something else.

"Le gusto." She likes me. [Her I please.]

There's also "el gusto" (the taste) and "los gustos" (the tastes) but "Los gusto" is neither since it's a mix of plural singular.

You are correct there are many ways "to say this correctly", but yours isn't one of them.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

technickl 21

the underlined choices include "me encanto" which makes some sense, but nothing gives a hint about quiero, although I had thought to put that at first. the hint is totally misleading, why have it?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

ChanKaren 25 21 7 129

I put "Los amo mucho" and it was marked right, but it seems the preferred statement involves "querer"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

I think it's a matter of degree. Spanish has more explicit "levels" of attraction than does English.

"querer" might be used with a very close friend whereas "amar" is more for lovers.

I luv ya, man! (Te quiero)

I love you! (Te amo)

I understand that "quierer" is much more common, "amar" is rather dramatic: reserved for extreme situations (and soap operas).

3ReplyGive Lingot1•6 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7

Yes, good explanation. "To love" is too for relatives. The son says to father and mother, and parents to sons and daughters; grands, uncles, and more.

Greetings.

2ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104
Muchas gracias por el cumplido.

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

san-ka 13 7 6 4 2 2 2
why not 'yo las quiero muchos a ellas?'

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

harrycolley 9 5 4 4 4
Should be gender specific in the question

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jstrickert 20 20 135
Please explain this verb formation in Spanish!

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

scofire6060 17 7 2
Les amo mucho..por qye es equivocado

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

FrdricHAUG 14 13 8 7 6 6
I understand nothing about this sentence. A ellas (to them ?), las (the ?), quiero muco (I love a lot ?)
Why a terrible structure like this ?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

nacho_haller 11 7
"Peabianjay" already explained the sentence.

It's only to read.

Greetings.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

Oaxaca 13
why quiero and not encontata

-1ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

nacho_haller 11 7
"Encontata" ???

Greetings.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 weeks ago

NicoleOliv452170 14 8

Pretty sure i could also say yo quiero ellos mucho. I doubt anyone speaking it would care. Why is this app so technical?

-2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

I think "Yo quiero ellos mucho" would sound as weird as "I loves they a lot". Sure, communication are still did, but we might as well at least try to get the basics right.

2ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

NicoleOliv452170 14 8

Ellos means them and they.

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

BarbaraMorris 25 25 25

Yes, but it can't be "ellos" by itself, it has to be "a ellos".

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

nacho_haller 11 7

The right way would be "(yo) los/las quiero mucho". "A ellos" is not necessary, given it would be redundant. So, if you use "a ellos", it would be a "pleonasm".

Greetings.

1ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

RaminaLangi 12

Them is ELLOS not ELLAS

-3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Peabianjay 25 11 104

It's both. Ellos is for men, mixed or unknown. Ellas is for women.

3ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

19     Inspiration for learners - Хлопець говорить 22 мовами (в тому числі українською)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/8722853>

alkvslk

An inspirational video for those who are learning Ukrainian. This guy speaks 22 languages, including Ukrainian. It is simply mind-boggling. His Ukrainian is better than that of most people who live here for years but can't say a word in the language. <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=27qHNaf97I>

Give Lingot1
131 year ago

Leave a new comment
4 Comments

SergioRuido 9 8 6
He is really good.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

allintolearning 25 24 21 17 15 15 13 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 6 6 4 2 2 2
and just after it ended another video came on from a French polyglot who speaks 24 languages, but now I need to go back to studying again.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SergioRuido 9 8 6
Wise choice)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

UrsulMag 25 25 25 25 25 25 7 7 4 2 2 2 2 2
This is amazing!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

20 "Ask students to explain their choice."
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/77124>
Translation: Peça aos estudantes que expliquem sua escolha.

04 years ago

Leave a new comment
30 Comments

LeaoGabriel 12 9 2 2
Vamos discutir o idioma aqui ou ficar discutindo a ferramenta? Não curtiu paga um curso de inglês

14ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

MarceloBec 15
Concordo com vocês. Aliás esse é um aspecto que gostei muito aqui do duolingo, que ele é aberto para participação, melhorias, sugestões. Para mim o duolingo está sendo muito bom para manter a prática diária de inglês, para aprender coisas novas e para reforçar várias outras. Já aprendi muita coisa legal também com comentários e dicas do pessoal, e algumas vezes reporteí quando via que algo podia ser corrigido ou melhorado. Não vejo como problema perder um coração ou fazer lições novamente. Claro que fico feliz sempre que termino uma lição sem errar nenhuma, quem não fica né, mas para mim o objetivo principal é manter a prática e o estudo, e para isso o duolingo está sendo excelente. May the Force be with you!

15ReplyGive Lingot1•3 years ago

josejjo6 14 6 5 2

Creio que fazer o que o Duolingo faz sem cobrar, sem propagandas, o que estudantes fazem, com muito esforço para participar. Ainda, ter humildade para tentar e tentar, praticar e praticar, aceitar até as críticas, as poucas falhas do Duolingo, mas com o uso do respeito e mostrando consideração, nos prepara para o aprendizado de uma nova língua! A língua Pura, que é baseada no amor, fruto do espírito santo. Muito obrigado colegas e em especial à Equipe do Duolingo. Boa Noite.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

vinicius.albuq 23 13 3

Exato, Gabriel. Estou cansado de vir nos comentários procurando algo que possa sanar uma dúvida e encontrar apenas reclamações. Ao invés de somarem, perdem tempo se irritando com o que não deveriam.

11ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

[deactivated user]

[deleted]

2Give Lingot•2 years ago

Felipe_art 15 10 2

Pra começar não existe "espliquem", e o pronome "seu/sua" pode ser usado tanto na segunda quanto na terceira pessoa.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Maurilio77 16 10

Tem razão, é preciso levar em consideração que nós é que vamos aperfeiçoar o Duolingo, como é amplamente explicado no início do curso...

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

pauloparreiras 25 20 11 44

Calma Leão

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[+] 1 hidden comment

lcsdossantos 13 5
suas escolhas o duoling não aceita

6ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Pedro_Aredes 9 5 3 2
Por causa da ambiguidade gerada

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

andrecsq 11 11 10
"explain", in portuguese, can refer to "students" or to "choice". It is not being considered in this exercise.

5ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

ciliace 21 6 6
To choice

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mansillas 12
peca aos alunos que expliquem a escolha de cada um deles. ou , que expliquem suas escolhas - as escolhas deles.

2ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

flajosa 25 22 9
Está certa a frase. "Peça aos estudantes para explicar a sua escolha" . Tanto faz "para explicar", ou "para explicarem".

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Alexandreleva 11 4
ASK pode ser tambem PERGUNTE no caso! "Pergunte aos estudantes para explicar sua escolha"

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Pedro_Aredes 9 5 3 2
Não

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

maycon.ben1 13
Por quê não aceita PERGUNTE?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Pedro_Aredes 9 5 3 2

Por que ask nao quer dizer perguntar nessa frase

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

angelcuriosa 11

Nesta frase deve ser aceito o infinitivo sem ser infinitvo pessoal pois o sujeito está claro e definido.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mr.andre 12 11

"Explicar" está concordando com "escolha". Portanto, deveria ser aceito

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AdrianaMou7 11

Uma vez que são "estudantes" são diversas escolhas, então o correto seria "suas escolhas". Da maaneira que foi traduzido, está parecendo que os estudantes vão explicar a escolha de quem está perguntando e nesse caso deveria ser "your choice" e não "their choice"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

antlane 24 22 18 128

Suponha que escolheram o paraninfo - sua escolha,(ou: a escolha deles)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DanielYabu 18 11

reportando o problema: corrijam o their, não está aceitando a tradução "deles"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

cordeiro98 23 14 7 133

Explicarem está errado

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

antlane 24 22 18 128

em que frase?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AdeliarCosta 15

Alguém pode me explicar por que Duolingo dificulta tanto o que é tão simples?

-10ReplyGive Lingot•4 years ago

rarkis 12

Porque o Duolingo é uma ferramenta em evolução, e o que é simples pra uma pessoa, pode não ser tão simples para uma "ferramenta". Se você notar algum problema, pode reportar o erro. Não só os usuários aprendem com a ferramenta, como também ela aprende conosco.

5ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

21 "Jag valde att studera svenska."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6032113>

Translation: I chose to study Swedish.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

9 Comments

Sjodni 19 18 16 7 3

Good choice!

24ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

zgz. 16 6 4

Which one/ones of below may this sentence mean in context?

1) "I chose to study Swedish today rather than going out." 2) "I chose to study Swedish language as my major." 3) "I chose to study Swedish so I constantly practice with the intention of mastering it at the end."

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Zmrzlina 14 13 12 10 4

Any.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

zgz. 16 6 4

Perfect! Thanks a lot :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

warnerwhite 17

I decided to study Swedish -- What's wrong with that? Why was it rejected?

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

devalanteriel 25 21 18 16 15 14 10 1314

It's perfectly fine - do report it if it happens again.

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

DawoodAhme4 10

i selected to study swedish. it should be correct

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

devalanteriel 25 21 18 16 15 14 10 1314

That's not really idiomatic English, though. And "select" is generally better as välja ut in Swedish, in the sense of picking one out of many.

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Filip973787 20

Why do we must use "att" in some places and in some it is not neccsary ?

-2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

22 what do you think is the most useful item in the shop.

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/14740219>

Jackwang0 12

plz say you choices

Give Lingot1

-11 year ago

Leave a new comment

10 Comments

ZiggyStardust77 8 8 2

The Dimensional Converter.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tx_belle 24 17 50

I love the timed practice. since it bugs me when my tree isn't all gold its the easiest/fastest way to turn things back to gold. IMO

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Robloxian_Kitten 4 2

If you're trying to challenge yourself, I would say Timed Practice or Double or Nothing.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jackwang0 12

good choice

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sombrero_owl_500 6 2
i agree

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sombrero_owl_500 6 2
streak freeze is pretty cool to

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lorel90 25 25 22 7 920
In the beginning double or nothing if you can keep doing Duolingo every day. If not, timed practice, or when you get enough lingots do both.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jannelies1 21
Can you do a double or nothing when you have a streak freeze at the same time?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lorel90 25 25 22 7 920
That is a good question. I don't know the answer, sorry.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

tx_belle 24 17 50
i think so from what I've read. I've been to afraid to miss a day though so i honestly don't know :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

23 New round of "guess the next new incubator language"! (April 2016 edition)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/15133412>

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Guess which completely new (ie. not part of an existing course at any stage of the Incubator) language will be announced next in the Incubator. It doesn't matter which other language it is paired with.

For a quick way of checking which languages are already at any stage of the Incubator, see the Duolingo Wikia: http://duolingo.wikia.com/wiki/Course\_list.

Each user can post one guess, and those who guess correctly will receive 10 lingots from yours truly, once we find out the answer. The first user to post the correct guess (as determined by when the guesses land in my inbox) will receive 100 lingots instead of 10.

I am trusting that any contributors or staff members who have inside information disqualify themselves from this competition.. ;-)

(See <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1953154> and <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1749861> for previous versions of this --.note the ridiculously low lingot prizes back in 2014...)

Good luck to everyone!

Give Lingot150
3412 months ago

Leave a new comment
312 Comments

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Finnish. Side note, your second link doesn't work. Is it missing a number? Edit again, yes it is. <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1749861> is the correct link.

37ReplyGive Lingot22•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Your guess is noted, your side note is appreciated (and acted upon), but I'm afraid I can't give you the usual alfmalf-lingots as it would feel wrong in terms of the spirit of this competition... ;-)

16ReplyGive Lingot11•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Someone else seems to be doing it for you. :-) But there's nothing to stop me from alfmalfing back anyway. :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Haha, thanks, but you should be alfmalfing AminataV here in this stream for being such a staunch believer that they gave up on the chance to win 100 instead of 10 lingots... :-)

(If I run out of lingots due to this competition, I'll just have to work harder at conquering new Russian skills!)

11ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
There's nothing to stop me alfmalfing both of you either.... :-) I doubt you'll run out, Finnish is mentioned too often. :-D

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

I have actually once run out due to alfmalfing! :-p

8Give Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Really? I usually get all mine back with interest when the alfmalfs start. :-P

8Give Lingot•12 months ago

A_User 23 11 9 7 7 7 6 4 3 3 2 2 2 2

Alfmf. :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

thecupcakefarmer 25 22 21 18 15 12 10 8 7 7 6 3 3 2

Icelandic!

25ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Nice, thanks! :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Naglero 7 6 6 4 3 3 3 2 2

Afrikaans

24ReplyGive Lingot6•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Duly noted! :-)

11ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

ionasky 18 18 13 12 8 7 7 6 4 3 2 2 2 2 2 420

Latin....a girl can hope

23ReplyGive Lingot10•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

...and if she's lucky, she'll have a course and 100 new, shiny lingots! :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

maria.nils 24 21 17 14 14 13 13 11 10 9 9 8 8 8 7 5 3 2 447

I'll go for Latin too

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Nice to see a former winner join the competition (if you don't remember -- check the links in the original post). :-) Your guess has been noted!

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

maria.nils 24 21 17 14 14 13 13 11 10 9 9 8 8 8 7 5 3 2 447

Thanks - I do remember :-) but I think I've had my share of luck, because I never managed to repeat the success. I never quite give up hope, though ;-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

I'm hoping for Latin too.

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

SteveLando 22 18 17 16 14 12 11 11 10 10 9 9 8 8 8 8 8 6 6 6 5 5 3 1

Me too - on Latin!

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

You're guessing Latin? It will turn out expensive for me if it is Latin... :-p

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

mitStrudel 24 20 14 12

Not that it's much consolation ;), but there's no need to pay out to me if it really does turn out to be Latin. It was just for the fun of trying to second-guess Duo's next move that I took part. :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Òooh, don't worry -- this is one of the most fun ways to get rid of those pesky lingots I know of! :-)
All lingot prizes will be paid out in full!

6Give Lingot•12 months ago

SpaceDoggi 20 8 4 4 3 519

Another guess for team Latin.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Noted! :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Devokan 16 7 4 1

Another for Latin. Its gotta happen sometime, right?

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

ionasky 18 18 13 12 8 7 7 6 4 3 2 2 2 2 2 420

If they build it we will come.

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

They will, eventually: link to an AMA from 2014 with Luis.

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

ionasky 18 18 13 12 8 7 7 6 4 3 2 2 2 2 2 420

Now I have true hope

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

I think true hope & patience are a winning combination! ;-)

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Your guess is noted! :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Strandfloh 24 16 10 449

Another one hoping for Latin.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Cool, you're on the list! If you're lucky, you'll have a great course and 10 lingots. ;-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

mjaumjaupurr 25 25 25 24 23 20 19 17 17 16 14 14 14 14 13 13 12 12 11 11 10 8 7 6 962

Farsi/Persian!

22ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK, noted! :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

PfifltriggPi 20 16 16 15 8 67

Bengali (base language for English course)

20ReplyGive Lingot100•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Oooh, that's a pretty good one... Noted! :-)

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Morgengrauen 10 9 6 5 2

Hope so!

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Are you just hoping, or also guessing? ;-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Morgengrauen 10 9 6 5 2

Ha ha, fine :) Interslavic, then!

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Wow... That seems interesting! And it's all yours. :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

PfifltriggPi 20 16 16 15 8 67

Indeed. One step closer to Bengali for English speakers.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Treissi 25 23 21 15 14 13 11 8 3 3 2 2 2 781

Estonian

19ReplyGive Lingot6•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Aitäh -- it's yours! :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

I wondered when this would show up. :-) I'd like this one too, but Finnish has to be my first guess. :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

lrusejka 15 10 10 9 8 6 6 4 4 2

I want this one to be added the most (yes, I want it more than Finnish!!!), but I really doubt it will be the first. Though I will be happy if I'm wrong :)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

More than Finnish? Is such a thing possible? :-) I would be pretty content if it came first and Finnish came second, especially since that wouldn't guarantee that Estonian would reach beta before Finnish. :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Although not quite mutually intelligible, Estonian and Finnish are pretty similar, so learning one to prepare for the other would actually be helpful (or incredibly confusing, you never know in advance...).

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Judging by how I mix French, Norwegian, and English to come up with Frorwenglish, it would probably be incredibly confusing. :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

John_Carroll819 25 25 25

Basque! :)

18ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK! :-)

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Ilmarien 25 25 25 15 14 13 8

You can put me down for Basque also. Wouldn't mind seeing Quechua show up either, but Basque is more relevant to my current travel plans. ;)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Fair 'nuff! :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

xavi_fr 11 11 10 8 6 5 5
I hope too, Basque!

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Cool, noted! :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

xavi_fr 11 11 10 8 6 5 5
or maybe Catalan for English speakers :P

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Both Catalan and English are already in the Incubator. :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

xavi_fr 11 11 10 8 6 5 5
you're right :D

6Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Besides that, there was a small rule about people with insider knowledge disqualifying themselves... :-)

6Give Lingot•12 months ago

xavi_fr 11 11 10 8 6 5 5
Believe me we don't know anything about future courses, but our actual projects. I will give you all my lingots if an other Catalan course is added, but I think it will take time :D

BTW why do you have an Hindi flag? Are you a witch? :P

6Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
@ xavi_fr: Yes I am. :-)

6Give Lingot1•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
She's a witch, of course! :-D

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
@xavi_fr That's normal. :-D

3Give Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Which, adding another Catalan course or giving all your lingots? Or both? :-D

3Give Lingot•12 months ago

xavi_fr 11 11 10 8 6 5 5
Sorry I don't know how to write witch* xD How do you have the Hindi flag ?? :D

3Give Lingot•12 months ago

crush 14 14 8 2 2
I'm hoping for Basque as well :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Cool! :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

IG88 25 25 25 25 19 16 13 11 9 9 6 4 2 1527
Cherokee.

18ReplyGive Lingot2•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Thank you! :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

DerGoldmann 21 21 20 18 16 14 14 13 12 10 10 10 7 6 5
I second that!

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK, you're on the list! :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

I'm agree that Cherokee will probably be one of them.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Leaf900 16 12 11 9 8 6 3 2 31

I agree with Cherokee. Don't worry you don't have to give me 100 lingots if we win ;)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

I'll only owe you 10! ;-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Jen_the_N 17 10 8

I'm also gonna guess Cherokee!

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK, noted! :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

AminataV 18 8 17

fin

17ReplyGive Lingot7•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

I'll take that as a second guess that the next language is Finnish? :-) (Eligible for 10 lingots if you're correct.)

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

AminataV 18 8 17

Yep!

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Duly alfmfed. :-D

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

A_User 23 11 9 7 7 7 6 4 3 3 2 2 2 2
Duly alfalfmfed. :-D

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Irusejka 15 10 10 9 8 6 6 4 4 2
Tagalog

17ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, that one's noted, thanks! :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

XD29 25 25 23 23 20 19 18 15 14 14 13 13 13 13 12 12 12 11 11 10 3 2 642
I'm hoping for a Tagalog course, too!

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

redmedina123 23 153
Yep, now it's two. :-D

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Noted! :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

idshanks 14 11 5 4 2
Scottish Gaelic!

>_> Please?

16ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Cool, I'll note your guess! :-)

(I don't think competitions like this one, or even polls about which languages people want to take, which used to be done here every now and then, make any difference as to which courses and languages Duolingo actually does pick, though.)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

idshanks 14 11 5 4 2

Don't worry, I'm not under any such impression (though to be fair, it's hard to say the push for Irish occurring immediately preceding the Irish announcement was a coincidence :P though likely it was a one-off) - the "please" is not a request but rather just a hint to show that I don't seriously believe Scottish Gaelic will come next (or even anytime soon ;_).

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

You never know what Duolingo gets up to... :-) Especially if someone wows them with a good plan, as it seems both the Irish and the Welsh teams did.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

XD29 25 25 23 23 20 19 18 15 14 14 13 13 13 13 12 12 12 11 11 10 3 2 642

This would be a great addition! I would definitely take that course.

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Would you like to guess Scottish Gaelic or Tagalog or something else, though?

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

XD29 25 25 23 23 20 19 18 15 14 14 13 13 13 13 12 12 12 11 11 10 3 2 642

My guess is Tagalog, then.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK, noted! :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

remoonline 25 20 9

Tamil

15ReplyGive Lingot100•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Thank you! Probably a pretty good guess, too. :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Abitto03 15 14 11 10 10 8 8 7 3

I think it could be Quechua maybe

15ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Haha, I was sure this had been mentioned already, but it hadn't, so you are indeed the first one. And well played... We all thought it would be in there by now, didn't we?

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Abitto03 15 14 11 10 10 8 8 7 3

hahahah yes .. Someone already mentioned that Duolingo wants to include endangered languages or indigenous languages to the incubator. So Quechua may be one of those.

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Yes, there as an interview in a Spanish language paper or magazine, where Luis mentioned these, and either mentioned Quechua outright or it was widely understood as being one of them. I think he even mentioned a time frame, but this has now elapsed. So any day now, maybe?

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

NinaMarty 24 10 9 8 8 7 5 5 5

Croatian?

14ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Thanks for your guess! :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

sony008 22 7 525

Serbian :D

14ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK! :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

ZelvaCZ 15 14 14 12 11 11 10 10 9 8 7 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 4 2 147

I don't want any lingots (I've got tons of them), but I just hope that it's going to be Finnish! That would be a much bigger reward than lingots :D

14ReplyGive Lingot7•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Alfmalfed. :-D

7ReplyGive Lingot7•12 months ago

A_User 23 11 9 7 7 7 6 4 3 3 2 2 2 2
Alfalfmalfed. :-D

8ReplyGive Lingot3•12 months ago

-Sauroc- 9 7 7 4 3
what the heck does that mean?

6ReplyGive Lingot4•12 months ago

Multi0Lingual4 23 19 15 13 12 11 11 4 3 2 23
A lingot for mentioning Finnish is alfmf, then there's a lingot for a lingot for mentioning finnish -- i.e. alfalfmf, and so on and so forth...

14ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Irusejka 15 10 10 9 8 6 6 4 4 2
Cool :)

4Give Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
I have a link to a conversation which has the whole history, complete with links to earliest uses and other forms, if anyone wants it. :-D And don't feel like an idiot for not knowing that. It took me a bit to figure it out, and there are plenty of other people who probably never have. :-D

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
@-Sauroc-: Ah, you mean history going further back than Duolingo's existence... Sorry, I only read your comment as spreading the trend of alfmalfing beyond the sphere of Duolingo.

I have recently claimed to have magic powers (which got me the Hindi badge -- the truth being that there was a glitch and the course was available in Beta for a bit), but I'm still not planning to change history retroactively with those powers! :-p

6Give Lingot1•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Not as far as I know. :-D

Edit: Here's the conversation. :-)

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

-Sauroc- 9 7 7 4 3

@Annika What does that mean? lol You're going to create a history for it older than DL? XD Hack some reddit users and edit their '09 comments to randomly say to each other "Alfmalf" "Alfalfmalf" :D

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

-Sauroc- 9 7 7 4 3

Thanks. :P It doesn't have a history beyond Duolingo does it?

4Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

@-Sauroc-: It doesn't yet. :-p

4Give Lingot•12 months ago

otsogutxi 25 25 25 22 17 16 16 13 9 4 3 3 2

Finnish, Estonian, Lithuanian or Latvian. One of those:)

14ReplyGive Lingot4•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Yup, one guess, please. :-)

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

otsogutxi 25 25 25 22 17 16 16 13 9 4 3 3 2

Lithuanian then:)

15ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Now we're talking; Lithuanian is yours!

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

PinefrostLTU 15 13 8 8 7 6 5 5 5 4

(i wish)

6ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

Deodwyn 25 25 25 25 25 25 14 13 13 12 12 10 9 9 6 981

Lithuanian would be great! I don't think the flag is even loaded on the site yet, though. Lithuanian is currently represented in Immersion, though.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Would you also like to guess Lithuanian, then?

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Deodwyn 25 25 25 25 25 25 14 13 13 12 12 10 9 9 6 981

No. Personal affinity aside, I doubt very highly that Lithuanian is coming to the incubator soon.

4Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Fair enough! Then again, this gamble is for free. :-) Do you want to guess another language, then?

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Deodwyn 25 25 25 25 25 25 14 13 13 12 12 10 9 9 6 981

Sure! Has anybody guessed Galician yet?

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Incredibly, no one has guessed Galician yet, so it's all yours!

(I already thought someone had, because I have a feeling ALL of the world's remaining languages have been suggested in this thread, but a quick search showed that this was not the case.)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Not quite. I could list a few more for you. :-)

3Give Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

One guess per user. :-P But you can be alfmalfed too anyway even if you choose one of the others. :-

P

7ReplyGive Lingot5•12 months ago

otsogutxi 25 25 25 22 17 16 16 13 9 4 3 3 2

Can I just leave it general by saying one of the Baltic languages?

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

That's still multiple languages. :-P

8ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

adamyoun97 15 15 14 14 13 11 10 9 8 8 7
I'd love Amharic!

14ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Yay, a valid guess! :-) Thanks, and good luck!

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

adamyoun97 15 15 14 14 13 11 10 9 8 8 7
አመሰግናለሁ!

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
ምንም አይደለም! (Warning, Google Translate at work here... :-) )

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

adamyoun97 15 15 14 14 13 11 10 9 8 8 7
It's correct :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

CosmoKaiza 17 14 5
Ughh so many possible languages ^^ Tagalog / Finnish / Estonian / Arabic / Serbo-Croatian, all are possible. But I am going to say Afrikaans ! I think it's time for Afrikaans to step in !

11ReplyGive Lingot5•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, but did you see that Afrikaans has been mentioned before in this thread? You don't want to go for being the first to name a particular language?

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

CosmoKaiza 17 14 5
Oh then I will go with Maltese :)

10ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Very well, Maltese is yours! :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

lrusejka 15 10 10 9 8 6 6 4 4 2
alfme - a lingot for Estonian!!! ;-)

2ReplyGive Lingot25•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Why did I never think of that? Alfalfme!

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Multi0Lingual4 23 19 15 13 12 11 11 4 3 2 23
What did you just start...? O_O. I have a feeling this will even bigger than Finnish very soon...you know what we should start is alfmj -- a lingot for mentioning Japanese. But you can replace it with Chinese sometimes too...

1ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Who knows... But I think it will take a while for this to be bigger than Finnish unless the Finnish course actually finnally makes an appearance. If we add too many alfm?s there will be nothing else on the forums...

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

mitStrudel 24 20 14 12
Go on then. ;) I'll conjecture Latin.

Edit: oops! Beaten to it.

11ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Do you want to change your answer so you're the first one guessing a particular language, or are you happy with Latin?

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

mitStrudel 24 20 14 12
All the most likely ones have already been mentioned, I think, so I'll stick with it. :)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, cool! :-) We never know what the Duoverse might throw at us...

I just realized that I haven't made a rule for what happens if the next language is one that wasn't guessed in this thread at all! :-O We'll cross that bridge when we get there...

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

NancyMihalich 22 22 21 2 1160

Are you saying that Klingon is already a language on Duolingo? Haa! Haa! I'll have to catch up! Okay, mark me down for Sicilian as a tribute to my Sicilian grandparents!

5ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Very nice! That would indeed be a nice one.

The Klingon for English speakers course has indeed recently been able to celebrate its one year Incuversary, as it was added on 9 April 2015. There was ... some... hmmm ... discussion on the Discussion board (lousy pun intended) for a good while after that. I'm actually glad you seem to have missed out on that bit of Duolingo history!

(Edited because I can't spell and don't know what today's date is...)

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Then we wait until there's a language that is in here.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

NancyMihalich 22 22 21 2 1160

Klingon hasn't been mentioned! It's possible, but not probable! I'll guess Klingon then!

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

But Nancy, Klingon wouldn't be a new language... (Amazingly.)

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

Multi0Lingual4 23 19 15 13 12 11 11 4 3 2 23

Probably not going to be right but...Albanian!

11ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Thank you! :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Hyllning 25 15

Old English, hopefully. I've created a post on it here

11ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Wow, that's pretty left-field, cool! :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
As pointed out by lizsue and and A_User, the winner of this competition is .... Tamil! Or rather, those who guessed Tamil, that is:

remoonline (who was first and therefore gets 100 lingots) and fr224

Since Bengali was added to the Incubator very swiftly after Tamil (and one of the points of this competition was for me to get rid of lingots...), I'll also award the lingots to those who guessed Bengali:

PfifltriggPi (first), Pruechelan, and HFW1986.

Thanks for playing, everyone! And it's sooo nice to see some new languages in the Incubator again after such a long time!

11ReplyGive Lingot44•10 months ago

oliyan 12 4
I don't see the language 'Tamil' in incubator, yet!

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
English for Tamil speakers was added on 1 June.

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

SisterSue26 20 15 10 8 4 1
Breton:)

10ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Cool! Noted. :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

DrSwordopolis 22 22 19 16 12 10 8 6 5 4 4 3 2 2 1
Hmmm.... Punjabi?

10ReplyGive Lingot2•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, noted! :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

StuffieStephie 19 15 11 11 4
Extremely unlikely but I'll vote Bulgarian!

10ReplyGive Lingot3•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Cool! Maybe not that unlikely, Duolingo is starting to do a good job covering that end of Europe.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

MarcinM85 20 19 17 17 15 15 5 186
Persian.

9ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK! Did you see it was guessed already? You can change if you want to.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

MarcinM85 20 19 17 17 15 15 5 186
Yes, I've seen but I don't want to change.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, that's cool! You're on the list for Persian. :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

NovaEuropa 15 6 4 3 2
Latvian, I really want Latvian

9ReplyGive Lingot25•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Very nice, you are the first one to guess Latvian! :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

A_User 23 11 9 7 7 7 6 4 3 3 2 2 2 2
I know it's already been guessed, but I'll go for Finnish too. :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot7•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Noted! :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
Alfmf. Take some of those lingots back.

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

fr224 20 16 10 6 5 4
Tamil

8ReplyGive Lingot10•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Thanks! remoonline already guessed Tamil earlier -- would you like to change to a language no one has guessed yet?

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

oskalingo 24 14 10 6 3 2
Ja-Ja-Javanese.

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Noted! :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

lizensue 25 24 10 5 2 165
One of the Mayan languages, probably K'iche (the one most widely spoken in Guatemala). My guess is based on <http://eleconomista.com.mx/tecnociencia/2015/07/17/duolingo-wikipedia-rescate-las-lenguas-indigenas> . :)

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
That's the article we discussed above -- thanks for digging it out. OK, K'iche it is for you! :-)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Abitto03 15 14 11 10 10 8 8 7 3
Mmmm OK .. So that's the article you were talking about. Nice, I'm going to read it.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

We're supposed to be getting some languages that are native so I'll guess Navajo. I figure Cherokee will in there, but Navajo would be a nice addition..

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Ah, sorry, I replied to your earlier comment and only then saw that you wrote several comments. So is your official guess Navajo?

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

Yes. I don't need more lingots either. I just want to see what everyone guesses.

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK! If it really is Navajo, we'll need to discuss a good cause those lingots you won can be donated to. :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

The Finnish cause. :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot2•12 months ago

wyqtor 17 16 14 13 13 13 12 11 11 11 11 10 9 9 9 8 8 7 5 4 4 3 2 845

While the languages I would rather want are Chinese, Japanese, Thai, and Serbo-Croatian, I think some other ones will be next. My guess is English for Telugu speakers based on what the Duo staff wrote previously. Why from Telugu first, and not the other languages announced(Tamil, Bengali)? Hyderabad, the largest Telugu-speaking city, is a very important IT center with a dynamic economy. The big companies there (like Microsoft for example - BTW, Microsoft's CEO Satya Nadella comes from Hyderabad) need an educated, English-speaking workforce. And this is where Duolingo comes in.

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Thanks! :-) I'll note Telugu as being your guess.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

widle 20 11 662

Nobody has mentioned Slovak yet, so I'll make it my guess. It's high time they had their own English course instead of struggling with the Czech one. :)

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Ooh, that's a nice one as well! Noted! :-)

I love how such a silly little competition helps to remind us which languages are out there (in the cold...).

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Mr.Quizzical 9 8 7 4 2

Hausa

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Very nice, duly noted! :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Pecil1 23 21 19 19 2 2 513

Finnish, at least I hope so :)

6ReplyGive Lingot5•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Thank you! :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Alfmf. :-D

1ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Erven.R 20 15 14 11 10 2

My guess would be Filipino just because I want to see it.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK! :-) Should I count Filipino and Tagalog as the same guess, regardless of what Duolingo would choose to call such a course? (I was planning on reverting to you if this became an issue in this game.)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Erven.R 20 15 14 11 10 2

I think that people should start calling it Filipino because that's the official one or the standardized one. If ever Filipino will be the next language then give the lingots to the first person who mentioned Tagalog. Probably Duo will just name the course "Filipino (Tagalog)".

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Cool, thanks! So if it is indeed the winner, the first user who mentioned either will get 100 lingots and anyone else guessing one or the other gets 10 each.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Nina-chan 13 8 2

I bet for Occitan. Although an Ainu course would be awesome!

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Wow! Occitan is noted. :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Anna._ 15 9 6 6 6 5 4 3 3 2 2

Khmer (Cambodian) because why not guess!

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Sure! Imagine how cool it would be if you did win! :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Anna._ 15 9 6 6 6 5 4 3 3 2 2

Yes! It'd be wonderful to have it here, it's pretty hard to find good resources for the language.

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Irusejka 15 10 10 9 8 6 6 4 4 2

Thai?

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Not admissible for this competition... :-) You can try again with a language that falls within the rules.

11ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

volumniax 25 25 22 22 17 15 14 14 10 8 7 6 6 5 5 4 3 2 2 930

Okay, extremely-unlikely-but-desired language: I'll take the 1000-to-1 odds on Cree :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

DrSwordopolis 22 22 19 16 12 10 8 6 5 4 4 3 2 2 1

Cree would be sweeeeeeeet.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Very nice, your guess has been noted! :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

KristofferD 20 13 11 6 710

I put my lingots on Soumi aka Finnish. ☺

5ReplyGive Lingot10•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

*Suomi Alfmsaf. :-D

4ReplyGive Lingot10•12 months ago

KristofferD 20 13 11 6 710

Ops. Just shows how much I need a Finnish course here!

5ReplyGive Lingot10•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

LOL!!! :-D

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Noted! :-) (Suomi, though.)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

passchi 18 8 8 5 4 4 3 2 442

There are a number of languages I have in mind, but only one should be mentioned.... Kurdish !

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Cool! Your guess has been noted! :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

PinefrostLTU 15 13 8 8 7 6 5 5 5 4
Mayan

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
I have learned on here that that's a whole language family -- so would you like to pick one?

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

PinefrostLTU 15 13 8 8 7 6 5 5 5 4
I'd have to choose K'iche', only because it is the most likely.

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, cool! There's another guess of K'iche before you, but you're still in the running for 10 lingots and a lot of pride...

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

PinefrostLTU 15 13 8 8 7 6 5 5 5 4
Actually, can I change mine to English for Bengali speakers?

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

PinefrostLTU 15 13 8 8 7 6 5 5 5 4
Fine, I will change mine to Greenlandic.

8Give Lingot5•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Cool -- Greenlandic it is! :-)

7Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
You can't guess Catalan or English in this competition though, please check the rules in the original post.

6Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Sure! But the idea is not to guess courses but languages, so I'll sign you up for Bengali then (which has also already been guessed, if that matters).

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

PinefrostLTU 15 13 8 8 7 6 5 5 5 4

Although, Catalan for English would be nice, too.

4Give Lingot•12 months ago

Pruechelan 8 6 122

English for Bengali I know it's been guessed, but I'm fairly certain so I'll add on to for that one.

4ReplyGive Lingot10•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK, that's cool, Bengali it is! :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

CristobalTG 18 18 14 12 9 8 7 6 5

Arabic for English

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Sorry, Arabic and English are languages that are already in the Incubator and neither is thus a valid guess in this game. The idea is to guess which "completely new (ie. not part of an existing course at any stage of the Incubator) language" will be added, not to guess which course is the next one to be added.

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

StuffieStephie 19 15 11 11 4

Really? I thought Arabic would be a valid guess because there are currently no courses (finished or in the works) teaching Arabic. There are courses for Arabic speakers but none teaching the language.

1ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

"Not part of an existing course at any stage of the Incubator" was the idea in the original post. :-)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

But the language itself is in the Incubator. It doesn't matter what the course is with the language or which direction they go, what matters is the language itself. Arabic is part of an existing course in the Incubator, and therefore invalid.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

I'm curious - why are so many people wanting Finnish? You don't hear of a lot of people wanting to go to Finland. Latin actually makes sense because the Catholic Church still uses it and it is still taught in college (where I learned it, but seriously need a Duolingo course to refresh my knowledge). But why Finnish?

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

In addition to what has already been said, there aren't that many good resources out there for learning Finnish. While being a very logical language (or so we like to think), it can be quite a challenging one for a learner who knows only Indo-European languages.

There are also already plenty of foreign people here in Finland who are held back by not knowing Finnish well enough (ranging from people in good jobs who have been here a long time to recent refugees). For most people, Finnish is not a language you just pick up with time.

Lastly, there were many, many languages people used to vote for in the unofficial polls back when the Incubator was new. Of the popular languages in those polls, most are actually available on Duolingo now, so there is of course even more interest in those "left" from that lot, namely Latin and Finnish.

Since 3 out of 5 national languages of the Nordic countries are already on here, Finnish would fit in quite nicely... There are technical challenges to do with the structure of the language, but those same technical challenges have been encountered (and I believe solved) when building the Turkish and Hungarian courses.

7ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

"You don't hear a lot of people wanting to go to Finland"

Most of us advocating Finnish do want to go to Finland. We're just waiting until we speak a little more Finnish. :) I would love to go to Finland. It may never happen, but even if it doesn't, learning Finnish (which is a beautiful language, btw) gives me the opportunity to learn about Finnish culture and find out a lot about Finland in general that would be a lot more difficult to find if I spoke no Finnish at all. There are also some unexplainable things that have me at least, and probably many of us Finntatics, stuck learning it whether I want to or not, though it isn't required for anything. Some of that is similar to what the Norwegian fanatics have, if you've encountered us before.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

widle 20 11 662

Some of us have even visited Finland already. :) And I need to go at least twice more. (Why twice? I need to experience the summer solstice where the sun doesn't set, and I also need a winter visit with snow and northern lights.)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Lucky you. :-) If it's at all a possibility, make it one long visit. :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

widle 20 11 662

I could simply move there, right? :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

If that's possible, yes, do that instead. :-) I certainly would. :-)

5Give Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Tervetuloa! :-)

4Give Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

Thank you to all of you who replied to this question. I was curious. I hadn't thought about this before so I was surprised at the outpouring. I had a friend who had to move to Denmark for a couple of years for the company he worked for, and I do see where we already have the other languages from that area. I had not thought about the summer solstice. That would be a cool reason to visit Finland. I have met some of the Norwegian fanatics before. My ex-husband had relatives from there.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

You're welcome! You haven't been observing the right places in the forums for long enough if you were surprised. :-D

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

You're right. I only got interested in the discussions fairly recently. I have seen the Latin forums, but that was because I'm hoping for Latin.

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

You'll see us around a fair amount if you pay much attention. We show up fairly frequently, and alfmf chains aren't as uncommon as they used to be. :-D

2Give Lingot•12 months ago

Pecil1 23 21 19 19 2 2 513

I'm 25 and I've been in love with Finland since when I was 13. I have always felt close to its culture and to finns' of living. Plus I think finnish it's an amazing language and a great challenge

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

eczechowski 21 12 11 11 10 8 7 6 4 2 2

Finnish here, too!

4ReplyGive Lingot5•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Noted! :-)

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Alfmf! :-D

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

ColdBlaze 15 4 3 2

Probably Finnish, the demand for it has been growing exponentially recently, so..

4ReplyGive Lingot6•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

OK! Noted! :-)

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

alexisslay 20 10 10 10 6 4

my vote ( highly not probably winner ) is going to Armenian. ( I hesitated with georgian too )

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Nice choice! :-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Theron126 25 21 16 15 4 2

If there's any justice it will be Finnish. As there probably isn't I'll go for English (do I have to specify from which language? If so we'll say Tamil)

3ReplyGive Lingot4•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

You'll have to specify a new language. So English is hardly admissible. :-p Is it Tamil then (although others have already guessed it)?

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Theron126 25 21 16 15 4 2

Does reverse tree not count as new? i.e. can I not say English from Tamil and thus win if English for Tamil is added and not if Tamil for English is?

1ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

"Guess which completely new (ie. not part of an existing course at any stage of the Incubator) language will be announced next in the Incubator. It doesn't matter which other language it is paired with."

You've done too much Russian, methinks. :-)

6ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Theron126 25 21 16 15 4 2

There is no such thing as too much Russian. OK, if I've got to pick from English, I'll go for Afrikaans.

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

You don't have to pick from English. :-)

6Give Lingot•12 months ago

Theron126 25 21 16 15 4 2

Well, you wouldn't let me pick to English... I guess I could pick Basque from Korean, but I think I won't :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Just one new language. :-) So English and Korean are out, whereas Basque, Tamil, of Afrikaans are (Edit: would be) admissible entries.

6Give Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6

Alfmf, even though you're a coward and didn't go for it. :-P

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Golden_Owl 13 11 10 8 4 2
Mandarin Chinese for English speakers.

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Sorry, since Chinese is already in the Incubator, it's not a valid guess in this game.

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Golden_Owl 13 11 10 8 4 2
Really?chinese for english speakers?

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

frenchlearner53 13 11 6
You're guessing languages, not courses. Chinese is in the incubator (English for Chinese), and English is also in the incubator, so neither of those is valid.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

ChubbyBunny2704 6
I'm hoping for Chinese

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Sure, good luck! :-) But for the purposed of this game, Chinese is not a valid guess, as the language already exists in the Incubator.

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Lora034 16 14 5 5 3 2 679
My guess is Icelandic which will be great. I really hope for Bulgarian though , and I would love to learn Cherokee, too.

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK! All three have been guessed already, but are you still happy with Icelandic? (Which would indeed be awesome. I might have to cheat on Russian a bit if that does happen.)

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Lora034 16 14 5 5 3 2 679
Yes, I think it will be Icelandic.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, cool! :-)

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

JonathanFa3728 22 10 10 9 8 6 6 6 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 4 3 3 3 2 953
Not exactly wanting lingots, but solely wanting to participate in this whole guessing game. I want to guess Cherokee (And I hope that it does come out as I've already taken the alphabet completely!) I don't want to see it die since only 7-8k people speak it. :(

EDIT: disappointing that incorrect levels are shown on the forums when posting things. >_>

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Sure! :-)

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Rustylouis 23 9 9 4
Xhosa?

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Good idea! You're the first one to guess that. :-)

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Lars200 14 11 10 10 9 9 7 6 5 5 4 3 2 2
Wolof

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Well, that's interesting! It's noted. :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Gerardd88 13 13 13 12 12 12 12 12 12 12 11 11 10 10 10 8 4
I'm suprised that relatively very few people are talking about Arabic (in comparison with, say, Finnish which is virtually everywhere here). I personally can't wait for it and hope that it will make the incubator as soon as possible.
EDIT: I realised that it is not posted in this topic because there are already courses from Arabic, nevertheless discussions about Arabic are still way less common.

PS If I may ask, what does that Indian flag among your courses mean? :D Are you an alpha tester or something?

3ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

I was going to reply to the Arabic bit, but I see you figured that out already. :-)

I think the contributors to English for Arabic have already stated somewhere that a course in Arabic for English will be built at some point, but I also seem to remember that the refugee crisis and the resulting X for Arabic courses took precedent over that. I might be remembering this completely wrong, but I think this is the reason there isn't much talk about Arabic -- it's already planned.

The Hindi course escaped into beta a while back, and I thought it was already out and did a few lessons. Then it was reined back in again, and it will probably be a while yet before it's out properly.

4ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

bouvetoya 16 8 7

Faroese :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

passchi 18 8 8 5 4 4 3 2 442

That is definitely an original guess !

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

bouvetoya 16 8 7

Haha I know it might never happen, but one can dream right?

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Original indeed! And the flag would go so nicely with your Norwegian one... :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

bouvetoya 16 8 7

Yes, along with Icelandic too :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

lzsue 25 24 10 5 2 165

Now the new courses are English for Tamil speakers and English for Bengali speakers. :)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/15893018>

3ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

A_User 23 11 9 7 7 7 6 4 3 3 2 2 2 2

English for Tamil speakers was out first. :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

lizensue 25 24 10 5 2 165

Yes, it was. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

maireadmgt 12 11 11 9 379

Thank you for telling me about Chinese, but how do I find out what languages are already in the incubator, please? I'm very new here. Is there somewhere here where I can find out about these terms, 'tree', etc?

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201

Also, check the link to the Duolingo Wikia in the original post -- that's an easy way of seeing all the courses on the same page (so you can search for a particular language as well).

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

A "tree" is all the skills that are listed when you sign up for a language. You finish a tree when you finish a course. There is a link for the incubator, but honestly, I just google Duolingo Incubator and it takes me there. For example, you are studying seven languages so you are working on eventually completing seven trees.

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

lizensue 25 24 10 5 2 165

<https://incubator.duolingo.com/> is the incubator link. :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Stardust103158 14 9

Thank you. I am so lazy.

3ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

maireadmgt 12 11 11 9 379

Thank you, Stardust, for explaining to me about trees and the incubator. It is all new and interesting. Thanks all.

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

HFW1986 12
Bengali!

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Cool! It's been guessed before, but you are welcome to join the gang. :-)

2ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

lizsue 25 24 10 5 2 165
Have you seen <https://incubator.duolingo.com/apply> recently? Tamil and Telugu are now on the ""choose language" lists. :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Ooooh... That's a telling sign if ever I saw one. Thanks for letting us know!

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

lizsue 25 24 10 5 2 165
You're welcome! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Katred2 20 18 15 15 13 13 11 11 10 9 9 8 8 8 7 4 169
Hm... I suspect it will be Latin and I would love for it to be something unexpected like Lithuanian (closest to Proto Indo-European), Mongolian or Xhosa, but I'm going to guess Telugu, because it's the language/ language family (Dravidian) with the most speakers that isn't represented here already.

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK, Telugu noted! :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

maireadmgt 12 11 11 9 379
Chinese?

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Chinese is already well and truly in the Incubator, so it doesn't count. Do you want to take another guess? :-)

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

sophie.ras 12 4 4
Serbocroatian

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
OK! :-) Serbian has been guessed before, so I'll consider this a second guess of the same language.

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

mkuhn1 15 10 7 4 2 2 2 2
Bangla. One of the top 10 languages spoken in the world. Spoken in both India (the state of West Bengal) and Bangladesh (the former East Bengal). A language with a deep literary culture, including the Bengali renaissance, and a powerful cultural influence across the whole of India (e.g. the Indian national anthem is in Bangla). In Bangladesh desire to preserve Bangla as a national language was one of the leading causes for splitting from Pakistan in 1973.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Hi! This competition already finished a couple of weeks ago, when Tamil was added to the Incubator (see my post above).

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

mkuhn1 15 10 7 4 2 2 2 2
OK. I guess they're doing the Tamil->English and Bangla->English before the reverse. I'm pleased by these choices of languages.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
Any new courses are great news for literally thousands of people! :-) I was very happy to see a couple of new courses in the Incubator after a long dry spell. But in my heart, I'm always waiting for Finnish to turn up there...

2ReplyGive Lingot2•10 months ago

A_User 23 11 9 7 7 7 6 4 3 3 2 2 2 2
And you're not the only one....

2ReplyGive Lingot1•10 months ago

annika_a 19 17 17 16 11 11 5 2 2 2 1201
I know :-) <3

2Give Lingot•10 months ago

conradsteenkamp 20 14 13 7 3 3
Afrikaans

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

24 What is your favorite french word! (Contest)

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/15438358>

Dangerchu 6

Type your favorite french word in the comments bellow!

Give Lingot

-411 months ago

Leave a new comment

16 Comments

MaxPieters0 21 19 17 110

Baguette

3ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Bethany64373 12 31

That's my new favorite too, after starting to read Harry Potter. "The magic baguette chooses the wizard," "He took the baguette and felt a warmth through his fingers..." XD

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

BandNerd46 2 2 2

Au revoir

2ReplyGive Lingot10•11 months ago

John_Carroll819 25 25 25

Good choice! : )

2ReplyGive Lingot2•11 months ago

BandNerd46 2 2 2

Thank you! :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Dangerchu 6

You guys are wining yay!

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Dangerchu 6

HOW COME YOU GET SO MANY LINGOTS!!! Just kidding I LOVE Au revoir TOO!!! SO I VOTE IT TOO!!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Dangerchu 6

My favorite word in french is ??? JK

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

MasterZsword 20 6 6 4

Raison d'être- reason for one's existence. It just sounds so deep and I love using it in poetry.

2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

MasterZsword 20 6 6 4

I also like Lucis Crepusculo (Dusk of Light), Gottheit von liebe (divinity of love), and Im Dunkeln (in the dark). To me, they sound peaceful, yet convey a sense of mystery. I know, that sounds pretty weird...

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

CaptainKaya 14 10 8 6 4 2 2 80

I like the word l'amour. Love...

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Ykcits 7 5 3

Merci because it sounds like mercy.

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

TiffanyThomas760 10 4

Joli because its also my middle name

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Dangerchu 6

Awesome the leading word is Au revoir (BandNerd46 and Sun-sets voted for it!)

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Dangerchu 6

The prize will be 1 or maybe 2 Lingots per winner!

1ReplyGive Lingot2•11 months ago

Dangerchu 6

THE WINNERS ARE BandNerd46 and Sun-sets (AND ME!!!) WITH THE WORD Au revoir THEY EACH DESERVE 2 LINGOTS (I WILL GIVE THEM THERE LINGOTS)

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

25 "Jeg drikker en brus. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/14088068>

Translation: I am drinking a soda.

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

8 Comments

KacperPorembski 10 6 5 5

isn't the translation wrong ? "soda" is an uncountable noun so there shouldn't be no "a".

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

griffindd 23 8 52

soda is both countable and uncountable. It's quite normal to speak of "a soda"

<http://www.learnersdictionary.com/definition/soda>

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tammy144 15 8 3 2 2

Why is it "I am drinking '1' soft drink" Shouldn't it have been the same as "I am drinking a soda" just replace soda with soft drink (Australian term for soda)?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69

That's also accepted.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Tammy144 15 8 3 2 2

Thank you for your response, I didn't realise at the time :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Atcovi 13 5

Jeg drikker ikke en brus, jeg drikker vann

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69
Wise choice!

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

ianbeamer 6
Jeg drikker ikke øl

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

26 Which sign language to learn?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/14237642>

jasopop 13 2

So recently I have been quite interested in sign languages, but unfortunately I've encountered the problem of which one I should learn first. Now I live in Australia, so you would assume that I would learn Auslan (Australian Sign Language) but so few people speak it and there are so few resources that I find it might be both difficult to learn and if I do learn it would I encounter the problem of language mixing if/when I decide to learn a second sign language?

Jasopop

Give Lingot1
61 year ago

Leave a new comment
14 Comments

pseudocreobotra 14 6 6 6 5
Maybe rather BSL than ASL?

Auslan and NZSL are very closely related to BSL while ASL is closer to LSF (French Sign Language). BSL and Auslan use the same grammar and manual alphabet and have a high overlap of sign so that they are often considered to be dialects of the same language. So, if your main problem is the lack of resources, BSL could help with that.

As mentioned, ASL is a completely different language that has very little overlap. While it is one of the more popular sign languages, at least in Europe it isn't considered as a lingua franca (but as a popular secondary sign language, especially among academics, I guess?).

12ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

AureliaUK 25 25 21 15 12 11 8 1

I'm just waiting for Tahitian Sign Language for Klingon speakers. There's bound to be huge demand for that.

8ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

And don't knock it cause you know how those Klingons get.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ToDefend 10 8 7 2 2 2 1

That was pretty funny. :) lol

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

You say you now live in Australia. Are you planning to move? I would let that determine which you learn.

There may not be a lot of Auslan speakers in your immediate area but I bet there are far more Auslan speakers than any other signed language.

Do you plan on using your signed language at some point? How do you plan on using it?

There are a lot of resources online for various sign languages but they will not get you to any fluency if you have no real signers to learn from. Also, remember there are a lot of dialects in signed languages as well.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jvged 4

your choice

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SpaceDragonV 6 4

Hi! I'm an Australian who has studied Auslan. Auslan and ASL are different languages. I'd recommend looking into Auslan courses if you live near a TAFE or you could ask your local library about making an Auslan learning group. I started learning Auslan in 2010, and even after I stopped, I am always finding ways that my signing helps other people and myself, so you might be surprised how much it does come in handy!

I have met someone who knows some ASL and the languages are so different, we couldn't hold a conversation in sign language, so I doubt you'll have the problem of language mixing. Auslan itself is varied by state. For example, the sign for yellow is different in Queensland and Victoria.

There are resources available on YouTube (make sure to check the video description or their about page to see what state they're in) and the Auslan sign bank (auslan.org.au) is like an online dictionary. There's also an app (there's a free version and paid version) by the RIDBC with signs as well. These are all ways that can help your sign vocabulary, but to grasp the grammar, it is best to have a class or group to practice with.

Good luck, and happy signing!

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

[deactivated user]

American Sign Language is a veritable lingua franca in the anglophone world. I'd suggest learning that first, and then learn the peculiarities of the Australian Sign Language afterward, as it should be relatively easy.

As to sign language bilingualism, if you practice the signs enough, you'll come to associate certain signs with other signs in the language, and you won't confuse the two languages.

-3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

No, that is simply untrue. ASL and Auslan are not even in the same language family.

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jasopop 13 2

Thanks, I guess I'll give ASL a go then :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ToDefend 10 8 7 2 2 2 1

It's not a bad idea since ASL has about 500,000 speakers compar to Auslan at about 15k.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Luscinda 25 25 25 14 11 10 8 7 6 6 5 4 3 3 2 2

None of which does you much good if they're on a continent where you're unlikely to run into them.

3ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

ToDefend 10 8 7 2 2 2 1

He wanted resources. There'll be more resources for a much more spoken language.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

While that is true, the resources he will likely find in Australia for ASL is going to be online resources. Learning a sign language needs to be more interactive than one can get online. It involves a lot of physical dynamics including body movements and space that are not easy to read online.

4Give Lingot1•1 year ago

27 "I like beer also."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/14447600>

Translation: Dw i'n hoffi cwrw hefyd.

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

5 Comments

NickyMitch 7 6

What determines if we use hoffi or licio in this sentence?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MrGWallCymraeg 11 9 7 4

Both should be accepted :)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ibisc 15 7 3

Personal choice!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SilverSky666 5

i agree

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ash473779 18 18 16 16 2 2 135

I love that word for beer! It makes it sound really tasty.

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

28 "The choice "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11644204>

Translation: الخيار

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

6 Comments

Aya989675 10 2

إختيار = خيار

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MohamedSab171171 11

الاختيار

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

53g4 25 9

Option

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

lalb1 12

I have not choice

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

thh1992 21

choice = option فَوْق هناك أو

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

SehamManso1 15 10 1

I wrote like you

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

29 What skills will you work on this week?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4093122>

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I will be working on Object Pronouns, Past Tense, Abstract Objects, and Verb Participles.

Estoy un poco preocupado porque he olvidado muchas! Espero que tu y yo tuviera éxito!

(I am a little worried because I have forgotten a lot! I hope that you and I succeed!)

Oh! And I will also be working on Swedish pronunciation

EDIT PS Let me know how it goes for you this week! :D

Because I didn't fully understand what I was learning when I went through the tree the first time, I'm taking notes this time. ^_^

El Lunes: Taking notes on Direct Object Pronouns. After that, I'll be reviewing some individual lessons so I can take time to think and after that using Timed Practice to move it into quicker recall.

El Martes: Migraine. (self-care day)

El Miercoles: Reviewing Dir. Obj. Prons. and working on Indirect Object Prons, and both when used together :)

El Jueves learning to use my ipad because my computer died. T_T working on past tense and also still working on the previous skills. Usagi Direct Object Pronouns Notes Usagi Indirect Object pronouns Notes Usagi Direct and Indirect Object Pronouns used together Notes

Give Lingot7

122 years ago

Leave a new comment

64 Comments

Jack.Elliott 25 25 25 25 21 13 10 10 9 9 8 5 3 2 2 1316

I will try to eat my ice cream before it melts

7ReplyGive Lingot2•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

Ha ha, I see this as I am eating ice cream. :)

4ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Jack.Elliott 25 25 25 25 21 13 10 10 9 9 8 5 3 2 2 1316

perhaps the french one or the german

Polish ice cream is very nice or even revert to the nederland with so many different flavours and cultural differences to the cones and , shape and taste and yum yum

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

:) Just Ben and Jerry's, Chocolate Fudge Brownie.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jack.Elliott 25 25 25 25 21 13 10 10 9 9 8 5 3 2 2 1316

mine are the languages on duolingo

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

Good choice!

2Give Lingot1•2 years ago

Jack.Elliott 25 25 25 25 21 13 10 10 9 9 8 5 3 2 2 1316

the choice was not made within the comment

was a question as to which to chose

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

2014siri 25 25 25
good news ;-)

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Jack.Elliot 25 25 25 25 21 13 10 10 9 9 8 5 3 2 2 1316
merci

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

Good luck Usagi! I'll be working on my Dutch this week. Starting with te + infinitive tomorrow morning and I hope to get about 10 skills done this week :)

5ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3
Thanks for the encouragement alexinIreland! Wow, 10 skills?? Ádh mór!

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

katze... 18 15 5
Good luck usagiboy
this week I will work on the German adjectives endings and at the same time I will try to improve my German vocabulary by learning 3 words a day dejame corregirte algo en Español.Estoy un poco preocupado porque he olvidado mucho!espero que tu yo yo tengamos éxito!

buena suerte y que tengas buen día

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3
Muchas gracias katze..!

To everyone else, enjoy a lingot! Hope it helps you this week somehow. (And to jackelliot and AlexisLinguist, I'm sure these help with digestion somehow! Let's talk about ice cream on my Activity ^_~ I too have a favorite Ben and Jerry's, and I've also met Jerry!)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mitchell_MT 22 14 13 13 13 8 8 7 6 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 130

I am working on Verbs: Gerund for Italian, and I hope to finish the skill by Wednesday. Hopefully, I'll start the Arts section.

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

KansasBurri 12 3

Dates & Time and Feelings. Will strengthen anything that de-goldifies.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

perfect-disaster 25 20 11 10 6 5 4

I might like to focus on French (currently on Objects, Places, and Adjectives 3, might like to finish the tree!), Italian (Verb Present 2), Portuguese (Animals, Food 2, and Plurals), and maybe a wee bit of Spanish (I'm in a bit of a rut) for now. As for Dutch and Greek, ah, maybe when I'm in the mood (which might probably be in a few days if you allow me at least).

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I just realized that this is probably a good group to ask: what is your #1 favorite, online learning resource to use alongside with Duolingo to help you get through this stuff?

EDIT: Please put that info here so we can make it available to other folks on the wiki <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4089089> Thanks!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

NancyMihalich 22 22 21 2 1160

Thanks for the lingot, Usagiboy7! I use WordReference every day and have several Italian grammar books to review!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

woops, I just realized the pitfall of asking that here instead of just linking to where I prefer people to answer <https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4089089> I went to add wordreference to the reviewed resources page since you named it as your #1, but I don't know which categories it covers. So, if you would take a peek in the link and help me out, that would be great! ^_ ^

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

NancyMihalich 22 22 21 2 1160

I took a look at the wiki page. I don't know where to add it, either! Here's the link to WordReference. It's an on-line dictionary! I find out if the word is masculine singular, masculine plural, feminine singular, or feminine plural. I check conjugations here, too. There are sentence discussions, etc. <http://www.wordreference.com/>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

It's cool. We'll add it. We just need to collect certain kinds of feedback first in that other discussion I linked. :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wazzie 25 11

Since you mentioned pronunciation, my favorite website for pronunciation is <http://www.forvo.com>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

Wordreference, certainly. I use it every day, and it is really helpful with more obscure phrases and words that Duolingo fails to translate.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FresnoVegas 12 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 6 4 3 53

When I feel burned out or when I want to stretch my legs linguistically speaking, I look up articles in Wikipedia in my target language and see what I can understand.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

LilPeterPan 11

Basics 2, Phrases, Food and Animals.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Buena suerte!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ADSharpe 14 12 8 7 7 5 5 5 3 3 3 2 2 2 2

My last seven skills in the German tree - starting with Politics :D

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

LilPeterPan 11

Good luck!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ADSharpe 14 12 8 7 7 5 5 3 3 3 2 2 2 2

Thanks :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Mariana.Fortes 15

Although I'm not even close to these skills on my tree, I'm feeling the need to study future and past tenses, so I'll do that with a grammar book and my favorite french podcast. Right now I only know the infinitive, so I'm very limited. On my tree I'll continue working on adverbs and occupations :)

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

michiamolyndsay 15

I'm going to strengthen a few skills and then I will also start V. Pres. 2 and Adverbs!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

NancyMihalich 22 22 21 2 1160

You are an inspiration! Here's five lingots for your five goals!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

Now that you mention it, I'm hoping to finish my German tree. :-] We'll see how that goes. I'm halfway through Abstract Objects, which is a little. . . dense. And the three skills to go after that are all some of the longest in the tree. But there's no harm in having high hopes!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Eey91 25 25 22 19 16 9 2

I'm trying to finish Adj 3 to continue with Places (French from English).

I'm going to study Verbs pres. 1 (Portuguese, both from English and Spanish) and I'm going to devour Portuguese IPA =)

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

jolynnedougherty 25 20 14 8 5 87

Working on getting the bottom section of my French tree golden before the kids go back to school. Good luck Usagiboy7 with your endeavors!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

airforcekid4 17

i will be working on clitics and numbers ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlmogL 25 20 10

I am starting on the last row of skills in the German tree. I kind of already feel a little bitter-sweet... and Memrising Irish in anticipation for the Duolingo course.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

JaneEmily 17 8

Going to refresh/review Conjunctions for Dutch, do a few strengthening sessions of past lessons as well. Then around the weekend start Date & Time :)

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

R_Wlsn_1969 25 1207

Finish 'Numbers' (only two more lessons to go) and then tackle 'Clitics' (which I meant to do two or three weeks ago but unfortunately my life outside Duo kept intruding on valuable study time).

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

It's Wednesday, how is everyone progressing with their skills so far? I had a set back yesterday, but I'm regrouping this evening! Still focusing on Direct Object Pronouns. I re-wrote my notes and cleaned them up a bit. It went a long way towards helping me make sense of things. I've decided to post a picture of my notes to help encourage me and hopefully to inspire some of you :)

PS Just realized that the Spanish Object Pronouns skill covered both Direct and Indirect Object Pronouns. I thought they were separate. No wonder I'm so confused :P Heading off to take notes on IOPs!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Eey91 25 25 22 19 16 9 2

I've been cheating on french grammar =s, the university is eating me.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I am thinking I will get 3 skills done instead of five, since Dir and Indir Obj Pronouns are covered in 1 skill and I had a sick day. Do what you can and don't be discouraged by setbacks. It is ok to reassess your goals so they are a more realistic fit for your week :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Eey91 25 25 22 19 16 9 2

It is going to be just for 3 weeks (really difficult ones though hehe "A lot!!! to do").

0ReplyGive Lingot10•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Here are some lingots to get a streak freeze, just in case! (If you already have one equipped, feel free to donate these to someone else who might need them.) Don't forget to stay hydrated, start a good shut down routine for sleep, and eat some good food. Maybe Duolingoers will become known for being good to our brains xD

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Eey91 25 25 22 19 16 9 2

The only problem I have is that my studying schedule starts at 10 pm haha (not to mention I should be sleeping by then to get up early XD).

I'll keep the lingots in case anyone can make a good use of them (I have plenty now and always a streak freeze in place).

Did your background go white?

0Give Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

re: your reply to me below. I'm glad you have a streak freeze. I will likely be doing these more often. So, if circumstances prevent you from participating this week, you can join again later. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

Absolutamente nada. :/ I've been trying to get through a skill (and I realize I never posted here, doh), and I get sidetracked on the fifth lesson every single time.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Don't give up! We're all cheering for you! (or at the very least this bunny is :D) cheers and then hops off to keep taking notes

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

Thanks! Why is the "er" so bold in your right photo? Brain moving too fast for your pen, ha ha!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Indeed! I was copying a previous, messier version of my notes. At first I looked at the wrong line and wrote "what" instead of "where". ^^'

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlexisLinguist 25 21 19 19 13 12 12

Ha ha, and see, my iOS keyboard is too dang slow, typed g twice in mine, LOL.

1Give Lingot•2 years ago

LilPeterPan 11

Well, I finished Basics 2 and Phrases.

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

Well I have already managed to complete my 10'Dutch skills and now I am working on skill number 12- Present perfect. So, overall, the week is going great for me. Good luck with the rest of your week and those pesky pronouns!

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Thank you! Very pesky. I now have the notes in my head. (Let's see if I can't get that to translate into real world use today). I have them in my blue journal as well! So, if I forget I can review :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

buunny 13 10 9 8 7 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 4 3 3

Are you going to try learning Swedish next, usagi?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

@buunny (so good to see you xD) It appears that is a very real possibility. My syskonbarn wants to learn Swedish and I want to support their language journey. :D So, if they still want to learn Swedish by the time the Swedish course comes out, I will take it with them. :) Feel free to say hi via my Activity stream. ^_^

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

buunny 13 10 9 8 7 7 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 4 3 3

What is a syskonbarn? If you do take Swedish, I wish you luck! Have fun! I'll drop by your profile and say hi every once in a while, too. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FresnoVegas 12 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 6 4 3 53

I begin my sessions by doing one or two strengthening practice sessions in Spanish. Then I go to French on Mon, Wed and Fri - or - Dutch on Tue and Thur. I begin the French/Dutch sessions with a few practice sessions, and then I do at least three lessons. Then for the rest of the day I do strengthening exercises in that language. I live in the Bay Towers building. If my face is puffy in the morning I wear an ice pack as I do my crunches. I believe in a balanced diet and rigorous exercise routine. And I hope some of you caught that reference and found it hilarious.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3
Sounds very rigorous! :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FresnoVegas 12 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 6 4 3 53
oh, it's a killer! Thanks for the Lingot, U7. That was very generous.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

duonks 20 19 18 17 15 15 15 14 14 13 12 12 12 12 12 12 11 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 8 1101
Making the most of my vacation so far: completed the Dutch tree, finally polished off my Italian tree, hoping to do the same with the French one in the next couple of days. Then just practice everything until Irish and / or Danish appear ;-)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3
Completed the Dutch tree already? O.O Please, take my lingots!

(Good luck with every tree on Duolingo! I have a feeling you'll scale them all!)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

duonks 20 19 18 17 15 15 15 14 14 13 12 12 12 12 12 12 11 11 11 11 11 10 10 10 10 8 1101
Thanks, it will take a while to get to 24 in anything though... Toma tú también lingotes por el nivel y por el streak !

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3
Yes, it is very helpful considering I enjoy giving out so many lingots each day. But, to keep up with my Duolinger habits, I will certainly need a much longer streak than the one I have >.> (I tend to lingot myself into the red eheh ^^) Luckily, someone was recently very generous in supporting my lingoting ways :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

30 "There is no alternative. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1290558>

Translation: Il n'y a pas d'alternative.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

41 Comments

JulienOden 9

Il n'y a pas d'autres solutions. En français, j'utilise le pluriel.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Thomas_Bertin 25 23 23 16 7 2

Oui, "il n'y a pas d'alternatives" me semble correct...

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

jamesrolls95 11 8

En fait il n'y a peut être pas de solution du tout

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

odercou 12

Pffff pour l'apostrophe c saoulant...

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

abscon7 16

En français alternative implique deux choix! Il me semble plus correct de dire qu'il n'y a pas le choix

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GCHOTEAU 25 25

Alternative = Obligation de choisir entre deux possibilités ; dilemme : L'alternative est embarrassante : parler ou se taire. "Il n'y a pas d'alternative" signifie très précisément "Il n'y a pas d'autre choix". La traduction proposée est parfaitement correcte.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

robertcolin 20 18

Désolé je viens de mettre exactement le même commentaire à la première remarque. J'aurais du lire jusque ici.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

OlivierThe9 11 3

Une petite dédicace à la "dame de fer" ?

2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

didstar 9

Il n'y a pas le choix convient parfaitement

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Batomouch 25 25 25 25 25 11 10 8 3 2

choix = choice

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

ErnstZphyr 12

Nah

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

C-Anas 11 9 2

Pourquoi pas "il n'existe pas d'alternative" ??

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

cmazars 13

Aucune=never ??

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ffi13 11 9 9 8 8 3

les traductions sont trop littérales ; très peu de français ne dirait "il n'y a pas d'alternative" mais plutôt "il n'y a pas d'autre choix / le choix"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

GCHOTEAU 25 25

Détrompez-vous. Alternative est couramment employé, parfois même mal. Quand j'entends dire "Il n'y a pas d'autre alternative", je suis consterné.

8ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

FERBUSG 23 12 9

Oui, il est difficile d'échapper au langage familier si présent sur les ondes. Parfois, je vais sur le site de l'académie lorsque je doute sur un mot ou une expression. <http://www.academie-francaise.fr/dire-ne-pas-dire>

5ReplyGive Lingot2•1 year ago

LaKapsule44 21 19 7 549

On a aussi le même problème avec le " juste " qui semble avoir déjà gagné le terrain français. Même ici, on traduit " just " par " juste " alors qu'il semblerait que ce ne soit pas le stricte équivalent.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Lealibellule 13 4

Comme vous (GCHOTEAU) l'avez indiqué ci-dessous, l'amalgame provient du mot anglais "alternative". D'après Larousse (c) les 3 définitions principales de "alternative n.f." sont : 1-le choix entre 2 possibilités (dilemme) ou 2-la transposition en FR du terme GB ("the alternative") = une autre solution (parmi plusieurs) ou 3-une succession de phénomènes opposés. Dans cet exo de DL, c'est la définition 2- qui s'applique, à savoir "il n'y a pas d'autre choix"

1ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

robertcolin 20 18

Pour compléter la réponse de GCHOTEAU. Si cette proposition ("il n'y a pas d'autre choix ") est refusé il faut le signaler par le bouton prévu à cet effet. Mais comme GCHOTEAU l'a aussi précisé plus haut "il n'y a pas le choix" n'est pas bon.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mouise 22 9 8 44

il n'y a pas une alternative ne va pas ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Vanessa19714 12

Impossible à plusieurs de cliquer sur les champs corrects

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

patrickluder 16 11

=> en français et en anglais on mentionne simplement : TINA ;o)

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

Nedjoy 11

J'ai la bonne réponse mais il me dit faux et il "corrige" en mettant exactement ma réponse

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

MonstercatMan_74 14 15

Il est vraiment sourd cet ordi. J'arrive pas à faire entrer "alternative".

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

ALBERT577118 15 66

Une alternative, c'est "un duo de solution". En musique, dans un duo, vous avez deux musiciens ou chanteurs... mais un seul duo. Dire "j'ai deux duos, ça serait dire qu'il y a 4 personnes (soit un "quatuor", soit 2 fois 2 personnes qui chantent ou jouent à tour de rôle, deux par deux. Dans un duo, chacun des deux membres est un "duettiste". Il ne l'est que parce qu'il appartient au duo, sinon il serait "soliste".

On admet facilement, sans discuter, que certains mots veulent dire "deux choses". Pourquoi le refuser au mot "alternative" ? Une PAIRE de chaussures, tout le monde admet que ce sont DEUX chaussures. Si je dis que j'ai deux paires, tout le monde sait que j'ai 4 chaussures. Idem pour UN couple, où il y a 2 personnes (enfin, en théorie ^^). Idem pour UN tandem : c'est Un vélo à 2 places. ..

Oui, nombre de francophones disent "j'ai deux alternatives". C'est une mauvaise compréhension du mot : ils ont DEUX SOLUTIONS et cela. donne UNE ALTERNATIVE.

Mais pour en revenir à DUO, le seul duo où il y a bien plus de 2 personnes, c'est le Duo... lingo ! ;)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

patate71 15 10 10

"Il n'y a pas d'alternatives" ne convient pas? :/

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Thomas_Bertin 25 23 23 16 7 2

Dans la mesure où une alternative implique nécessairement la possibilité de minimum deux options possibles (donc au moins deux alternatives donc plusieurs donc pluriel), il me semblerait logique (et français) d'écrire le mot "alternative" au pluriel. La règle d'accord se rapproche là de "un ciel sans nuages". Mais peut-être que je ne comprends pas vraiment le sens de cette phrase...

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GCHOTEAU 25 25

Une alternative est un choix entre deux solutions, deux situations, antagonistes l'une de l'autre. Il n'y a aucune raison de mettre le mot au pluriel dans ce cas. Lorsqu'on dit : il n'y a pas d'alternative, cela veut expressément dire qu'il n'y a aucune autre solution.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Percight 9 14

Certes, mais peut-être que nous parlons de plusieurs problèmes, dont aucun ne possède d'alternative ; ainsi se pourrait-il qu'il n'y ait « pas d'alternatives » (pour ces problèmes).

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

Thomas_Bertin 25 23 23 16 7 2

Une voiture rouge ou une voiture bleue...2 alternatives. Une différence certes mais pas d'antagonisme pour autant. Un ciel sans nuages ou sans étoiles. Un ciel avec 0 nuage ou 0 étoile alors même que s'il y en avait, il y en aurait plusieurs (<http://www.francaisfacile.com/exercices/exercice-francais-2/exercice-francais-100161.php>). D'où le pluriel qui à mon sens me semble se justifier dans ce cas. D'autant que vos arguments ne me paraissent pas justifier votre position.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

robertcolin 20 18

Si je prends la définition du Larousse <http://www.larousse.fr/dictionnaires/francais/alternative/2568> GCHOTEAU à raison lorsque alternatives est au pluriel c'est pour signifier une successions de deux états différents. Donc à un problème il n'y a au maximum qu'une alternative. Mais il pourrais y avoir d'autres solutions, dans ce cas on n'est plus Dans une dualité. Et dans le cas de vos voitures l'alternative à la voiture rouge est la voiture bleu.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Thomas_Bertin 25 23 23 16 7 2

Non, je suis désolé mais si l'on s'en tient à la seule définition qui vous semble valable, l'alternative n'est pas "la voiture bleue". L'alternative, c'est l'obligation de choisir entre deux possibilités, cad la voiture rouge ou bleue. Une autre alternative serait la voiture grande ou petite. Dans VOTRE définition, l'alternative est le système dual. Pas une option. Car si une alternative est une option, c'est la définition que je vous invite à considérer. Et c'est pour ça que le pluriel me semble pouvoir se justifier. (Le singulier aussi si on considère la 1ère définition.)

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

GCHOTEAU 25 25

Une voiture rouge ou une voiture bleue. DEUX possibilités, mais UNE alternative. Antagonisme est à prendre au sens large. Bien entendu, le bleu n'est pas le contraire du rouge, mais il n'en reste pas moins que ces deux couleurs n'ont aucun point commun (sauf de figurer sur le drapeau français...) Une alternative est un dilemme. Quoique vous pensiez, le mot ne doit pas être mis au pluriel dans cette phrase. On dit "Il y a une alternative" et cela signifie "Il y a deux solutions". Vous pouvez prendre le chemin de droite, l'alternative est le chemin de gauche.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

FERBUSG 23 12 9

Je partage votre point de vue. La confusion entre " une alternative" et " une possibilité" est totale. Les définitions du Larousse pourraient nous rassembler.

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

GCHOTEAU 25 25

Mes exemples n'étaient peut-être pas très pertinents, je vous l'accorde. Cela dit, je ne tiens pas à suivre le nouvel usage du français courant qui n'est pas correct.

1Give Lingot•1 year ago

Thomas_Bertin 25 23 23 16 7 2

Le mot alternative, à l'origine se limitait à un ensemble de deux options, mais ce mot a évolué et renvoie maintenant non seulement à l'ensemble de deux possibilités mais aussi à chacune des deux ou plus options possibles dans un ensemble de possibilités. Vous vous contredisez. Si "l'alternative est le chemin de gauche" alors l'"alternative" est l'autre possibilité (et non pas le système de deux possibilités). Il y a donc 2 alternatives : droite et gauche. Certains, auxquels je ne m'associe pas, voient un antagonisme entre "homme et femme", "français et étranger", j'y vois juste une différence. Pas une opposition.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

GCHOTEAU 25 25

<http://parler-francais.eklablog.com/alternative-a3738371> Voici quelques commentaires intéressants. Je crois que nos problèmes viennent du sens que les anglophones donnent au mot anglais "alternative". C'est un peu un faux ami.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

robertcolin 20 18

Bonjour et meilleur voeux, pour ce qui me concerne je préfère nettement ton raisonnement qui a le mérite d'être en accord avec la définition. Et j'avais déjà renvoyé à ton explication sur d'autres commentaires sur cet exercice.

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

Thomas_Bertin 25 23 23 16 7 2

Indépendamment du sens que les anglophones donnent à "alternative", vos exemples (contradictaires avec votre position en fait ;- ) et l'usage français courant renvoient aujourd'hui un sens à "alternative" correspondant à l'une des options (parmi différentes possibles) et non plus seulement au système de deux options possibles. Mes salutations.

-1Give Lingot•1 year ago

ChristianG32464 22

On dit plus couramment il n'y a pas "d'autre" alternatives .

-2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

robertcolin 20 18

Regarder l'explication de GCAUTEAU sur alternative vous comprendrez pourquoi on ne peut pas mettre "d'autres alternatives"

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Duolingo Discussion Forum Messages 974 - 1004

[accessed April 25, 2017]

974-1004 [1-30] from search for term: "community"

1 "La mayoría tiene la misma pregunta."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1006628>

Translation: The majority has the same question.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

35 Comments

mechudocr 10

most have the same question...

20ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

daniela426 10

PORQUE ES "HAS" Y NO "HAVE" SI LA MAYORIA ES PLURAL

8ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

ceaer 25 25 23 16 2 34

"La mayoría" es un sustantivo colectivo. Se trata sustantivos colectivos como singular en inglés norteamericano y como plural en inglés británico. Duo normalmente prefiere inglés norteamericano, pero si reportas los usos británicos, los añade como correctos.

(Nota que se trata como singular en español también; se dice "tiene" y no "tienen".)

32ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

caiser 19 10 9 7

Creo que la diferencia no está en el inglés de un lado o del otro del charco, sino si hablas del grupo o te refieres a los individuos del grupo.

<http://public.wsu.edu/~brians/errors/majority.html>

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

ceaer 25 25 23 16 2 34

Bueno, sé que sustantivos colectivos como "familia" son plurales en inglés británico (The family are nice) y singular en inglés estadounidense (The family is nice). En tu enlace dice "if the word is used to describe a collective group, then consider it singular" pero esa regla no aplica en Inglaterra.

Collective groups are plural there.

10ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

tyfok 11

Saludos ceaer. Me podrías explicar por qué la oración "most have the same question" es incorrecta.
Gracias de antemano

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ceaer 25 25 23 16 2 34

No es incorrecto. Tal vez no está en la base de datos de Duolingo, pero es correcto.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

tyfok 11

Muchas gracias

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

chemita157 7

me faltaba esa respuesta para exonerarme de 7 temas. no es justo

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HimitsuCC 25 2

Si tienes duda sobre si colocar "has" o "have" considera si se puede usar esa palabra colectiva en singular y plural

La mayoría (has), las mayorías (have)

La comunidad (has), las comunidades (have)

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

larroyo 20 2

Excelente. gracias.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

yiselis1991 11

Yo puse have y me lo acepto como correcto

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AngelAntonioHdz 14 2

yo puse have y fue valida

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

RocioRestr1 22 20

yo use have y no me la valió. tendré que averiguar. Gracias a todos.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RFuentes1132 14

A ver, alguien puede explicarme porqué es incorrecto "Most have the same question". Gracias

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

LoisdeSilan 16 14

"Most" no parece ser incorrecto; pero, no es una de las palabras objeto de este paso ó unidad (observa el vocabulario presente en el cuadro al inicio de esta unidad). En cambio sí lo es "majority". I think!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

gabs.ara.7 15 2

Exacto!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

cristiantol 12

No se especifica a que tipo de mayoria se refiere, si de ellos, de el, ella, o ustedes. Yo puse "The majority them have the same question" y me la dio por mala

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ceaer 25 25 23 16 2 34

Para ser gramatical, tendría que ser "the majority of them", no simplemente "majority them".

Es el mismo con las otras personas: "the majority of you", "of us", etc.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ronaldtech 18 8 4

la acepta con has. también con have :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

danylucio 12

Estas diciendo mayoria no mayorias y mayoria se toma como cosa

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

chemita157 7

most have the same question es correcta!!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ElisMaud 8 4

The most have the same question yo puse eso, y quisiera saber si es incorrecta...{

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JONATHANDU486236 11

the majority have the same ask- Me salio incorrecto =S

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ceaer 25 25 23 16 2 34

"ask" es verbo - preguntar

Aquí necesitas un sustantivo - la pregunta - the question

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JONATHANDU486236 11

thank you very much

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

estela1954marta 13 30

no encuentro el error

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

july798307 3

community

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

july798307 3

most have the same question..

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

libre3999 7 4

Most people have the same question

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

vega.marle 13 12 10 7 2 2 2

Lo puse igual y me lo pusieron mal :/

-1ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

dcmoreno 8

porque no es posible most of them have the same question ??

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

valerigalvis 12 4

Quien me puede explicar por que es has y no rs have O.o po favor y gracias

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dani_Fdez 11 6

¿Valdría usar "most people"?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Santaelladavid 9 8

the most has the same question

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

2 "What is a community? "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3455629>

Translation: المجتمع؟ هو ما

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

19 Comments

ghazy10 11

ماهيته عن السؤال حاجة ولا معروف المجتمع لأصبح the community وضع لو

معروف غير المجتمع لأن التتكير أداة وضع لذلك

11ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AmanyTourky 11 5

ماذا او مجتمع ما او .مجتمع هو ما تكون ان بالعربية للترجمة يمكن فلا كالانجليزية ليست العربية اللغة
اللغتين بين تربطوا ان يجب لا لذلك صحيحاً ليس بالطبع هذا .مجتمع يكون

الاخر من عربي مش انجليزي تتعلموا جايين انتوا

5ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

amrkhudair 7

أيضا صحيحة المجتمع؟ ما

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SalmaFawal 11 6 1

خاطئة؟ تعتبر (المجتمع؟ هو ماذا) لماذا

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Fatima970657 9

هو ماذا وليس المجتمع هو ما فنقول "ما" ب بل "ماذا" ب الشيء عن نتساءل لا لأننا خاطئة تعتبر نعم
صحيحة العبارة فتصبح "المجتمع يعني ماذا" نقول ان يمكن لكننا .المجتمع

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 weeks ago

amjdf7 15

على شكر و الفائدة تعم حتى المفيدة الاجوبة على بايجابية التصويت منكم ارجو الاعزاء اصداقائي التعاون.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

98IB2 11 4

كومينري ولا كومينتي community تنطق كيف

2ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

HeshamKhal3 14

كوميونتي

1ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

H.S.N.A.A 11 6

عيب فيها ليس صحيحه الترجمة

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ahmhsin 11

السكان الى فيشير المجتمع اما افراد عدة تجمع عن عبارة وهو الجماعة على تطلق عادة community

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

adaz00 13

المجتمع تكتب كان اذا بدونه يكون المفترض للنكرة a حرف أليس community قبل a يوضع لماذا

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

KhaledHazaimh 12

؟؟؟؟ نكرة وهي تعريف ال وضعنا لماذا

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

USFio 11 4 3 2

"ماذا مجتمع" ؟

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

cybrom8 11 6 4
cummunity of what

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

QDc6 11
معرفة الترجمة و نكرة اداة لماذا لكن

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

hadeer96 13
Community

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

tfaL4 8
المجتمع م
0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

lalb1 12
What is a community

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

3 "The population is important. "
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3642448>
Translation: Nüfus önemlidir.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment
10 Comments

merve929292 8
MTU

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Mat_Cauton 11
Toplum olarak çevirilmesi daha yerinde olur.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

relax1907 8

Aynı soruyu 4-5 kere yaptım nerdeyse

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

muayseka 9 4

Nüfus önemlidir dedim olmadı aynı şey değil mi :/

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

536tezcan 9

Mühim=urgent

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Ayselkara0 11

Ya population toplum demek değil mi?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

HsynSmr 7

Community=toplum

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rem270941 9

Nüfus yerine, nüfus yazdım diye kabul etmedi. ._.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

TugceeOzkann 8

Toplum daha mantıklı bence

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sawashian 23 10 8 7 7 6 5 4 3 3 2 2

Evet. En az 'üç çocuk' tavsiyesini sakın unutmayalım benim sevgili my friendlerim ;))

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

4 Hello I'm from Brazil, can I help you ? lol

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/8591494>

LeonardoDEF 8 8 3

I speak portuguese fluently, and I'm willing to help anybody who want learn my language. I can speak in Skype too, but if possible would be good if anybody help me with the english language , i repeat, if possible. Thanks for attention

Give Lingot

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

4 Comments

Jorg.Ancrath 13 7 7 6

Verbling.com/community

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LeonardoDEF 8 8 3

my intention is make foreign friends and not pay for talking, i already study english

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Jorg.Ancrath 13 7 7 6

Vai a secção "community" e não pagas nada. É grátis, só pagas quando falas com um professor.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LeonardoDEF 8 8 3

haaa bom saber, vlw

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

5 "The community"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5943549>

Translation: संप्रदाय

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

4 Comments

RJBISHNOI22 16

जाति। भी शामिल करे

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jeevikaa_nan 21 17 4 2 2

जाति = caste.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jpranya 10

क्या 'समाज' भी सही अनुवाद है?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jeevikaa_nan 21 17 4 2 2

समाज = society.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

6 "Ik kook voor de gemeenschap."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/8326685>

Translation: I cook for the community.

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

12 Comments

Mario_Drouga 9 6

what is this? gemeenschap: society/community but i cook for the society is unacceptable?

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

zekecoma 17 13 3

society != community.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Alphathon 20 12

I may be way off here but I think it means "society" in the uncountable sense, i.e. a collective word for "the people" or "the social order". "The society" would imply a particular group like the Freemasons, which I believe would be genootschap.

1ReplyGive Lingot1•12 months ago

sineweaver 13 9 5 5 1

Why does wiktionary list one of its definitions as "sexual intercourse"? And what is the word's etymology?

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Alphathon 20 12

Well, the gemeen part I believe means something like "(in) common" (certainly that's what the German cognate gemein means and a little reading suggests that the same is true of the Dutch). Schap is a suffix which is equivalent to -ship in English (and the German schaft). Therefore a calque of gemeenschap would be something like "commonship" or "togetherness", which kind of works for sex.

8ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

Fero63 16

precisely! it refers to the longer word "geslachtsgemeenschap" which literally translates to "sexual togetherness", i.e. sexual intercourse

5ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

GianSinatra 11 10 10 7 2 2

The world schap = sheep is inside the word for community.. (gemeenschap).

Thats really dark

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

Alphathon 20 12

Sheep = schaap. -schap is equivalent to the English suffix -ship (which incidentally has nothing to do with sailing)

11ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

GianSinatra 11 10 10 7 2 2

Ahhhh Thanks

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

ilmolleggi 19 17 16 15 14 14 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 5 3 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 44

Couldn't this also mean I cook before (in front of) the community?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Gelaarsd_Schaap 12 11

Technically: yes.

In practice: no.

4ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ilmolleggi 19 17 16 15 14 14 10 10 10 9 8 8 7 7 5 3 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 44

I see! Thanks!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

7 "We are the committee."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/4271553>

Translation: Komite biziz.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

9 Comments

denizaydn196592 4 4

kardeşim kurul olmaz mı???

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 weeks ago

falancaninoglu 18 17

Topluluk olmaz mi ya tuh

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

SerkanDagd 11 5

türkçede kominite biziz demeyiz bu meydan okuma anlamındadır. "biz bir kominiteyiz" denir

-2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

[deactivated user]

"Biz bir komiteyiz." = "We are a committee."

"Biz komiteyiz." = "We are the committee."

3ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

soner5526 11

Kominite: community

-2ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

HilalNur404 10

"The committee are our." Doğru bir kullanım olur mu acaba ?

-2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

[deactivated user]

Hayır maalesef.

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

8 "I cook for the community. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5485249>

Translation: Ben topluluk için yemek yaparım.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

13 Comments

ARES61 11

Sözlükte halk olarakta geçiyor niye yanlış

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

aslanrec12 12 6

Mantıksal açıdan bir halk için pisiremezsin

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

aslanrec12 12 6

Senin cevabın 'i cook to the community' için olur for ile to farkı şeyler

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

onur.aciksoz 8

Komute için diyorum kabul etmiyor

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Oguz1140 13 4

Çok saçma bir cümle

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

birhemsire 14 4 2

community e nin okunuşu doğru mu?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

onurubio 7

halk için pişiririm neden yanlış?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

elifbike 10

ama food yok

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

SerkanCeyh2 14

Cemaate diyo. Bunlar paralell

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

YunusEmreD734869 7

şirket değil midydi comunigi

0ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

FeyyazERDO1 9

"Topluluğa pisiriyorum" neden olmuyor

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

tgoktas38 13 2

Topluluğa yemek pişiririm dersem topluluk için anlamı olmaz mı?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ogrenci1999 10

Olmaz

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

9 "这个区"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10873692>

Translation: The district

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

2 Comments

1135492385 12

The community

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

aileen.chang 9

The block可以嗎？

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

10 "Nós precisamos conhecer os membros da comunidade."

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/689180>

Translation: We need to know the members of the community.

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

9 Comments

brunomitio 9

"We need to know the members of community". Alguém saberia me explicar por que, necessariamente eu preciso colocar o "the" antes de "community" nesta frase?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Phelippe06 12

"Of the community" = da comunidade "Of community" = de comunidade

Compreendeu a diferença?

3ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

MrZiero 14 4 1

the= pra especificar sem o THE seria qualquer comunidade

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

r_i_l_e_y 23

talvez istos podem ajudar:

<http://maniadeingles.com.br/artigo-definido-the-saiba-onde-e-como-usar/>

<http://www.brasilecola.com/ingles/articles.htm>

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

Ildebrando_Neto 20 9 2

Por que só aceita "the community members" e não aceita tb "the community's members?"

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

xacparks 18 14 5

Ambos estão corretos.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

anabeatriz235 10 2

Porque "we need to get to know the members of the community" nao estaria certo?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LeticiaLeoc 11 8 6 3

Qual a diferença entre have,got,have got,must e should?

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

romolobrognolo 6

community peoples

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

11 What is your favorite thing about learning a language on Duolingo?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/18791752>

IVlatjam 25 8 6 22

What is your favorite thing about learning a language on Duolingo? Do you enjoy chatting with other users? Do you like finishing skills and moving on to the next ones? Do you love trying to get as much XP as you can in one day?

Please comment below!

Give Lingot

-55 months ago

Leave a new comment

14 Comments

TseDanylo 11 11 11 10 10 10 9 9 8 7 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 5 5 4 2

I love that I can talk for hours on end about languages with people who won't fall asleep after five minutes of me explaining why the grammatical case endings of Polish are so cool and fascinating!

10ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

._Linden_. 18 8 6 6 3 1

I love being able to learn so many languages for free, and having interesting discussions with other users:~)

9ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Didi4800 10 11 6

I agree!!!! : D

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Zzzzz... 25 25 25 24 23 19 16 15 13 2 9 4 8

My favourite thing is logging in in the morning and seeing what other users have been doing while I was asleep. :)

7ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

iwc2ufan 25 25 23 21 19 17 17 17 15 14 13 10 10 9 9 9 8 7 7 5 9 4 6

Free language learning without having to leave the house, combined with a community of people that are, for the most part, actually interested in my primary interest, language learning and linguistics.

I do love a new language release as well. It's extremely fun getting to try out so many new languages. I have learned far more of a far greater number of languages than I would have anticipated. Before Duolingo, I would have bet I would never know as much of a word of Hungarian, Guarani or even Norwegian. It makes trying something new in a meaningful way much easier.

6ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

heschmat 25 23 13

Duolingo community, :-)

4ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

wildfood 25 18 17 37

The reverse tree is my favorite part of Duolingo. The reverse tree taught me how to write sentences in a language other than English.

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

._Linden_. 18 8 6 6 3 1

I love that too!

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Doo9876yay 3

I just love learning a new language!

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

ASkilletFan 12 3

Lurking! ;P Well, I like chatting and also just like learning a new language!

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Seanchai35 22 8 6 241

My favourite thing is being able to get feedback/explanations/greater understanding of the language from people who are native speakers or further along in their language learning journey than I am. It's like having a giant study group you can check in with any time you need to.

2ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

iToochPlayer 12 6 6

Everything.

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Deodwyn 25 25 25 25 25 25 14 13 13 12 12 10 9 9 6 981

Immersion evangelism. I love showing others how to get access to Immersion if they don't already have it or helping people to start using Immersion in off-the-menu languages, like German for Portuguese Speakers.

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Espiraden 8 7 5 4 2 209

I love finishing skills and moving on to the next, and I feel so happy when i see a post in my target language and i can read it! Also chatting with all the friendly people is nice.

1ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

12 "这个小区"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/6776914>

Translation: The neighborhood

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

9 Comments

Aglae-H 10 3

小區這個詞在台灣從沒看人使用過...容易讓人理解為"小的社區"或是"小的街區"(因而加上small等形容)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pipi888 19 29

我也是不太理解[小區]的定義！！[社區]在臺灣可以是指一棟大樓所有住戶，設有管委會；也可以是平面的好多戶組成一個鄰、里，有鄰、里長。

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

maybeice 8

在main land china, 一个“小区”通常指的由一个物业公司管理维护的若干住宅楼组成的一个大院落，可大可小，由围墙封闭起来，有几个出入口。另外”社区“的概念在这边也是模糊的。

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SF2.8 17

neighborhood 意思太多，晕了，有什么啊

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Trang. 25 24 20 13 11 10 8 8 2 1268

Can 小区 mean the district?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rhythmialex 22 17 14 11 9 8 6 5 907

No. 小区 means (in Mandarin Chinese) a certain area in a city, within which a collective of apartment buildings and sometimes public services may be found.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

pXfa 15 6

小區是中華人民共和國의通用詞，若在台灣應該是"社區"，但是答案為何是This neighborhood，而不是This community？

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rhythmialex 22 17 14 11 9 8 6 5 907

不好意思，我沒有太理解您的意思。Neighborhood這個字在兩地的中文中的用字不同，「小區」和「社區」都是接受的答案。但是中翻英的時候，待翻譯的詞還是使用的「小區」（地緣概念），這樣去除了「社區」（可以是社會學概念）這個詞的模糊性，所以，「community」作為一個社會學概念就不是很好的對應咯。

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sophieyao88 6

this community

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

13 "Что такое сообщество?"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5383065>

Translation: What is a community?

12 years ago

Leave a new comment

8 Comments

Reklaman 12

Разве здесь обязательно нужен артикль? Это же общий вопрос к значению термина...

12ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

VcHy 17 2

Почему the community не подходит

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rus_Ivan 25 19 1102

Нет указания на какое-либо определённое сообщество.

Поэтому и неопределённый артикль.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dianaee911 12

What a community is?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NikolayKhy 16

What is it a community. Почему "It" не предполагается в правильном ответе? Возможно это азы которые где-то упустил... объясните please...

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

0-ojo-0 23 7

Используется либо само существительное, либо местоимение it, которое его заменяет. А зачем и то и другое сразу?

What is a community? - Что такое сообщество?

What is it. - Что это такое?

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

NikolayKhy 16

просветлили немного, спс

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

14 "Как называется это международное общество?"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/2871225>

Translation: What is the name of the international community?

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

15 Comments

devcor 11 3

How is this international community called - прекрасный правильный вариант, между прочим.

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

.Hack 18

В английском правильно говорить what is the name/title

You can say, "I don't remember how to say it," but "how" doesn't work with "call."

В английском слово how относится к глаголам, то есть как что-то сделать - how to do something

Еще "how" употребляется вместе со словами "many/much". Например:

How much time do you have?

How many people live on the planet?

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Agollai 15

Почему society не подходит????

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sincero123 8

общество, а не сообщество

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

antony491 7

ну так в вопросе как раз общество

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

NatalyaLvo 25

разве community - это не сообщество? Ведь требовалось перевести слово "общество", почему не принимается вариант "society"?

3ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

maxim-english 23 14 10 7 5 2 640

В русском слово общество может означать общество, как народ, общественность. А может общество, как организацию, кружок по интересам. Здесь явно имеется в виду второе и society для этого не подходит.

2ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

OlegKozub 17 2

Не могу разобраться, в каких случаях употребляется of (

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Maxim_Denisyuk 15

Of служит для образования нужного падежа и как бы притягивает слова друг к другу, объясняет принадлежность чего-то чему то. В данном случае the name of - имя/название чьё? the international community. A desk of dad - стол [чей?] папин

9ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Sergej82 18

А почему не подходит "What is the title of the international community"?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SaidKaba 25 19 208

Title - это заголовок статьи, книги и т. п.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AlenaShelmakova 11

Нельзя сказать world community?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

maxim-english 23 14 10 7 5 2 640

Потому что нужно "международное", а не "мировое".

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

4D2D1 14 3 2

Почему перед name стоит the?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

maxim-english 23 14 10 7 5 2 640

Существительные как правило требуют артикля.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

15 Duo friends

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10379046>

blackcatsarecute

hello. I only started yesterday and obviously I don't yet have any friends on my profile. please can someone be my friend? :-) thank you. have a nice day. xx

Give Lingot45

51 year ago

Leave a new comment

10 Comments

Anno-Domini 25 16 14 11 11 10 8 7 6 6 5 5 631

Hi. Nice black cat. :-)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

blackcatsarecute

thank you. I like it too.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

blackcatsarecute
it's cute

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PanchoAlejandro 25 22 8 7 4 4 3
Welcome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

blackcatsarecute
thank you

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PennyWhistler 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 16 16 15 15 14 11 11 11 7 7 7 6 5 5 5 4
Hello blackcatsarecute! Welcome and the best of luck in your learning adventures... also some lingots for you. You can use them to buy bonus skills or a streak freeze. :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PennyWhistler 25 25 25 25 25 25 25 23 16 16 15 15 14 11 11 11 7 7 7 6 5 5 5 4
also, I am following you :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Vologirl-chan 13 9 8 7 6
Welcome to the language heaven !! :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pngontran 7 2
Hey, we can be friend and chat (although we didn't learn the same language). P/s: I have 2 black cats :D

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

angel-mar77 13
Welcome to Duolingo community!

16 Spanish fun
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12147333>

kggaa 6 2
I honestly think Spanish is a cool thing to learn ! I hated it at first but I my teacher introduced me to duolingo and now i love S P A N I S H !

Give Lingot2

61 year ago

Leave a new comment

2 Comments

nikkicarter11 16 9

Welcome to the community!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JennyFan2022 11

That's awesome!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

17 im new to duolingo

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10592784>

amyleethirty3 3 2 2

Give Lingot1

41 year ago

Leave a new comment

18 Comments

Carreng13 15 7 6 2

Okay... What do you want to know?

3ReplyGive Lingot30•1 year ago

KoolKat09 13 9 8 7 6 5 3 2 2 2 2

welcome (◡‿◡)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Monsieur_Bovary 17 16 16 15 12 12 12 16

Welcome! I like your avatar ;-)

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amyleethirty3 3 2 2

thanks

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Welcome to Duolingo!!! It's a great place to learn languages.

If you stick with it you will learn a lot.

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amyleethirty3 3 2 2
thanks

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Taliyaaa17 12 4 2 2
welcome

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

rorabear01 10
Haha...I am guessing you were just trying everything out :P Well, welcome to Duolingo, newbie!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amyleethirty3 3 2 2
yup

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LittleFrenchFri 8
Hai yall!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

amyleethirty3 3 2 2
hi

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

CuteHope13 8
hi :)

2ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

amyleethirty3 3 2 2
hi

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CuteHope13 8
heres a lingot:)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

LittleFrenchFri 8
thx`!!!!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CuteHope13 8
:)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

angel-mar77 13
Welcome to Duolingo community!

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ethan644392 4
hello im new to duolingo and i wanted to know the purpose of these forums????

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

18 Who gets to practice speaking the language they are leaning?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11817789>

Kalleca 21 10 6 4 3 572

I have and it's hard to speak French. But then I made Italian friends and now I am also learning Italian.

Give Lingot
01 year ago

Leave a new comment
7 Comments

gabzerbinatoEng 11 9 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2

I have spoken Swedish before and my biggest problem is not the actual conversation, but finding people to talk

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PfifltriggPi 20 16 16 15 8 67

Indeed. My French is going so slowly because I have few people with which I can talk.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kalleca 21 10 6 4 3 572

<https://www.verbling.com/community> I am practicing french right now.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

olimar3000 16 6 4 2 2
ummm...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

BrianPalaszewski 25 18 12 7 1136

I currently take German in college, so I get a chance to practice that, but I don't know anybody that speaks any Italian.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Elizabeth261736 16 15 14 7 2

I have the opportunity to speak French and Spanish, but Dutch only every once in a while.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kalleca 21 10 6 4 3 572
<https://www.verbling.com/community>

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

19     Anybody using Verbling?
<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/11824914>

Kalleca 21 10 6 4 3 572
How do you like it?

Give Lingot1
21 year ago

Leave a new comment
3 Comments

mforyou 9
I like it, people are very nice and helpful.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

indigobloom 23 6 2
Do you mean Verbling?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kalleca 21 10 6 4 3 572
<https://www.verbling.com/community>

0ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

20 New on here

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/10830953>

MysticAngel92 9

Hey I'm new to this site and wanting to learn German, as got family over there was wondering if anyone wants to help me learn.

Give Lingot12

51 year ago

Leave a new comment

8 Comments

psionpete 25 21 17 15 14 6 5 4 3 1194

Just use Duo and do the lessons. You will find someone, maybe, but you will have to learn the basics yourself from the lessons.

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Spanish_console 5

im new too

6ReplyGive Lingot10•1 year ago

MysticAngel92 9

thanks and im slowly getting through the lessons, finding it really fun

5ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AliOman 8

I am new too, learning German aswell and practicing English while translating. Duolingo got me already :) Good luck

1ReplyGive Lingot1•1 year ago

angel-mar77 13

Welcome to Duolingo community!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Strekoza88 14 12 8 6 5 4

Welcome! I have family there as well. :D Viel Spaß mit Deutsch zu lernen! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Welcome! Not sure if I can help you or not since I'm learning German as well, but I'm learning German for a similar reason, I have family in Germany, and I'm also hoping to study in Germany when the time comes.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Pragatiiii 9

i am also new to duolingo...

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

21 "What is a union? "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/1378891>

Translation: Was ist eine Union?

03 years ago

Leave a new comment

16 Comments

AdolfGonzo 11 6 2

Was ist eine Vereinigung?

17ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

thopei 13

"Was ist eine Vereinigung?" sollte nicht als falsch gewertet werden!

9ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

fiezy1331 14 7 2

Sehe ich genauso!!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Margitta1 13

Wenn Vereinigung falsch ist und nur Gewerkschaft richtig, dann bedeutet wohl "Europäische Union" Europäische Gewerkschaft???

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

MaPeLern 13

Bündnis

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Ivo634058 11

Einheit ist falsch?

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Loewie 13 12

A Union ist hier bei mir richtig, müsste es nicht an Union sein? Oder ist u kein vokal im englischem?

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 years ago

judithsimone 11 9

Das Entscheidende ist nicht, ob ein Wort mit einem Vokal beginnt, sondern ob der Anfangslaut als Vokal zu hören ist (deshalb gibt es auch Wörter, die zwar geschrieben mit einem H beginnen, aber als ersten Laut einen Vokal haben und dadurch ein "an" als unbestimmten Artikel verlangen).

Mehr Beispiele für solche Wörter gibt es z.B. hier: <http://goo.gl/02FxB> (unter "The importance of sound"); <http://goo.gl/G7qZdi>; <http://goo.gl/Jl0iJ>

7ReplyGive Lingot1•3 years ago

Regney 20 16 16 13 6 4 4 1152

Ja, du bist richtig, z.B. I have an hour, oder, It is an honour to meet you. Jedoch, nicht alle "h" Wörter sind mit an vorangestellt. (Manche werden argumentieren.) Ein Beispiel ist "a historic event." Manche Menschen sagen, "an historic event." Das ist falsch. (Mein Deutsch ist schlecht; Entschuldigung.)

<http://tinyurl.com/n437mey>

5ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

lungobear 9

Gemeinschaft

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

sammelblase 10

Das wäre die Community

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mascolobirr 20

warum nicht an union?

0ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Februar2014 24 20

Good question! I think it is to do with the pronunciation of "u" in "union". Here the initial "u" is pronounced like the word "you". Most words that I can think of that start with a "u" pronounce the "u" as in "uncle". So "an uncle/an umbrella". It just sounds strange to say "an union". But I am just guessing.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Domleschg 25 22 22 18 13 9 2 320

Der Laut, nicht der Buchstabe, betrifft entweder man "an" oder "a" benutzt. "Union" beginnt mit einem Laut wie einen Konsonant. Man sagt "a union," aber "an onion"; "a history" aber "an honor."
[US Englisch Muttersprachler]

1ReplyGive Lingot•8 months ago

ria.Do 25

Wer kann mir bitte eine Erklärung liefern? Ich dachte immer, wenn ein Nomen mit einem Vokal beginnt, ist der unbestimmte Artikel "an" . Warum ist das im obigen Beispiel nicht der Fall (a union)?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

ria.Do 25

Entschuldigung - habe gerade jetzt gesehen, dass es da schon einige Erklärungen diesbezüglich gibt. Meine Frage hat sich also erübrigt.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

22 Sort of New

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/12418026>

Posted 1 year ago by [deactivated user]

I recently joined Duolingo since a friend recommended it to me, and so far I love it! Can anyone give any tips in terms of maintaining your knowledge of the language you are learning?

Give Lingot

31 year ago

Leave a new comment

14 Comments

PfifltriggPi 20 16 16 15 8 67

I write down all of my vocab in a binder. In that binder I also have a section with grammar explanations. I also use a spaced repetition software called Anki. Also, you need to use the language. Even if it is only with yourself.

3ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

yeah that looks like a good idea. Thank you :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

QQJoy 7 7 5

I use my brain to maintain the knowledge (To be honest, my memory is pretty bad, so I fail at German :P). There are flashcards already there for you on Duolingo, and you can always write everything on a notebook. Good luck with your studies :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
thanks,you too :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

I like to say everything out loud. And when I go to other websites and find grammar notes, I try to summarize them to make sure I'm processing the instructions. And, whenever I make grammar notes to post on my walls, I make them very big so I can see them from across the room. :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
hmm..i guess i could try that..Thanks :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

TrinityShyan 8

exactly the same for me! I just started pretty much today. But for remembering it, I think just try each quiz over and over again once in a while so it still lingers in your mind. plus also try saying some of the things you have learned as well as writing them. it will give good practice!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
I'll try that.Thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PJMCD 25 16 4

Welcome to the community!

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]
thank you :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GrandaUrso 14 2

Don't be afraid to repeat lessons and have other methods of learning as well such as listening to broadcasts/music in your desired language or attempting to speak with others over skype or using a service (Free) such as memrise. Stick with it and do a little bit every day and you'll be able to form sentences in the language of your choice before you know it. =)! Also, WELCOME!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Thank you :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kristalwaters 11 10 9 9 9 8

It would also be a good idea to watch some TV shows in your desired language,as well as listen to Music(in that language of course).I heard someone say something about hellotalk,so you MAY want to try that out.Hope this helps amiga :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

[deactivated user]

Gracias,amiga :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

23 ALQUIEN QUE ME PUEDA RECOMENDAR UNA PAGINA PARA HABLAR INGLES CON NATIVOS

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5135681>

drpba 13

POR FAVOR SI ALQUIEN CONOCE UNA BUENA PAGINA DEJEME SABERLA

Give Lingot

-42 years ago

Leave a new comment

2 Comments

Lrtward 25 25 8 196

<http://www.verbling.com/community>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

maria.c.mo9 15 13 8 8 4 3 2 2

Sharedtalk.com

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

24 Alguém sabe algum chat ou para praticar inglês e espanhol?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3171629>

souobogo 9 4

Olá pessoal! Continuo minha busca incansável por treinar os idiomas inglês e espanhol. Sou estudante de Comércio Exterior e logo precisarei muito da fluência em ambos. Alguém site algum chat ou site com pessoas, nativos ou não, para treinar? Já converso com pessoas pelo whats e telegram também, e ajuda muito! Aguardo. Valeu! Bons estudos!

Gui

Give Lingot1
122 years ago

Leave a new comment
159 Comments

mvitooria 10
Oi Gui, dê uma olhadinha nestes aqui

<http://www.sharedtalk.com> <http://br.paltalk.com/> <http://www.omegle.com> (este não precisa se inscrever)

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

souobogo 9 4
Obrigado mesmo!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Rguissoni 14 5 3 2
este site é muito bom e é atualizado todo dia <http://www.bomespanhol.com.br/>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago
[+] 1 hidden comment

jennydance 12 2
olha ,este daqui você pode usar web cam eu achei ele bem legal,más as vezes você tem que ignorar certas pessoas <http://www.chatroulette.com/>

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Fernando_Wesley 11 9
nesse chatroulette tem hora que só aparece uns seres humanos sem salvação! kkkk

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

jennydance 12 2
e mesmo kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

souobogo 9 4
Obrigado!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ClovisHenrique 16
Cuidado que você pode encontrar umas rolas. hahaha

9ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

alejandro.711086 4
kkkkkkkkkkkkkk

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

HallissonS 8
Kkkkk

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

jennydance 12 2
dinada

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

melinapierro 14 10
Oi Gui, conheço SharedTalk. É meio vazio dependendo do horário, mas as vezes dá pra encontrar gente e tem conversa por audio: <http://www.sharedtalk.com>

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

souobogo 9 4
Obrigado!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DeyvsonDia 10 2
rapaz, fico triste porque tento encontrar um chat em que as pessoas conversem com vc e tenha paciencia pra te ajudar a praticar, mais e muito dificil.. as pessoas so levam as conversas na maldade, e n entende que a pessoa so quer praticar o ingles

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

LeciSilva 25 30
Eu também gostaria de verificar se um nativo me entenderia, mas ainda não tive coragem de entrar nesses sites porque muitos falam que rola umas baixarias. Eu gostaria de conversar com pessoas nativas mais idosas, mas isso me parece impossível de encontrar. Eu vi uma reportagem sobre idosos americanos que conversam com estudantes brasileiros de uma escola de idiomas, fico pensando: será que não teria como encontrar esses nativos sem estar vinculada à uma escola?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

lucero1974 7 2

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

2ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

1ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Beleza! Valeu!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

valcirR 11

Cara use o Skout, é um aplicativo e tem site tbm, é muito pra conhecer pessoas do mundo todo. Com ele vc faz amizade com estrangeiros, e melhora muito seu inglês.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

souobogo 9 4

Vou pesquisar, valeu pela dica!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

camila.bertanha 7

Gui, conseguiu achar algum chat legal ou grupo?

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

raquelmarmello 4 2

alguém pode me adicionar em um grupo de inglês também? meu número (21) 968588505. obrigado

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

luiza.220 7

eu tambem quero muito treinar espanhol

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lucero1974 7 2

Hola Luiza, puedes adicionarme. Te espero. Especial en el Viber. Por que lo más importante antes de la escrita está la pronunciación. Baja el Viber y adicioname. Att.

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

KellySamara

Eu tbm queroooooo!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

lucero1974 7 2

Puedes adicionarme. Lo que pido el favor. Telefono TIM: 55+44+9912-6063 (Whatsapp y VIBER). Skype: lucero1700 Es mejor en el Viber para que podamos hablarnos por audio. Ya que no tengo tiempo de estar teclando. Att.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JRTOURGUIDE 21 20 13 8 7

podemos praticar luiza.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DayvisonAraujo 12 3

Sou novato no Duolingo gostaria de entrar em algum grupo, me ajuda Gui!!! Whats... (81)94642640

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

souobogo 9 4

Já enviei ao adm do grupo! (:

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

DayvisonAraujo 12 3

VALEU!!!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

davideaguiar 10 7

Gui, meu nome é Davi, já pratico espanhol a algum tempo, se puder me add tambem (85) 9771-0481. Desde já agradeço

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

WaleskaFidelis 7 6

O grupo ainda existe? Se sim, poderia me add?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

davidjohnny85 4

gui, sou novo aki e preciso aprender o mais rapido possivel o ingles. me ajuda ai . David: zap ( 21) 991 991 466

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GabrielCam735 12 7 6 4 3

O grupo ainda existe? Se sim, me add lá por favor!! (35) 98893.4348 Eu já faço parte de um grupo, mas quero treinar o máximo possível! Eu amo inglês hahaha

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

GabrielPos15 11 5

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•9 months ago

IsaiasMota1 6

Me add no grupo 21982410448 - Isaias

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

luizaescobar 20 9 46

Gentileza, acrescente por favor. (61) 98105-0430.

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

ppoliciano 10 5 20

Gostaria de saber se o grupo ainda existe!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

leandrolofy 11 3 2

add eu la tambem, (48)996803394

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 month ago

marisonrodrigues

Você pode usar o sharedtalk, guri ^^

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BrunoPadilha2011 18

Galera, existe também um site chamado Interpals (<http://www.interpals.net>) é uma rede social voltada para o treinamento de idiomas, lá vocês encontrarão pessoas de todos os lugares e podem conversar por lá msm, eu particularmente uso mto e acabei conhecendo pessoas que me passaram Skype e Whats para conversarmos e assim consegui treinar bastante, eu ajudava no português e eles me ajudavam no Inglês.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

AirlaNunes 8

Olá Gui. Estou também como você, à procura de um chat onde podemos pôr em pratica o que aprendemos. Eu até tenho conversado com alguns nativos por Facebook, mas é em vão. Todos vêm com segundas intenções. Deixo aqui uma sugestão: Duolingo, seria uma ótima ideia não? Ah, quando encontrar, me avisa rsrs' .

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SCristian0 2

Opa, sei que já tem tempo. Sou novato no curso de espanhol e to querendo praticar. Se quiserem me ajudar e eu puder ajudar vocês... Vamos juntos sem segundas intenções

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

souobogo 9 4

Olá Airla. Entendo sua situação. Também fui "crucificado" quando deixei meu número do celular para o pessoal adicionar no whatsapp, como se eu tivesse alguma intenção com alguém, sendo que sou muito bem casado e pregador ainda! Mas, creio que não há relação com o Duolingo com ferramentas de treino. Duolingo é o melhor da web para aprendizagem de idiomas, e é somente esta busca por treino que precisamos. O site que a menina do comentário abaixo indicou parece ser muito bom, preciso testar, entre todos que apoiaram criar um grupo no whatsapp para praticar, também está sendo ótimo.

-1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

RosaCavalc2 8

olá sei que já faz tempo, mais ainda existe algum grupo de whatsapp para conversação em ingles? tenho muita dificuldade em falar e montar frases falando e preciso muito treinar. se puder add meu numero 21980484466

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GabrielCam735 12 7 6 4 3

Eu também tenho essa dificuldade haha Meu numero ta ali em cima... por favor me add se tiver grupo aí :p

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

MaikonRoch 15

me adicione também (31) 98613-6448

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JeromeRockn 14 4

Olá Gui, Eu tenho interesse em aprender mais a língua inglesa, também uso o Whatsapp, se der pra entrar no grupo... tá o número (84) 81629839

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

souobogo 9 4

Já encaminhei ao adm do grupo! (:

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Izaelma 5

Também tenho interesse em aprender inglês em grupo no watsapp, por favor adicione meu número: 84-8846-5736. Obrigada.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

digozan 7

Também tenho interesse em aprender inglês, por favor me adiciona no whatsapp. +55 11 97197-9491 Obrigado

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jacqs2 6

Se alguém tiver um grupo pra praticar inglês, tô precisando muuito rs 11 98671-6594

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Adan.B 9

Também tenho interesse me add também, por favor (inglês). 047-99484182

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Gabrielbrsiqu 6

Ninguém usa o Hangouts?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

erica.teix 8

<https://www.verbling.com/community>

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

geovannisky 14 8 6

Cria um no WhatsApp e me adc tbm

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JRTOURGUIDE 21 20 13 8 7

eu tenho um grupo de espanhol no whatssap, se servir ppra você

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Leandropenna 8 6

Pode me adicionar nesse grupo de espanhol 21 988981537

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

saramartinsf 10 7

me adicione no grupo de espanhol por favor, meu número é 31 9911-3399

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Junior19980 4 3

me adicione tbm por favor 16 991487029

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

SCristian0 2

Opa. Se que já tem tempo. Mas o grupo ainda existe, pode me add 21 968407129

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

EduardoAra542177 13 4

+55 89 9 81042829

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

geovannisky 14 8 6

Abriu?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

VitorSouza14 9

Me add no grupo de inglês!!! Pfv 11-968877816

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

wellintonmoreira 5

Por favor se possível me add no grupo do Whats. 11 94109-9506 Muito obrigado.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BeatrizOli_ 7

Oi Gui, já faz muito tempo que você postou esse comentário, então nem sei se vai ver esse meu recado. Também estou a procura de alguém pra praticar meu inglês. Vou fazer um intercambio daqui a alguns meses e preciso de alguma fluência. Poderíamos treinar juntos. Tipo pelo msn (se é que isso ainda existe kkk) ou algo do tipo. Aguardo contato. Até mais!

Beatriz

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

JessiePrado 8 7 3

por favor me adicionem ao grupo de espanhol também 44 99509874. Obrigada !

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

barbara.ro17 4

Por favor, se puderem me adicionar no grupo de treinamento de língua inglesa, agradeço. Meu número é 32 9106-1453.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Luhan167 12

Por favor se puder me adicionar no grupo de treinamento de língua inglesa por favor. Thanks

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

monika.markes19 18 4 2

Também gostaria de treinar inglês, se tiver algum grupo no WhatsApp também gostaria de participar, 16991808590. Abraços e bons estudos!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mikelukas2015 4

Boa Noite Me ADD! +55(11)970877768

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

IsabellePenteado 9 5

o Duolingo podia criar uma plataforma que possibilitasse a interação entre os usuários. eu entrei em alguns chats, mas as pessoas quase não conversam e sempre tem um falando besteira! e pior, em português --

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

moaajunior 10 1

ai gente, me coloquem num grupo de ingles tb 31 9784-4757

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Rivaldo_Da

YO HABLO!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

samuel018 14

ola gui, poderia me ajudar tambem, estou aprendendo ingles só que não tem ninguem pra me ajudar a praticar

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

giaoki 15

Pessoal aqui no Duolingo só tem inglês americano?? Podem mim Colocar em um grupo do Whats 11970285179? Inglês britânico

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

eduardohlj 8

Gostaria que me incluíssem num grupo de inglês. Obrigado (31)8889-2814

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Adan.B 9

Também estou a procura

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

moiszez 8

vamos criar um grupo ou me adiciona 21987851118

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

sandrasoares16 6

tb queria entrar para o grupo

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

marcosgoes 2

Olá queria participar do grupo de inglês 7591476814 forte abraço

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pavoliine 7

3192275736 alguém add tbm....ingles

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

---Cuban0--- 11 9

E aí parceiro, to na mesma situação que voce, preciso praticar meu ingles pois em breve morarei nos eua, e preciso chegar com o conhecimento básico avanzado, procurando no google apareceu teu post e vi uma serie de comentarios abaixo, mas me da uma dica, usou alguns dos links enviados ?, qual foi o melhor daqueles que foi enviado, preciso de algum que tenha pessoas pacientes e que falem em portugues caso não seja a frase não tenha sido entendida...tenho um conhecimento basico do ingles e desenrolo algumas coisas mas ainda travo mto em especial na hora de falar...

Aproveito pra dizer que sou cubano, motivo disto tenho fluencia no espanhol, não é do meu interesse praticar español porem para ajudar quem estiver precisando estou a disposição.

um abc

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

althre 5

+5527996240583 me add aí, ingles ou espanhol

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

pavoliine 7

3192275736 alguém add tbm....ingles

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarcoZaidan 7

Tem o <http://www.englishgroup.com.br> - É só se cadastrar (gratuitamente) e usar o chat. O legal é que no chat, dentre outras opções, vc também pode conversar por voz. Ótima ferramenta para aprendizado.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

AdilsonCle 4

Galera me add no grupo de Inglês 22 997974828. Obrigado.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

PauloSrgio114921 8

Eu tbm 17 996318081

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Genura1 10

Eu tem preciso muito entrar no grupo para conversa estou começando é preciso treinar me adiciona tbm? 83 993534899

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

reinaldo.sp 2

Infelizmente não consigo encontrar sites eficientes que possam nos ajudar a treinar o inglês. Acredito que as pessoas do duolingo são bastante confiáveis, por isso, quem quiser me adicionar no Whats esteja a vontade, quero muito treinar meu inglês, sou nativo em espanhol também 011-948878364

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Kapoart 25 14

Galera meu número é 21-973636064. É só me add. Muito obrigado.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Bruna251193 5

me add no grupo do whats 51 9422-9010

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Virla4 14 11 11 10 10 7

Oi beleza? Se quiser poderíamos falar, eu sou da Venezuela e falo ingles también

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MaikonRoch 15

eu gostaria de praticar inglês com você

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

glaucia.ev 8

Pessoal, bom dia! Preciso aprender a língua inglesa o quanto antes, iniciei meu aprendizado pelo Duolingo porém não está sendo suficiente. Preciso de ajuda estou no nível básico, claro que não desconheço a língua porém não me sinto preparada para conversar ou escrever. Alguém pode me ajudar?

Obrigada!!

Glau

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarcoZaidan 7

<http://www.englishgroup.com.br> - Lá, dentre outras ferramentas, também há um chat para a prática do idioma.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

cnascimento112 14 1

Olá pessoal, estou precisando de um grupo para treinar o inglês...se alguém tiver um grupo de whatsapp com essa finalidade e puder me adicionar eu agradeço! 19 - 98866-1638

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MarcoZaidan 7

<http://www.englishgroup.com.br> - Lá, dentre outras ferramentas, também há um chat para a prática do idioma.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

CarlosRenato1909 15 8 6 6 5 2 2 2 2 1

Ótimas dicas de chat! Se alguém quiser praticar inglês ou outras línguas me chame aqui pelo duolingo. Abraço.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

cryoliveira 10 6

Pessoal estou a procura de um grupo no Whats p/ praticar inglês e espanhol ... caso alguém tenha ou esteja participando de algum, peço por gentileza me add. (11) 966182062. Obrigada

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

claudiarpaim 16

Galera também quero participar do grupo de whatapp para praticar inglês 21 992024791

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

MaikonRoch 15

Já que vocês criaram o grupo de Inglês por gentileza coloque o número do administrador do grupo, pois também tenho interesse de praticar o meu inglês meu número (31) 98613-6448

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

JESCADIAS 6

Olá me add no grupo 11-95911-4608;) Tks

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Neia257937 8 7

Olá, eu Sou nova por aqui e gostaria de participar do grupo para aprender inglês. Meu número é +1 (857) 313-8418, Thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

Flacossta 9

[deleted]

0Give Lingot•1 year ago

guicontids 4

Tambem estou procurando

0ReplyGive Lingot•12 months ago

MoisesCarlos12 14 13 12 4 2 221

Dei essa dica para um colega abaixo, espero que sirva pra você também.

Acessa esse canal: <https://telegram.me/AprendendoIngles>

E esse grupo (Permitido falar somente em Inglês):

<https://telegram.me/joinchat/BFkDcj3DnUQ8sRYX1TCZow>

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

QUENIOLUCENA 14

Busco algum grupo no zap que fale espanhol, por favor quem tiver algum grupo me adicione. grato (21) 98335-1023

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

DouglasMen800492 9

galera, estou precisando muito treinar meu inglês, então se alguém puder me add em algum grupo ta aí meu numero : +55 94 98101-9221

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

DiegoSerra3 16 14 12 10 8 7 6 4

Hello! I want to create a whatsapp group for people who want to learn Portuguese, Spanish and English, a multicultural group. If you want to join us, send me a message via whatsapp - +55 98 9 8272 1417 - Diego Serra

Hola! Yo quiero crear un grupo de whatsapp para los que quieren aprender portugués, español e inglés, un grupo multicultural con personas de todo el mundo, se quieres participar envíe una mensaje por whatsapp - +55 98 9 8272 1417 - Diego Serra

0ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

FERNANDAPORTO13 6

Sou novata no Duolingo gostaria de entrar em algum grupo, Gui!!! Whats... (65) 93008408

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Edson259947 16

se ainda existir o grupo de inglês whats 21 983136392

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

annapg36 7 3

tem ainda o grupo ?

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

QUENIOLUCENA 14

tem sim manda o tele

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

DouglasMen800492 9

94 98101-9221

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

annapg36 7 3

18 99648-3735

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

GabrielCam735 12 7 6 4 3

35 98893-4348

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Jenniffer408083 10
041 9660 1142

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

CruzAdilson 3
62 99406 3991 tks... :D o

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

VinciusDartora 11
Estou na mesma, se alguém estiver em um grupo pode add? (45) 9947-5010

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Flacossta 9
Também quero entrar no grupo, podem me add? (37)-99342528

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

QUENIOLUCENA 14
grupo de espanhol?

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Bialopes688928 9 2
Queria participar de algum grupo também, de whatsapp ou até mesmo conversaço. Se alguém puder me indicar algum.

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

QUENIOLUCENA 14
passa seu zap para adicionar

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Bialopes688928 9 2
31992546744

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

PatriciaMo972769 5
você pode me adicionar também no grupo de inglês ? meu cel: 11-98438-3119, obrigada

0ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

Livia396393 10

Quero participar de um grupo que falem inglês, não sei nada, mas quero aprender!!

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

eduardohlj 8

Bom dia. Por favor informe seu número de WhatsApp que adiciono.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

fabiolaaaaa23 6

Bom dia!! Também quero em um de inglês para treinar! (21)983970522

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

wilfranklin 10 2

Gostaria de ser adicionado 31 9 8898-8379

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

DeyvsonDia 10 2

+55 81 9 9629-4362

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

alinemarti813428 9

tenho interesse em entrar no grupo para praticar inglês. 31987527506

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

EduardoFab38490 6

Também gostaria de participar de um grupo de whats inglês para praticar, ainda existe?

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

eduardohlj 8

Me passe seu zapzap q eu adiciono!...

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

CruzAdilson 3

62 99406 3991 tks... :D o

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

CarlosRenato1909 15 8 6 6 5 2 2 2 2 1

Tenho interesse, me adicionem: 41 96498371 Abs

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

BrbaraRodr821809 7
me add tbm (11) 97030-3920 obrigada.

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

elvismgs 4
me add em algum grupo de ingles 31 9 8662-5515 por favor

0ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

thiagotapajos 11 9 9 5 3
gostaria tbm de fazer parte de um grupo, pode seer de ingles, espanhol ou frances.

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

DouglasMen800492 9
Se caso ainda nao tiver grupo, me manda msgm la no wpp (94) 98101-9221

0ReplyGive Lingot•7 months ago

Edson259947 16
galerinha que gosta de pratica seja lá o idioma que for existe um app chamado tandem onde você pode fazer amizades internacionais.A plataforma é bastante simples você pode visualiza as informações do perfil da pessoa e seus interesses,é como um intercambio virtual,quem quiser participar do grupo what's english winner me chama no zap :21983136392.

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

Lacerdax 6 5 4
Caro amigo tente esses dois... são sérios e muito bons: <https://www.italki.com/home?hl=pt>
<https://www.cambly.com/english?lang=pt>

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

NicoleLLacerda 6 4
Preciso de ajuda para entrar em algum grupo de conversação em ingles. Eu tinha fluência nesta lingua, mas fiquei tanto tempo sem falar, que nem sei mais....SOMEBODY HELP???

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

drivernato88 10 10 4 2
Galera, também gostaria de entrar em algum grupo de estudos de inglês. Quem puder, aqui meu whats (85) 98835-1611. Valeu!

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

JeffersonC931264 12

Olá, gostaria de praticar meu inglês também. Caso ainda exista algum grupo por favor me add +55 (61) 9-8631-5854 , Thanks!

0ReplyGive Lingot•5 months ago

Saulo668 10

Alguém me ajuda a encontra grupos pra praticar espanhol, sou novato aqui estou aprendendo

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

geovane910524 6

Buenas noches! Mi nombre es Geovane y Puedo te ayudar en tu Espanhol! Sou brasileiro e moro no exterior, eu tambem sou praticante de ingles, vou deixar o meu contato! Whats: +1 939 599 1357

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Jardeuteixeira 11 4 3

se encontra me adiciona, tbm sou estudante de comércio exterior.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Jardeuteixeira 11 4 3

84 9 91487763

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

joerkocamp 11

alguém conhece algum grupo para entrar, só fiquei sabendo desta novidade agora. Qualquer coisa me add Whats ""65992689294"

0ReplyGive Lingot•3 months ago

natyangeli 11 8

WeSpeak,é o melhor! E é vinculado ao DuoLingo, vi lá que vai dar certo, está dando super certo pra mim, indico a todos!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

LeciSilva 25 30

O WeSpeak é com microfone, skype ou só teclando? E é para falar com nativos ou com brasileiros também?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

MatheusMD15 10

Entra no meu clube KTG2HW

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 months ago

25 Frances

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/7540263>

Milahbb 6 3

¿Quien esta disponible para hablar conmigo en frances. el que este mas avanzado? por favor....

Give Lingot

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

1 Comment

Lrtward 25 25 8 196

<http://www.verbling.com/community>

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

26 Is anyone else boggled because you're surrounded by language enthusiasts?

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/7496785>

paulaha88 16

All my life I've been fascinated by foreign languages. I remember back in childhood (way back!)...

I'd try to listen, any time I'd hear someone speaking another language.

I always wanted to be an interpreter. I joined the military as a linguist.

In high school I took both German and Spanish simultaneously - it was all they offered. I envied the kids in neighboring districts who could take Latin or Russian.

I thought that Middlebury was just a few steps away from Heaven.

I was over 30 before the internet became available. Until I joined the military, I never met ANYONE who was excited about foreign languages. Just me. And now, this forum, it just makes my head spin!

I am interacting with people who are not simply learning another language, they're learning eight of them!

One person knows a few phrases in Greenlandic. A bunch of people are eager to learn Irish. People talk out-of-hand about languages I've never heard of, like Occitan and Saamic.

People dispute which is the most beautiful script, and post cartoons about Asian scripts.

Languages I've always considered very exotic, like Thai or Finnish, around here are considered mundane.

Someone posts a link to Lexicity, a resource for ancient languages, and several people binge on the site.

I always considered myself a language geek. Around here I'm just a piker! I cannot tell you what a thrill it is to be surrounded by so many people who share my passion, and who are so much farther along on the trail than I am. I am boggled.

Give Lingot17

1422 years ago

Leave a new comment

51 Comments

Jack.Elliot 25 25 25 25 21 13 10 10 9 9 8 5 3 2 2 1316

.

Ahoj

with the pirates

join the ship

as we search

the treasure of language

puffins

in Greenland and even out to the Faroes

46ReplyGive Lingot21•2 years ago

Naylor1993 23 17 17 15 13 12 11 11 11 10 8 7 6 4 4 4 3 2 2 2 2

Jack

tus poemas son hermosos

mucha alegria

y muchas sonrisas

no soy poeta

adios.

11ReplyGive Lingot12•2 years ago

Kevinguy19 25 18 13 12 10 8 7 6 6 5 5 5 4 3 3 2 2 1018

Ahora lo eres, no?! :)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

M4rt4a 25 18 18 17 16 15 13 12 12 11 10 9 9 7 7 6 4 4 49

I think this is the best one I've seen so far :) (well, it includes pirates and puffins how could it not be great?)

7ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ValiantTiger 25 15 11 11 9 7 7 8

I feel this way! I want to be a valuable resource to people, but I'm barely 6 months into learning Spanish, and I have no knowledge of any other languages except English.

Maybe after 5 years of being on this site I can start to join the ranks of the truly-gifted bilinguals, working in their own way to become trilingual. The fun never ends!

16ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Deliciae 25 24 18 16 11 11 10 10 9 8 8 3 3 69

Oh, but you are! Fluent in brightening people's days. :)

It's funny how our perspective changes though; I remember when I first started Immersion I looked in awe at the rank 3 and 4s, one day I even saw a rank 14... I was shocked! Who was I, a mere rank 1, to question their expertly typos?

Now I'm rank 13. Still making typos, but living and learning.

21ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Gomos 11 7

This forum is actually not that geeky, usually discussions in this other forum about language learning are much more advanced and knowledgeable than here. <http://how-to-learn-any-language.com/forum/> No offense intended.

12ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

tnel1 13 12 11 10 9

Thanks for the tip! No "lingots, lingots, spam, spam, spam" over there! :)

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kingthatcher 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 5 4 3 3 2

Also, this group on facebook is chock-full of active language members

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/omniglot/> The group diverges into many many other little smaller groups, about certain types of languages or conlangs or linguistics or whatever, and it is awesome. More language communities!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Lrtward 25 25 8 196

Another good group: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/poliglotas/>

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

paulaha88 16

Kingthatcher, I saw your post on another thread.

Kannst du mich e pfanne?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

tnel1 13 12 11 10 9

That's one reason I hang around. I am surrounded by multi-linguals, but none are as excited about it as the folks around here. If I ever need to talk about even the most minute excitement or curiosity there is bound to be someone else here to engage me - and that's pretty cool. :)

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Zzzzz... 25 25 25 24 23 19 16 15 13 2 948

Boggled? Sometimes, yes. Most of the time I am just grateful, though. I have always struggled to find people with similar interests; passion for languages, unfortunately, seems to be a rare phenomenon. Being a part of the DL community means that I get to to discuss and debate with people who share my passion. That is priceless, so I do not mind being boggled every now and then.

11ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

RitaCunas 17 14 14 8 6 4

I identify completely. I remember taking French in school, and being surround by people with the attitude "Why do I have to learn this? I don't want to go to France." When my husband and I went to Germany I was killing myself to try and learn the language, and my mother-in-law threw her hands in the air and said with exasperation, "All you need to say is, 'Sprechen sie Englisch?'" It seems that actually wanting to learn languages is a rare trait indeed. Even my husband, who is completely supportive of my learning and would never ridicule me about it, still has no interest of his own in becoming fluent.

11ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

BrookeLorren 25 22 17 13 13 9 7 7 6 810

My husband was the same way when I wanted to improve my Spanish a couple of years ago for a trip that I was going on. We were going to be in Mexico for a whole day, and my husband was like "they all speak English in the tourist areas anyway." Well, going there was just an excuse.

I still have a long way to go... but things that even baffled me six months ago feel more natural before. The German that I learned in school is less rusty.

I do have another language forum that I go to, but this one is great because it has a school attached to it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Delta1212 25 12 9 8 8 7 5 4 27

"In high school I took both German and Spanish simultaneously - it was all they offered. I envied the kids in neighboring districts who could take Latin or Russian."

Are you me?

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

paulaha88 16

Maybe I am! In my school, band was a big deal - we'd won state championships, etc. But taking two languages simultaneously created a schedule conflict - they wouldn't expect any student to take BOTH languages. In the same year, no less! So I had to quit band and join the color guard instead. Oh, the price to follow your passion!

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Delta1212 25 12 9 8 8 7 5 4 27

I did 5 years of German and 3 of Spanish (my school went 7-12). I'd have done 6 of German, but they scheduled AP math at the same time as the advanced German class, so I wound up taking a study hall and sitting in on a lower level class as a sort of teacher's aid my junior year.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Linguist = person who studies "Language". For instance, I study sociolinguistics, the study of the interrelationship of language and social structure; linguistic variation; attitudes towards language. ---Clayton Valli, Ceil Lucas, and Kristin J. Mulrooney. Linguistics of American Sign Language: An Introduction. 4th Ed. p.2

Aka how language affects society, culture, and interpersonal interaction.

(Though, I study it very casually, a book here and there, so I won't call myself a linguist at this time.)

I think what we have here are mostly (not exclusively) language learners and polyglots. :)

5ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

paulaha88 16

Point taken. I edited the title to "language enthusiasts." But I must add that I've encountered plenty of linguistics enthusiasts here as well, and since that is another passion of mine, I find it thrilling.

I admit I do get frustrated with that term. A linguist is someone like John McWhorter or Deborah Tannen. But in the military I was a "Korean Linguist," someone whose job entailed a knowledge of Korean (my knowledge of Korean was pathetic, but that's a different story). And among the general public if I say, "I like to listen to Anne Curzan, a linguist," they think she talks about foreign languages.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Changing the title is totally up to you, it's not mandatory. :)

I was imagining Duolingoers who weren't familiar with the term going out into the world conflating linguist with polyglot. /O.O and then I was imagining 60million Duolingers doing it. And then dictionaries begrudgingly adding it as a synonym. And then of academic linguists hating Duolingo foreeeever. I couldn't imagine not saying something at that point. (My imagination is a bit dramatic ^_~)

And yes, there are tooooooooooons of linguists on Duolingo. :D

10ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

paulaha88 16

You reminded me of the commercials at <http://listosaur.com/entertainment/5-best-directv-get-rid-of-cable-commercials/> , like, "Don't have your house explode. Get Direct TV."

1ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Usagiboy7 25 17 6 5 4 4 3

Very dramatic, yes. lol

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Dan.Cline 25 23 19 15 11 938

I'm amazed that people are able to keep multiple languages straight in their heads. A few years ago, I tried to learn Spanish, and found that bits and pieces of my long-forgotten high school French kept popping up, so I said "trois" instead of "très" and so forth. As a result, I am now focusing exclusively on French. Umberto Eco has a character in his novel, "The Name of the Rose," a monk, who babbles away in multiple languages at once. I related to that character. Tell me, how do you keep all of your languages straight?

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Delta1212 25 12 9 8 8 7 5 4 27

They all just... feel different. I mean there is always the odd occasion where I'll want to use a word from a different language because it better fits the idea I'm trying to express than any word I can think of in the language I'm using, and this happens more with my secondary/tertiary languages since my vocabulary is necessarily smaller, but occasionally it happens even when speaking English and there's a good word in another language that there just isn't a corresponding word for in English. I never really get them confused though. I always know what language everything belongs to.

The closest I get is with spelling. Occasionally I forget that tallerken is spelled with an 'a' since Teller is spelled with an 'e' for instance. That's about it, though.

6ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

Lindawriter 12 6

Dan, I know several languages and have a bit of a time keeping them straight. Probably it's because I do not speak any of them very often. My history--2 years of Spanish in high school. 1 week of French, which I stopped because the teacher was overbearing, impatient, and rude. Even as a high school kid, I knew that kind of behavior wasn't conducive to learning. I took a couple of courses of Russian my first year of college but never had anyone to speak with. I then served an 18 month mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) in Germany and became fluent in German on a basic level. I'm now trying to learn Spanish because I have a lot of Hispanic friends and work with a lot of Spanish-speakers. When I try to speak Spanish and can't think of a word my brain tends to panic and go into "grab a foreign word" mode which usually means I get a German word, but occasionally a Russian one pops up. I think that as I become more fluent in Spanish, the words I use will coalesce and I'll be able to think and communicate in Spanish. I've watched young (3-5 year old) bilingual Spanish/English children speak and they often use both languages, "mixing them up" as it were. Eventually their minds sort it out and I'm hoping that, with practice, mine will too. I hope this, at least, sort of answers your question. :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Polyglot_Gifted 2

I'm still a kid, 2 years of duo. I was inactive. I am waiting for Turkish. I love languages. At such a young age too.

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

aaditsingh8 14 10 9 7 6 6 5 2

Me too! Younger brains catch languages faster! :) ;)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Polyglot_Gifted 2

Indeed!

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

aaditsingh8 14 10 9 7 6 6 5 2

Haha :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Querist 23 20

My husband speaks about 15 different languages with varying levels of fluency. I'm always amazed at how he can keep them all straight! He basically has taught himself most of them, with the help of any willing native speakers, and has learned them very well. I learned some German in high school, and a little Welsh after we got married, but now I'm trying to learn French. I'm plugging away at it. A desire to make sure that my kids had a chance to learn foreign languages led us to homeschool our kids. (The local schools don't really start languages 'til high school - too late in my opinion.) Over the years they've studied Latin, Spanish, Chinese, German, French, Greek, and Russian. Oh, and a little Welsh. Sitting around our dinner table can be quite fun. :) Yay for polyglots!

4ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mwyaren 18 11 10 9

oh, sorry for freaking you out with the scripts cartoon. ^^ however, I can't entirely agree with you. Duolingo is more of a language learners' community. there are actually rather few linguists in here. being one of them I have to say I'm having a field day almost daily, all those neophytes and wannabe Pokemon masters. :3

may I ask, what languages did you study?

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

paulaha88 16

Freak me out? Heavens no! I've already shared the cartoon with four IRL friends. I put it in my rotation for desktop images.

In high school I studied 4 years of German and 2 years for Spanish. In the military I studied Korean but my knowledge of it was pathetic. In adulthood I dabbled a little in Greek just to see how it works, and I wrote two curriculum books on Latin & Greek roots - one on basic roots and the other for high school biology. Since about 2006 I've been improving my Spanish for the joy of it.

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TitusTheTraveler 18 14 9 6 5 5 4 2

What is the characteristic that makes someone a linguist and just language learner?

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

mwyaren 18 11 10 9

academic education in linguistics or the lack thereof.

1ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

susanstory 20 18 13 11 10 10 10 9 8 5 4 3 3 3 592

In high school I took French and German. Latin used to be offered but they discontinued it. Ukrainian was offered but I couldn't take it, but one time I overheard a student and a teacher talking in the hallway. The boy was asking the teacher about how to say "How are you?" in Ukrainian. It went something like "Yak shih my ish". I remembered it and repeated it to two girls, one of whom knew Ukrainian and she said I said it perfectly.

Most of the kids in high school were taking French because they had to, not because they wanted to. Most of the kids in my German classes already spoke German or Dutch at home, so they had a lot more vocabulary than I did, but I had the highest marks in the class because it was mostly all grammar and they weren't so good in the grammar. All these years later, I've totally forgotten German grammar, but I used to know it in school, (dative, accusative, etc ) so it'll come back to me. One time in Social Studies class the teacher was showing us a film about WW2 and there was a scene where Hitler was yelling in German. The boys all started laughing and jeering and the girl who sat behind me, poked me. When I turned around, she asked me, "What's he saying?" but I replied, "He's talking too fast" so I couldn't understand what he was saying, but the boy who sat across the aisle from me, immediately started laughing hysterically.

Well, after all these years I have a video from Youtube which has a scene of Hitler screaming and the only word I can understand is "Jugend". It has English subtitles.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

paulaha88 16

I can totally relate! I made a list of how to say "goodbye" in other languages. Once on TV I saw someone say "goodbye" in Irish Gaelic and I felt like I'd found a legendary Beanie Baby for my collection (no, I don't collect Beanie Babies). Forty years later, I still remember the word.

Ah, these kids now days. If they want to talk to someone in Mongolia, they can find someone in two minutes. Back in my day we had to walk 10 miles to school in 10 foot snowdrifts in bare feet, uphill both ways... and we were grateful!

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

susanstory 20 18 13 11 10 10 10 10 9 8 5 4 3 3 3 592

When I was a kid, I always used to hear stories about how far the previous generation had to walk to school. My father was born in 1902 and died in 1984. He used to say that he rode horseback to school and never walked to school. He said they wanted to learn French but the teacher couldn't teach it because she didn't know it. He started learning Ukrainian when he was 16 because he used to walk two little neighbor girls to school and their parents didn't speak English. I think they were Polish or something. He never took any courses in Ukrainian or went to school about it. Every chance he got to practise his Ukrainian, he took it. At the end of his life, in the hospital, they wrote on his record when he was asked which languages he spoke, "English and Ukrainian" but they had a question mark beside "Ukrainian". I think he must have told the nurses he was bilingual or something, but he wasn't Ukrainian, but apparently had no trouble speaking, reading, or writing in Ukrainian.

He just picked it up during his lifetime. Some years after he died, I overheard some guys talking about my dad and saying that he spoke Ukrainian just like a native speaker.

Whenever my dad wanted something, he told me that if he asked them in Ukrainian instead of English, he'd get on their good side better and get what he wanted. One time my friend, my dad, and I were walking past a house where there were flowers and my friend wanted some flowers. My dad asked the old woman in Ukrainian if she could have some flowers and the old woman was very friendly. Afterward, my dad told me that if he'd asked for the flowers in English, the woman would probably have told him to get lost.

He also told me that about a hundred years ago, the people where he lived, called Ukrainians "Galeetians" . (the first immigrants from the old country). I don't know the spelling but it was pronounced like that. They had their own towns at first.

Anyway, about 10 or so years ago, I met a man who was from present day Ukraine and he told me that the Ukrainians here in Canada are "different". Yeah, he seemed different to me too.

Canadian-Ukrainians have preserved their language and culture. In Edmonton there's been a Ukrainian bilingual kindergarten since the 1970's and they have the Ukrainian zbaba show on CFCW on Sundays from 7 to 9 PM which is of Ukrainian music. There are Ukrainian dance groups such as Shumka, etc. which do traditional Ukrainian dancing. Last, but not least, Ukrainian food such as cabbage rolls, and perogies, (which my mother used to call "perohe") is eaten and made in Canada. In the Chinese restaurant where I used to work in the 1980's the old Chinese woman used to make a Chinese version of Ukrainian cabbage rolls, but the boss there drew the line at Ukrainian perogies. He said his Chinese version was better. In the Chinese version they use rice flour and put meat, shrimp, etc. but I still prefer the Ukrainian perogy. Oh yeah, a few years ago, in the local town library I met an extremely friendly and talkative man who was from China and said he had been living in Canada for 5 years and he gave me a long lecture about how and why the Chinese dumpling was better than the Ukrainian perogy. I could hardly understand what he was saying because his English wasn't perfect, nevertheless he was fascinating. At the time I was on Livemocha, helping people with English and, this was just like Livemocha, but in person.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

mwyaren 18 11 10 9

I think you mean Galicians (the region is actually a part of today's Ukraine and Poland). ;)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

tnel1 13 12 11 10 9

Nice story! :)

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Senlando 16 14 13 11 8 7 5 5 4 3 2 2 2

Thank you for your post, it reminds me how wonderful it is to be able to so easily find people of the same interests thanks to the internet. I've taken for granted that not everyone speaks at least 4 languages and has an interest in linguistics! haha

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

thenoblesunfish 25 21 12 11 11 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2

Where's that guy whose native language is Esperanto? That's pretty sweet.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Pratyush. 15 12 8 7 6

I finally landed on some normal place. That what I thought when I first visited on this site. until now whoever I had met were not interested in other languages and were thinking me a sort of strange person. They used to tell that it's pointless to learn. So, it's like home to me here, having so many understanding people here.

3ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Jayway223 23 16 15 10 9 9

Us Duolinguists are very crazy people. ;)

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

kingthatcher 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 5 4 3 3 2

I am a language nerd, but I can't compare to some I have met on facebook or here. Hyperpolyglots are common in the groups that I am in, and I have met many "local"(to our groups) celebrities who have been on television and things, or make youtube series about languages. It is an awesome new world.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TitusTheTraveler 18 14 9 6 5 5 4 2

What do you consider a Hyperpolyglot? I have heard various numbers of languages you have to know be one. I have also never heard of how well you have to know all or some of the languages you "know."

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

kingthatcher 11 11 10 8 7 7 7 7 6 5 5 4 3 3 2

I basically consider anyone with roughly B2 knowledge of more than 6 languages a hyperpolyglot.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago

GC1998 17 15 14 13 13 12 11 7 7 6 6 5 5 4 3 3 3 2 2 2 2 2

Welcome to the community.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

HebrewLearner 4 4 2

Even though I am not a bilingual(yet) I am inspired by everyone who is. Each and every person that has learned a second language has inspired me that it IS possible to learn another language. They have proven that Hard work and dedication not only pay off in learning a language, but in everything.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

CarinaPaula 25 25 9 4

I love learning languages but I decided to take the easy path. I've just finished the Portuguese tree because I had studied the language before and it was only natural for me to get the chance to review and learn a new thing or two. Very similar to Spanish. And I'm more than halfway through with the Italian tree. Again, very similar to Spanish, but not so much and it was my very first exposure to it. A great experience. My son is going to an Italian school (that's the main reason I joined Duolingo, I NEEDED to learn a little Italian to possibly help with homework) and at the opening ceremony on the first day at school, some of the authorities spoke in Italian. I was excited to find just how much I understood having only studied the language for around five months. So far I'm fully bilingual and a professional translator English-Spanish, but I'm hoping to add Portuguese-Spanish and Italian-Spanish to my portfolio of services one day. Not until I get very comfortable with them, though. As a side note, I started the French tree but didn't get past lesson 3 or so. I was already mixing languages when taking Portuguese and Italian at the same time, and I kept making silly mistakes with articles. I would type "una" instead of "uma" or "la" instead of "a" in the Portuguese exercises because those are the correct Italian and Spanish articles. So I thought a third Romance language would be just too much.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Kavi525073 10 4

gosh ya, its amazing i love to learn languages

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

27 "Each society has its laws. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/5723935>

Translation: У каждого общества свои законы.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

13 Comments

PolinaAdel 12 11

в каждом обществе свои законы

25ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Egorka93 23 8

В плане общего смысла - да. Но в оригинале "общество" - подлежащее, имеет - "сказуемое", а у вас соответственно "законы" и "(опущенное) есть".

3ReplyGive Lingot7•2 years ago

SlavaCiti 15 30

Разве its может означать "свой"?

6ReplyGive Lingot•11 months ago

iiVR2 13 12 10 258

Может, почитайте здесь:

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3158863>

1ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

VadimNasyrov 14 4 4 3 2

чем не нравится "сообщество"?

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

Choobakkah 16 14 10

"Сообщество" - 'community', 'association'.

6ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

ramaboss1 17 219

Объясните пожалуйста какая разница между обществом и сообществом, это не синонимы?

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

BeisenKari 17

Its разве не "эти"

0ReplyGive Lingot•6 months ago

iiVR2 13 12 10 258

Эти - these.

0ReplyGive Lingot•4 months ago

Alfred30556 12 20

каждое общество имеет эти законы?

-1ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

Theron126 25 21 16 15 4 2

Эти законы - these laws.

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 week ago

English65350 14

Сообщество и общество синонимы. См. Ожигов

-2ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

maxim-english 23 14 10 7 5 2 640

Во-первых они не взаимозаменяемы. Во-вторых при чем тут синонимы вообще? В русском это разные слова, имеющие разные переводы в английском.

1ReplyGive Lingot•10 months ago

28 "我们在同一片区生活和工作。"

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/3967570>

Translation: We live and work in the same district.

02 years ago

Leave a new comment

5 Comments

shenhou1023 9 8 2

We live and work in the same Area.

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

boxcat1949 16

为甚不能用area？

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

934671405 8

司瀚万岁， 司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚司瀚晓晓晓晓 晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓晓

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

506042315 13

求删

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

vonfeenik 8 6

the same community?

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

29      *New guy looking for friends

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/7917949>

OverdriverJC 5

Hey community! Just started using this awesome site, and I'm really excited completing the challenges while learning Spanish. I am looking for open-minded and motivated people to become friends with, think it would be more fun this way. Keep it positive!

Give Lingot1

72 years ago

Leave a new comment

6 Comments

Gluehbirneeee 15 12 11 10 8 5 94

Hey Overdriver! Welcome to Duolingo:)

Teenage_Polyglot made a post about a project you might be interested in. Simply post on his activity stream (on his profile) if you want to take part.:)

3ReplyGive Lingot1•2 years ago

OverdriverJC 5

Thanks, Gluehbirneeee, will definitely check it!

2ReplyGive Lingot5•2 years ago

Taloua 25 25 25 25 867

Welcome !!

and Good luck with your Spanish

2ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

OverdriverJC 5

Thank you :)

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

TheLearner_1 6

Welcome to the community!

1ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

OverdriverJC 5

Gracias

0ReplyGive Lingot•2 years ago

30 "A community is important. "

<https://www.duolingo.com/comment/15115856>

Translation: O comunitate este importantă.

01 year ago

Leave a new comment

2 Comments

sebastian628948 14

:F :D

1ReplyGive Lingot•9 months ago

Florin219524 22 2

Da

0ReplyGive Lingot•1 year ago